NEW SACRAMENTO VALLEY LANDMARKS

These twin cooling towers, 43 stories tall, are the newest landmarks in the Sacramento Valley. Located 23 miles southeast of Sacramento in the Mother Lode country, the towers are part of the 913-megawatt Rancho Seco nuclear power plant being developed for the Sacramento Municipal Utility District. They will air-cool hot water piped in from the plant's steam condenser at a rate of 500,000 gallons per minute. (UPI Telephoto)

Lockheed Foes Kill Bid To Stop Delaying Filibuster

Aerospace Firm Gets Nod On Another Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate refused today to stop a filibuster delaying action on a bill to authorize a $250 million government-guaranteed loan to Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

Continued debate threatens to prevent action on the bill until after Congress returns in September from a month-long recess. Lockheed says it faces bankruptcy in absence of the federally backed loan by Aug. 8.

While the move to stop the filibuster failed for the second time in three days, Lockheed and the Nixon Administration won a crucial victory two hours earlier in their effort to keep the firm solvent. The Senate voted 60 to 35 against a proposal which would have postponed the Lockheed loan until fall.

Cheered by the wide margin of the earlier vote, Lockheed's supporters in the Senate pressed for the two-thirds majority needed to impose cloture —a limit to debate — and force a vote on the bill to authorize up to $2 billion worth of government-guaranteed loans to firms whose collapse could hurt the economy.

But on the cloture roll call, the vote was 59 to 39 — seven short of the required two-thirds. On Monday, a cloture move fell five votes short of a majority.

The bill's opponents hope to keep talking—and prevent a final vote on passage—until Aug. 6 when Congress starts its recess.

The same bill comes up in the House Friday.

In the first vote, an amendment offered by Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., was defeated. It would have removed from the bill a provision to exempt Lockheed, and Lockheed alone, from the possibility of a congressional veto of a loan guarantee.

As drafted by the Senate Banking Committee, the bill carried the veto provision for approved applications for government-backed loans.

However, that provision would not go into effect until Oct. 1—after Lockheed's application had been acted upon by a three-member loan guaranteed board created by the legislation.

The bill states that after Oct. 1, all loan applications approved by the board must come under congressional scrutiny. The approved loan can be made only if within 20 days neither house of Congress vetoes it.

The oatcome of the vote on the Stevenson amendment kept alive the firm's hopes of receiving government aid by Aug. 8.

Lockheed says it faces almost certain bankruptcy if the $250 million loan it seeks is not obtained by then. Aug. 8 is the date Lockheed's agreement with the bankrupt Rolls-Royce of Britain expires. Rolls is to build the engines for Lockheed's l1011 Tristar jetliner.

The British government has said it will not give Rolls the subsidies it needs to build the engine if the U.S. government refuses to guarantee a loan for Lockheed.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., the Senate's prime opponent of the Lockheed legislation, said Tuesday that in his 14 years on Capitol Hill there had never before been "such a concerted attempt to intimidate me and boycott the products of my state."

He said aerospace workers in Georgia and California had written newspapers in Wisconsin saying they would boycott Wisconsin products unless Proxmire stopped fighting the Lockheed bill.

Apollo: Bugs Behind, Moon Ahead

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) —Their troubles behind, Apollo 15's astronauts closed in calmly and accurately on the moon today with everything clear for a Friday landing at the foot of some of the highest lunar mountains.

"The moon's getting bigger out the window," reported Alfred M. Worden as the spacecraft was 75,500 miles from it.

This was the last easy day for Worden, David R. Scott and James B. Irwin before they begin a record six days of moon activity. Their schedule was light and ground controllers let them sleep an extra hour, awakening them at 10:40 a.m. EDT.

"We certainly did have a good night's sleep," Worden reported.

A short circuit that cast doubt on man's most ambitious lunar expedition had been overcome Tuesday and a preliminary check indicated that the landing ship Falcon was ready.

The landing site is at the base of the Apennine mountains ranging 10,000 feet and higher, and also near a gorge which dips 1,000 feet down.

Glynn S. Lunney, flight director on the ground, reported at a midmorning briefing: "The status of the mission is that we're on schedule, the trajectory is very close to normal, the performance of the systems is now very close to normal."

Scott and Irwin checked the Falcon late Tuesday and plan to inspect it again tonight.

They will try to clean up remaining bits of glass from an instrument cover they found shattered. They reported they had no idea how the glass was broken. Lunney said controllers wanted the astronauts to make certain no floating glass particles interfered with cabin equipment, particularly hatch seals.

"We're going to run the cabin fan for about 15 minutes and try to catch what we can in the filter," Lunney said.

The $445-million mission ot Apollo 15 is the most demanding ever assigned to an American space crew. Scott and Irwin will spend more time on the moon, stay out on the surface longer, cover more terrain and bring back more samples than their predecessors. Worden will orbit the moon longer than anyone and

Rail Union Rejects Any Arbitration

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United Transportation Union, declaring "the chips are down and the bets are made," has rejected a government request for binding arbitration of a dispute that has shut down 20 per cent of the nation's railroad system.

And the UTU, whose members have struck four major carriers, went ahead with plans to extend the strike to six more railroads Friday and five others Aug. 6.

The rejection of the arbitration offer from Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson Tuesday greatly increased the likelihood the Nixon administration would seek congressional action to end the walkout, whose economic side effects were mounting. Negotiations between the UTU and railroad management collapsed Monday as bargainers failed to resolve a long-standing dispute over work rules.

The railroads formally notified Hodgson today that "the carriers accept your proposal." A spokesman noted that in light of the union's rejection, the industry's response was moot.

UTU President Charles Luna, in rejecting the arbitration offer, accused the Nixon administration of being "a slave of management."

"It is very distressing to find the secretary of labor coming along at this point with the management line and telling us that strikes hurt," Luna said. "We all know that strikes hurt. They hurt us worst of all.

"But collective bargaining can never work as long as government remains a slave of management and interferes when collective bargaining is beginning to succeed."

Because the federal courts had approved selective strikes in the railroad industry, Luna said, "the chips are down and the bets are made."

Nixon Is Said Considering 'Packing' Reserve Board

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon is considering a proposal to double the size of the Federal Reserve Board, it was learned today. The suggestion, if put before Congress, could touch off a controversy rivaling President Franklin D. Roosevelt's attempt to "pack" the Supreme Court.

Under the suggestion proposed to Nixon, the board would be increased from seven members to 14.

Administration officials also disclosed that Nixon rejected a request from Arthur F. Burns —chairman of the Reserve Board —for a $20,000 a year pay raise. Burns currently makes $42,500.

Burns, however, denied he had "lobbied for an increase in salary."

The developments left no doubt that the once warm personal relationship between Nixon and Burns has chilled. Burns, at one time Nixon's most trusted economic adviser, has been critical of administration policy for more than a year. He has called repeatedly for the President to take a tougher stand against inflationary wage and price increases.

"The President has received several requests from high level economic advisers that he expand membership of the federal reserve board," an administration spokesman told UPI. "There has been criticism that it is too much of a closed club and that only by doubling its size can it really function reliably."

The spokesman did not elaborate.

The federal reserve, legally independent of the administration, sets the nation's basic money and credit policy. Its members are appointed by the President but their overlapping 14-year terms are designed to insulate them from day-to-day politics.

If Nixon does ask Congress to double the size of the board — and automatically give him the authority to name seven new members —it could trigger a controversy not unlike the one that followed President Franklin D. Roosevelt's effort to increase the size of the Supreme Court. Roosevelt's plan was rejected after opponents accused him of trying to "pack the court" to water down its conservative majority.

As a counterpoint to discussion of increasing the size of the board, two administration officials said in separate interviews that Burns had asked for a boost in annual salary from $42,500 to cabinet-level $62,500. Both officials declined to be identified by name.

One of the officials remarked wryly that Burns, through frequent calls for wage and price restraints, had persuaded

Nixon Will Touch Down In Marin

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon Wednesday expanded a scheduled one-day visit to the midwest to a weekend trip starting Friday in Ohio and continuing to California for an appearance before the Bohemian Club of San Francisco at Bohemian Grove in Sonoma County. He will touch down in Marin briefly before the appearance.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon had been invited to address the gathering of business, professional and entertainment world leaders Saturday afternoon.

He will remain at the encampment, an all-male, private club, for about 45 minutes and then will go to San Clemente where he will spend the remainder of the weekend at his oceanside home.

The trip as originally announced called for Nixon to stop only in Ohio and Iowa on Saturday. This was first changed to a two-day trip to the two midwestern states and then the California stop was added today.

For his first stop, the president will fly to Canton, Ohio, at 6:30 p.m. Friday to speak at a Pro Football Hall of Fame enshrinement dinner.

After an overnight stay in the Canton-Akron area, Nixon will depart at 10 a.m. Saturday for Ottumwa, Iowa, where he will dedicate the new $717 million Rathbun dam.

He will then fly on to Hamilton Air Force Base from where he will go on to Sonoma County.

San Anselmo Council Hears Ire Of Citizens On Police Pay Hike

By SANDRA YOUNG

An angry public joined disgruntled police and firemen last night in questioning the San Anselmo City Council's definition of "bargaining in good faith" in connection with the recent wage dispute. (Other San Anselmo City Council stories, page 24.)

The city's 16 policemen and 19 firemen are fighting the council's refusal last month to grant wage increases to city employees this year.

At the standing-room-only meeting at city hall, the Irate Taxpayers of Marin presented the council with a petition containing 551 signatures of San Anselmo residents supporting the public safety employees' request for a minimum 4.8 per cent cost-of-living increase. Another petition, previously submitted by the group, contained 24 signatures.

Partisans won a concession in that councilmen agreed to take a fresh look at the wage question next Tuesday after a special meeting previously set.

During the hour-long discussion in which a dozen residents spoke in support of a wage hike, Donald E. Nelson, San Anselmo police sergeant, asked councilmen why police and firemen were told in April they would receive no pay raises this year — weeks before the council began its budget deliberations.

"Getting a flat no before you even had any budget hearings doesn't sound like any kind of negotiations to me," Nelson said angrily. George Jewel, negotiator for the firemen's association, earlier had stated that City Adm. Alfred C. Kaeppel had informed him in April that no raises would be available this year.

Councilman James F. Reed attempted to define the word negotiate as "meeting and conferring in good faith," but was interrupted by Nelson who asked, "How could it possibly be considered good faith to turn your back and say no when you actually decided long before those eight budget sessions?" Reed had said the council met to consider the budget for some 32 hours in eight meetings.

Don R. Deane of 31 Cedar Street, called the council's action "a sham" and said he would not accept it.

"You're asking city employees to take a 4 to 6 per cent decrease in pay," Dean declared. He questioned council's rationale in saying it could not grant pay increases because of lack of funds.

"I looked over the budget and found a number of expenditures that were a lot higher than last year," he said. When asked for a specific example by one councilman, Dean mentioned proposed improvements at two city parks.

"Money that is available for park improvement is not available for general fund use for salaries," said Warren R. Perry, acting mayor.

"By state law," Reed added.

"It's coming out of the same pocket," Dean retorted. He later told councilmen, "We'll decide if you're right or wrong at the next election."

Perry argued that the money was not coming out of the same pocket and finally, rapping the gavel for order, cut off further discussion, saying, "We've discussed this many times already. You can't compare peas and carrots and gas tax funds can't be used to pay (policemens') salaries, but they can build bridges."

Police officer Bernard Del Santo, negotiator for San Anselmo Police Association, reiterated previous charges that the city violated state law and its own policy by refusing to make counter offers during bargaining sessions.

Jewell then asked if the council's decision had been unanimous.

There was brief discussion

A Trade Deficit Being Forecast

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans has said there is a "probability" the United States will record a trade deficit this year for the first time in the 20th Century.

Appearing before the House science subommittee tesday, Stans did not etimate how muh of a trade defcit he exects.

He noted, however, that the $5 billion to $7 billion annual U.S. trade surpluses of the early 1960s had dwindled tothe $1 bllionto $ billion evelssince 1967 nd were still declining.

The last time the United States had a trade deficit was 1893.

By JEFF GREER

Magee's waiver of speedy trial still leaves him free to continue trying to move his case into federal court or get the murder, kidnap and conspiracy charge dismissed.

For the first time since visiting Judge Richard E. Arnason began presiding over the Davis and Magee pretriwl hearings, Magee's handcuffs were removed. He was still chained, however, to his chair at the defense table beside his attorney, Richard L. Graves.

Marin County Auditor Michael Mitchell today received from Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court a bill for $5,891.25 submitted by Graves for his services on Magee's behalf during June.

Hearings were continuing today on Magee's latest habeas corpus petition for freedom from San Quentin.

Yesterday, Miss Davis's attorneys obtained from Arnason an order that the prosecution give the defense team the names of all witnesses who may testify at Miss Davis's trial, set to begin Sept. 27. The discovery order also instructs the prosecution to let defense attorneys inspect all evidence gathered during months of investigation since Judge Harold J. Haley and three other persons died in the shoot-out. Criminal records of any potential witnesses and the names and official connections of any persons who were armed in the civic center at the time of the shoot-out also were ordered revealed to the defense.

Howard Moore Jr., chief defense attorney, told a press conference yesterday that Miss Davis's team would give top priority to two projects: interviewing each of the predicted 400 to 500 state witnesses, and preparing for a hearing Monday on the defense challenge of the grand jury that cited Miss Davis and Magee.

At the hearing, Miss Davis's attorney will question Marin County Superior Court judges to try to prove they "improperly excluded" representatives of some classes of Marin County citizens from the list of nominees for the panel.

Theoretically, if the defense proves its point, the judge could dismiss the indictment, and the county or the state could either try to obtain a new grand jury indictment or seek to have Miss Davis bound over for trial via a preliminary hearing. At such a hearing, the prosecution might have to reveal much more of its evidence than was necessary in grand jury proceedings.

Regardless of the outcome of next week's hearing, Moore said yesterday, "We're going to conduct ourselves on the basis of the trial date being Sept. 27." He added he believed the time was very short to meet that deadline.

The defense must "locate every strand or shred of evidence

Hanoi's Le Duc Tho In Abrupt Paris Exit

Tho left Orly airfield for Hanoi via Moscow and Peking as Communist diplomatic sources indicated high-level consultations were under way between North Vietnam and Communist China on the implications of President Nixon's projected trip to Peking.

Tho left after a month-long stay in Paris during which Hanoi proposed a new seven-point peace package it claims can settle the Vietnam war.

The scheme, laid before the stalemated Paris conference July 1 by Viet Cong Foreign Minister Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, largely has been overshadowed by the surprise disclosure that presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger secretly had conferred with Chinese Premier Chou En-lai, and that President Nixon will talk with Chinese leaders in the coming months.

Though Tho and Madame Binh indicated their readiness to meet Ambassador David K. E. Bruce and Kissinger, who passed through Paris on his way back from his Asian mission, the U.S. delegation has ignored the Communist overtures.

Drive Into Cambodia By Saigon Told

SAIGON (UPI) —About 3,500 South Vietnamese troops, backed by tanks and artillery, speared into neighboring Cambodia just west of the Parrot's Beak area today in a new drive to close a Communist infiltration route into the Mekong Delta.

Another South Vietnamese task force reported having killed 35 Viet Cong in a two-hour battle, in its drive near Neak Luong, some 35 miles southeast of Phnom Penh.

A 5,000-man Cambodian force combing the marshy regions 45 miles northwest of the capital reported it had made no contact with the Communists after three days.

The Vietnamese drives in Cambodia are aimed to prevent Communist infiltration to sabotage the South Vietnamese parliamentary elections in September.

Reports from the field said there were only scattered contacts with the new sweep, aimed at an estimated 1,000 Viet Cong believed to be hiding near strategic Highway 1, which links Phnom Penh and Saigon.

Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Minh, commander of the South Vietmamese 3rd Military Region, said, "The Viet Cong don't expect us to attack during the rainy season, so they'll be very surprised. I think the VC will try to avoid contact for the time being. They prefer to wait for the election."

The region, which allied forces have not swept for about seven months, is about six miles west of Svay Rieng, near the South Vietnamese border and 70 miles southeast of the capital.

State Rescinds Permit For Redwood Harvesting

CHESTER (UPI)—The state Board of Forestry has rescinded its decision to allow an Arcata timber company to clear-cut 145,796 scenic acres of trees in California's redwood country.

Reversal of the controversial action was announced by the board Tuesday, which said the change was requested by Simpson Timber Co. which had been granted a cutting permit June 30.

The timber company said it made the request to avoid "embarrassing" Gov. Ronald Reagan's administration.

At a news conference in early July, Reagan announced that the company would ask the board to reverse its action. The announcement was made after conservationists and several legislators protested the board's approval of the permit which would have allowed the cutting of all harvestable trees in the area.

Henry K. Trobitz, California timberlands manager for the company, told the board Tuesday that Simpson decided to drop its cutting plan after Norman Livermore, Reagan's resources secretary, informed the firm that he and other top state officials were not familiar with the plan.

Trobitz said he had been told that "the lack of communication could prove embarrassing to the state administration"

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Denies Bribe

NEW YORK (UPI)—A State Supreme Court justice denied Tuesday that he had accepted $50,000 in bribes from a convicted stock manipulator but said it would be "inappropriate" for him to go before the Senate subcommittee that heard the bribery charges.

Justice Mitchell D. Schweitzer had been invited to appear voluntarily by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., after witness Michael Raymond, 41, described him in testimony before the investigatons subcommittee as "the best judge money could buy."

In a statement issued through an attorney, Charles A. Stillman, Schweitzer "categorically" denied Raymond's charges but added:

"Even if there were any point in taking the witness stand to deny these baseless charges, I believe and am advised by my counsel that to do so would be inappropriate at this time in view of the pending proceeding before the New York State Court on the Judiciary."

Condition Good

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI) —Adrian Herbert, who received a new heart and new lungs Sunday, was in good condition today, doctors said.

A bulletin from Groote Schuur Hospital said the 57-year-old dental technician was comfortable and continuing to progress.

Groote Schuur Hospital reported today Herbert had breakfast in bed and that his condition was "improving," the Function of his heart and lungs was "excellent," the medical bulletin said.

Dr. Christiaan Barnard, the transplant pioneer who led the surgical team in the six-hour operation, rebutted criticism by a French newspaper that he had taken risks in the transplant.

Oppose Market

LONDON (UPI)—The top leadership of Britain's opposition Labor Party and of the country's trade unions voted by overwhelming majorities today against joining the European Common Market.

The party's National Executive Committee, which sets Labor Party policy, voted 16-6 against entering the market.

The General Council of the Trades Union Congress (TUC), which represents more than nine million British workers, voted 15-11 to recommend Britain staying out of the boomig six-nation community.

The present Common Market member countries are France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The two bodies met and voted separately.

A Compromise In Pruning Of Trees

The odd pruning job on the 60-foot trees was a compromise between the couple. She wanted to cut them down because they kept sunlight out of the house, while he wanted them to remain standing.

Laird Assailed

HONG KONG (UPI)—Communist China today accused Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird of "conducting a blatant nuclear intimidation and blackmail against the Chinese people."

The accusation came in an article by the New China News Agency (NCNA) commenting on remarks made by Laird at a Washington news briefing following his return from a visit to Japan and South Korea.

"His remarks are a frantic provocation against the Chinese people and the people of other asian countries," NCNA said. "They further show that U.S. imperialism is still obdurately sticking to its policies of aggression and war in Asia."

The news agency, directly under the control of Premier Chou En-lai's State Council, charged that the United States was "fostering the U.S. puppets to serve U.S. imperialism's continued aggression in Asia" and promising them nuclear protection.

'Not Guilty'

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI)—In a firm, clear voice, Juan V. Corona declared "not guilty, sir" 25 times Tuesday to a murder indictment accusing him of the slayings of itinerant farm workers.

As Sutter County Superior Court Judge John G. Hauck read each count of the 25-count indictment, the sallow complexioned defendant repeated his plea of innocence to the charges.

Corona, a taciturn, Mexican-born farm labor contractor, was indicted by a county grand jury early this month in the deaths of 25 transient farm laborers whose bodies were found buried along the Feather River.

Hauck set Corona's trial for Oct. 5 at the 40-minute arraignment, attended by the suspect's wife, mother and two brothers, after considerable discussion about his health. The 37-year-old Corona suffered a heart attack June 18 in his jail cell.

'Mrs.' Is Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —If Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., gets her way, Little Miss Muffet, Miss America and "Mr." and "Mrs." towels will be reduced to nostalgic memories.

Congresswoman Abzug has proposed that the designations Miss and Mrs. be eliminated from all government correspondence and records. Mrs. Abzug said women should be identified as individuals and not as wives or single people when men are not singled out by marital status.

Mrs. Abzug said the government could replace with title with a neutral Ms., pronounced "Miz." The New York Democrat also introduced a bill setting aside Aug. 26 as Women's Equality Day in honor of the anniversary of the day women won the right to vote in 1920.

Indochina War Top For Chou

HONG KONG (UPI) — Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai has placed U.S. withdrawal from Indochina first among the topics to be discussed with President Nixon during Nixon's visit to Peking, a group of American students reported today on their return from China.

The students released an unofficial transcript of a conversation with Chou in which he said discussion of Indochina took precedence over the subject of Taiwan (Formosa) or the normalization of relations with the United States. He also made it clear he opposed any two-China policy.

Chou also called for U.S. withdrawal from South Korea and a peace treaty to end the war to replace the armistice now in effect. He also warned against revived militarism in Japan with American help.

The 15 students talked with Chou and other top Chinese leaders on July 19 in Peking. In releasing the transcript they said Chou's remarks "are clearly not an official, formal statement of the position of the Chinese government."

In the transcript, Chou also was quoted that "Maybe I will say something wrong or the interpreter might interpret wrong." He said if the material were publicized it should be accompanied by a statement that "there are bound to be some wrong statements in this recording."

Discussing other issues that were of particular concern to Peking, so far as Sino-American relations are concerned, Chou said:

—"The first point, that is, if state relations are to be established with China, then it must be recognized that the government of the People's Republic of China is the sole legitimate government representing the Chinese people."

—"Second, Taiwan is a province of China and it is an inalienable part of China's territory. And after the second World War Taiwan had already been restored to China. And the liberation of Taiwan by the Chinese people is an internal affair for China which brooks no foreign interference."

—"Third, the so-called theory that the status of Taiwan is yet unsettled, which is the theory that is going about—some people in the world are spreading it—is absurd..."

—"Fourth point. We oppose any advocation of a two-China policy, a one-China, one-Taiwan policy, or any similar policy. And if such a situation continues in the United Nations we will not go there."

—"Fifth point. We are resolutely opposed to the so-called 'Taiwan Independence Movement'. Because the people in Taiwan are Chinese...besides, the 'Taiwan Independence Movement' is not a native movement in itself. It is a special movement which has behind it the special manipulation from foreign forces."

Sexual Freedom League Loses Test Of Sex Law

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A suit seeking to have laws against various sexual activities stricken from the penal code has been dismissed in U.S. District Court in San Francisco.

Marin County Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales and Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos were among nine Bay Area prosecutors and law enforcement officers named as defendants in the suit filed last October by the Sexual Freedom League and other organizations and individuals.

Among the complainants in the case were Charles N. Blair and his wife, Dorothy, who were identified as residents of Nicasio and members of the Sexual Freedom League of Berkeley.

The Blairs contended "They have a strong predilection from time to time in the privacy of their home to engage with one another in sexual acts proscribed by section 288A" of the penal code which forbids oral copulation.

Citing a long list of "governmental intrusions" on the privacy of homes, the Blairs alleged they feared police would "burst violently into plaintiff's marital chambers wyile such plaintiff's are privately and consentually engaged in acts denounced by section 288A".

The suit contended that laws against oral copulation and sodomy were unconstitutional and should be thrown out.

The advocates of sexual freedom contended that two consenting adults of either sex should be allowed freedom of action in the privacy of their bedrooms without having the law snooping and peering.

A three-judge panel in the district court dismissed the suit last Friday, ruling that the Sexual Freedom League and other plaintiffs in the case had not shown that they were in any way threatened by the two penal code sections.

The panel consisted of U.S. Circuit Court Judge Ben C. Duniway and U.S. District Court Judges Robert H. Schnacke and Albert C. Wollenberg.

The judges said that there was no indication in the suit that laws had been prosecuted against consenting adults engaged in private sexual activity since 1965, and that fear of the laws was not sufficient grounds for the court to revoke them.

LABOR

mittee today. Hodgson declined to discuss the UTU strike but warned that Congress will be asked increasingly to settle such disputes unless it reforms the nation's labor laws.

"I am here to encourage fundamental legislative change —not to resolve any instant dispute," he said. "We believe such disputes should be given every chance for voluntary settlement by the parties involved," said.

The subcommittee began Tuesday hearings on 17 bills providing at least six different proposals for settling emergency labor disputes in the transportation industry.

Congressional legislation already has been used twice during the past year to halt rail walkouts.

Hodgson said in telegrams to Luna and Chairman John P. Hiltz of the National Railway Labor Conference, the bargaining agency for the carriers, that it was "imperative that extraordinary steps be taken to resolve the dispute that has caused these severe dislocations."

The labor secretary said the administration supports free collective bargaining and the right of unions to strike but added the administration was concerned that the "rights be exercised with due regard for the public interest."

Carl E. Bagge, president of the National Coal Association, told President Nixon in a letter Tuesday there should be "immediate government action" to halt the strike "to protect the national health and welfare."

Ford Motor Co. said today it would be forced to shut down several plants and lay off thousands of workers if the railroad strike does not end soon.

General Motors and Chrysler spokesmen said the companies probably would begin to feel the effects of the strike next week, especially if it spreads to other lines.

The Labor Department was reported preparing legislation that would impose on the railroads and the union contract terms recommended last year by a White House commission.

Larkspur Panel Denies Apartment

The Larkspur Planning Commission last night denied plans for an 18-unit apartment development which two weeks ago it approved "in concept."

According to John W. Appleton, planning director, denial of J. H. Greaves's proposal for Larkspur Plaza Road was based on incomplete plans.

The commission told Greaves two weeks ago that it liked the idea of apartments on his site but urged him to provide plans with greater detail.

Meanwhile approval was granted for two other architectural design applications, submitted by Alvin Schultz for a 22-unit apartment house at 220 Lower Via Casitas and by Helen Busse for two commercial buildings at 1000 Magnolia Avenue.

In other action, the commission approved a 30-day use permit extension requested by Michael Walsh who operates a pottery school at 464 Magnolia. The commission refused to grant a longer extension until parking at the site is improved.

Trip To Mount Shasta Scheduled

Transportation will be by automobile and volunteers with cars are needed and will be reimbursed for gasoline costs. Each packer must supply his own gear and food.

An informational and planning meeting will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow at the youth center, 180 Harrison Avenue. Interested persons who cannot attend the meeting can obtain more information from the center.

among councilmen as to whether the vote, which was taken during a closed session, was public record.

City Atty. John G. Buresh said such a vote was a matter of public record and recalled that it had been unanimous.

Jerrold M. Ladar, attorney retained by the police and firemen's associations, asked the council to reconsider its decision.

"You have the power to up the tax rate and that will create the money these gentlemen are looking for," Ladar said. He made no mention of a statement two weeks ago that he would seek an injunction to stop the council from adopting its 1971-72 budget until the salary dispute is settled. Papers to that effect have not been filed to date in Marin Superior Court.

Perry assured residents and fire and policemen in the gathering that the council would discuss the question again, but he would give no guarantee that negotiations would be reopened.

The council adjourned after midnight to a special workshop session Tuesday at 8 p.m. and set a closed meeting for 10 p.m. to discuss the wage dispute.

The two-hour workshop will be the first of proposed bimonthly meetings between the council and the public to discuss whatever subjects may arise. There will be no agenda for the workshops and no action taken.

Marin Gets Slice Of Fund Returns

Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation has received $1,312 as its share of interest earnings in the Condemnation Deposits Fund investments for the first half of the year, the office of the state controller has announced.

A total of $784,584 has been distributed among the five state and 47 local agencies which have invested under supervision of the Pooled Money Investment board.

RESERVE

the President that this is not the time to increase high-level government salaries.
ries.

A Federal Reserve spokesman, asked about the matter, said: "Dr. Burns tells me there is no truth whatever in the alleged report that he has lobbied for an increase in salary."

By describing the board as a closed club and by saying Burns was seeking a pay boost, the administration apparently intended to enrage Burns and his colleagues. It was far from clear what the administration could hope to gain from such a tactic.

The Federal Reserve Board in recent weeks has been tightening its money policy, with a resulting rise in interest rates, in an effort to control inflation. Nixon had been counting on a continued easy money policy to help spur the economy and reduce unemployment.

Burns is Nixon's only appointee on the board. Barring a resignation, Nixon's next regular chance to appoint a board member comes early next year. Burns earned the antipathy of the administration with a yearlong campaign to convince Nixon to establish a wage-price review board which could bring heavy pressure on business and labor to moderate their demands.

"I attach great weight to the moral force that strong government leadership could at the present time bring to bear on private decisions in key industries," Burns recently told a congressional committee. "If we are to restore price stability with high employment in our economy, I see no immediate alternative to a cogent incomes policy."

Nixon, at his first news conference as president, announced he had junked the wage-price guidelines of the Kennedy and Johnson administrations. He said they were unfair and ineffective.

The President has consistently rejected calls for overall wage-price restraints, although he did launch an effort to dampen the salary spiral in the construction industry.

With inflation continuing to plague the economy, Nixon is becoming increasingly sensitive to suggestions that he is not doing all he could to check rising prices.

An administration official said Burns asked the administration to send to Congress a bill that would boost the salary of the chairman. The pay of the other six board members would not have been affected.

The official said the request was seriously considered for a time. It was consolidated with a suggestion that the salary of George Shultz, director of the powerful Office of Management and Budget, also should be boosted from $42,500 to $62,500 a year.

But the administration finally decided to oppose the whole package, the official said. The bill has not been introduced in Congress.

Accident Injury

Langdon Alvord, 23, of 2065 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, was treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital for neck sprain suffered, according to hospital officials, in an auto accident in San Anselmo. Details of the accident were not available.

Man Held In Robbery, Kidnapping

A 23-year-old gunman said to have robbed two Tamalpais Valley residents of $410 last night and then kidnapped a young mother and her son was arrested moments later on Shoreline near Highway 101.

Christopher Bruce Staple, who gave his address as the Lost River Ranch, Whitethorn, Humboldt County, was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of armed robbery and kidnapping and held without bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Details of the incident were sketchy, but Mill Valley police gave this account:

Police received several calls at about 10 p.m. saying a man with long blond hair and a gun had just kidnapped a woman and a boy at 1 Marinview Avenue, Tamalpais Valley.

Police relayed the information to Marin County sheriff's deputies, who patrol Tamalpais Valley. Two minutes later a Mill Valley officer was dispatched to Dolan's Corners on a report the kidnapper had been seen there.

The officer saw a gold 1968 Plymouth, described as the getaway car, driving east on Shoreline Highway toward Highway 101.

When he stopped the car in front of the Fountain Motel, police said, Lucretia A. Griffin, 23, of Whitethorn, and her 2-year-old son, Adam Smith, ran from the auto to the patrol car.

The officer arrested Staple, who was armed with a .22-caliber pistol, and recovered $410 police said was taken from Alan Roy Miller and Joan Marie Jammes, both of 1 Marinview Avenue.

Also in the car was David R. Walker, 26, of San Francisco. His connection with the incident was not known.

Growing Season In Full Swing

CHICAGO (UPI) — The overseas growing season is in full swing and Willard Wakefield, inspector in charge of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's plant quarantine station at O'Hare International Airport, has the seized plants to prove it.

Motorcyclist Hurt In Crash

According to police, Chris Davis, 24, of Sao Augustine Way, received a scraped knee when his Honda and a car driven by Linda Rose Blabon Dukes, of 424 Montecillo Road, collided.

that will help or hurt our client."

The Sept. 27 date was increased pressure for prompt action on a request to move the trial out of Marin County, he said.

Moore was cuatious in commenting on the possibility of Judge Arnason becoming judge for the actual trial in whatever county the trial may land. He said that in the pretrial hearings so far, the Contra Costa County Superior Court judge maintained orderly procedure "with reserve and apparent tolerance for all" despite "some pretty heated exchanges" between defense and prosecution attorneys, as well as other persons in the courtroom.

The defense attorney said that at any rate his client and her team would have little voice in any State Judicial Council decision on where to conduct the trial.

Change of venue could benefit Marin taxpayers, County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney noted yesterday. He said Marin might not have to pay for another county's security precautions at the eventual trial. Any county that decided it needed extremely expensive security precautions "would be doing so at their own risk," Maloney said. "There's a better case to argue that the security costs are not transferrable," he said.

Defense and prosecution attorneys met for several hours in Judge Arnason's chambers yesterday to hammer out the final wording on the discovery order. They also drafted tentative orders permitting Miss Davis to hold small-scale press conferences in the Marin County Jail and to have an electric typewriter in her cell, as well as to have meals in the cell if she wishes. The proposed order also would allow her to have the company of other female jail inmates during exercise periods. The judge was expected to sign the orders today, unless new disagreements develop among the attorneys.

The astronauts Tuesday ended their second day in space as it started —trouble shooting an electrical problem that triggered an alarm signal in the command module cabin.

They found a circuit breaker for part of the cabin lighting had opened because of an apparent circuit fault, but Flight Director Milton Windler reported the trouble was minor and could be worked around.

"Other than that, I guess we're ops (operations) normal, going to the moon and planning on going to Hadley (the landing site)," Windler reported at an early morning briefing today.

Its speed was dropping from 2,750 miles per hour at 12:34 a.m. when the astronauts were 100,666 miles from the moon, to 2,134 miles per hour at 7:34 p.m. when they will be $53,464 miles away.

Apollo 15 will slow to 1,887 miles per hour and then start to accelerate Thursday morning under the pull of the moon's gravity.

Arts Festival In Sausalito Canceled

The Sausalito Arts Festival, which annually draws thousands of persons to the city, will not be held this year, the Sausalito City Council decided reluctantly last night.

At the council's July 20 meeting, Mayor Alexander R. Imlay had proposed the city take charge of the festival since the Sausalito Arts Center will be unable to handle arrangements this year.

But City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr, after studying the proposal, advised the council against it saying there was "not enough time to plan and implement a festival for this year." The event is normally held over Labor Day weekend.

The council concurred with the city manager.

The Sausalito City Council also:

ORDINANCE — Introduced an ordinance establishing requirements for exits and automatic fire alarm systems in new buildings in the city. Also affected will be structures which have been rebuilt or remodeled at a cost more than 50 per cent of their value.

CONTINUANCE — Granted the Golden Gate Bridge District a 120-day extension on its conditional use permit to operate a ferry service in Sausalito, which expires August 15. The district said it needs more time to prepare architectural plans for its proposed downtown terminal.

BUILDING HEIGHTS — Heard considerable discussion on an amendment to the city's ordinance regulating building heights, a change which would give the city additional controls, but took no action on the matter.

Sausalito Delays Park Decision

The Sausalito City Council last night postponed until August 31 a decision on whether to place the controversial Park Plaza Plan on the ballot next April and let voters decide its merits.

The three-part, long-range plan, prepared by William E. Spangle, would transform the heart of downtown Sausalito into a series of parks, pedestrian malls and walkways.

Since the plan would eventually eliminate most of the city's Municipal Parking Lot No. 1, many merchants say it would have a disastrous effect on downtown businesses. And many residents, including the Sausalito Citizens Council, have complained it would cause them great inconvenience.

The council decided to take no action on the matter after City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr said the city's recreation commission has a proposal relating to the park plaza plan which may alter the plan. St. Cyr declined to give details of the proposal, but said it would be presented to the council at its Aug. 3 meeting.

Meanwhile, City Atty. Leland H. Jordan told the council he did not believe citizens could compel the city to place the plan on the ballot through the initiative process.

"The Park Plaza Plan is now a part of the city's general plan, and it will remain so until action is taken to repeal it," Jordan said. "That action, I believe, must be taken by the council."

However, if an initiative petition is circulated, Jordan said the city must either put the plan to the voters or test the validity of the initiative in the courts.

Retarded Boy, 9, Found Alive After 11-Day Hunt

CASPER, Wyo. (UPI) — Searchers today found alive 9-year-old Kevin Dye, a mentally retarded epileptic boy who had been missing for 11 days in the wilds of Wyoming, Natrona County Sheriff Bill Estes reported.

"He is alive and appears well and we've sent in a stretcher to bring him out," Ellis said.

Searchers, using tracking dogs over a 30-square-mile area of Casper Mountain, spotted the boy and ran to him, Ellis said.

Since the boy has been missing, he had been spotted several times but ran away from searchers, apparently from fright.

The search had been spurred on by new evidence found Tuesday that indicated the lad was still alive after being on the run like an animal since July 18, when he wandered away from his parents on a mountain outing.

Stinson Water Unit Will Hold Session

Directors of the Stinson Beach County Water District board and the Stinson Beach Fire Protection District board will meet in special session at 8 p.m. today at the community center.

The two boards will discuss proposals to improve water pressure and the hydrant system.

Heart Attack Fatal To Youth

LOWELL, Mass. (UPI)— Raymond Rivera, 13, Lowell, collapsed and died Tuesday after climbing out of a swimming pool at Lowell Institute of Technology.

Officials at St. Joseph's Hospital said Rivera died of a heart failure. He had a history of cardiac trouble.

A spokesman for the school said the youth had swum the width of the pool's shallow end to prove to an instructor that he could swim well enough to be allowed in the deep end.

Three Weapons Taken From Trailer

A shotgun, rifle and pistol were stolen Monday from a trailer at Christian Brothers, 1010 Lakeville Highway, Petaluma, police reported. Value of the weapons was not known.

Police reported that burglars also pried open a rear window at Maddalena's Inc., 139 Hopper Street, Monday night and took $10 in change from a vending machine.

Historic Summit For Chile

By MATTHEW T. KENNY

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — They didn't play Ping-Pong. But they talked, dined, exchanged decorations and signed the "Declaration of Salta".

And with their two-day conference last Friday and Saturday in Northern Argentina, Marxist President Salvador Allende of Chile and military president Alejandro Lanusse of Argentina made South American political history.

It was, in fact, the same kind of dramatic history expected to emerge — for the world — from the projected meeting between President Nixon and Mao Tse-Tung in Peking.

CO-EXISTENCE POLICY

Its message was: We recognize that we are living under and following different political philosophies. But we are neighbors with common historical roots.

One word to sum it up, perhaps, would be: Co-existence.

The impact of the meeting is certain to be deep in South America, a continent fractured more and more politically by new leftist regimes, on the one side, powerful militarist and anti-Communist regimes on the other, and not too many middle-of-the road nations in between.

The aftermath of the Allende-Lanusse parley may ultimately have some bearing on the future shape of relations between the hemisphere as a whole and Communist Cuba, currently recognized by only two Latin nations, Chile and Mexico.

IMAGE BUILDER

Strictly within the Argentine-Chilean orbit, the meeting enhanced the respective international and domestic political image f both leaders, observers agree.

For Marxist Allende, who presumably will be meeting with Cuba's Premier Fidel Castro within the next few months, it underscored his repeated desire to maintain a broad range of contacts and not confine himself to his "Socialist" sympathizers.

For Lanusse, a conservative lieutenant general and commander of the Argentine army, the meeting demonstrated his apparent desire to make Argentina's relationships more flexible with all its South American neighbors, rather than convey the image of a strictly pro-militarist, pro-conservative policy.

How this may affect Argentina's relations with Brazil is the most immediate question.

Observers noted that if Lanusse himself runs for the presidency of Argentina in the next elections—possibly within two years—his new "liberal" image will be also an advantage at home.

BRAZIL REACTION

In Santiago, UPI correspondent Martin P. Houseman said political observers were especially struck by Lanusse's statement that Argentina will carry out its future foreign policy "with an ample criterion of universality, which does not admit restrictions imposed by ideological prejudices."

Lanusse's announced plans to visit Peru, Paraguay, Chile, Brazil—and possibly Bolivia—gave further meaning to his remarks.

Meanwhile, Allende's international travel plans include visits to Colombia and possibly Ecuador.

Students Will Give Program

Children in the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department's multimedia class will present a program, "Maybe So, Maybe Not" at 7:30 p.m. today at Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley.

The 10 children between 10 and 14 years of age have been exploring films, slides, lighting, sound, music, drama and dance for six weeks under the direction of Melissa Wuoltee.

Those attending tomorrow's program at the school theater must pass through a maze of different media constructed by the children. Admission is one-cent for each year of a person's age, or a maximum of 50 cents, with proceeds going toward the production.

46 Strep Cases Reported Last Week

Forty-six cases of streptococcus infection were reported in Marin last week, according to Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

In addition, 20 cases of gonorrhea, one case of saimonella, six cases of infectitious hepatitis and one case of serum hepatitus were reported.

Novato Dumps Unpopular 'Seal'

The Novato City Council last night prepared to get rid of the unused and controversial city seal, perhaps to replace it with another.

It introduced an ordinance to repeal adoption of the official city seal which was adopted in 1964 but never used. The second reading of the ordinance will come at its Aug. 10 meeting.

Betty Machado, representing the Novato Women's Club, presented a new seal which met with the council's general approval. Artist Barbara Murphy painted the simple design of the Novato City Hall surrounded by a blue and white circle and the words "City of Novato Incorporated 1960".

It is a simplification of a drawing made by artist Carl Rangell for a plaque presented to City Mgr. J. Julien Baget when he left the city. However, Mrs. Murphy omitted the jet planes overhead, the street, street signs and mailbox in front on the city hall.

Councilman George C. Quesada suggested a simple line drawing for the city hall. He said that he did not like the street or street sign in the other painting.

Councilman F. Wayne Sartain, a printer, did not like the old-fashioned type used in the lettering. He will suggest other type faces for the seal.

He said that anyone wishing to submit other proposals for a new city seal should do so.

The seal which was adopted and never used had an Indian motif on one side with plank wickiups and the Novato City Hall on the other side. A tomahawk and gavel and other features made it so unpopular that it was never used officially by the city.

The original copy of that seal is now located in the Marin County Historical Society Museum in San Rafael. When it is abandoned as the official city seal, Novato will be without a seal until a new one is adopted by the council.

Showdown Stalled On Pleasure Faire

Approximately 30 members of the Sunnyhills Guild appeared before the Novato City Council last night prepared to battle the Renaissance Pleasure Faire's bid to perform the first weekend in October, but the expected argument failed to materialize.

The Novato City Council quickly granted a carnival license for five weekends prior to the first in October.

The contested weekend — which Sunnyhills fears would cut into its annual fund raising grape festival — will be decided on Aug. 10.

The Pleasure Faire at that time will appeal Monday night's decision by the Novato Planning Commission to allow the five weekends prior to the first in October. The fair promoters want the five weekends to include the first in October.

Kay Crawford, president of the Associated Sunnyhills Guilds, had protested to the planning commission that the first weekend in October was the traditional time for its festival, and the planning commission adjusted the Pleasure Faire dates accordingly.

Councilman George C. Quesada headed off the verbal battle last night by telling the crowd that there was no sense in spending all the time arguing a case which could not be heard until Aug. 10.

The Novato City Council Also:

TENTATIVE MAP — Approved the tentative map of Parkhaven for Boise Cascade Corp. with a chance for parking bays and curved streets in the townhouse development on the Sil Oliva property, north of Novato Boulevard and west of Wilson Avenue.

CIVIC CENTER — Approved in principle the City of Novato keeping the civic center in the area bounded by De Long, Machin and Reichert avenues and Cain Lane. It authorized City Mgr. Charles A. Brown to proceed with purchase of the Rodoni property for $33,500 to complete the city's holdings in the block that now houses the city buildings. It also authorized him to start negotiations for purchase of three parcels of property on DeLong Avenue which are for sale. No price was set, nor did the council indicate where it might get the money to buy the property.

BEDROOM TAX — Postponed until Aug. 10 consideration of a proposed tax on the number of bedrooms in new construction. The money would be used for public parks. Councilman J. Wayne Womack raised the question of the legality of such tax and suggested that the city merely increase its building permit fees. The staff was instructed to study both proposals and report back.

BAHIA — Introduced an ordinance changing the Bahia master plan. It will change the community recreation center location from adjacent to the school site to a portion of the commercial area and allow a second opening of the dike to the Petaluma River.

RED BARN — Upheld the planning commission's denial for a variance for an existing mezzanine at Johnson's Red Barn at 7388 Redwood Highway. The vote was 2-1 with Mayor Joseph Gargiulo and David Price Jones voting to uphold the planning commission and J. Wayne Womack against. Quesada and F. Wayne Sartain abstained because they were on the planning commission which denied the variance.

PREZONING — Introduced an ordinance prezoning 35 acres on San Marin Drive at the extension of Seventh Street to planned residential from agricultural for Anthony Sandbach. The property is being annexed to the city and this sets the zoning on it before the annexation becomes final.

CLAIM — Denied a $289 claim from the Novato Unified School District for a broken window at San Jose Junior High School. The school district claimed that the broken window was broken last Feb. 17 when the gymnasium was being used by the Novato Parks and Recreation Department.

APPOINTMENT — Appointed G. Thomas Telfer of 9 Thunderbird Drive to the plan review committee. Telfer is owner of Urban Dynamics of Greenbrae.

HEARINGS — Set Sept. 14 for hearings on annexations of one lot at Center Road and St. Francis Avenue for Womack and the same lime for annexation of the 35 acres for Sandbach.

PLAY AREA — Approved specifications for the play area in Pioneer Memorial Park and set Aug. 10 to receive bids on construction.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until 8 p.m. next Tuesday to hold a public hearing with county officials on joint use of Hamilton Air Force Base with civilian planes.

Novato Nod To Streets Overlay

The Novato City Council last night approved specifications for the overlay of certain city streets and called for bids to be opened at 4 p.m., Aug. 9.

The engineer's estimate on the overlay is $106,000 with the money coming half from gasoline tax money and half from the general fund.

Streets to be overlaid are: Olive Avenue from Westwood Avenue to the east city limits; South Novato Boulevard from Yukon Way to Highway 101 with the exception of a small portion at Stone Drive; Greenwood, Parkwood and Lynwood Drives; Clausing Avenue: a portion of Reichert Avenue; Manual, Louis and Fernando Drives; Leese and Nova Lanes; Carolyn and Lambert Ways; St. Francis Avenue; Gertrude Lane, Pico, Lobo, Queva Baca and Raposa Vistas.

Shell Oil Displays Device For Gauging Smoke In Air

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Development of a portable instrument to measure smoke, long sought by air pollution control inspectors, was claimed yesterday by Shell Oil Co.

Inspectors now rely on their admittedly subjective comparison of smoke plumes with an eyeball chart showing five different grades of smoke density.

This chart, the Ringelmann Opacity Scale, grades smoke density on the basis of the amount of sunlight that can pass through the smoke plume.

Shell's Opacity Meter is a hand-carried device about the size of a pistol. Its cost reportedly will be about $900.

The device, developed at Shell Development Company's Emeryville research center, can discriminate between the optical properties of a smoke plume and the confusing effects of background contrasts such as clouds and changes in light.

Like the human eye, however, the device is ineffective at night in measuring smoke plumes.

Shell, in a press statement, said that the new meter was accurate within one-quarter of one mark on the Ringelmann scale.

Shell noted this degree of accuracy was "markedly better" than the trained human eye, which usually was not accurate within a half-mark on the scale. The device thus apparently is twice as accurate as the human eye.

The device also would provide objective evidence for prosecution of air polluters.

Library Union Votes To Strike

BERKELEY (UPI) —A union representing the Berkeley City Library's 75 employes says they have voted overwhelmingly to strike Sunday.

City Mgr. William Hanley said in reply Monday that negotiations are under way towards a new labor contract and he is "confident there will be no strike and an agreement will be reached."

Those who took the strike vote are members of Local 2077, the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Workers.

96-Unit Plan Is Endorsed

A 96-unit apartment development on 12.5 acres of land in Santa Venetia got a 3-to-1 endorsement of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

John F. McInnis, Michael Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. approved apartment zoning for David Rosenberg's property on North San Pedro Road, at Meadow Drive. Arnold M. Baptiste objected that the density is too high, particularly because much of the land has a 40 per cent slope.

Margaret Heare of 283 North San Pedro Road protested the apartment zoning, charging that 96 new homes would jam the already overcrowded streets.

Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

CORRECTIVE WORK — Authorized a $4,550 outlay to recoat the stagehouse of the Veterans Memorial Building and repair a few minor leaks. The cost will be charged to the general contractors, Wright and Oretsky of Santa Rosa.

NEW CONTRACTS — Approved new three-year contracts with 55 firemen and communication workers and a one year contract with 35 midmanagement employees. Firemen will have the work week reduced from 92 hours to 84 and get 5 per cent raise this year, 6 per cent next year and 5 per cent the third year. Communications workers will get raises of 7.5 per cent, 5 per cent and 5 per cent. Midmanagement personnel will get a 7.5 per cent raise this year.

SMALL LOT — Denied a request by G.C. Kott to legalize a 2,700-square-foot parcel at 363 Pine Hill Road, Tamalpais Valley, as a buildable lot.

GENERAL RELIEF — Laid down general guidelines on how to handle able-bodied persons who seek county general relief. Those who apply for general relief but are found to be employable must show up for work assignments as ordered by the county.

UNDERGROUNDING — Expanded the underground utility district at Kentfield Corners so that the new undergrounding district will stretch along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from Maple Avenue to Laurel Grove Avenue in Kentfield.

SOUND PROJECTOR — Bought a sound projector and auxiliary equipment for the Veterans Memorial Building for $12,090 from the Western Theatrical Equipment Co.

WELFARE-MEDICAL — Asked Marin legislators in Sacramento to oppose the Gov. Ronald Reagan's welfare and Medi-Cal legislation.

INSURANCE — Accepted a new insurance valuation of $24.5 million on all county buildings, which means an annual fire insurance premium of $40,875. Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella said this is a higher premium, but he does not know how much. Arnold M. Baptiste asked Campanella to determine the amount of increase by next week.

PLANNING COUNCIL — Appointed William B. Lynch as county representative to the City-County Planning Council to succeed Eugene R. Trombley. Lynch replaced Trombley on the Main County Planning Commission this month.

FAMILY ADVISORY — Appointed Carolyn Devaney and Janet Kitzmiller of San Rafael and Mary Savoy of Novato to the Family and Children's Services Advisory Committee.

FLOOD ZONE — Asked County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney to see if he can prepare legislation that would put a lid on the maximum tax that can be levied in Flood Control Zone 9A (unincorporated area of Ross Valley). Unless the zone can be assured of a limit on taxation, Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. said he wants the zone dissolved.

CHINA CAMP —Voted 3 to 1 to join a citizens lawsuit that claims public access to China Camp in east San Rafael because the beach has been used for recreation by the public for many years. John F. McInnis said he prefers to negotiate with owners because they have been extremely cooperative and generous in working out public recreation programs in the rest of east San Rafael.

RAISE — Denied a cost-of-living raise of 7.5 per cent for Junetta Younglove, Marin Superior Court secretary and deupty jury commissioner, because she got a special 10 per cent raise during budget sessions in June.

HAMILTON FIELD — Held up until Aug. 17 any decision on detailed agreements by which Golden Pacific Airlines will begin operating civilian flights out of Hamilton Air Force Base. Mayor Joseph Gargiulo of Novato asked for three-weeks delay so that Novato can study the joint use of Hamilton.

AIRFIELD INSURANCE — Continued until Aug. 10 a discussion of insurance coverage to be provided by fixed base operators at the county airport, Gnoss Field.

RESOLUTION — Voted a resolution of commendation to Alfred E. Fowler Jr., who retired in June after 21 years as assistant veterans service officer.

Cultural, Quasi-Public Groups Given A Break

Marin County Board of Supervisors decided yesterday it would let cultural and quasi-public groups like Marin Civic Ballet and Louise A. Boyd Museum of Natural Science build on Civic Center farigrounds, but such facilities must be open to public use.

On a motion by John F. McInnis, supervisors asked the county administrator to work with architect Aaron G. Green on a building layout plan for the 80-acre fairgrounds and policies on how such buildings would be used.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said it is perfectly legal for public lands to be used for quasi-public purposes like art and culture. "But it should be predominantly for public benefit," said Maloney. "The buildings and environs should be available to the public when not in use by the civic ballet."

Supervisors said they want the county administrator to report back on the types of organizations that will build on the fairgrounds, how such buildings would be used and how much building coverage the fairgrounds can accommodate.

Marin Civic Ballet has already applied for space to build a $350,000 building at the fairgrounds. Robert Roumiguierre, president of the Boyd museum, announced yesterday his group is also interested in building a museum at the fairgrounds and would be happy to share the building with the public.

McInnis said $75,000 in utilities that will be installed to serve the new civic ballet building will also serve other proposed buildings, and the entire cost should not be attributed to the ballet building alone.

Jewish Immigration From USSR Drops

MOSCOW (UPI) —The emigration of Jews from the Soviet Union dropped sharply during July, diplomatic sources said today.

The sources said about 500 Jews will have emigrated to Israel by July 31.

Seminary To Host Visitors

One hundred forty-seven students from Japan and South America will arrive Friday at the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary in Mill Valley, one stop in a five-week cross-country tour sponsored by Rotary Club International.

Students and chaperones, between the ages of 15 and 40, will be hosted at a dinner and reception at 7 p.m. Friday in the seminary cafeteria. The dinner will be sponsored by six Marin County Rotary presidents and secretaries.

Leo Noah of the Terra Linda Rotary Club is coordinator of the sixth annual Rotary International Cultural Exchange in Marin.

The trip began July 21 in Minneapolis and includes stops in Los Angeles, Pierre, S.D., Sheridan, Wyo., Yellowstone National Park, Reno, El Paso, Texas, New Mexico, Baton Rouge, La., New Orleans, Washington, D.C., Niagara Falls, Chicago and New York City.

During the group's three-day stay in Marin, they will tour San Francisco.

New Plan For Consumer Leadership

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate Judiciary Committee yesterday approved legislation designating the secretary of state as the head of a new consumer protection agency.

The measure by Sen. Alan Short, D-Stockton, which is supported by Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., was sent on a split voice vote to the Finance Committee.

Short told the committee the current state Department of Consumer Affairs is not doing a satisfactory job in looking out for the welfare of consumers.

"Quite frankly," he said, "I don't think they are consumer-oriented."

Short said the secretary of state would have authority to write regulations prohibiting "unconscionable acts or practices as being unlawful and to the detriment of the consumer."

"These would concern those areas where unfair advantage was obtained because of the lack of knowledge, ability or experience on the part of the consumer," the lawmaker said.

He added that the secretary of state could then prosecute the firm, using the state attorney general as his lawyer, if any of the regulations were violated.

Olen Kull, lobbyist for Household Finance Corp., opposed the measure saying it will merely be "confusing and duplication of authority" to set up the new consumer protection agency.

Six Inmates Win College Degrees

Six San Quentin inmates have been awarded associate in arts degrees from the College of Marin.

The graduates are: Robert P. Halligan, liberal arts; Marion Milligan, behavioral science and social science; and Thruman E. Paul, William A. Priddy, Louis J. Surgent and John M. Warner, all in behavioral science and liberal arts.

38-Mile Bicycle Trip Set Saturday

The Sausalito Youth Center will sponsor a 38-mile bicycle trip to Samuel P. Taylor State Park Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m.

According to trip chairman Jon Livingston, the group will leave from the youth center, 180 Harrison Avenue. Further information can be obtained from the center.

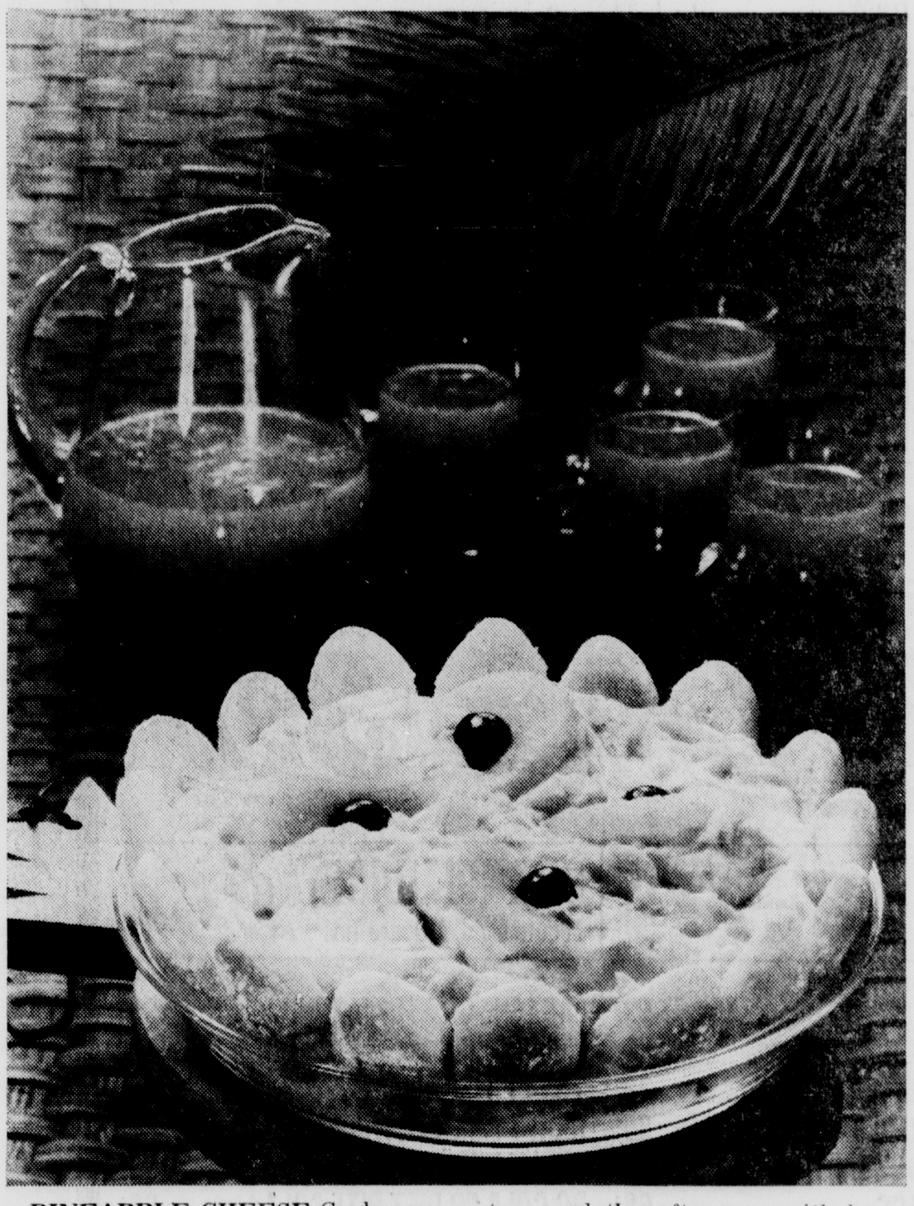
CHICKEN 'N HAM Bake is inspired by a Colonial Williamsburg, Va., recipe popular in the 18th Century. Cubed meats are combined with a sage flavored cream sauce and topped with bread cubes before baking.

Colonial Recipe For Family Dinner



PINEAPPLE CHEESE Cooler, a delightful summer treat, can be prepared in advance, ideal for the summer hostess who wants to spend the afternoon with her guests in the warmth of the sun instead of the heat of the stove.

Three centuries ago in Williamsburg, Va., entertaining was done graciously, elegantly, imaginatively. The most important, and most elegant, meal of the day was dinner, served at 2 or 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

In true Colonial Williamsburg tradition, dinner was a splendid affair. It included several large cuts of meat, fowl and fish, plus game birds, seafood dishes and meat casseroles, boiled puddings, vegetables and a variety of desserts.

Chicken 'n' Ham Bake was one of the popular items on the dinner menu. It combines two of Virginians' favorite meats in one dish. In this Williamsburg-inspired recipe, the cubed chicken and ham are mixed with a sage-flavored cream sauce, then topped with bread cubes and baked.

This colonial recipe is ideal for a family dinner. Or, it can be served as one of several meat dishes when entertaining a larger crowd, as was done in the 18th Century.

CHICKEN 'N' HAM BAKE

8 tablespoons (1 stick) butter or margarine
2 cups cubed dry bread
½ cup chopped onion
⅓ cup unsifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups light cream
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon rubbed sage
3 cups cooked cubed chicken
2 cups (about ½-pound) cubed cooked ham

Melt 3 tablespoons butter or margarine; toss in dry bread cubes. Set aside.

In a large saucepan melt remaining 5 tablespoons butter or margarine. Add chopped onion and saute until tender. Remove pan from heat; blend in flour and salt. Gradually stir in light cream and milk. Add sage. Return saucepan to heat and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat; stir in chicken and ham. Pour mixture into a 12x7½x2-inch oblong baking dish. Top with bread cubes.

Bake at 350 degrees about 25 minutes, or until mixture is bubbling and bread crumbs are brown. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

PLANNING AHEAD

Pineapple Cheese Cooler Ideal For Warm Summer Afternoon

The secret for entertaining on a warm, summer afternoon is to pick a menu that can be prepared ahead, so you can spend the afternoon in the warmth of the sun instead of the heat of the stove.

PINEAPPLE CHEESE COOLER

8 lady fingers, split
1 3-ounce package cream cheese, softened
1½ cups cold milk
1 3¾ ounce package pineapple cream instant pudding
1 cup finely chopped fresh pineapple
Pineapple slices
Green cherries

Line bottom and sides of an 8-inch pie-plate with lady fingers. In a medium sized bowl, beat cream cheese until smooth; gradually beat in a small amount of the milk. Add pudding six and remaining milk; continue beating until mixture is well blended and smooth. Chill until pudding begins to thicken; fold in pineapple. Spoon into prepared pie-plate; chill at least 2 hours or until set. Garnish with sliced pineapple and green cherries. Makes 6 servings.

Home Canning

In home canning there's many a slip between the garden and the jar. Make sure that all utensils, containers and cloths that come in contact with food be as clean as possible. Hot suds and water will do the trick. After washing and rinsing jars6 keep them covered with hot water until ready to use.

EASY TO FIX

Peaches Make Wonderful Salad

Fresh California peaches make wonderful salads, so satisfying they're a summer meal in themselves.

Peach salads are easy to fix. The peach flourishes best with the simplest treatment, and the peach flavor blends beautifully in salads with other fruits and with nuts and cheese.

Try the California freestones, in season all summer, in some new, simple salads that feature a touch of spice.

With a lemon, all-spice and cinnamon dressing, the ripest California peach will taste even more juicy. And when peach halves are stuffed with cottage cheese and nuts or with orangey cream cheese, you'll have an exotic yet nourishing treat.

Modern Nutritionists value the peach for its healthfulness, very rich in Vitamin A and with valuable amounts of vitamin C.

PEACH COMPOTE WITH ALLSPICE DRESSING

Ascorbic acid mixture
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
1 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 teaspoon ground allspice
Salad greens

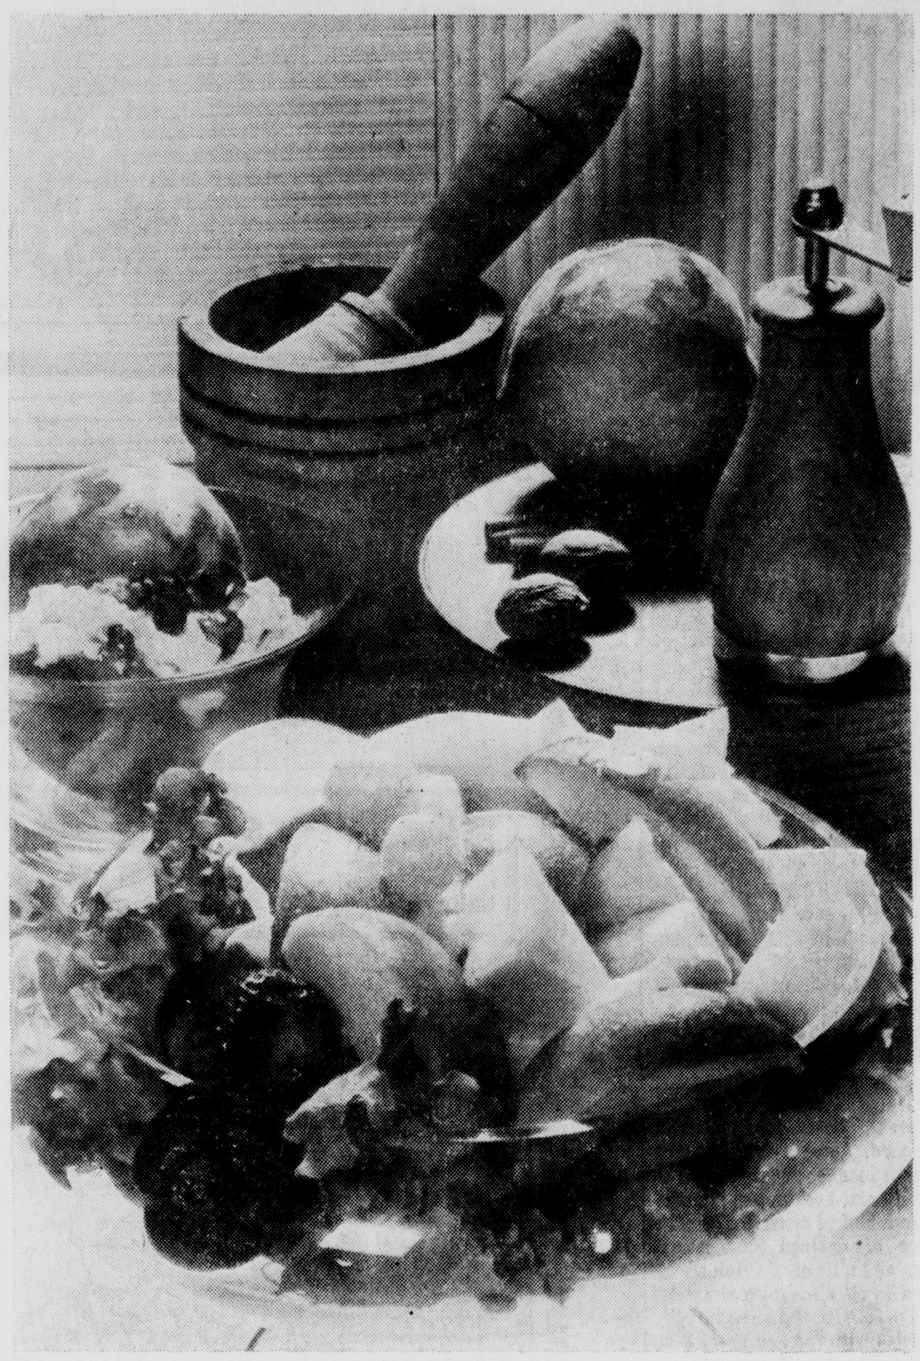
Toss fruit with ascorbic acid mixture to prevent darkening. Chill. Fold whipped cream into mayonnaise with rest of ingredients. Serve fruit on salad greens and pass dressing separately.

Almond Nutrition

Almonds contain protein, phosphorus, calcium, potassium, iron and B vitamins. Add them to drop cookies, cooky bars, loaf cakes or tea breads whenever you want to add food values to snacktime sweets.

Fresh Vegetables

During August total supplies of fresh summer vegetables will be seasonally large. Sweet corn and tomatoes are among the leading vegetables that will be available in generally ample supply.



FRESH CALIFORNIA peaches make an excellent salad spiced up in a fruit compote and stuffed with cottage cheese. Since the peach flourishes best with simple treatment, recipes utilizing California freestones are easy to fix.

DIETING

Sandwich With Less Calories

THE FRAULEIN
(1 sandwich)

- 6 slices thin sliced liver sausage slims
- ½ cup sauerkraut (drained)
- 4 slices Swiss cheese
- mustard to taste
- 1 wholewheat roll - approximately six inches long

Melted Dip Of Ice Cream For Plums!

Few of us think about taking ice cream along on a summer picnic, but with advance preparation and good timing, you can enjoy everyone's favorite dessert at the beach three hours away or on your patio.

This is a do-it-yourself dessert with fresh California plums that are in abundant supply in our markets.

The idea is to let the ice cream soften or melt on the way to the picnic to use as dessert dips for the plums. Or let the picnickers slice their plums over individual shortcakes and spoon ice cream-sauce on top.

Pistachio ice cream is especially good with the delectable flavor of fresh plums. A few spices added to plain vanilla ice cream also makes a delightful summer dessert topping.

California has about 20 major plum varieties this summer so you'll be able to experiment with many different ice cream flavors as well as different plum flavors. Because each California plum variety has its own flavor, you can enjoy the diversity of plums all summer in desserts or right out of the refrigerator.

SPICED VANILLA ICE CREAM DIP

- 1 pint vanilla ice cream, softened
- 1½ teaspoons cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 tablespoons diced candied ginger

RICH INDIVIDUAL SHORTCAKES

- 1¾ cups all-purpose flour
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1¼ teaspoons salt
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 tablespoons butter or 4 tablespoons for richer dough
- ¾ cup rich milk or cream

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Sift flour with baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in butter with two knives or pastry blender until mixture looks mealy. Stir the milk in cautiously until there is no danger of spilling it, then stir in vigorously until the dough is fairly free from the sides of the bowl. The time for stirring should be a scant half minute. Roll out to one-inch thickness. Cut the dough into three-inch rounds, dot the tops with butter and place on greased cookie sheet for baking. Bake 12 minutes or until cake tester poked in center comes out dry. Makes 12 shortcakes.

Hot-Cold Salad

Fry diced bacon until crisp; stir in slivered almonds and saute lightly; add lemon juice to make a tart dressing and pour over shredded lettuce and cheddar cheese in a salad bowl. Toss the hot and cold ingredients thoroughly and serve promptly as a barbecue buffet salad.

Plum Crop Less

California's plum crop, forecast at 105,000 tons, is 15 per cent less than last year, but 57 per cent above 1969. Supplies will continue heavy in August as the California plum industry has estimated that August shipments will range from 1,500 to 2,000 carlots.

TENNESSEE ART SCHOOL

Teacher Impressed By Cordiality

By BETTY FROST

She had hoped to increase her art skills, when she accepted the two-week-scholarship to Arrowmont School in Gatlinburg, Tenn. The factor that made her experience unforgettable was the atmosphere of cordiality and friendship she encountered from fellow students and instructors, Mrs. Joseph Reyes of San Anselmo explained.

"Gatlinburg should be the pride of the South" she enthused.

Being in Tennessee was a kind of homecoming for her since she was graduated from the University of Tennessee seven years ago. Arrowmont School, a facility sponsored by Pi Beta Phi sorority, is an extension of the University. Knoxville, where the university is located is 42 miles from Gatlinburg.

GOING BACK to Tennessee in this special way, as a recipient of the first scholarship offered by the Marin alumnae chapter of Pi Beta Phi, opened up both wider and narrower horizons for Mrs. Reyes.

Wider because there were 112 students in the session she attended from July 5 to July 16. They came from 34 states and several foreign countries, ranged in age from 14 to 80 years old and represented a wide range of abilities, from the neophytes to seasoned professionals. All worked together and all exhibited together. There were both men and women. Some were university students taking the course for credits, some professionals, some seeking to use art techniques in psychotherapy, and some were teachers, like Carol Reyes.

The narrow world of her roommate was a revelation to Carol.

"She was a mountain lady," Carol said.

She had come from her home in Jellico, Tenn., about 120 miles from Arrowmont to learn how to improve her work in enameling. With this craft Dora Lawson was hoping to add to the income of her family of 12 children. In her small and tightly knit town the undertaking of the trip to Gatlinburg was considered most daring.

Only after her husband had made the journey to see her during the two weeks course was he reconciled to this great venture. A strong woman with what Mrs. Reyes describes as "a beautiful character," she and Carol became good friends and Carol expects to correspond with her. Already the contact with Arrowmont has brought a favorable change for the Smoky Mountain woman. She is mailing her enamel work to a woman in New York who sees great beauty in her products and will sell them.

MRS. REYES came to California seven years ago when her husband, Joseph, accepted a post at the College of Marin, where he teaches chemistry. They have three children, Rex, 11, Joe, 15, and Risa, 18. Carol did graduate work at the University of California prior to beginning her Marin teaching career. For the past five years she has been teaching the fourth grade at Bel Aire School in the Reed Union School District.

The teacher hopes to share some of the things she learned at Arrowmont with her pupils this fall. Because of time limitations, she was unable to enroll in the classes for textiles for which Arrowmont is noted. She concentrated on pottery, enameling and making silver jewelry.

The Marin woman has great praise for the equipment available at the Pi Phi's school in Tennessee. The art school, completed two years ago, is a modern plant, with machines, lathes, kilns and every kind of art supply available. She described the saw with which she cut sheets of silver for a pendant and found cutting into silver an extraordinary experience.

THE SCHOOL in a park-like setting, encompasses a cluster of buildings. There are several dormitories, and the Staff House where meals are served in a spacious dining room.

Gatlinburg itself is a center for Appalachian crafts, and there are workers in wood and weavers who practice their expertise as "artists in action." At the Arrowmont School there is a visitor's gallery, where art in progress can be observed.

Her personal encounter with the mountain people convinced Carol that the Arrowmont operation was "uplifting the community. Through instruction and publications, such as "Crafts Horizons," it is also influencing artists and teachers all over the country, she found.

Many attending the summer sessions come back year after year.

"If a person goes once, he wants to go again," said Carol Reyes, wistfully.

SHARING HER EXPERIENCES as a student at the Arrowmont Art School in Gatlinburg, Tenn., Mrs. Joseph Reyes of San Anselmo explains that the dulcimer, which her son, Rex, 11, is holding was made in the Smoky Mountain region. The enamel and ceramic wares on the hearth are examples of the work she accomplished on the scholarship given this year for the first time by Pi Beta Phi alumnae of Marin.

PARIS SHOW

Cardin Rescues The Pants Suit In Winter Collection

By ALINE MOSBY

While Dior and Balmain virtually ignored the popular daytime trouser outfits for women in this week's Paris winter fashion shows, the Cardin mannequins came on the runway in colorful tweed pants and matching hip-length sleeveless jackets with little shoulders jutting out.

The rest of the well applauded show was equally as wearable to make the audience of international fashion writers forget the stifling heat in the non-airconditioned showroom of Cardin's new space age black-and-white theater.

CARDIN'S FIRST message: take a black or dark green heavy ribbed wool body stocking with a turtleneck, and over it apply a variety of gear. You had your choice of fringed felt panchos, little short colored jackets with wide shoulders, heavy wool sleeveless jackets for skiing, sleeveless gray suede kneelength tunics with fur hems, high-waisted maxi skirts or multi-colored harlequin plaids, colored linen miniskirts with black leather pockets, brightly colored checked overskirts with pointed hems diving from knee to floor, striped tunics like Moroccan bedspreads, white sleeveless pointed full tunics edged with black fox, etc. etc. Cardin, often called the most creative designer in Paris, sem to never run out of ideas.

Like the rest of Paris, Cardin blithely dumped last winter's maxi-midi lengths for daytime, keeping coats, suits and dresses around the knee except for his body stocking over-gear ranging from mini to maxi. A chiffon midi showed up in the evening collection with other evening gowns to the floor.

Cardin dresses were low-waisted and collarless such as a series in muddy blue and brown prints with keyhole necklines in black leather.

LATE DAY dresses were gun metal (a good color in Paris this winter) and black stitched or pleated crepes. Evening gowns in colored slinky crepes or satins looked like nightgowns and were almost as sheer. The crowd liked a black long jersey that had a red flower pinned on a black circle of cloth dangling from the neck.

Balmain makes no headlines for the younger set interested in far out look. But the fact that the designer went black this year stirs the circles of royalty and millionaires on three continents who make Balmain and Hubert de Givenchy the Paris designers with the largest private clientele.

PRINCESS GRACE of Monaco and German actress Hildegarde Neff are the latest customers of the Balmain restrained elegance.

The Balmain blacks include daytime black and white tweed suits and coats — hemlines hovering just below the knee, and that fur pants suit, the only trouser outfit he showed for daytime.

For late day, black or black and white wool dresses dominated the show. Late day cocktail suits with short jackets and most of the long evening gowns were black.

The house of Christian Dior in its winter fashion show Monday announced it was presenting "an intentionally elegant fashion renewing the value and importance of haute couture by combining up-todateness and refinement."

Only the furs were spectacular with striped minks and big fur hats like gladiator helmets appearing to stun the audience. The new Dior tweed suits, reversible wool coats with huge stand-up collars and beltless fitted "princess" wool dresses appeared to the critics to be indeed quiet elegance designed by Marc Bohan.

FOR THE first time in years, the Dior mannequins wore gloves, a conservative note seldom seen in Paris. Their makeup was subdued and coiffures quiet and short.

Bohan's rival, Yves Saint Laurent, partially swung back into the "traditional elegance" line with an array of romantic chiffon evening dresses with tucks and ruffles suitable for women of all ages. But he also stuck to his world war II floozy look of last season with turbans, platform sole shoes, mannish suits with broad shoulders and the short, coat or pea jacket.

The Dior hemlines hovered around the knee, the midi dead and forgotten. Evening clothes were either at the knee or to the floor. Even the popular pants suit of the last few years was downgraded with only two shown for daytime sports wear and a few in velvet for evening.

Dior also stressed daytime shoes and hardly a boot tramped through the salon.

THE HOUSE of Christian Dior presented this close fitting cardigan suit Monday when designer Marc Bohan's winter fashions were shown in Paris. The outfit features a belt over the long jacket and a close fitting bonnet, and the model, as most of the Dior mannequins, wears subdued makeup and carries gloves. The green tweed outfit over a green crepe blouse is typical of what Bohan critics are calling his quiet elegance collection.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Maybe The Letter Writer Has Missed Her 'Calling'

DEAR HELEN:

"Have you considered spinsterhood?" What a thing to say to a sweet, pure, moral girl who has stayed a virgin over four years of engagement!

Helen, I am very disappointed with your answer. If this Cindy has waited until now, another week isn't too much to expect of her fiance (even if he does insist there aren't many 25-year-old virgins left. How does he know: maybe he's been untrue to her!).

I'd be l e a r y of a man so lacking in self-control that he couldn't stay a week with me in the same apartment, without sex. And if he doesn't want his prospective bride to find out whether or not he snores, maybe he has something to hide. Besides, sex is very much overrated I know! —MRS. T.

DEAR MRS. T.:

Maybe you've missed your calling too! —H.

DEAR HELEN:

We must tell you the answer you gave to the girl who wanted her fiance to sleep over without sex to see if he snored — well, it was a gem! We had it up on the editorial staff bulletin board before the ink was dry on the newsprint. —SOCIETY EDITOR

DEAR ED:

T h a n k s, friend. I'm glad someone has me pegged for what I am — a frustrated humorist. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

This quote from Samuel Miller might help "Helpless":

"First of all we must stop protecting ourselves! We lock not only the doors of our houses in fear, but our souls as well. We are not only suspicious of strangers, but we keep our friends at arm's length. We are afraid to let our souls play. We are on our guard lest we be surprised. We keep the checkreins taut upon our souls lest they carry us beyond ourselves. We are cautious lest we be taken for fools. We fear too much joy; our laughter is uncertain, our affection hesitates. We open our hand but not our heart. Our pride holds us back from life, strange in its newness, lest it be embarrassed. We are anxious about the future and therefore we c a n n o t enjoy the present. Our reputation teaches us to see nothing but the outside of people, lest their souls see ours. We fear failure more than we love life, so we refuse great ventures. We are careful to do only what we have a l w a y s done, and know how to do well, so we never break the dull repetition at the old routine for the new creation in God.

"Crawl out of these tombs and prisons — there is a world of light and freedom waiting! Have faith in God and let life be free. Stop riding the brakes on the heart. The soul will never grow, tied down in bed, with the shades drawn. The higher and more secure we build the barricades of care and caution to protect ourselves, the deeper grows the grave we call our life."

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Mill Valley Couple Observes 50th Anniversary Very Quietly

Her husband was born in Amesbury, Mass., but came to San Francisco at the age of 7 and was educated there.

F r o m the time he was 19 years old he was a locomotive engineer with the North Shore Railroad, an affiliate of the Northwestern Railroad, until he retired in 1949. He worked on locomotives powered by everything from wood and coal to diesel and electricity and was the engineer on the last trip of an electrical train into Mill Valley in 1940.

The couple were married in Hollister on July 26, 1921, and came to Homestead Valley in 1922, moving to their present home in Mill Valley in 1930.

Mr. Spinney has been a member of the Odd Fellows for 56 years and served the Mount Tamalpais Lodge as noble grand in 1949. His wife has been a member of Mill Valley's Blythedale Rebekah Lodge 305 for 36 years and served as noble grand in 1945. She is also a charter member of San Rafael's Marinita Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, founded in 1912. She has been a member 59 years and was its first district deputy in 1915.

The Hamburger Taken On Apollo 15 Flight

The Apollo 15 astronauts have America's most popular sandwich — the hamburger, aboard the spacecraft. This is the first time hamburgers will be eaten in space, according to the National Aeronautical Space Agency.

They won't be served hot because there are no cooking facilities aboard the spacecraft. And they will have to be placed between two slices of bread instead of conventional hamburger buns, but Dave Scott, Al Worden and Jim Irwin, the Apollo 15 crew, wanted them.

Food technologists connected with the space program tried for many months to perfect the preparation and packaging of hamburgers for use in the Apollo program. Those that are aloft with the Apollo 15 crew were processed by the U.S. Army Laboratories, in Natick, Mass. They are individually wrapped and sealed in flexible aluminum foil packets designed to withstand the wide-ranging temperature and pressure changes of the spacecraft without changing the quality of the meat. Individual steaks were prepared in a similar manner.

ALL SANDWICHES will be on white, rye and a special cheese bread chosen by the astronauts for eating in space.

Crew members on each flight and their families are carefully consulted by dieticians at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston before menus are set. The astronauts are invited to try the proposed space food and to indicate their preferences.

Two of the chosen breads are off-the-shelf formulas like those sold in supermarkets throughout most of the country. The third is a special cheddar cheese bread especially developed to lend variety to the astronauts' meals.

Frozen ham and cheese on rye sandwiches, stowed in a pocket of the astronauts' spacesuits, were eaten a few hours after liftoff.

EIGHTEEN INDIVIDUALLY packaged bread slices — six of each kind — are stored in the pantry of the command module. The space explorers will make their own sandwiches from a choice of fillings.

Worden, pilot of the command module, is programmed to get the first hamburger on the fifth day out, after his colleagues in the lunar module have taken off for their moon landing. Other hamburgers will be eaten by the entire crew upon their reunion after exploration of the moon's surface is complete.

That's why Vets added more animal protein. More animal protein to supply a more efficient source of nutrition for today's less active dog.

And now your dog can enjoy six meaty Vets flavors —beef, horsemeat, lamb, chicken, liver, regular—all with more animal protein.

NO-SET SUMMER HAIR DO

International hair styling authority Vidal Sassoon has created a carefree summer hair style. Wash it yourself and let it blow dry naturally, he says about the softly shaped, permanently waved style. The look lasts through three hair cuts before additional permanent waving is needed in the nape area. The hair is cut short in the back and all combed forward.

Safe Way To End Unwanted Pregnancy

(I-J Special Report)

Last year more than 200,000 women in the United States voluntarily underwent a safe, effective and relatively inexpensive surgical procedure which freed them permanently from fears of unwanted pregnancy, according to the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists.

Since doctors and hospitals are liberalizing rules governing voluntary sterilization, the number of women seeking such operations in the future is expected to rise sharply.

Voluntary sterilization is legal in 50 states, irregardless of a woman's marital status, and a number of hospitals and physicians who have refused to allow voluntary sterilization are being challenged with lawsuits filed by individual women and interested organizations.

The operation is simple and safe, according to a report by Evan McLeod Wylie, which appears in the August issue of Reader's Digest. The ovaries and uterus remain intact; no glands or organs are removed; no nerve trunks of major blood vessels are disturbed.

In most states private helath insurance plans pay all or part of the bill for the operation, and Medicaid programs in 30 states cover the cost of voluntary sterilization operation done for any reason, and in 16 other states benefits are paid when the surgery is done for medical necessity.

Although women in their 30s and 40s are usually considered ideal candidates for sterilization, an increasing number of physicians say the procedure is even more valuable for the younger woman who has completed her family and faces 20 or more years of fertility, according to Wylie.

Tips On How A Consumer Can Help To Control Oil Pollution

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — A new study of oil pollution reveals that public concern over widely publicized accidents involving tankers and offshore wells comes nowhere near focusing on the largest problems.

According to the Environmental Protection Agency, the Principal federal office dealing with pollution, tanker and ship accidents account for only 2 per cent of the estimated five million metric tons of oil and petroleum products spilled into the nation's waterways each year.

Non-ship accidents and normal offshore oil production account for 2 per cent each; oil refineries and petro-chemical plants make up 6 per cent; normal tanker operations — such as flushing out holds — account for 11 per cent, and other ship operations, including flushings, total 10 per cent.

THAT'S a total of only 33 per cent, only one-third of the problem.

Another two-thirds of the problem comes from used oil that is dumped into municipal sewer systems and public waterways directly by gasoline service stations and manufacturing companies. This kind of waste oil amounts to an estimated 450 million gallons a year.

So the bulk of the problem of oil pollution is not from tanker accidents, however serious they are, but from corner service stations and industrial plants in every community of the country.

The main cause is the steady decline of demand for rerefining, the business of reprocessing used oil so it can be sold again. Changes in tax laws, labeling requirements and improvements in the quality of new oil have reduced the capacity of the re-refining industry by 50 per cent in six years. The number of reprocessing plants has dropped from 150 to 50.

AS A RESULT, there is little market for used oil, and it is often dumped in the nearest convenient place. The sludge is beginning to pose a threat to water supply systems and water treatment plants that are not capable of handling the rising problem.

This unpublicized part of the story of oil pollution was described in detail in the June issue of Audubon magazine by Marvin Zeldin.

The article also tells of a study by the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution showing that the effects of large oil spills in the ocean have an effect far greater than generally supposed.

Oil not only kills fish and marine animals by coating and asphyxiating them, but it also gets into the system of fish which become food for other fish and for humans. No one knows yet whether this oil has a toxic effect on people who eat oil-contaminated fish.

THE 1970 Water Pollution Control Act authorizes the government to prepare and issue regulations to prevent oil spills from onshore as well as offshore facilities. But the EPA has not yet issued performance standards.

Meanwhile, there are a few things that consumers can do to help:

—They can inquire about what happens to oil drained from their own cars at the filling station and whether local regulations are enforced.

—Do-it-yourself motorists should check with local water and sewer authorities about the best way to dispose of crankcase oil and other waste oil.

—Evidence of any dumping of oil in public waterways should be reported to the nearest Coast Guard or EPA field office.

—Public support is needed for proposals in Congress to strengthen the 1970 law by giving the government the right to inspect possible sources of pollution and require companies to maintain records on waste disposal.

Contest Set On Clothes With Wool

Girls 10 through 21 years old are eligible in the three age groups: sub-debs (10 to 13), who may make skirts, jumpers or pants; juniors (14 to 16, who may enter dresses, coats or suits; and seniors (17 to 21), also entering dresses, coats or suits. All clothes must be made with 100 per cent American made wool.

Garments entered in the contest will be judged for workmanship and then modeled by the maker at a luncheon and fashion show on Dec. 18. Prizes will be awarded in each age group, and winners will go to the state finals to be held in January.

Barrettes Are Back

Barrettes are back bigger than ever. One firm making them in outsize butterfly and bamboo patterns suggests they be worn not only to hold pony tails and the like in place on the head but also attach them to shoulder or neckline as "jewelry."

Pendants Are Big With Younger Set

Pendants with a meaning are growing in popularity with the younger set. Some are ecology-minded —"our hottest item," reports one firm.

One such pendant features the design of a dove (air), olive branch (land), and fish (water), and is a call for "peace with nature." Other pendants stress religious conviction, and peace or love. One of this group, called "signalling for peace", features a miniature semaphore with the letters N.D. (for nuclear disarmament).

Barbara J. Bruemmer, of 100 Santa Margarita Drive, San Rafael, tends a 14-inch yellow cactus dahlia, the largest in her garden. Mrs. Bruemmer, who is confined to a wheel chair, says her handicap doesn't hamper her gardening. Slight Gain In Manufactures

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Manufactures in California gained slightly in June to nearly $25 billion, but remained level with a year ago in current dollars terms, said a report issued Tuesday by the Bank of California.

The report cited the manufactures' gain at $24.98 billion and noted the effects of inflation would show the total declines 3.1per cent

In fact, said the report, manufactures have stayed virtually level at slightly below $25 billion during the first six months of the current year. Few wide fluctuations have occurred, it said.

Manufactures account for 21.4 per cent of California's production of goods and services with a payroll of $14.8 billion in June, the report said.

MUSIC REVIEW

Winifred Baker In 'Pops' Baton Role

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

SAN FRANCISCO — Marin's English-born Winifred Baker was an appropriate director to take over from Arthur Fiedler in a portion of the San Francisco Symphony "Pops" Orchestra's "Piccadilly Night at the Pops" last night in the Civic Auditorium.

Though she is a specialist in conducting serious music, Mrs. Baker snapped easily into the spirit of the selections from Gilbert and Sullivan's operettas, which formed the middle part of the program and highlight of the evening.

Performing in this portion were four top soloists from San Francisco's famed "The Lamplighters," resident Gilbert and Sullivan theater, and Mrs. Baker's chorus of selected singers from her Winifred Baker Chorale in Marin and San Francisco Civic Chorale.

The remainder of the all-English program played by the orchestra directed by Fiedler ranged in period from the Baroque Suite from Handel's "The Royal Fireowrks" to songs from the modern day musicale "My Fair Lady" and the Lennon-McCartney Beatle tunes "Fool on the Hill" and "Hey, Jude."

Though his conducting did not lack finer shadings, as in the lovely "Greensleeves," the maestro revealed no tell-tale signs of his 76 years as he conducted for the most part at the breakneck pace of the fire engines he loves to chase.

After allowing for the miserable acoustics of this huge barnlike structure, which was filled almost to capacity, one could say the sound of the orchestra was very good, especially that of the silken violins, but playing of some individual instruments was not up to the high standard of the symphony's regular season. No matter, fun and light entertainment were the objective of the evening.

Some flaw in the necessary amplification system caused the soloists and chorus to have a strange hollow sound at first, but this improved later.

Of the four singers, the contralto-comedienne June Wilkins, one of the top living Gilbert and Sullivan artists, was the smash hit with "A Man Who Would Woo a Fair Maid" from "Yeoman of the Guard." One of the wildest combinations I have ever heard was her luscious voice and perfectly enunciated singing accompanie by her own incredible and deliverately out of tune playing on the cello. It was hilarious! Especially since her bountiful proportions fit the lyrics referring to a lady of ample girth.

Tenor Orva Hoskinson was very good in "A Wandering Minstreal I" from "The Mikado" and baritone Gil Russak's rendition of the nightmare song from "Iolanthe" was a comic masterpiece of easily understood rapid patter singing.

Georgia Prugh's soprano had a little too much vibrato, and her enunciation did not permit full understanding of the words in "The Hours Creep on Apace" from "H.M.S. Pinafore," but her voice was pleasingly full and clear.

The chorus was ragged at first with some words and phrases not sung simultaneously by all members, but later it met the test of the crisp and fast staccato style in "Dance of the Cachucha" from "The Gondoliers," and it achieved a brilliantly rousing climax with the four soloists in "Oh Joy, Oh Rapture Unforeseen," the second act finale of "H.M.S. Pinafore."

Justice Sim's Is Honored

Justice Richard M. Sims Jr. of Belvedere has been honored for his community activities and work in scouting by Mill Valley Post 284 of the American Legion.

Sims, district appeals court justice in San Francisco, served as Marin's assistant prosecutor and district attorney and was a judge in municipal and superior courts before being appointed to the appeals court in 1964.

Union Official Sees Unemployment Rise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — AFLCIO research director Nathaniel Goldfinger believes the nation's unemployment rate could jump to 6.5 per cent in the coming months unless President Nixon adopts different policies to fight unemployment.

The jobless rate for June was 5.6 per cent. Goldfinger said Tuesday it would be necessary to create 2.5 million to 3 million jobs within the next year to make even a small dent in the unemployment rate.

Vote On Fairfax Country Club

Marin Town and Country Club in Fairfax, once the site of the last legal political duel in the state, may once again find itself involved in a duel — this time between the cities of San Anselmo and Fairfax.

San Anselmo City Council last night voted unanimously to recommend the club be used as a county-wide park, creating 27 acres of additional open space in the eastern corridor of Marin. (Another San Anselmo City Council story, page 1)

The council made its decision without realizing the land already has been sold to Kaiser-Aetna Corp., an Oakland land development firm that is interested in building between 350 and 450 apartment units on the property.

(Owner Max Friedman today told the Independent-Journal the land had been sold for an undisclosed price. Previous estimates of the pricetag were about $1 million.

(The sale could not be confirmed with the county assessor's office which continues to list Friedman as the owner. William J. Olsen, county appraiser, said it generally takes between 30 and 60 days for such a large sale to be recorded with the assessor's office.)

Councilmen last night shied away from the possibility of purchasing the property in a joint venture with the City of Fairfax despite such urgings from Adelaide P. Wilson, former Fairfax councilman. Two weeks ago, the Fairfax council voted 3-2 to steer clear of purchasing the property.

The Council's action was prompted by Councilman L3wis W. Stewart's report that Friedman was closing the resort, complete with three swimming pools, tennis courts, ballfields, a dance hall, picnic and barbeque areas, and that the Kaiser-Aetna was interested in buying the property to build several hundred apartment units.

Apparently the thought of such a large development on land bordering San Anselmo which brought expressions of disbelief to councilmen's faces stireed them to quick action to try and keep the land as open space.

Stewart said, however, that even if the land were purchased, possible development for apartments would face two major delays, such as the recent building ban in the Ross Valley by the Regional Water Quality Control Board and the existing commercial-recreation zoning of the land.

The purchase of the property possibly could be funded by a federal Department of Housing and Urban Development grant covering 75 per cent of the cost, Mrs. Wilson told the council.

The recreation club is built on the site of Lord Fairfax's estate and is listed as a California Historical Monument, Stewart said.

He also mentioned that the land was the site of the last legal political duel in the state at which time a state legislator was shot and killed.

Mrs. Wilson told the council, "It's not fair to say the people wouldn't support (buying) it without asking them." She said the Fairfax City Council had turned down an opportunity to buy the property in 1947 for $20,000 without asking the people to consider it.

July's Fiscal Heat Brings Move To Trim Christmas

According to Councilman James F. Reed, who jokingly referred to himself as Scrooge, the city spends $1,784 each year to install and remove Christmas decorations. The cost is computed in man-hours: 80 hours to put the decorations up and 43 to remove them.

"This is an expense taxpayers shouldn't have to pay," Reed said. He suggested the council eliminate its annual holiday decorating and encourage businesses to decorate more.

"Well I'm not ready to do away with Christmas yet," said acting Mayor Warren R. Perry. "Besides I couldn't go home if I did."

Councilmen Woodrow V. Capurro and Lewis W. Stewart agreed with Perry.

William A. Trewhella, representing the chamber of commerce, said, "We may as well put a match to those decorations if you won't put them up. We can't go to the merchants for any more money. Where else can it come from?"

The city's decorations include angels above the shopping center, overhead street garlands and, the most costly because of the difficulty in installation and removal, the pole wraps.

Trewhella asked councilmen to delay action on the item until he could contact some college-age youths who might be interested in doing the work at a lower cost. City public works crews now handle the decorating.

San Anselmo City Council Also:

MOBILE HOME — Denied a variance request to install a mobile home on the James D. Kilty property at 60 Essex Street because such a variance to the building code and zoning ordinance is not within the powers of the city council.

LIBRARY — Voted 3-1 to enter a reciprocal borrowing agreement with the county and 3-1 to join the North Bay Cooperative Library System. Dissenting on both items was Woodrow V. Capurro. Also, voted unanimously to raise Maryann Shaffer to a senior librarian Sept. 1 at $582 monthly.

PLANNING COMMISSION — Unanimously reappointed Raynvald Bernt Jr. and David Strassman to four-year terms on the Planning Commission.

ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY — Appointed Roberta Michels to the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council as the board's representative.

RECREATION DIRECTOR — Postponed action on hiring a recreation director to replace Frank L. Quinn until the Aug. 10 meeting.

MAYORS AND COUNCILMEN — Voted 3-1 to endorse an interim plan for monthly Marin County Council of Mayors and Councilmen meetings as proposed by the Larkspur City Council. The suggestion would move the time table ahead 20 minutes. Dissenting was Perry.

BICYCLE PATH — Replied to questionnaire from Association of Bay Area Governments about the application for federal assistance for a bicycle path system with notation that it is interested and considers the program "excellent."

ADJOURNED — To the first trial workshop session from 8 to 10 p.m. next Tuesday at city hall where the council and public will discuss matters of citizen concern.

THE ONLY WAY TO GO — These traffic lights on Highway 101 at Novato cause many a motorist to look aloft with envy at the freely traveling plane. This signal and two others are credited with backing traffic some Sundays 12 miles into the heart of Petaluma. The solution may be three years away, according to the state Division of Highways.

TO BYPASS OR NOT

Weekend Traffic Delays In Novato Frustrates Thousands

By Theron A. Newell
(First of Two Articles)

A car pulling a boat leaves Lake County, San Francisco-bound after a weekend at some lake, and travels unhindered through Ukiah, Healdsburg, Santa Rosa — travels unhindered until it reaches Petaluma.

There, at Washington Street in the heart of town, Sunday traffic that has seemed steadily heavier and slower, comes to a halt.

Did the driver know what lies ahead, he would turn off Highway 101 and take the longer but less traveled Lakeville Road to Highway 37. This bypasses downtown Novato. But the driver, assuming a temporary delay on account of some traffic accident a bit further along doesn't dream of any need to get around Novato. He doesn't know that he has been halted in Petaluma by three traffic lights 12 miles ahead.

For the next 12 miles, he and fellow motorists will inch along, creep along, bumper-to-bumper until they reach the lights on 101 at Grant, De Long and Lamont avenues in Novato.

Once past the lights, traffic will resume normal speed and the San Francisco-bound motorist can reach home without delay.

It was that bad a week ago last Sunday and almost as bad last Sunday and countless other Sundays. And until the state Division of Highways completes its freeway bypass of Novato in 1974, it is sure to happen Sunday after Sunday again.

Allowing for population growth, it is almost certain that the jams will get worse before 1974, according to officials of the highways division.

Daily commute traffic into the city is not delayed much by the lights as it is spaced at different hours. When it returns all at once at night, the usual stopping point for the lights is about two miles south somewhere near the Ignacio overpass, according to Novato police who control the section of highway through the main portion of the city. Police report that on Friday from about 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. traffic may be backed as far south as St. Vincent's Hill.

But the worst headache in handling traffic comes from 3 to 9 p.m. on Sundays during the summer. Then the weekend holiday travelers are returning home.

Novato police operate the signals so that traffic can move for 3.5 minutes uninterrupted southbound. Then traffic is given 45 seconds for left turns and cross traffic at the three intersections.

The highways division does not keep an hour-by-hour count of traffic at the lights, but it has enough average figures to show a large increase in the past two years.

In 1968, the average peak hour traffic during the entire year at Grant Avenue was 3,250 cars per hour on Highway 101. By last year it had increased to 4,450 cars per hour. The average daily count in August 1968 was 33,500 cars and last year, 53,000 cars. This does not take into account the change in daily flow of traffic from weekdays to weekend traffic.

The situation will not change until the bypass has been completed, according to District Engineer Alan S. Hart of the highways division.

(Tomorrow: The long struggle for a bypass)

One Dead As Auto Rolls Over

A young woman, one of two hitchhikers picked up by a Tiburon man, was killed last night in a one-car crash on the Petaluma-Point Reyes Road near Nicasio. The man and another hitchhiker were injured.

The Marin County Coroner's Office said the woman, about 18, has not yet been identified.

The driver, Alan D. Boeve, 24, of 1655 Mar West Street, and the other hitchhiker, Kathryn L. McEndree , 22, of San Francisco, were reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with multiple injuries.

According to the California Highway Patrol, Boeve's car was northbound at about 70 miles per hour on the Petaluma-Point Reyes Road near Nicasio Road at 11 p.m. when it rolled over several times before coming to a rest.

The body of the victim was taken to Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael, where arrangements were pending today.

The death was the county's 21st traffic fatality this year, compared to 20 at this time last year.

Pumping Station Contract Let: Cost Is 40 Pct. Over Estimate

Ross Valley Sanitary District directors have awarded the contract for construction of a new pumping station in Kentfield at a cost of $697,500, or 40 per cent more than in the engineer's estimate.

According to Ralph C. Noah, district manager, the contract was awarded Monday night to Clearwater Hydro-Mech of Burlingame, the lowest of five bidders. The top bid was $777,777. Staff engineers had estimated the project to cost about $425,000.

The pumping station, to be built on Stadium Way on College of Marin grounds, will be paid for from funds accrued over the last two years by a 27-cent levy in the tax rate, Noah reported.

He said district directors raised the tax rate in 1969 from 17 cents to 44 cents to pay for the pumping station. About $750,000 has been accumulated in the account, Noah said.

District direcors must set a new tax rate before Aug. 20, but Noah said he had no idea if the tax rate would be decreased now that sufficient funds to build the pumping station are available.

Directors will meet Aug. 2 to discuss whether to continue buying earthquake insurance for the district's treatment plant in Larkspur.

Novato Bonds Sold To Crocker

The Novato Sanitary District board last night sold $1.475 million in bonds to Crocker-Citizens National Bank, lowest of six bidders.

The interest rate was 5.8973 for the bonds, said Bill L. Bayles, assistnnt district engineer.

This is a portion of the $5 million in bonds approved by the voters to bring the Novato Sanitary District up to required standards of water quality. The money will be used on upgrading the treatment plants and constructing the outfall line into San Pablo Bay, Bayles said.

Mrs. Charles A. Joseph reported that the district had received approval of the State Lands Commission for the outfall line into the bay and the Novato Creek crossing.

The Novato Sanitary District board also:

BIDS — Recived eight bids for Wilson Avenue main construction with Everson Construction Co. of Petaluma, lowest with a bid of $18,974, and McGuire and Hester of Oakland, highest with a bid of $26,315. The bids were for a 24-inch sewer line on Wilson Avenue from Novato Boulevard to Monte Vista. The board postponed awarding the contract until its meeting next Monday.

ANNEXATIONS — Approved annexation of two acres on Wildhorse Valley Drive for O. B. Mauch, owner, and five acres on Vineyard Road at Wildhorse Valley Drive for Summit Builders. The board approved plans for the subdivision sewers on the latter plot.

PROCEEDINGS — Started annexation proceedings for one acre at the end of Mendocino Lane for Leonard Smith, nine acres on Center Road at Sun Lane for Michael Perryman and 59 acres on Novato Boulevard, west of Wilson for Boise Cascade Corp. These proposed annexations now go to the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission for its approval.

ADJOURNED— Adjourned to 6 p.m. Monday in the North Marin County Water District office, 999 Atherton Avenue.

Three Hurt As Car Rams Pole

Three Santa Venetia residents suffered assorted cuts, scrapes and bruises at 6:50 p.m. Monday when their car rammed a utility pole broadside on North San Pedro Road.

The California Highway Patrol said the accident occurred east of Birch Way when a westbound car driven by Joseph R. Ibanez, 28, of 812 Descanso Way, ran off the road and struck a utility pole.

Also injured was Nicholas R. Ibanez, 15, of the same address, and a neighbor, James L. McNulty, 15, of 813 Descanso Way.

CTA Names 18 To Board Of Directors

Stewart M. Herriott of Eureka represents District 1, including Marin and Sonoma counties, on the new 18-member board of directors of the California Teachers Association, which was announced yesterday.

Herriott was an incumbent director before reorganization of the board. The new board was elected by CTA's 436-member State Council of Education "as part of a massive reorganization plan designed to strengthern the professional and political muscle of the already powerful teachers' organization," according to an announcement from CTA headquarters in Burlingame.

Panel: Employees Should Get Back Former Jobs

The Marin County Personnel Commissioners yesterday recommended that four county employees, demoted July 1, be elevated to their previous classifications.

The recommendations will go to the Marin County Board of Supervisors for decision.

Three persons in the Marin County Planning Department and one in the county personnel office had been downgraded in a reclassification made by the county personnel office as of July 1.

The personnel commissioners recommended:

Rowland Darnell, who was getting $1,351 as principal planner, should return to that position and get the 7.5 per cent raise to $1,454 per month from July. The personnel office had reclassified him to senior planner, at $1,351.

June Erdman, secretary in the county planning department, and Alice Wevang, secretary in the personnel office, should retain their secretary titles and get $771 per month instead of $717 in the lower classification of secretary-stenographer.

Toni Woolston should remain as transcriber typist in the planning department instead of dropping to intermediate typist. As transcriber typist, she would draw $619 instead of $590.

The personnel commissioners upheld title changes made by the personnel office for two technicians in the public works department. William Dance and Bruce Manor were changed from assistant civil engineer 1 to engineering technician 3. As a result, they got a 2.5 per cent raise this month instead of 7.5 per cent.

The personnel commissioners, headed by I. Wayland Bonbright, backed Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos in promoting Gerald Miklos from deputy sheriff 1 to deputy sheriff 2. Personnel Director Maren Rinne had protested that the promotion came from an old list of eligibles. Personnel commissioners asked the sheriff to use the current list hereafter.

Suspect Booked For Burglary

A 24-yaar-old San Rafael man was arrested at 2 a.m. today on suspicion of burglarizing a home on Knight Drive.

George Edward Myers, 24, of 1476 Lincoln Avenue, was booked into Marin County Jail and scheduled to appear this afternoon in municipal court.

Police said they arrested Myers in front of the home of William Savage, 4 Knight Drive, where Myers entered through an unlocked sliding door. Police said it was unknown if anything was taken.

Fairfax Nod To City Hall Site Plan

The Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission last night approved the site plan for the city hall addition which has been estimated to cost about $35,000.

According to Ernestine Healy, commission secretary, the addition will extend the side wall of the existing city hall north 32 feet across the creek. The addition will be 25 feet wide.

Funds for construction are included in this year's budget, Mrs. Healy reported.

The plans by Sausalito architect Donald K. Olsen, were approved by the Design Review Board earlier this month.

In other business, the commission appointed Joseph E. Martinez as its representative on the city's housing committee and Chairman Joann Walla as its representative at the Fairfax School District board.

The resignation of commission members Leonard J. Wilgenbush because of business pressures was accepted.

The commission will meet again Aug. 31.

Project's Low Bid Gets Nod

The San Rafael Board of Education last night awarded a contract to Pearson and Johnson Contractors of San Francisco who bid $90,700 for construction of a music building at Davidson School.

The bid was almost $10,000 under the anticipated cost. The board rejected an added $1,900 for heavy sheet glass doors to act as a sound barrier.

The board delayed action until Aug. 3 on items which would increase the 1971-72 budget by $45,000 and add 3 cents to the tax rate: $10,000 to hire two athletic equipment managers; $30,000 to expand the work-study program from serving 60 students to 100 and $5,000 for transportation of 50 high school students and two teachers in an on-location teaching program.

The board also said it would consider reviewing old master plans for schools and look at the possibilities of developing new plans to serve as guidelines for campus improvements.

One such improvement, recommended last night by Robert Levaro, was to replace a chain link fence in front of Terra Linda High School with a six inch high brick retaining wall.

Levaro called the chain link fence — to control access to the parking lot — unnecessary and ugly and said students would help replace it with a retaining wall and plant shrubs and grass in a 160 by 120 foot area adjacent to the present fence.

Board member Herman L. Childress suggested Levaro bring up the subject in October because that would be in planting season and some estimates of student volunteers could be made.

The board also heard its student representative from San Rafael High School, David Plotkin, say a bicycle security fence is unacceptable to students because the fence is only opened before and after school thereby useless for students arriving late or leaving early.

Dr. Peter Palches, principal, said he would work on a solution to the bike security problem but the bike fence would be tried for those who need it.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

REPORT — Heard a report on its program for slower learning students from Charles Billings who concluded as a whole the program was functioning very well, but parts of the program were apparently not working. Billings said the number of students in the program was not sufficient to obtain definitive data as to what are the reasons for problem areas.

BOUNDARY — Approved a change of attendance boundaries so about 45 students in the area of the crowded Coleman School can attend the less crowded Laurel Dell School.

ANTICIPATION — Authorized the superintendent to borrow from the county treasurer in anticipation of tax income expected in December.

REPRESENTATIVE — Named Marilyn Bollinger board representative to the California School Boards Association Delegate Assembly.

PAY — Agreed to pay Richard Delgado, summer school teacher at Terra Linda High, $864, $96 less than his proposed salary because he was ill for three days. The board said it would check with the county counsel to define clearly board policy for paying sick pay in the summer.

BILLS — Approved the payment of bills for both districts.

PROPERTY — Approved the acquisition of state surplus property.

IMPROVEMENTS — Approved improvements for Laurel Dell School amounting to $650.

Mob Attacks In Northern Ireland

BELFAST (UPI) —A crowd of about 50 persons attacked British soldiers with stones and nail bombs and set fire to a garage and two cars today in Londonderry's Roman Catholic quarter of Bogside, a British Army spokesman said.

He said the troops dispersed the crowd by firing rubber pellets and teargas.

Tuesday night, a sniper fired about 15 shots at British soldiers about a mile and a half from the Bogside troublespot.

No injuries were reported in the two incidents.

Reprieve Seen In Sausalito

It appears the Sausalito Art Center will continue to occupy the old Bayside School property as it has for the past two years.

Although the Sausalito School District board on July 12 ordered the center evicted within 30 days, the board showed a change of heart this week.

On Monday trustees directed their attorney to meet with an attorney representing the art center to work out a lease arrangement between the center and the district.

The move came a week after representatives of both groups met for four hours to negotiate an agreement on the Bayside property, which is owned by the federal government.

Robert A. Ellis, art center director, told the Independent-Journal yesterday he is confident the situation will be resolved to the satisfaction of both parties. He also said the district has agreed to negotiate with the federal government for a rental price accecptable to the center which now pays $80 a month for the property.

And Trustee Robert A. Thompson, a member of the district's committee, also expressed "cautious optimism" that the two groups can reach agreement.

Earlier Thompson said any new lease must meet the federal government's guidelines for the use of the property and would probably be issued on a year-to-year basis.

In voiding the center's lease on the former school earlier this month, the board said the federal government had never approved the original lease, granted in April 1969. Once the board approves a new contract, it will be forwarded to the government for final approval.

The Sausalito School District board also:

MEETING — Set a special meeting for a final budget hearing and adoption of a district budget for 1971-72 for 7:30 p.m. Monday in Bayside School. At the meeting trustees will also choose board committees and consider adoption of an updated policy manual.

ASSOCIATION — Voted to join the California School Board Association at a cost of $377 a year.

TRANSFERS — Approved interdistrict transfers for the following students; Kenneth and Karen Jackson, Ashlee Temple and Vivian and Kenneth Cordes.

ADULT EDUCATION — Directed the superintendent to work with College of Marin officials in establishing adult education programs at Central and Manzanita schools which the district does not intend to use for regular classes next fall.

YOUTH CENTER — Tabled a request from the City of Sausalito that the Sausalito Youth Center be allowed to use Central School facilities and asked for legal counsel in the matter.

CLOSED SESSION — Met in closed session for 55 minutes to instruct its negotiator on salary negotiations with employee associations.

Court Order For Return Of $100,000 Sought

A Mill Valley contracting firm has sought a Marin Superior Court order directing the City of Mill Valley to return $100,00 the firm says has been illegally collected as building inspection fees.

The contractor, Kendall Corp. of 36 Tiburon Boulevard, said in papers filed Monday with the court that the rates and fees charged by the city for building inspection are "far in excess of the costs" of building inspection.

The excess revenues are used to defray general expenses of city government, the firm said.

Saying it was acting on behalf of all others who have paid building inspection fees in the last three years, the contracting firm asked the court to order the city to return $100,000, which it said were excess fees, to the persons who paid them.

Hub City Finds It Hard To Hold Line

When the organization most devoted to keeping down tax rates petitions for a raise in pay for public employees, it's bound to lift a few eyebrows and call forth a few inquiries.

That's what has happened in San Anselmo, where the Irate Taxpayers of Marin submitted a petition with 24 signatures asking the city council to raise the pay of police and firemen.

SAN ANSELMO city councilmen, trying to cut the tax rate to compensate for the windfall from a higher assessment ratio, wound up giving no salary hike to any city employee.

Presumably, none of the employees were pleased with this. But no outcry has been raised except on behalf of police and firemen — especially police.

The Independent-Journal has received letters and phone calls all with the same refrain: San Anselmo policemen's pay is the lowest in the area, yet they are getting no raise. This, claim the letters and calls, will mean the Hub City simply cannot recruit and keep a good police force.

IT ISN'T TRUE that the Hub City is at the bottom of the pay ladder for officers of the law, though it is nearly true with the raises granted in other cities.

For the fiscal year just ended, San Anselmo's starting pay for police patrolman was sixth among the 11 cities of Marin. At the top of the patrolman's pay scale, it was seventh.

San Rafael has the highest starting pay at $812 per month, followed by Novato, Belvedere, Sausalito, Marin County (which contracts police service for Tiburon), then San Anselmo at $767. Ross was at the bottom with $660.

Top patrolman's salary with highest in Corte Madera at $998 per month, followed by San Rafael, Novato, Belvedere, Sausalito, Marin County, and then San Anselmo at $935. Corte Madera's starting pay was $4 per month below San Anselmo's, but the spread between top and bottom of the scale was much wider.

However, all the other cities and the county are granting pay raises for the new fiscal year. The raises are still unsettled in San Rafael, where City Mgr. James H. McCown has proposed a 4 per cent hike; in Mill Valley, where a 6.5 per cent raise offer has sent all employees except police and firemen out on strike, and in Ross, which has offered 2.5 per cent.

Novato and the county have granted a 7.5 per cent raise to police; Corte Madera, 7 per cent; Belvedere, Fairfax, Larkspur and Sausalito, 5 per cent; San Anselmo nothing.

THIS MEANS that as of July San Anselmo's police starting pay is third from the bottom, its $767 per month exceeding only $763 in Larkspur and $678 in Ross with the new year's raises in the latter two.

San Anselmo police initially asked a 15 per cent pay hike, but quickly dropped that to 7.5 per cent, according to City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel. Firemen asked parity with police.

The request also included many increases in fringe benefits, in which the Hub City is now about in the middle, with such benefits highest in San Rafael and probably lowest in Novato.

We assume the Irate Taxpayers of Marin took all these things into consideration before reversing its usual anti-spending position to advocate a pay raise for the Hub's police and firemen.

But the point is that it is a very difficult thing for a city council or other public governing body to hold the line on salaries — particularly when other cities and the county do not.

CAPITOL REPORT

Power Grab By Riles In 'Streamlining' Bill

By RUS WALTON

SACRAMENTO — Like Carl Sandburg's fog, changes in power sometimes come on little cat feet — silent, subtle, without notice.

But, if you look closely, here's one time you may see it coming: a sophisticated siphoning of power and independence away from the State Board of Education, a subtle building of power for the superintendent of public instruction.

Take a look at AB 2800. Assemblyman Walter Karabian, D-Monterey Park, is listed as the author. Actually, the bill was drafted by Supt. Wilson C. Riles and his staff.

AB 2800 was passed by the Assembly recently and now goes before the State Senate's education committee. Proponents have touted it as a plan to streamline the State Department of Education. They say it will save $85,000 a year by terminating, or consolidating, various committees and commissions.

GOODNESS KNOWS bureaucracy needs streamlining. And, as the saying goes. $85,000 saved is $85,000 earned. So, it looks all to the good and rather appealing.

But a deeper review of AB 2800 seems to reveal some of those little cat feet — some subtle shifts in power. All in one direction. Not to the Board of Education. Not to the legislature. To the superintendent of public instruction. Fully implemented, AB 2800 could make the superintendent something of a czar of public education.

While the bill would do away with "numerous educational commissions and advisory committees" it would at the same time create four "super" commissions. These commissions would serve as advisory bodies to the board of education.

NOW, SINCE THOSE super commissions are supposed to be advisory to the state board, you'd think AB 2800 would put those commissions within or under the board. Right? Wrong! AB 2800 reads: "There is in the Department of Education . . . (name of commission, etc.)"

If something is "in" the department of education, it figures that it must come under the head of that department. And, who is the head of the department of education? The superintendent of public instruction, that's who. Subtle, those little old cat feet.

Most commissions appoint their own executive secretaries. But, under AB 2800 the superintendent or his representatives "shall" serve as executive secretary to each of the super commissions.

Commissions usually have independent staffs to do research and analysis involved with the body's duties. AB 2800 directs the super commissions to utilize staff provided by the superintendent.

Anyone familiar with the working of government knows the importance of staff work to a commission. Most commission members are citizens serving on a part-time basis. They depend on staff for background information and preliminary findings. The staff can adroitly predetermine final decisions; too often the commission ends up as a rubber stamp for staff designs.

Obviously the individual who selects and guides the staff (in this case the superintendent) can have an inordinate amount of influence on the activities and findings of a commission.

California needs no czar — in education or any other area.

MAN BITES DOG

"Anyone knows what should have been done yesterday. How'd you like to know about tomorrow?"

"If the President had any plans to dump you, I'd have been one of the first to know."

Officials' Arrogance Angering Voters

Your sharp editorial rebuke of July 23 addressed to Michael Wornum, county supervisor and bridge district director, was indeed timely.

The prevailing arrogant and "public be damned" attitude of many office holders and politicians is a large factor in the rising temper of the voters who may well return many of these public servants to the ranks of the unemployed come the next elections.

Thanks to your excellent reporting, we are informed and not kept in the dark by those sworn to uphold the law.

Higher San Anselmo Police Pay Urged

I, along with many, many friends and neighbors, am appalled that our San Anselmo Police Department has not been granted deserved pay increases.

We have one of the finest departments in this county and it would be criminal if we lost members of the force to other localities, due to inadequate salaries.

They are a credit to our community and everything should be done to see that they will want to stay and remain an important part of it.

Drydock Removal For Summer Project

As a summer vacation youth project, I advocate for Richardson Bay Sight Pollution, the removal of the walls of the four dry-docks by hand.

I am sure that a volunteer crew of yachtsman would gladly and daily transport young demolishing crews.

Then, the Sausalito city fathers could fill up the ramaining hulls with donated waste fill from contractors, thus creating a man-made island aesthetic to the eyes of all.

Fluoridation Benefits Denied To Marinites

If memory serves me correctly, twice since 1960 when we came to California from Michigan, proposals to fluoridate the water supply have been defeated with cries of "fluoridation — then what — contraceptives?" etc. Enclosed is a recent article from the Grand Rapid Press confirming the benefits of fluoride — and strangely enough nothing else has been added to water. What a terrible price we and our children are paying for the hypocrisy of some people.

(The enclosure was an Associated Press story from Lansing, Mich. It reported 30 per cent reduction in tooth cavities among children in Flint, Mich., after four years of fluoridation; 52 to 67 per cent reduction in Battle Creek, Jackson and Kalamazoo after 18 years of fluoridation.)

Faculty Self-Discipline Urged For Universities

(Reprinted from San Francisco Chronicle)

President William J. McGill of Columbia University, in a significant speech at a Berkeley institute the other day, proposed that university faculties must write and adopt codes of professional responsibility to match their codes of tenure and academic freedom.

We think this suggestion a healthy one from within the academic community — Dr. McGill is the former chancellor of the University of California at San Diego. It should get interested attention from influential men in universities here and everywhere, both public and private. For nearly all universities are drifting into deep trouble, and part of their problem, as Dr. McGill pointed out in his address to the College and University Self-Study Institute at UC, is the role which faculties play in university governance.

THE FACULTIES, quite clearly, have failed and fallen down in this responsibility. They turn their backs on the obvious need to discipline their own; there is, said Dr. McGill, "the acknowledged unwillingness of faculties to deal with their militant extremists." He produced a testimonial:

"A professor marched in the midst of a group of militant students who forcibly barred me from access to my office, and then denied on the witness stand in court that he was involved. My friends on the faculty observed this sadly and commented to me privately that it was very troublesome to see the state to which our profession had sunk, but they would not speak out publicly against it."

It is easy, perhaps, to understand the reluctance of tolerant gentlemen who hate conflict to engage in the ugliness of grappling in the dirt with intolerance. But can any rational faculty man deny that it has become more than ever necessary and important to do so?

NOT MANY, but some, professors engage in activities that violate not only any reasonable standard of professional conduct, but even the law. Thus Dr. McGill proposes the importance of faculties developing explicit codes of responsibility and professional conduct to parallel the codes of privilege and tenure. Other professions have codes to uphold their integrity, and he warns that university faculties must do the same.

"The alternative is that the tenure system and the academic life will eventually be destroyed by an unwilling alliance of militant extremists among the faculty and powerful antagonists in political life who find that attacks on universities provide a sure road to popularity with the voters."

Not merely would Dr. McGill tighten self goverance in universities, he would also reform the tenure system by imposing a second level of tenure review between ages 50 and 55. This is an interesting possibility of weeding out the "emotionally incapacitated or intellectually dead." A third, refreshing proposal in this wise and candid analysis of our troubled universities is to measure teaching effectiveness by using student evaluations to "point tenure committees to the best teachers."

What's Behind Invitation For Nixon To Visit Peking?

WASHINGTON — It is now possible to answer some of the crucial questions that left unexplained in the aftermath of the Kissinger-Chou En-lai meeting.

Did the President press for an invitation to Peking? Did he dangle the prospects of such a visit in an effort to interest the Chinese in improved Sino-American relations?

That is not the way it was worked out. A Nixon trip to China was not mentioned in any of the exchanges to third parties between Washington and Peking. This was one of numerous possibilities which was foreseen. It emerged concretely only after Dr. Kissinger and Chou En-lai were well into their discussion.

HOW WAS THE Kissinger mission brought about?

Ten days after he took office in 1969, President Nixon dictated a memorandum to Kissinger and to Sec. of State William Rogers outlining his goal of normalizing relations with the People's Republic of China and directing them to explore steps to bring it about.

A whole sequence of friendly gestures and actions was developed, and one after another they began to emerge — resumption of the Warsaw talks, proposals for cultural exchanges, removal of some restrictions on importing Chinese goods. Finally, when the president of Communist Romania was here, Nixon carefully referred to China for the first time by its official title, the People's Republic, not Red China or mainland China.

Peking was responsive, and it culminated in the Chinese proposing that a U.S. mission be sent to Peking to talk this over.

Nixon chose Kissinger.

WHAT IS THE OVERRIDING U.S. objective?

Nixon's primary purpose is to establish a direct, continuing, official dialogue at the highest level between Peking and Washington to help resolve differences and identify common goals. He is convinced that while peace in Asia will not be guaranteed by improved U.S.-China relations, it can't be obtained without it.

What is China's overriding objective?

There can be no certain answer at this point, but if you look at the world from Peking, this startling and unexpected development does not appear quite so startling nor quite so unexpected.

In whatever direction they look, Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai see three great powers with vital interest in Asia and the western Pacific — the Soviet Union, Japan and the United States. And Peking does not have satisfactory relations with any of them. On the premise that China wishes to become an active participant in the world community, it had to decide which among these three great powers would improved relations do her the most good. With the Vietnamese war ending, Peking was free to choose.

It chose the United States.

American interest and Chinese interest coincided.

WILL THE UNITED STATES alienate the Soviet Union because of this step?

Some commentators think so. I believe the opposite is more likely.

Do good relations with Communist China require bad relations with Communist Russia? Throughout Mao's reign, Moscow has had a formal treaty of friendship with Peking and at one time was helping it acquire nuclear weapons. But this did not alienate the United States.

More cordial relations between the United States and China could give Moscow an added incentive to control the nuclear arms race and ease differences with Europe on its western front.

What will come from the Nixon-Chou En-lai summit?

There will probably be no quick and easy achievement. But Columbus would never have discovered America if he hadn't set sail. Nixon and Chou En-lai are setting sail.

McCarthy Varies Pattern Of Presidential Hopefuls

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — Two weeks from now, the increasingly competitive quest for next year's Democratic presidential nomination will be reaching the early elbowing stage. The candidates, announced and unannounced, will be exploring their strengths and covering their weaknesses, doing what comes most naturally to their campaign temperaments with the fateful Miami Beach convention less than a year away.

George McGovern, Birch Bayh and Henry Jackson, who are, way down in the polls and therefore attach heavy hopes to their primary election performances, will be shaking hands at the Hillsborough County Democratic family outing, outside Nashua in New Hampshire, the first primary state of all.

Bayh will wing from there to the annual German-American Day picnic at Moose Lake, 25 miles from Milwaukee in the first Midwestern primary state. Next day he will be in Dallas for the Texas AFL-CIO convention.

EDMUND MUSKIE, who is front-runner and taking most of August off for campaign planning and policy contemplation at his retreat in Maine, can afford to be fairly confident about the votes of his neighbors in New Hampshire. But he, too, will break his August schedule to pay respects to the Texas labor leaders.

And Eugene McCarthy, true to his style, will be lecturing at the William Butler Yeats Poetry Festival at Sligo, 110 miles northwest of Dublin in the Irish Free State.

Nothing is more typical of McCarthy than to hold a six-hour meeting of campaign contributors and operatives and tell them he is seriously considering running again, as he did in New York the other day, and then to head for the airport for two weeks in Europe.

He likes it in Europe, and they like him there. It was to Nice, on the French Riviera, that he retired for awhile after he lost the presidential nomination in 1968. There he explained his reluctance to endorse either of the men nominated by the major parties for the office he had sought so whimsically. "Nixon," he said, "doesn't have any woof, and Humphrey has lots of woof, but no warp."

McCARTHY HAS NOT said so far whether it is lack of woof in Muskie or not enough warp in McGovern that inspired him up to the edge of another presidential campaign. But there he is poised, and while making up his mind for an announcement scheduled before this October, he is off again to Europe.

His longtime assistant and kindred spirit, Jerry Eller, stayed behind, and is quick to deny that the former senator is feeding his ego or playing cute with the political forecasters or writing poetry in seclusion on the Riviera. "He's making a living," Eller protests.

First McCarthy headed for Rome, to take part in panel discussions with European sociologists on the role of youth in today's world. He also planned an economics speech there. Next, in London, he intended to talk about poetry and politics with some old friends who are poets and politicians. Then to Sligo where Yeats spent much of his boyhood, to talk to other aficionados of the man whose devotion to Irish nationalism made him the ultimate poet-politician.

AFTER HE COMES back, he still intends to honor his contract to teach a weekly poetry course at the University of Maryland beginning this fall, no matter what his decision on running may be. As Eller explains it, "in politics, there's nothing to do on Tuesdays anyway."

That contract extends till next June, when the primary season will be over. If he runs but interrupts his campaigning every Tuesday to fly back to talk about poetry to freshmen and sophomores, it will do no violence to the pattern McCarthy displayed during — and especially after — his 1968 political effort.

He might consider the poetry course a recruiting ground for campaign help, as a matter of fact. Students were his principal infantrymen last time out. But while they are likely still to respond to his eccentric campaign style, it will be harder next year to find substance to rap in his elegant offhand rhetoric.

Last time it was the war. By next year, if there is any war left at all, it will only be a tiny holding action on our part. And nobody among the people he is challenging will be for it. He can't call it McGovern's war or Bayh's or Muskie's or even Nixon's or Jackson's, with any justice.

The students volunteered last time to serve with him because they did not want to be drafted to serve in Vietnam. That threat is gone now. In making up his mind whether to run, and it seems likely he will, he is going to have to consider whether he can enlist the same kind of enthusiasm with couplets and restrained dithyrambs about unemployment, welfare, air pollution, gun control and China trade — or perhaps some graceful lectures on the poet in politics.

Water District's Reasons For Asking Bond Approval

Marin Municipal Water District directors may have to consider shutting off that giant spigot in the sky for a day or two to convince voters to spend almost $44 million to insure a future water supply for Marin.

With property taxes soaring to new heights this year and the government taking a bigger and bigger bite from paychecks, a skeptical populace may hesitate to approve the funds as long as all the water they need is at their fingertips.

Just think for a minute about turning on the faucet, waiting expectantly to hear the familiar gurgle of water. Instead, a little red flag pops out, reading, "Out of Water." What would you do?

How many times a day do you turn on the faucet? In the bathroom? In the kitchen? To water your lawn or wash your clothes? It's a fact of life that nearly everyone takes for granted.

IN MARIN COUNTY, the average annual per capita usage is 160 gallons of water per day. On an average summer day, usage increases to about 225 gallons per day per person, and on peak summer days, it jumps to 280 gallons daily. That's a lot of water.

Marin Municipal Water District has been involved in planning for the county's future water needs for many years, culminating in the Russian River water project which will import some 14.5 billion gallons of water annually to Marin — more than twice the amount now used.

Since the first cost estimates were released two years ago, the cost has increased more than 12 per cent and continues to rise.

The district's share of the $137.4 million project is $43.65 million. In 1969, the cost was estimated between $30 million and $40 million.

Funding for part of the project, the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct which will bring water from Warm Springs Dam to Petaluma, will go before the voters in November. The water district will ask approval of a $16.8 million bond issue for its share of the aqueduct construction cost.

If voters reject the funding, Marin Municipal Water District may be forced to drop out of the entire Russian River project.

WHERE DOES THAT leave Marinites?

Perhaps water will have to be rationed or recycled at some point in the future.

The current squabbling between conservationists who predict that along with the water will come increased development in Marin has not gone in one ear of the water district board and out the other.

But, according to law, the water district must prepare for the present and future needs of residents. And, population projection studies indicate a whole lot more water will be needed in the next 20 years in Marin. True, more water may enhance development.

But, what if all those people do indeed show up?

The little water that is here will have to be further divided among the newcomers for, by law, the district must provide water. It can't turn down a customer because there's not enough to go around.

Teacher Tenure Little Changed By New Act

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

California has been given new teacher tenure legislation by the governor's signing of AB 293 by Assemblyman John Stull, R-Encinitas. But if anyone expects this to result in immediate purge of incompetents from public school faculties, he is in for disillusionment.

Assemblyman Stull may be in the position of the father who fails to recognize his own child. AB 293 as finally passed by both houses and signed into law by Governor Reagan differs considerably from AB 293 as Stull introduced it last Jan. 28.

A KEY FEATURE of the original AB 293 was elimination of "instant tenure." It provided that a school board "may dismiss or may elect not to reemploy a probationary teacher during the first school year of employment . . . at the pleasure of the board."

This is no longer in the bill. The "instant tenure" added to the California Education Code a decade ago remains.

Another key feature of the original AB 293 was an option to the school board other than firing or keeping permanently a borderline teacher. It would have permitted the board, after a hearing, to place a tenured teacher on one or two years' probation to give him an opportunity to improve his work.

ALONG WITH IT, the school board's voice in teacher dismissals vanished entirely.

The code until now required a hearing by a hearing officer, if the teacher demanded it, but left decision with the school board, subject to court review. As AB 293 wound up on the governor's desk, the decision of a professional competency panel, made up of two educators and a representative of the State Office of Administrative Procedure, is final. The school board no longer has any say in the matter.

During discussion of the bill, much was made of the elimination of automatic court review of the firing of a tenured teacher. Stull's original bill removed all mention of court review.

However, there may be almost as many court hearings as ever. Somewhere along AB 293's route through the two houses, this was added: "The decision of the commission on professional competence may, on petition of either the governing board or the employee, be reviewed by a court of competent jurisdiction . . . The court, on review, shall exercise its independent judgment on the evidence."

One other feature of Stull's original bill remained virtually unchanged. This mandates continuing evaluation of the teacher, with a written evaluation report to be filed each year.

It leaves "instant tenure" for so-called probationary teachers intact.

It makes no change in the causes for dismissal of teachers.

It eliminates the automatic superior court hearing for discharged tenured teachers, but permits an appeal which will result in such a hearing.

And it takes away from the elected school board any decision on dismissal of a teacher, leaving that in the hands of a professional competency panel made up of an educator chosen by the board, one chosen by the teacher, and a representative of the State Office of Administrative Procedure.

SOON AFTER Stull introduced the bill, the California Teachers Association called on its members to pressure their legislators against the measure. It kept up this call through April. But in May, it switched from all-out opposition to all-out support. This was after the bill had been amended four times in the Assembly Education Committee.

An original supporter was the California School Boards Association, but it switched to opposition as result of the amendments.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Hint Of Welfare Accord In Capitol

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan and legislators neared final agreement today on a compromise welfare reform plan that one Democratic leader said "should make the taxpayers of California very happy."

Reagan and leaders of both parties bargained across the governor's private conference table for the second straight day Tuesday, then scheduled more negotiations for this afternoon.

"The most significant progress on welfare reform this year," is how Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, described Tuesday's marathon six-hour bargaining session which stretched well past the dinner hour.

"We have not got a final commitment from either side, but just a very few incidental issues are left to be decided upon conceptually, we have agreed on the direction we want to go."

Reagan said, "We're making progress. The meetings have been good. There still are unresolved issues."

The governor said adoption of such legislation would cost state and local government in California $100 million.

He said it was unfair for the federal government to mandate additional welfare programs on the states and then set a 110 per cent limit on funds for the reimbursement of costs for administration, services and staff training. Any costs beyond that limit would fall to the states and counties to finance, he said.

WELFARE SUIT

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A suit was filed Tuesday with the state Supreme Court seeking to overturn Gov. Ronald Reagan's veto of a budget provision removing limits on state welfare spending.

Ten California counties, supported by the County Supervisors Association, filed the suit in which they contend that if the veto is sustained, state funds for welfare will run short $108 million and the cost will be shifted to local property taxpayers.

The suit was filed by the counties of Alameda, Contra Costa, Los Angeles, Marin, Sacramento, San Francisco, San Joaquin, Santa Barbara, Santa Clara and Sonoma.

In a prepared statement of support, the association said that for years the "property taxpayer has been the guy at the end of the line who must pick up the tab when the state fails to meet its fiscal responsibilities ... This suit will indicate to him whether he stands vulnerable and exposed as the result of the welfare veto."

INMATE BILL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Tuesday approved a bill creating an office of ombudsman in the state Corrections Department to handle the complaints and problems of prisoners.

PIGEON-HOLED

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A controversial bill easing the way for annexation of unincorporated areas by cities has been relegated to a between-sessions study on the suggestion of its sponsor.

The Senate Local Government Committee recommended the study Tuesday after Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, told the committee he realized there was insufficient support for the proposal.

Annexation could have been blocked, under the proposal, if more than 50 per cent of the voters in inhabited territory signed written protests.

BILLS ADVANCE

In separate votes, the Senate approved a bill to permit men 18 to 20 years old to marry without parental consent and decided to maintain the Commission on the Status of Women.

The marriage permission bill by Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena, was passed on a 21-5 vote after brief debate.

He termed it "ridiculous" that an 18-year-old can now vote without parental consent but cannot "take a wife."

Legislation to maintain the Commission of the Status of Women was approved despite a complaint the panel is a waste of taxpayer money.

The proposal appropriates $45,500 for the commission, which has been in existence several years, to study "women's educational and employment problems, needs and opportunities."

SCHOOLS BILL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly legislation aimed at starting the decentralization of the mammoth Los Angeles City School District, the nation's second largest, reached the state Senate today.

The two-bill package by Assemblyman Charles Warren, D-Los Angeles, would allow voters to choose district trustees from 11 special electoral districts and strip away certain bureaucratic administrative restraints.

REAGAN PROTEST

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan has described a congressional proposal to limit federal welfare spending to 110 per cent of last year's costs as a "back door" approach to reducing welfare spending.

Sudan Executes Leader Of Last Week's Coup

KHARTOUM (UPI)—The Sudan hanged Communist Party leader Abdel Khalek Mahjoub today after conviction of masterminding the leftwing coup against President Jaafar Numeiry, Omdurman Radio said. It brought to 14 th number executed since the ergime was restored to power Thursday.

Mahjoub, 45, was sentenced to death by a supreme military court Tuesday. The government-run radio in Khartoum's sister city, Omdurman, had earlier said "President Numeiry approved the sentence which will be carried out after midnight."

(The execution of Communists in the Sudan brought outraged protests from the Soviet Union and other East European countries. In Moscow, the Soviet trade union newspaper Trud said the Russians felt wrath and indignation at the reprisals. In Warsaw, President Jozef Crankiewicz was r reported to have demanded a halt to the "persecution of progressive and democratic organizations" in the Sudan.

(In Beirut, the Communist newspaper Al Nida used black banner headlines to report "Butchers assassinate Abdel Khalek Mahjoub.")

Joseph Garang, an avowed Communist and former minister for southern affairs who was fired from the cabinet by Numeiry after loyalist military forces staged a countercoup Thursday, was hanged Tuesday. Sudanese officials said Garang was seen conferring with rebel leaders during their three days of power.

The capital of Khartoum, five miles across the confluence of the White Nile and the Blue Nile from the ancient capital of Omdurman, remained calm under a dusk to dawn curfew. Businesses were open but scores of riflemen patrolled the city's streets under a blistering sun.

Military tribunals have sent 11 army officers to firing squads and three civilians to the gallows since Numeiry, who seized power in a coup May 25, 1969, began his purge of Communist "traitors" from the nation of 15 million, Africa's largest country in land area.

The Sudanese Communists opposed Numeiry's proposal to join Egypt, Libya and Syria in their projected federation beginning Sept. 1 and had been under attack by Numeiry since February. Both factors triggered the coup. The Soviet Union has condemned the executions which have followed the countercoup.

With temperatures simmering at the 100 degree mark Tuesday, Mahjoub, secretary general of the 50,000-member Sudanese Communist party, was brought into the courtroom and charged with "activating opposition against the revolution aimed at removing the regime; organizing and managing an illegal organization; and plotting to overthrow the legal regime by armed force."

Mahjoub immediately objected to the composition of the military tribunal, charging its chairman, Col. Ahmad Mohammed Al-Hassan, favored Arab nationalist views which therefore would affect his thinking toward a Communist. He said the two other members of the tribunal would be influenced by Al-Hassan.

The chairman replied that there were no political trends in the armed forces although the 11 officers who have been shot by firing squad had joined the Communist party.

Government forces captured Mahjoub in a manhunt Monday, tried him Tuesday with two hours to prepare his defense and then moved him to Kobar Prison to await execution. About 50 foreign newsmen attended the first session of the Mahjoub court martial, but the government closed the proceedings when a key prosecution witness failed to implicate Mahjoub in the coup which ousted Numeiry for 72 hours.

10 Months Given For Violation Of Probation

Henry K. Ackerman, 19, of Petaluma, was sentenced yesterday to 10 months in jail for violation of probation and bound over to Superior Court on a burglary charge.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon in Southern Municipal Court ordered Ackerman to appear in Superior Court on Aug. 6, at 9 a.m. on the burglary charge. In setting the 10 month jail term, McMahon noted that Ackerman had violated conditions of his probation three times in the past year.

Ackerman was arrested July 17 when sheriff's deputies said they found him at 1:30 a.m. inside Wickes Lumber Co., 5400 Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma.

Egypt Reported Preparing For War; Israel Calls Action Naive

By United Press International

Egypt reported new preparations for war today including mock air raids, but the Israeli press dismissed them as a naive attempt t enable U.S. assistant Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco to wrest new Middle East peace concessions from Israel.

Sisco arrived by plane fron. Washington and was greeted at Lod International Airport by Mordechai Gazit, deputy director general of the Foreign Ministry and U.S. Ambassador H. Walworth Barbour. He refused to talk with newsmen and did not issue an arrival statement.

No incidents have been reported along the Suez Canal since Arab political sources reported Egypt appeared to be preparing for a return to a war of attrition along that front, but Israeli and Syrian troops exchanged mortar fire in the southern Golan Heights Tuesday for the first time in a year.

A military spokesman in Tel Aviv said the Golan Heights incident started when three Arab guerrillas crossed from Jordan into Israeli-held territory and an Israeli patrol went to pick them up. A Syrian outpost and Jordanian troops began firing at the patrol and the Israelis returned the fire.

The spokesman said no Israeli casualties were reported but that two of the guerrillas were killed and the third disappeared.

The latest Egyptian war preparations were reported today by the semiofficial Cairo newspaper Al Ahram which said mock air raids will be staged throughout Egypt Thursday "to test the civil defense system across the country" for the first time in several months.

Both Israeli officials and newspapers said Sisco was coming with no new proposals but rather with the argument that Israel should soften its policies in the light of a moderate stance taken by Sadat toward an interim settlement.

The newspaper Davar described the Egyptian alert along the waterway as intended "to serve as a psychological backdrop to the discussions (opening Friday) in Jerusalem."

"There is something naive in this transparent tactic," Davar said. "Cairo is attempting to gain its ends through the pressure of military threats...The naivety lies simply in the assumption that such methods can have any influence on Israeli policy."

Maariv, Israel's largest newspaper, said Egypt needed the alert more for political reasons connected with the Sisco visit than with any preparations against Israeli attack.

Federal Aid To Be Asked For A Guidance Center

Application for a federal grant to establish a guidance center at Old Mill School in Mill Valley has been approved by the district board.

Supt. James A. Collins said the grant, if approved, will be for $20,400 over a three-year period. The guidance center had been requested by teachers at Old Mill School.

In other business Monday, trustees set adoption of a $3,744,102 budget for 8 p.m. Aug. 2 at Park School. Due for a decision at that time is whether a ½ cent override tax to finance middle school construction shall be levied.

The board also accepted a recommendation by Collins that school-by-school test scores not be released to the public. Parents will be allowed to discuss the scores with Collins by appointment, the board decided, but the schools will be numbered and not identified by name.

The Mill Valley School District Board Also:

EXTENSION — Approved a 60-day extension of the completion date of the middle school. The new deadline is mid-February.

GRANT — Approved application for a federal grant to provide a special program in language, arts and mathematics. The grant supplies $350 per child in the program.

Innocent Plea To Armed Robbery

Lee Alan Bramson, 22, of Sleepy Hollow, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a felony charge of armed robbery.

Preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday.

Retired Marine Wins 'Dream'

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A retired Marine Corps sergeant who won 32 decorations during service in World War II, Korea and Vietnam, has won $10,000 in a contest by naming the thing he wanted most out of life.

"Four acres of America. Through 30 years in the Marine Corps I've had one dream, an acre of my beloved country for each son," Henry O'Connell, of Santa Ana said in his entry.

O'Connell, who has seven children, including three sons, said he would buy four acres of forest land in Modoc County in northeast California with his winnings. The fourth acre is to be shared by the rest of the family.

Dredging Of Petaluma Is Assured

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors heard yesterday that federal funds have been approved for dredging the Petaluma River and construction of Warm Springs Dam.

Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, sent word to the board that the House Public Works Appropriation Committee approved $350,000 for maintenance dredging of the Petaluma River.

Dredging is expected to be completed next spring for the opening of the boating season.

Clausen said the Warms Springs Dam allocation was increased by $1,850,000 to bring federal funds for 1971-72 to $7,150,000. The added funds will be used for road construction and purchase of additional right-of-way lands on the dam project, north of Healdsburg.

In other action, supervisors Monday gave tentative approval to the formation of a Northern Sonoma County Air Pollution Control District. Santa Rosa and the southern portion of the county joined the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District on July 1.

The board said final action on the new district will be taken on Aug. 16. Five other North Coast counties will be invited to join the new district, including Mendocino, Humboldt, Del Norte, Lake and Trinity.

The Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission will ask the city council for $43,500 for capital improvements during the coming year, chairman Richard J. Young reported.

He said the commission agreed Monday it will request that the following items be placed in Mill Valley's 1971-72: $30,000 for restoration of Warner Creek in Boyle Park; $7,000 for servicing of Boyle Park tennis courts, and $3,200 for playground equipment for the park.

Also requested will be $800 for establishment of a neighborhood park in the Enchanted Knolls area and $2,500 for restroom improvements at Old Mill Park.

Shark In Pool: 'Rotten' Trick

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—A shark in the backyard swimming pool—dead or alive—is an unpleasant surprise.

When Mr. and Jrs. James Boyer found the body of a six-foot, 60-pound blue shark in their pool, firemen had to pump 17,000 gallons of water out to retrieve the smelly, day-old fish.

Mrs. Boyer said Tuesday she had no idea who perpetrated the trick, 'but it sure was rotten."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Powdery Grains Of Pollen Plague Nose And Eye Membranes

If the lens of the eye was as powerful as that of a microscope we would see how polluted the air becomes when pollen is released during the spring and summer. These strange cells are the male fertilizing elements of flowering trees, plants and grasses. They are blown hither and yon in a hit or miss fashion. Pollen consists of fine, powdery, yellowish grains, microscopic in size. The membranes of the nose and eyes of an allergic individual are extremely sensitive to these particles. Sneezing, itching and congestion develop when pollen concentration reaches a certain level.

RAGWEED IS the No. 1 cause of hay fever. A mountain of pollen is disseminated into the air during the latter half of August and the first part of September, when the ragweed plants reach maturity. Luckily we can't see the yellowish grains, especially when they settle on everything we eat or use and are inhaled with each breath.

During the hay fever season, pollen counts are made to determine the concentration in the air. A sticky glass slide is placed on a special container and exposed to the air for 24 hours.

THE SLIDE is placed under a microscope and the pollen grains in a square centimeter of the slide are counted. This figure is multiplied by 3.6 to approximate the number of grains in a cubic yard of air. In the majority of sufferers, symptoms of hay fever do not arise until the count reaches 25.

A newer apparatus makes it possible to determine the hourly pollen count. The air is sucked into this machine and pollen is deposited on a disk that makes one revolution every 24 hours. This gadget is most useful in studying the diurnal variations and the effects of wind, rainfall and humidity on pollen counts.

CORTISONE AND BALDNESS

Mr. F. V. writes: Is it true that bald men can regain hair by taking about $150 worth of cortisone a year? I wouldn't mind spending this much money to get back my hair.

REPLY

Save your money or buy a wig. Cortisone may cause hair to regrow but baldness returns as soon as the drug is stopped. Furthermore, the side effects of the drug make its use undesirable. For example, cortisone in large doses rounds out the face and your new look might be described as "growing hair on the moon." If you want to spend your money may I suggest consulting a dermatologist who does hair transplants.

TB OF THE BONE

REPLY

From tuberculosis elsewhere in the body, usually the lungs or the gastrointestinal tract. Tuberculosis of the bone is less common since the pasteurization of milk and we know now that the original infection stemmed from tuberculous cattle.

SLIVER PRONE

R. N. writes: How can I get small wood slivers out of my fingers?

REPLY

Clean the skin with alcohol or soap and water and gently flip out the sliver with a sterilized needle or tweezer. This is what the physician does. Where do you get the slivers?

EXERCISE ADVICE

Mr. I. O. writes: After recovering from a heart attack, what is a good exercise for a 68-year-old retired man?

REPLY

Walking — but not against the wind or on days when the weather is too hot or too cold.

Today's Health Hint — Jealousy in young children is normal and usually passes.

Chemical Series May Prevent Heart Attacks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A University of the Pacific professor reports a new series of chemical compounds which may prevent heart attacks and other cardiac irregularities.

Dr. Aldo N. Corbascio said Tuesday he had isolated derivatives of pteridine that can protect hearts from ventricular fibrillation, an often fatal heart seizure.

One pteridine compound, triamino-tolyl-pterdine, has reversed the irregular action of digitalis, a drug used for cardiac ailments which has a tendency to generate cardiac irregularities, he added.

The discoveries were made, he declared, while experimenting for the Army for a more effective anti-malarial drug. He noticed the drugs would protect the heart of test animals from fibrillation which was induced by low frequency, high voltage electrical shocks.

Minister's Libel Suit Against Life Dismissed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A federal court judge has dismissed an $8 million libel suit brought by the Rev. Kirby Hensley of the Universal Life Church against Life Magazine.

Judge William T. Sweigert in U.S. District Court said Monday that the minister had failed to show that an article in the magazine was printed with "reckless disregard of whether it was false or not."

The judge noted that the minister objected to the article's title and did not deny items in the story. The title was "The Instant Minister Racket."

The Rev. Mr. Hensley, 59, originally operated his church in Modesto but since has moved to Phoenix, Ariz. He says he has ordained 450,000 ministers by mail.

Insurance Coverage To Be Extended

Residents of San Rafael and Larkspur will be eligible for additional coverage under the federal flood insurance program after Friday, according to the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The additional coverage is available because a recent rate study defines the areas as a special flood hazard, George K. Bernstein, federal insurance administrator, announced.

Flood insurance is available to family dwellings and small businesses through the business-government partnership of the National Flood Insurers Association and the Federal Insurance Administration.

Policies can be purchased from any local property and casualty insurance agent or broker. Annual rates range from 40 to 50 cents per $100 of coverage.

Story Of Grave Desecration To Break A Curse

BUDAPEST (UPI) — A court has convicted a man and wife of desecrating the grave of a neighbor the couple said put a curse on their children that resulted in their being born blind. They were sentenced to 10 months in jail.

Budapest District Court said the couple, identified only as Mr. and Mrs. L. J. of the town of Cegled, had a quarrel with a neighbor, identified as Mrs. S. G. several years ago.

The fight in the middle of their village street ended with the neighbor woman's curse: "May all your children be born blind."

Later Mrs. L. J. gave birth to two children, both born blind. The children died within days after birth. Later Mrs. S. G. died and last week, Mr. and Mrs. L.J., the prosecution said, went to her grave, dug up the coffin and smashed a cross over the grave.

General Will Retire On Friday

General DuBois's 30-year military career began in June of 1941 and during World War II he served with an antiaircraft gun battalion in the Pacific. He assumed command of the sixth Region, ARADCOM, which is responsible for air defense of the West Coast, in March 1970 after spending more than two years in the office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington, D.C.

During DuBois's tenure as commander, sixth Region's combat elements received special awards. Last year the command's 49th Artillery Group in Seattle was selected as the outstanding defense unit in the nationwide ARADCOM system, for the second consecutive year.

In the same year, a sixth Region National Guard Nike Hercules Firing Unit was selected as the best Army National Guard battery in ARADCOM and defense units in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle were chosen first, second and third in nation in competition with other Army Air Defense commands.

DuBois is married to the former Ethel McDonald of Fort Riley, Kan., and is the father of four sons and a daughter. He and Mrs. DuBois plan to make their home in Terra Linda after his retirement.

Temporary Halt Ruled In Busing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A temporary stay in assigning Chinese pupils to schools outside Chinatown in the city's integration plan this fall was granted yesterday by the United States Court of Appeals.

Effect of the temporary stay is to halt school district planning for integration in the fall term and a spokesman said the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People would probably appeal the order to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The appeals court granted the temporary stay to give attorney Quentin Kopp an opportunity to appear before Judge Stanley Weigel and seek a stay in Weigel's U.S. District Court order for the integration to take place in the fall.

No Smallpox Reported In '70

BOSTON (UPI)—Not a single case of smallpox was reported anywhere in the world during 1970, the head of the National Academy of Sciences has said.

Dr. Philip Handler of Washington, calling the apparent eradication of smallpox "one of man's truly great triumphs over his ever-hostile environment," coupled the report with a plea for public understanding of the need for support for research in other fields.

He told the opening session of the 23rd International Congress of Pure and Applied Chemistry, that similar battles can be won over cancer, heart disease and strokes —if support for research is forthcoming. "Halfway medical technology," he said, is not the solution.

Winter Stay On Shasta Is Out

ETNA, Calif. (UPI) — The 35-year-old minister who said he would stay on top of Mt. Shasta for an entire year in an antiwar protest now has changed his mind.

Rev. Douglas Smith, former pastor of the United Methodist Church here, now concedes he will not spend the winter atop the snow-capped mountain.

"He has not decided just yet when he will come down," said Merwyn Rickey, chairman of the church group behind Smith's protest effort. "It may be four weeks, six weeks, or even more, but he will not remain up there through the winter."

WHY SOUTHERN PACIFIC IS TAKING A SENSELESS STRIKE

The United Transportation Union's strike against the Southern Pacific is unnecessary and is an irresponsible strike action toward the public.

It brought to a halt 750 daily freight trains in eight states, Amtrak passenger trains on three long-distance routes, and 44 commute trains on the San Francisco Peninsula. It stalled lumber shipments in Oregon, automobile assembly in California, chemicals in Texas, ores in Arizona, perishable foods, raw materials and manufactured goods throughout the West and Southwest — virtually isolating this great area from the nation's commerce.

Yet, we must take this strike. Why? Simply because one union — the UTU — has refused to accept work rule changes which another union — the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers — has agreed to.

The UTU is willing to accept a 42% wage increase over 42 months, but it still insists upon maintaining turn-of-the-century work rules which have no place in a modern transportation system.

A Presidential Emergency Board recommended the wage increase, but only with work rule changes which the railroad industry must have if it is to modernize. Management accepted these recommendations. Three other unions have accepted them. Only the UTU refuses to permit the railroads to make any progress whatever in increasing productivity and efficiency in return for the largest wage increase in railroad history, while providing protection for people adversely affected.

By this senseless refusal to accept what others have seen as right and necessary, the UTU is willing to inflict a crippling blow to the entire country's economy through whipsaw strike tactics aimed at bringing the whole railroad industry to its knees.

Why senseless?

The UTU still insists on a full day's pay for as little as two hours' work. It insists we must continue to use five crews on a trip between Oakland and Los Angeles, for example, where two crews could cover the distance within a normal working day for each.

The UTU still insists on strict division of work between over-the-road and yard crews. This means that road crews cannot perform certain work in connection with their own trains and engines when they are within yard or terminal limits. This is like being able to drive your own automobile home but having to keep a paid attendant to park it in your garage.

The UTU still insists on make-work practices which prohibit efficient use of locomotives and crews within yard limits. For example, one crew can place cars on tracks for interchange with a connecting railroad but cannot bring any cars back on the same trip.

The UTU still insists that if some crew members use radio communication, like a simple walkie-talkie, those workers must receive extra pay and so must most other crew members.

The UTU still insists on the use of unnecessary extra crews in industrial switching operations within four miles of present yard boundaries.

No one can afford this senseless strike

If railroads are not to be permitted to make use of these work rule changes, the very heavy wage increases which have already been granted to most employes — and which have been offered to the UTU — could very quickly place the industry in desperate financial crisis, jeopardizing service to thousands of vital industries and ultimately to the public.

Our employes are loyal and dedicated railroaders, yet they are prevented from realizing their full productivity by these and other antiquated work rules.

We hope that our customers and the public will appreciate that this dispute is not just between the UTU and Southern Pacific. It involves all of the nation's major railroads. Southern Pacific — now or never — must stand with the industry. Many railroads are in serious financial trouble, and for them time is running out. We ourselves badly need to be able to make better use of the transportation technology available to us. Southern Pacific must accept the burden of this ridiculous strike, and must ask the understanding and support of the general public as well as of our customers.

We want to be sensible and fair

It is time for the UTU to be sensible and fair. You, the public, are being hurt by the railroad strikes in progress right now, but you will suffer far more in the future if the railroads do not — this time — take a firm stand to gain improvement in the work rules. We urge you to support us in our stand and to make your feelings known to your government representatives.

FIGHT PLANS

Quarry Next Foe For Ali

HOUSTON (UPI)—It took Muhammad Ali four months and a win over Jimmy Ellis to realize what Joe Frazier took away from him in March.

Ali is a winner again, but he isn't the champ.

"I'm ready for Frazier next week," Ali said Tuesday. "Frazier won't be recognized until he really beats me. You've got to whip a man twice, then some people still don't recognize you 'til you defend your title four or five times."

Ali said he wasn't thinking the first time he fought Frazier. The bout for the undisputed world heavyweight title saw Ali knocked down once and decisioned in 15 rounds.

"I didn't know his style. I know it now. It will be no contest."

The 29-year-old Ali said he thought he would get together with Frazier for a return bout next March in the Astrodome.

"I want to fight him in the Astrodome where everybody can see it," Ali said. "I want the weather to be cool. I can train better when it's cool. I don't drink all them liquids. Down here its been so hot I was drinking four or five ginger ales a day. That wasn't no good because of the calories. Next time I'll drink water."

Ali said he would fight again in two months —again in the domed stadium —against Jerry Quarry. Ali knocked out Quarry in three rounds last October in Atlanta. It was his first fight in 42 months during his dispute with the government over his refusal to be inducted into the armed services.

Ali was philosophical Tuesday. He had heard the 32,000 fans yelling for him against Ellis Monday night. He listened to everyone calling him 'champ' after it was over.

"I'm not like I was," he said. "Anything that sits gets old. The earth gets old. The moon gets old. You can't be like you was.

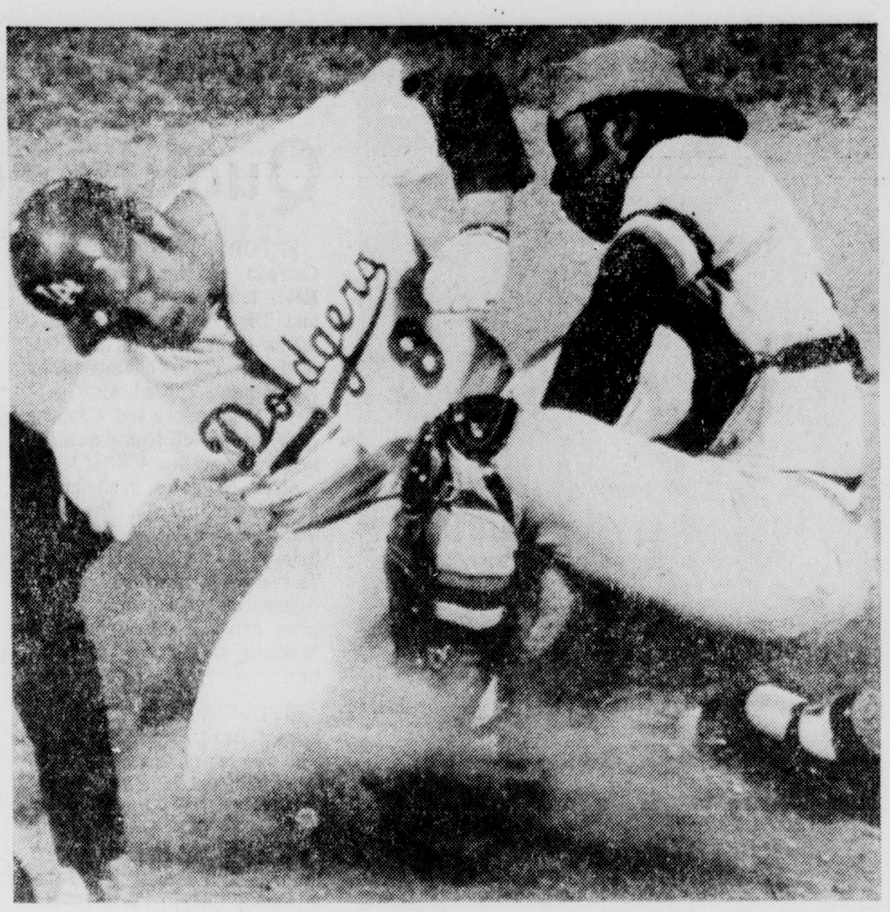
"The past is like a dream. You can't get back what you had, but you got to take what you have today and make the best of it."

Ali had kind words for Ellis, whose face was puffy from the beating which resulted in a TKO victory for Ali in the 12th round Monday night. Ali looked like he did after all his fights except the bout against Frazier —unmarked.

"If he (Ellis) had fought Frazier cautious like he fought me he would've whipped Frazier," Ali said. "Ellis is not washed up. He will whip everybody else he fights."

Ali said one of the biggest obstacles he had to overcome after the loss to Frazier and in getting ready for Ellis was a mental block.

Ali said the strangest thing about his fight with Ellis was hearing Angelo Dundee, his former manager, yelling for Ellis in the other corner. Tuesday Ali asked Dundee to come back. Angelo accepted.



IMMOVABLE OBJECT

Pittsburgh Pirates' catcher Manny Sanguillen blocked the plate and tagged out Dodger runner Duke Sims last night in a game at Los Angeles. Sims, who was trying to score on a ground ball hit by Bill Buckner, was out by 10 feet. The Dodgers won, however, 8-5. Story on page 42.

Atlanta Suddenly In Pennant Chase

Braves Gaining On Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)--All of a sudden, the Atlanta Braves have become a threat in the National League West pennant chase.

The red-hot Braves pulled to within nine games of leader San Francisco Tuesday night by edging the Giants 4-3 in the opener of a three-game series.

Los Angeles also won to slice the Giants lead over the runnerup Dodgers to 7 1-2 games. Atlanta has won seven of its last eight games and 10 of the last 13.

Marichal, who has not won a game since June 23, suffered his seventh setback against 10 victories. He was rapped for nine hits and all four Atlanta runs in the six innings he pitched.

"We just have to hope Marichal starts pitching like he can," said Fox. "The Braves really didn't hit him solid but they found the holes."

Only runs for the Giants were a solo homer by Dick Dietz in the fifth inning off starter and winner Pat Jarvis, now 4-9, and a two-run smash in the ninth by Willie McCovey off reliever Cecil Upshaw.

"He's the most dangerous hitter in baseball ... even more so than Willie Stargell (of the Pirates)," said Upshaw of McCovey. He's also the strongest hitter. I threw him a pitch outside and he still hit it over the leftfield fence for a home run.

"If McCovey can play every day, the Giants can win it."

Atlanta scored its runs off Marichal in the second, third, fourth and seventh innings on a double by Manny Perez, sacrifice flies by Darrell Evans and Earl Williams and a single by Felix Millan.

Jarvis gave up only four hits and Dietz' homer in the 7 1-3 innings he pitched.

ORIOLES SWEEP

Brooks Beats Athletics Again

BALTIMORE (UPI) —Brooks Robinson took care of the Cincinnati Reds nearly by himself in the 1970 World Series and now he's working on the Oakland Athletics.

The veteran third baseman drilled a two-run homer with two out in the ninth off reliever Rollie Fingers Tuesday night to give Baltimore a 6-4 victory and a sweep of the doubleheader.

Righthander Pat Dobson (no relation to the A's Chuck Dobson) of the Orioles allowed the A's only four singles to win the opener 1-0. That was Pat Dobson's 11th victory in a row and gave him a 14-4 record.

Dobson's 14 victories matched his wins during the entire 1970 season when he lost 15.

Robinson hit a grand slam homer against the A's in Oakland last week to help the Orioles take that two-game series. So Baltimore now has whipped the A's four straight times.

Despite the twin loss, Oakland dropped only half a game of its 10 1-2-game margin over runnerup Kansas City which lost to Detroit.

Baltimore and Oakland meet again tonight and tomorrow night. John Odom (5-7) throws against the Orioles tonight.

Singles by Curt Blefary, Sal Bando, Dick Green and pinchhitter Tommy Davis were the only hits off Dobson in the opener. Jim Hunter (12-10) was the starter and loser. He allowed only four hits and one run over seven innings.

LITTLE LEAGUE ALL-STARS

Grand Slam, No-Hitter Highlight Opening Games

Ross Ohrenschall's grand slam home run powered Kentfield-Greenbrae to a 5-4 victory over Mill Valley's National League last night, and Aaron Greenhalth fired a no-hitter as the Novato American League defeated Gallinas Valley, 8-1 in the first round of the 1971 Marin County Little League all-star playoffs.

All-star teams from 16 leagues in Marin competed as action got underway in the tournament that can lead eventually to the Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pa.

In other games yesterday, Fairfax downed Mill Valley, 3-1, San Rafael American defeated Strawberry, 6-2, San Rafael National shut out Tiburon, 2-0, Twin Cities edged Sausalito, 8-7, Novato National walloped San Geronimo, 13-1 and Hamilton-Loma Verde edged Marinwood, 2-1.

Ohrenschall belted his basesloaded homer in the second inning, when Kentfield-Greenbrae completed its scoring. He also had a double and single. Greenhalth struck out 13 batters and walked only two enroute to his no-hitter, which was marred by an error-produced run.

Action continues tonight in this single elimination tournament, which decides not only the Marin County all-star champion but the team that will represent the county in the Section Two tournament next week in Concord. In the feature game tonight, Novato's American and National Leagues tangle at Novato Rancho. That contest will be broadcast live over KTIM-AM, with Bob Dinsmore and Rich Turner providing the play-by-play.

Senior Li'l League Stars Triumph, 4-3

SANTA ROSA — Mike Farris pitched a four-hitter and batted in a pair of first inning runs last night to lead the San Rafael Senior Little League allstars to a 4-3 victory over Konocti, district 35 champion team from Lake County, in the opening round of the Northern California Section Two baseball tournament.

The victory in this one-game playoff earned San Rafael a confrontation against Rio Linda Friday night in the Division Two tournament at Sacramento. The winner of that will come back to San Rafael Aug. 5, 6, and 7 for the Northern California playoffs.

Farris struck out eight batters and allowed only five hits. San Rafael got only four hits, but one was a solo home run by Kevin Loughlin in the bottom of the fourth.

San Rafael gained the sectional playoffs by winning the District Three tournament last week. That event included teams from throughout the North Bay Area.

Central Marin Babe Ruth Team Suffers First Loss

SACRAMENTO — Central Marin's all-star Babe Ruth League team fell down but not out of the Northern California playoffs last night as it suffered its first loss after six wins in tournament play, 4-3 to Concord.

Tom Candiotti, who pitched the final two innings in relief of starter Dave Morales, earned himself the victory when he singled home the two winning runs in the top of the sixth. The loss dropped Central Marin into the losers' bracket for today's game in this double elimination tournament, after it defeated Fruitridge and Country Club of Sacramento in games Monday.

Phil Bacigalupi kept Central Marin in the game with a pair or run-producing singles. In the fifth he drove home Steve Curry, who had singled and stolen second, and in the seventh, he batted in Jeff Vogel, after a single by Vogel and a double by Curry.

MARIN TENNIS

Tiburon Girl On A Streak

Sue Beatty, 14-year-old Tiburon girl who took two first places in the Marin Junior Tennis Tourney last week, continued her hot streak yesterday, as she advanced to the quarterfinals in both Girls 14 and 16 singles in the 13th Annual Marin Junior Hardcourt Championships at the Mill Valley Tennis Club.

Miss Beatty took two doubles titles in the local tourney last week, but this week has dominated action by all local net stars in singles play.

She took a three-set decision over Ann Walker 6-4, 2-6, 6-3 to gain the Girls 16 quarterfinals, and then romped over Leslie Green 6-2, 6-3 in 14's.

Thirteen other local players advanced into the quarterfinals, including second-seeded 16-year-old Leslie Airola, who won 6-2, 6-4, fourth-seeded Charles Bolcom who won 6-4, 6-2 in Boys 12, third-seeded Henry Jacobsen who breezed 6-0, 6-1 in Boys 14, third-seeded 16-year-old Dan Tierney who fought out a 6-3, 6-4 win, and top seeded Diane De Martini in Girls 14, who won 6-3, 6-3.

Miss Airola is also seeded third in Girls 18, in which there were no matches yesterday.

The only local seeded player to lose came in Boys 14, when Cary Stansbury of Tiburon defaulted his No. 6 position due to a pulled muscle.

The other Marin players advancing to quarterfinal matches today at the Mill Valley club are John Beritzhoff and Steve De Martini in Boys 16, Herman Bauer in Boys 12, and the Beritzhoff sisters, Lisa in Girls 14, and Alex in Girls 12.

49ers In Scrimmage Against Cowboys

GOLETA, Calif. (UPI)—The San Francisco 49ers traveled to Thousand Oaks today to meet the Dallas Cowboys for the first time since they clashed last year for the National Football Conference championship.

But the control scrimmage won't mean much at this stage of the early training. Neither team has perfected its offense or defense and several key players will be missing.

Among them is running back Duane Thomas who helped devastate San Francisco in the Cowboys' 17-10 playoffs win in January.

Missing from the 49er lineup will be linebacker Jim Sniadecki, guard Elmer Collett, running back Vic Washington, tackle Cas Banaszek and rookie tackle John Watson. With the exception of Sniadecki, all are bothered by minor hurts.

Sniadecki underwent surgery Monday to repair an injured finger and is expected to be out about six weeks.

Wide receiver Dick Witcher of the 49ers has not yet reported to camp from military duty. But he is expected any day now. Veteran defensive tackle Charlie Krueger is recovering from minor knee surgery.

They moved Stan Hindman from defensive end to defensive tackle just in case Krueger, 34, is slow in getting back into shape.

That leaves Tommy Hart, Bill Belk and Cedrick Hardman at defensive end. Hardman, a 255-pounder entering his third pro season, is being persuaded to refine his stance and charge.

Nolan and Wiggin said the former North Texas State lineman usually tips his hand when he sets himself at a certain angle to rush the quarterback. They persuaded him to face an opposing blocker head on and make his move at the snap.

Quarterback Insurance For Raiders

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UPI)—Figuring Daryle Lamonica is serious about his holdout, the Oakland Raiders have picked up a bit of quarterback insurance.

He is 23-year-old Bob Cutburth, untested as a pro. Cutburth was obtained from the Chicago Bears Tuesday for an undisclosed future draft choice. He was the Bears sixth-round draft choice in 1970 but never played for them because of military service.

"Cutburth was a fine college player at Oklahoma State," said Raiders coach John Madden. "With Lamonica absent, we need a lot of quarterbacks and running backs to handle backfield drills and passing patterns."

At Oklahoma State, Cutburth set school passing records as a senior in total passing yards (1,593), completions (281), touchdowns (16) and longest TD pass (85 yards).

Cutburth is the fourth quarterback in camp. George Blanda is spending most of his time getting his kicking leg in shape. That leaves Ken Stabler, rookie Don Milan and Cutburth as the "working" quarterbacks.

Stabler directed the varsity in drills Tuesday afternoon.

Madden has been pleased with the work of former Oregon State and Buffalo Bills running back Bill Enyart who has been converted to linebacker.

"He's doing very well at the new position," said Madden. "By nature I think he's more of a defensive personality. I think he's going to be a fine middle linebacker."

Buckner's Slam Paces Dodgers

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Ellis looked well on his way to his 14th consecutive victory as he held a 5-1 lead going into the seventh inning. But Los Angeles erupted for six runs, highlighted by Buckner's first career grand slam homer, and went on to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-5 Tuesday night.

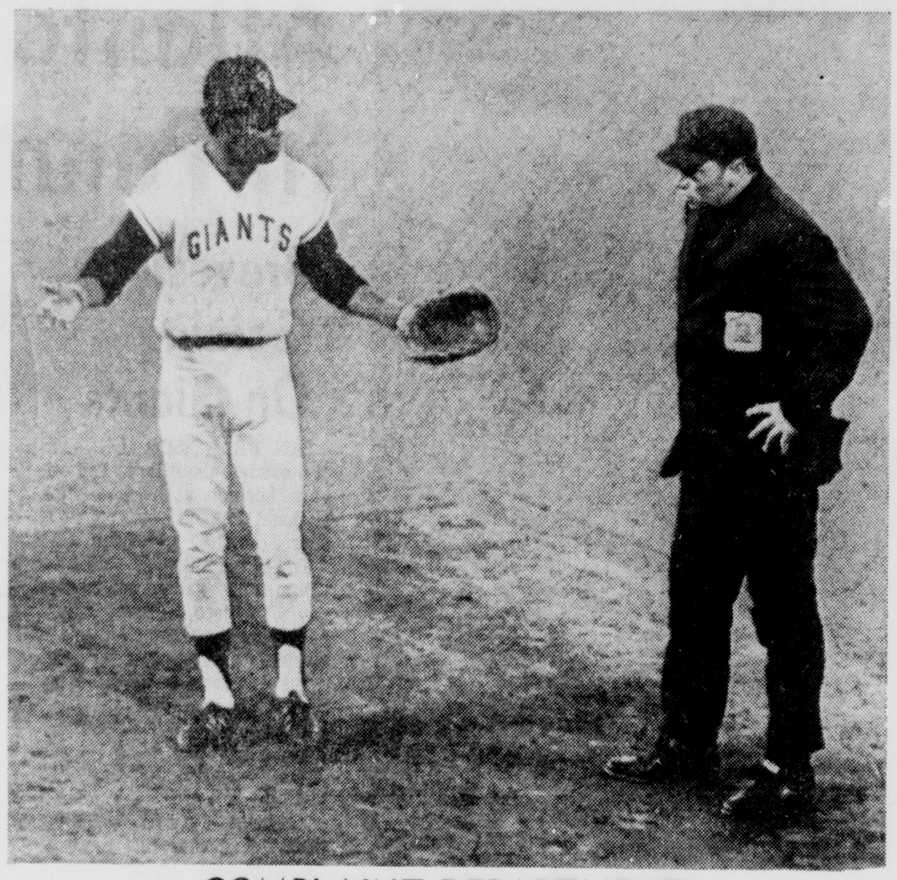
Ellis, looking for his 16th victory, gave up two singles and a walk to fill the bases in the seventh before singles by Tom Haller and Maury Wills accounted for a pair of runs. Jim "Mudcat" Grant relieved Ellis and Buckner greeted him with his grand slam. Willie Crawford added a solo homer in the eighth.

Elsewhere in the National League, Atlanta edged San Francisco 4-3, Cincinnati bombed San Diego 11-3, New York shaded St. Louis 3-2, Philadelphia downed Houston 8-3 before losing 5-1 and Montreal defeated Chicago 6-1.

Hal McRae had three doubles, a home run and a single and Lee May added two homers to pace Cincinnati past the Padres. McRae's five hits highlighted a 17-hit Reds' attack that helped Jim McGlothlin pick up his sixth victory in 13 decisions. Bobby Pfeil, pressed into service as a catcher when both Philadelphia receivers were reported injured, slammed the first two homers of his career to boost the Phils to victory in the opener. Cesar Cedeno and Doug Rader homered to back Wade Blasingame's four-hit pitching as the Astros' took the second game.

Duffy Dyer's pop fly single to right capped a two-run ninth inning rally that lifted New York past the Cardinals. St. Louis led 2-1 entering the ninth when singles by Tommie Agee, Cleon Jones and Ed Kranepool produced one run and Dyer won the game with his blooper.

Ron Fairly hit a two-run homer in the fifth inning and Ernie McAnally pitched a four-hitter as the Expos beat Chicago. McAnally also drove in a run with a sacrifice fly.



COMPLAINT DEPARTMENT

San Francisco Giants' second baseman Tito Fuentes gave an appealing gesture to umpire Harry Wendelstedt after the latter had called Atlanta's Mike Lum safe in a play at first base last night at Candlestick Park. Fuentes had covered the bag on Lum's grounder to Willie McCovey. The Giants lost to the Braves, 4-3.

Fast Ball, Not Luck For Orioles' Dobson

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Pat Dobson, emerging as the most consistent pitcher in Baltimore's starting rotation, relied a little more on his fastball and a little less on luck in extending his winning streak to 11 games.

Dobson has said continually that luck has been responsible for his fine showing this season but the tall right-hander "made his own luck" Tuesday night in pitching the Orioles to a 1-0 victory over the Oakland Athletics in the opener of a doubleheader. Brooks Robinson lofted a two-run homer with two out in the ninth inning of the nightcap to give Baltimore a 6-4 victory and a doubleheader sweep.

Dobson allowed only four hits in extending his winning streak to 11 games, a streak which began June 17, as he struck out 13 batters and raised his season's record to 14-4.

Dobson, generally regarded as the "fourth man" on the Orioles' brilliant pitching staff behind Dave McNally, Jim Palmer and Mike Cuellar, now leads the Orioles' mound corps in five departments: victories (14), complete games (13), innings pitched (188), strikeouts (125) and ERA (2.78).

Dobson, a winter acquisition from San Diego in a deal that sent Tom Phoebus to the National League club, matched the 14 victories he registered all last season with the Padres.

In other American League action Boston edged Milwaukee in the opener of a twinbill 4-3 with the Brewers taking the nightcap, 5-1, Minnesota downed Washington 4-2, Chicago defeated New York 9-6 in 12 innings, Detroit nipped Kansas City 5-4 i 1 innings and Cleveland edged California 4-3.

Aurelio Rodriguez walked on a 3-1 pitch by Jim York with the bases loaded and one out in the 11th inning to help Mickey Lolich gain his 16th victory. Jim Price led off the 11th with a single and pinch-runner Tony Taylor was bunted to second. Dalton Jones and Dick McAuliffe were walked intentionally before Rodriguez walked.

Tony Oliva's two-run homer in the ninth inning broke a 2-2 tie and powered the Twins past the Senators. Harmon Killebrew led off with a single in the ninth and Oliva followed with a 378-foot blast, his 19th.

An error by California second baseman Sandy Alomar opened the door for three runs in the sixth inning to help Cleveland down the Angels. Sam McDowell gave up six hits to gain his 10th victory against 10 defeats.

Rookie Bill Parsons scattered five hits and drove home what proved to be the winning run in the second game after Boston rallied for four runs in the eighth inning to take the opener. Parsons struck out nine and walked three in picking up his ninth victory and drove in a run with a single in the second inning.

Skip Lockwood had a no-hitter until the seventh inning of the first game but was chased in the eighth on consecutive singles by Duane Josephson, Mike Fiore and John Kennedy.

Middleweights To Fight In S.F.

WASHINGTON, D.C. (UPI)—Lou Spadia, president of the San Francisco 49ers, has been appointed to the business and industry advisory committee of the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports.

The committee is comprised of 10 business leaers. It will develop employe fitness, sports and recreation programs, enlist industry's support for school and community programs and plan clinics and workshops for business and industry leadership personnel.

PRO FOOTBALL

Charger Dick Post Traded To Broncos

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

Post, who led the American Football League in rushing in 1969, was traded to the Denver Broncos for a second-round draft choice Tuesday in the Chargers' campaign to rid themselves of disgruntled players.

The 5-foot-9, 190-pound Post had been dissatisfied with his contract and was playing out his option. He had undergone three knee operations, one of which limited him to 74 carries for 225 yards last season.

Post was the second dissatisfied Charger player to be traded away this week. On Monday, defensive tackle Ron Billingsley, who had failed to report to camp, was traded to the Houston Oilers.

The Cleveland Browns said they hoped to patch up differences with offensive tackle Joe Taffoni, who walked out of training camp Tuesday in a dispute over being relegated to the second team for a scrimmage.

Taffoni, a four-year veteran and regular starter with the Browns last season, was being fined $100 for each practice missed, but a team spokesman said he was expected to talk with Coach Nick Skorich to resolve their differences.

The Atlanta Falcons came to terms with linebacker Tommy Nobis, their original No. 1 draft choice, for an estimated $75,000 per year for the next five years.

In other developments, the Philadelphia Eagles added first-year tight end Dick Hill of Texas-Arlington to their roster after he was placed on waivers by the New England Patriots; rookie wide receiver Ron Jessie of Kansas was traded by the Dallas Cowboys to the Detroit Lions for an undisclosed draft choice; veteran linebacker Larry Grantham worked out with the New York Jets for the first time since returning to camp; and the Pittsburgh Steelers traded seventh round draft choice and tackle Worthy McClure of Mississippi to Houston and placed nine players, including veterans Clarence Oliver, John Sodaski and Doug Fisher, on waivers.

Jim Simons Is Favored In Western

BENTON HARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—If past history is anything, you'll not soon be forgetting the name of this year's winner of the Western Amateur. And if past performance means a wit, that name is likely to be Jim Simons.

The rigorous five-day tournament, which requires 144 holes of golf for the two who reach the finals, begins today at Point O'Woods Golf and Country Club, a par-71 layout.

The defending champion is Lanny Wadkins of Richmond, Va., who won't be back since he just turned pro, finishing nowhere in the recent Westchester Classic. Steve Melnyk, the 1969 winner, also just terminated a profitable amateur career to play for pay.

You may have heard of the 1961 winner, a fellow by the name of Jack Nicklaus. Other winners now having varying degrees of success on the pro trail are Tommy Aaron (1960), Tom Weiskopf (1963), Steve Oppermann (1964), Bob E. Smith (1965 and 1967), Jim Weichers (1966) and Rik Massengale (1968).

Today and Thursday demand 18 holes of golf at medal play for the 160 starters before the field is chopped to the low 50 and ties for 36 holes on Friday. The low 16 qualify for the switch to match play Saturday and Sunday, with two rounds being played each day.

Simon, a collegiate teammate of Wadkins' at Wake Forest, led the U.S. Open after a 65 in the third round this year but admittedly was swallowed up by the pressure and had a final round 76 to wind up in a three-way tie for fourth.

Alex Johnson Is Placed On Restricted List

Kuhn, in an announcement Tuesay, told the Angels that Johnson, former American League batting champion, had been transferred to the "restricted" list and therefore does not count among the 25 active players on the Angels roster.

Johnson, who ran into difficulties with the Angels management this year, was suspended from the team June 26. He was to receive no pay but was still carried on the roster. That meant the Angels only had 24 men to call on in case they needed them.

Kuhn's decision fixed that problem. Putting Johnson on the restricted list allowed the Angels to reactivate catcher Jeff Torborg from the disabled list. He suffered a broken finger in practice three weeks ago.

Johnson, who still receives no pay from the Angels, is at his home in Detroit awaiting a hearing before a neutral mediator to be appointed by Kuhn.

Cerrudo and Partner Reid Qualify For Team Tourney

EXPORT, Pa. (UPI) — Ron Cerrudo of Napa and Steve Reid, tour regulars, and Bob and Dick Goetz, one of six teams of brothers in the PGA National Team championship tournament, carded 65s Tuesday at Westmoreland Country Club, to lead 15 teams qualifying for the event.

About 50 teams participated in the qualifier for the only team tournament on the PGA tour. The tournament begins Thursday at nearby Ligonier country club. Defending champions Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus are the heavy favorites.

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Julius Boros, Dr. Carry Middlecoff and two stars from the past were inducted into the American Golf Hall of Fame Tuesday night.

Some 400 persons attended the induction ceremonies at the Allegheny Club in Three Rivers Stadium for the seven-year-old Hall, which is in the midst of a building program it hopes will gain it national recognition.

The other new members are Jock Hutchison, the 1920 PGA champion who did not attend the ceremonies, and the late Walter J. Travis.

Young Golfer Learns Fast

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Nine-year-old Tim Cookfair of suburban Elsmere played his very first eight holes of golf Tuesday before he really got the idea of the game. Then he shot a hole-in-one on the ninth hole.

Tim used a three wood on the 100-yard, over-water hole at Colonial Acres. The ball hit the green, went by the cup and then rolled back into the hole.

An Abrubt About Face For Laughing Lee Trevino

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two weeks ago, Lee Trevino was throwing his cap in the air, laughing all the time and knocking them dead.

He was the most talked-bout figure in the country, maybe even in three countries, following his British Open victory, which came right after equally impressive wins in the United States and Canadian Opens.

The world was Trevino's oyster.

People who didn't know a bogey from a golf cart were talking about this incredible Mexican Superman, Lee Trevino. His picture was every place you looked. In every newspaper, on every TV station and on both Time and Newsweek covers simultaneously.

Lee Trevino said he wanted to become the biggest money winner of all time in a single season, and he thought he could because of a tip Jack Nicklaus had given him six months ago. Nicklaus had told him not to fret about anything because his game was good enough to beat any course and any player.

"That word of encouragement changed my life," Trevino announced to one and all only a couple of weeks back. "It stopped me from being the nervous character I was before."

Not quite.

Here it is only two weeks later and Trevino is nervous again. Maybe more so than before.

He was far from his old happy-go-lucky carefree self at last week's Westchester Classic. He didn't pull any toy snakes on anybody and he didn't laugh much. He didn't make the cut and was glad he didn't just so he could get away from people.

They were bugging him crazy.

Lee Trevino, who did a great job of accepting the bows, suddenly discovered there can also be some painful bruises. Most important of all perhaps he discovered there's one precious thing money can't always buy.

If he cares to know a little more about the subject all he has to do is ask people like Frank Sinatra, Arnold Palmer, Joe DiMaggio, Elizabeth Taylor or Willie Mays about it sometime.

"I don't have any time to myself," Trevino said before checking out of the Westchester. "I haven't seen my kids in 13 weeks. I'm just doing too many things."

What things?

"I guess I'm just a nice guy," said Trevino, who is right about that because he is. "When somebody comes around and says 'we'd like to do this, we'd like to do that' I'm always the kind of guy who says how much time do you need? They say 4 or 5 minutes, 10 minutes, and it drags on to 30 minutes and I go ahead and do the thing. I do one right after the other and I want to because the press, the people that write, have always been nice to me. So have the people of television and radio, and without them I wouldn't be where I am today. But I just hope they understand I'm not gonna do as many things in the future simply because it takes too much time away from me and I'd like to have a little privacy of my own."

Trevino talked about some of the phone calls he had gotten.

"You get calls from people who don't even know you," he said. "They say you don't know us and we don't know you but we think you're the greatest. They call at midnight and at 1 in the morning. You get the phone cut off and then they come up and keep knocking at your door. When I was at the Western Open some kids knocked at my door all day long. I would've gone off someplace but there was no place to move, no place to go."

Lee Trevino has gone someplace now. He has gone fishing. It doesn't matter to him whether he catches many or not, at least nobody keeps telling him he's the greatest all the time. He's tired of hearing it.

Joe DiMaggio happened to be at the Westchester Classic as public relations consultant for the Hughes Sports Network which televised the event.

The man designated baseball's greatest living player was besieged for his autograph more often than Trevino at Westchester, but of course he's more used to it and that's why he copes with it better.

Somebody asked DiMaggio whether he knew how it felt to be in the same spot Trevino is in now, meaning way down after having been way up such a short time before.

"You bet I do," Joe D said. "I think it was in 1938. I had held out for some time. I was hitting about .500 the first few weeks of the season and when I got back to New York I was booed. I guess people thought it wasn't right for me to hold out. They didn't know the man I had to deal with, Ed Barrow. Lemme tell you, he was tough. The year after I hit in those 56 consecutive games you know what he offered me? A $5,000 cut."

Joe DiMaggio shook his head at the recollection.

"I'll say one thing about this game though," he said looking at the TV screen where Arnold Palmer was making an approach shot. "Nobody ever gets booed in golf."

JACK HANLEY

Fox The Big Reason For Giant Harmony

In extra-inning games this season the Giants are 11-3, a most commendable overtime record. There have been a dozen other games that the Giants have won with ninth inning rallies, two of them quite dramatically.

What could be more dramatic in baseball than a grand slam homer, such as Willie McCovey hit in the ninth inning July 21 at Pittsburgh to break a 4-4 tie for an 8-4 victory over the Pirates?

WHAT COULD be more depressing than a wasted ninth inning grand slam, such as Bob Barton hit against his former Giant teammates June 18 in Candlestick Park for a 9-5 Padre lead that was erased by a five-run Giant rally in the bottom of the ninth?

To be sure, the Giants have lost some tough ones in the ninth, too. There was a shocking 3-2 loss to the Reds in Cincinnati on the last road trip. When Juan Marichal takes a 2-0 lead into the last inning it isn't often that the dandy from the Dominican Republic is beaten. But on July 17 in Riverfront Stadium the Reds did beat Marichal with a three-run ninth inning rally.

"I guess we weren't meant to win that one," said Fox somewhat philosophically.

Someone said to the manager: "This team is going to make an old man out of you."

"THAT'S ALL right, just so long as we win," said Fox. "I asked for the job."

There isn't a member of the Giants who isn't glad that Fox got the job. From the first day he took over the job May 24 last year, Fox never once has tried to take the spotlight away from his players.

It was no secret that there were a number of unhappy ball players on the club and the friction between the team's captain, Willie Mays, and Fox's predecessor, Clyde King, was known to everyone.

THERE ISN'T one malcontent on the Giants now. The Giants now are a team. Gone are the factions. There's a feeling on the club that if one player succeeds — the team — all succeed. This healthy atmosphere didn't happen without a reason. And Fox is the reason.

It isn't merely a case of Fox being a good manager, knowing all the strategy and tactics of managing. That's a prerequisite of any managing job. It's the way Fox acts after a bitter defeat or soul-satisfying victory. He doesn't panic in defeat and he doesn't gloat in victory.

AND, MORE importantly, in defeat he carefully controls his comments. One dressing room reporter tried to goad Fox into an intemperate remark with a series of prodding questions when the team's National League West lead narrowed to 3½ games July 6 after it had been 10½ on Memorial Day.

"You're trying to get me to say something I'll be sorry for — you're wasting your time," said Fox.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

Palmer, Nicklaus Favored

LIGONIER, Pa. (UPI)— Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, feuding openly a month ago in the U. S. Open, will put personalities aside Thursday to begin defense of their title in the PGA National Team Championship.

Last year, golf's two top all-time moneywinners joked their way around the course to win by three strokes when the event was known as the Four-Ball Championship. They will again be favored.

But their mood was anything but joking just last month in the Open at Ardmore, Pa., when Palmer criticized Nicklaus for playing too slowly and Nicklaus returned the next day with a prepared defense.

This year, Nicklaus and Palmer each have won three tournaments and rank second and third on the moneywinning list behind U. S. and British Open champion Lee Trevino.

Trevino, who says he is beginning to feel the effect of his heavy competitive schedule, picked Howie Johnson, a comparative unknown, as his partner this week. Last year Trevino teamed with former Green Bay Packers football player Jess Whittenton and they tied for 14th place.

Palmer, winner of the $250,000 Westchester Classic last Sunday, practiced Tuesday at Latrobe Country Club, the course 10 miles from here where he learned the game and where his father is the pro. Palmer is negotiating to buy the club.

Nicklaus was due here today for the pro-am following an exhibition appearance Tuesday in Toledo, Ohio.

Most of the top players are entered, although Gary Player and Tony Jacklin are at home on vacation and slumping Billy Casper also will sit out the event.

The three teams who tied for second place last year are back intact —George Archer-Bobby Nichols, Bruce Crampton-Orville Moody and Gardner Dickinson-Sam Snead.

MINOR LEAGUE REPORTS

Hot Week For Novatans

Last week was definitely one to write home about for a quarter of former Novato High School baseball stars now playing in the minor league.

Thomas, still in his first month of professional ball with Pittsburgh's Niagara Falls farm team of the New York-Pennsylvania League, ripped 11 hits in 24 at-bats and raised his average to .459. His output included three home runs and nine runs batted in, giving him four homers and 13 rbi's since beginning his career four weeks ago.

Corder, playing his first full pro season with the Los Angeles Dodgers' class A team at Bakersfield, was super impressive also as he stroked nine hits in 17 at bats, including a pair of doubles. His season average climbed to a robust .309.

Dolinsek, whose class AAA status makes him the highest ranking Marinite in the minors, improved his season average with Oklahoma City to .285 as he banged out four singles, three doubles and a home run in 25 at-bats. The big outfielder now has 13 homers and 52 rbi's for the Houston Astros' American Association club.

Dillon picked up another win last week for the Greenwood, S.C., farm team of the Atlanta Braves, and in the process lowered his earned-run-average to a classy 2.28. He is now 6-4 for the season, with 79 strikeouts in 79 innings pitched.

A couple of Marin players fared badly last week. Dewey Forry of Terra Linda, playing class A ball for the Daytona Beach, Fla., class A team of the Dodgers, went only two for 15, and his season average fell to .213. One of the hits was his second homer of the season, however.

Ken Johnson of Larkspur also had a poor week, going only four for 20, with no extra base hits. His average with the Yankees' Manchester, Coon., class AA team fell to .234.

Kezar Stadium Soccer Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)--Hannover 96 of West Germany meets Club Leon of Mexico in an international soccer match tonight at Kezar Stadium.

Leon has bolstered its offense by adding four players from Argentina --Jorge Davino, Juan Valiente, Salvador Catalano and Rafael Albrecht. Hannover has three flashy scorers in Horst Bertl, Ferd Keller and Willie Reimann.

Davino and Valiente scored goals Sunday as the teams played to a 2-2 tie at Los Angeles.

Ali Suit Settled Out Of Court

HOUSTON (UPI)—Muhammad Ali's suit against the Internal Revenue Service to prevent the seizure of a share of his gate receipts from the Jimmy Ellis fight was settled out of court Tuesday.

Terms of the agreement presented to U.S. District Judge John V. Singleton, Jr., were not disclosed.

Ali charged the jeopardy assessment of a share of his guaranteed $450,000 purse from the Monday night fight penalized him. The IRS previously took a share of Ali's gate receipts for tax payments, but the former heavyweight champion said the practice prevented him from using the funds for investments.

Ali said he had no history of delinquent tax payments.

MILKING A RAT THE SAFE WAY

Kalman T. Szabo, toxicologist for Smith Kline and French Laboratories of Philadelphia, adjusts a milk collection vessel on a newly developed milking machine he helped to invent for rodents. The device holds the small animals so that milk can be mechanically collected and analyzed. Until the invention of the machine, collecting rodents' milk required killing either the mother or offspring, thus preventing further study of the animal. (UPI Telephoto)

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We are in our early sixties and have $7000 to invest in some income stocks for retirement. Could you suggest something for us? — V.W.

A. A portfolio of three consumer issues offering a combination of income and growth would be more advantageous at this juncture. Perhaps after retirement some adjustments in your portfolio may be in order to meet increased income requirements. Equal dollar amounts invested in American Brands, Safeway Stores and Squibb Corp. should provide an excellent cushion toward retirement four years hence.

American Brands has reduced its dependence on tobacco so that this product is now believed to account for only 60 per cent of sales. Lower tobacco advertising expenses as well as a broader product base were reflected in strong first quarter results. Sales, earnings and dividends have increased annually since 1963. Shares, now selling at a reasonable 9.5x estimated 1971 results, yield a generous 4.8 per cent.

Safeway Stores, the country's second largest retail food chain, reported record-breaking operating results for the 24 weeks ended June 19, 1971. Sales jumped 13.5 per cent and earnings gained 11.3 per cent year-to-year. Net was equal to $1.28 per share, up from $1.15 in the comparable 1970 period. An improved profit margin, a more aggressive merchandising program and growing emphasis on discount operations could push earnings to $3 a share this year.

The Squibb Corp. corporate title covers a broad and growing range of products. Food products, baby foods, quality drugs — both ethical and proprietary — have been joined recently — via mergers — by Lanvin-Charles-of-the-Ritz' cosmetics and perfumes, and Edward Weck's surgical and diagnostic instruments. A 12 per cent gain in earnings is projected for the first half of the current year. While Squibb is trading at a high, 28x, multiple of expected 1971 net, this is not excessive for a fast growing drug issue.

NEW ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICERS AT BULLARD

Edward D. (Jed) Bullard (right) great-grandson of the firm's founder, was appointed administrative assistant to the president. Keefe, formerly executive vice president, succeeds the late E. W. Bullard Jr. Barker was formerly treasurer and Edward D. Bullard was formerly administrative assistant to the vice president.

ITT Reports Record Sales In Second Quarter, First Half

NEW YORK (BW) — International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. (ITT) has reported record sales and earnings for the second quarter and first half this year, and expressed confidence in achievement of another peak year for the company.

Harold S. Geneen, chairman and president, in his report to shareholders said the record performance represented the 48th consecutive quarter in which sales, net income and earnings per share have increased over the like period of the preceding year.

Consolidated net income for the second quarter of 1971 climbed to a record high of $104.3 million, an increase of 12 per cent over the $93 million for the like period last year. For the first half of 1971, net income set a new high of $181.2 million, a gain of 12 per cent from the $161.8 million in the like period a year ago.

Earnings per common share for the second quarter, after recognition of all common stock equivalents, were equal to 90 cents, or 10 per cent above the 82 cents for the like 1970 period. For the first half of 1971, earnings were equivalent to $1.57, an increase of 11 per cent over the $1.42 per share for the like period last year.

Total sales and revenues for ITT and its worldwide subsidiaries rose to a record $1.73 billion for the second quarter of this year, a rise of 8 per cent over the sales of $1.60 billion for the like 1970 period. For the first six months of this year, sales and revenues reached a new high of $3.30 billion, or 10 per cent over sales of $3.01 billion for the first half of last year.

ITT's manufacturing order backlog reached a new peak of $2.33 billion at June 30, compared with $2.06 billion a year earlier.

The financial results for the second quarter and the first half of 1970 have been restated to include the operations of companies acquired in pooling-of-interests transactions since June 30, 1970.

Geneen attributed the further improvement in sales and earnings to continued strong demand for the products and services of ITT's European acitivites, and also in its business and financial service activities, including Hartford Fire Insurance, as well as certain domestic operations in the homebuilding and food products areas.

He reiterated ITT's confidence for another record year of sales as well as further improvement in the U.S. economy.

Geneen informed stockholders the company is continuing its discussion with the government of Chile with respect to the purchase of ITT's 70 per cent interest in its telephone operating subsidiary in that country.

The government of Chile, according to Geneen, has indicated a sincere interest in reaching an equitable resolution of the amount to be paid and the terms of payment to ITT.

Prices Drop For Second Day In Row

Aside from the recent concern over inflation and high unemployment, traders were provided with new bearish ammunition. Included was a government report of a drop in its index of leading economic indicators last month, the threat of a steel strike this weekend and concern about the effect of a nationwide rail strike on an economic recovery just now getting underway.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was down 0.62 at 97.16, while declines topped advances 1,019 to 312, among the 1,637 issues crossing the tape.

Most oils and steels pointed lower. Chemicals, rails and airlines traded in mixed fashion, although point-sized movers in these groups generally were in retreat.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, July 28, the 209th day of 1971.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Leo.

Former first lady Mrs. John Kennedy, now Mrs. Aristotle Onassis, was born July 1929.

On this day in history:

In 1914 Austria declared war on Serbia, marking the start of World War I.

In 1932 more than 15,000 unemployed World War I veterans camping in Washington were driven from the city by federal troops. The vets were demanding immediate payment of a "War Bonus."

Also in 1945 an army B-25 bomber lost in the fog crashed into the side of the Empire State Building in New York City, killing 13 persons.

Lease For Community Market On Agenda

A lease for the People's Community Market to operate on land in Marin City will be discussed at a special meeting of the Marin City Community Services District at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Manzanita Center, Marin City.

The community market, which sponsors a flea market and art and crafts sale on weekends, has been operating in the Southern Marin community for about a month.

Actually South Should Have Only Picked Up 10 Tricks

Science is strangely silent on the reason for the clam's secretiveness. Perhaps back in the dawn of time one of the ancestors of the modern clam had an unfortunate experience, like South in today's hand. South himself isn't talking about it very much.

Opening lead — ♡ J

LOW HEART

West opened the jack of hearts, and South played a low heart from dummy without the slightest trepidation. That came later.

East won with the king of hearts and switched to the queen of diamonds. A few tricks later, South was down one, and North stated quietly that it was a new North American sitting-down record. "This was a hand that might easily produce the first 11 tricks," North pointed out, "and you were down one without even touching a single black card."

Perhaps North should have said nothing but rules for clamming up have never applied to bridge partners. Actually, South should have won only the first 10 tricks.

SHOULD WIN

South should win the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts. He does not expect the king of hearts to fall; his reason for playing the ace is merely that he cannot afford to let East win the trick and switch to diamonds.

South next leads dummy's ace of clubs. When the nine drops, declarer leads a low club from dummy. East plays low, trying to look innocent, but South should try a deep finesse with the eight—once again to make sure of keeping East out of the lead.

DEEP FINESSE

The deep club finesse works, and south has five clubs, two hearts and three spades. Declarer discards a diamond on the third spade, then puts West in with a third round of hearts. West may have to give up a diamond trick if he has kept two diamonds, and South may wind up with an eleventh trick after all.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - 9 7
♥ - J 10 9 8 7 3
♦ - A 8 7 5
♣ - 9.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid four hearts. This promises excellent trump support (at least four cards, usually more), with a singleton or void in a side suit and not more than nine points in high cards.

Innocent Plea To Pot Counts

Brian Phillip Tourigny, 24, of Homestead Valley, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a felony charge of cultivating marijuana as well as to a misdemeanor charge of possessing marijuana paraphernalia.

Preliminary hearing was set for Aug. 12.

Pepperland Reopening Is Discussed

San Rafael's controversial Pepperland concert hall, dark since last April when its three operators disappeared, may reopen in September with the added feature of a retail shop.

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night granted Irving (Whitey) Litchfield, owner of the building at 721 Francisco Boulevard, permission to open retail shops in smaller rooms of the hall.

Litchfield told the commission that he has complied with numerous conditions which accompanied a use permit, granted to him in January, except one which would require him to install an automatice fire extinguishing system. He asked that this condition be dropped and the expiration date for his permit be extended until one year from last night's meeting.

The commission postponed action on the latter two requests, until its next meeting, when Litchfield must appear again to get architectural and landscaping approval of the renovated facility.

Litchfield and Pepperland were the center of controversy last winter when City Councilman Harry A. Barbier in November began a campaign to close the hall.

Major complaints against Pepperland then included the color of the building, repainted from loud purple to yellow; size of crowds attending concerts, which some complainants said numbered over 1,000 more than the building's capacity; open use of narcotics and illegal parking on neighboring lots.

In December the city council told Litchfield he needed a permit and he obtained one in January amid heavy discussion and debate.

In April the three men who had operated the hall vacated it, leaving behind about $50,000 in unpaid bills, according to Litchfield, who said that regulations heaped on the operators were impossible for them to fulfill with the money available.

In granting Litchfield the permit, the commission set 17 conditions regarding the building's use and safety. These included curbs, a gutter and sidewalk installation on Francisco Boulevard; a limit of 3,000 persons in the building at one time; a larger aircirculating system and an overhead sprinkler system; and guards on the parking lot.

Other requirements, laid down to correct complaints by Councilman Barbier in stormy council sessions, included the hiring of guards to patrol the parking area and prevent misuse of neighboring lots; and limiting smoking to a single room to cut out marijuana use during concerts.

Litchfield told the commissioners, last night, that he had fulfilled all the requirements except the sprinkler.

Commissioner Alan Kay queried Litchfield about landscaping at the building and asked him to present to the body a model showing the completed facility with landscaping.

Litchfield argued that stringent fire safety regulations requiring emergency doors and uncluttered walkways in proportion to the building's capacity had eliminated any possibility of more landscaping. "I hate the way the building looks, too," Litchfield said, "but where are you going to put trees when you've got ten doors in the front."

City Planner Herbert G. Hotchner said that the commission will inspect the site Saturday morning and make landscaping suggestions, then carry the matter over to the architectural approval session at its next meeting.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

QUESTIONNAIRES — Announced that 400 questionnaires are being mailed to San Rafael merchants to get their reaction to the Foutsman report, which would change traffic patterns on some downtown streets.

UNDERGROUNDING — Instructed the city planning director to prepare a tentative underground utilities ordinance for the commission's consideration.

COMPLEX — Continued until Aug. 10 an appeal by Kerner-Bellam Realty Co. for a permit to construct a 696 dwelling unit which would require rezoning of the property from multiple residential and planned community districts.

SALES — Denied request from Nave Brothers, owners of property at 395 Francisco Boulevard, to permit firewood sales from September to March and Christmas tree sales from Nov. 20 to Dec. 25.

SIGNS — Approved a request by owners of Las Gallinas Golf Course for two freestanding single-faced signs, with condition that both signs not exceed 50 square feet and that design be approved by the commission.

MEETING — Adjourned to next regular meeting, Aug. 10.

Petaluma Growth Pattern Plan Eyed; Questions, No Criticism

A preliminary environmental design plan for Petaluma brought questions, but little criticism last night from the city council and planning commission.

Planning Consultant Sidney Williams explained the five-year strategy plan to control both the quality and quantity of growth. Basing his plans on city council policy to restrict development to 500 homes per year, Williams displayed proposed zoning maps and fielded questions.

Planning commissioners and Planning Director William C. McGivern called for more commercial zoning so that Petaluma Plaza could be expanded in the future. McGivern said that while the site would never develop into a regional shopping center, some flexibility should be provided for additional stores.

McGivern said he agreed with the plan to place small neighborhood shopping centers throughout the city, but asked that future drafts specifically locate the sites and limits on acreage.

The commission also asked the consultants to pay more attention to problems of crowded schools on the eastside and said the two elementary school districts should work together to relocate boundaries and adjust attendance areas.

Williams recommended that industrially zoned land on the westside of Highway 101 be reclassified as open space since the area is in a flood plain zone and development would be costly. He said the remaining industrial acreage on the eastside should be more than sufficient for the next 10 to 15 years.

Williams also urged that taxes be lowered on current agricultural land since the plan would insist that development not occur in the near future.

The consultant said that location of high density housing on the eastside could be shifted later to reduce the traffic flow on East Washington Street.

Also presented was a legislative policy memorandum which did not specifically include proposed ordinance, but did call for tightening of current ordinances and the adoption of new ones.

Also suggested was a rehabilitation district that could assist residents in improving deteriorating neighborhoods.

FACE-LIFTING AT GNOSS FIELD

Scrapers, steam rollers, trucks and other equipment level and overlay the runway at Gnoss Field north of Novato. The $28,871 job is being done by Peichert Construction Co. of Santa Rosa, according to George Davidson of the Marin County Public Works Department. The contract was approved on June 15 by the board of supervisors but work was delayed to meet federal aviation agency regulations that demand other airports and pilots flying out of them are notified that the field would be closed. The work started Monday and should be completed tomorrow with planes landing on the field on Friday, Davidson said. The cost is paid equally by the FAA and Marin County.

Cotati Board Eyes New Office Location

The Cotati School District board last night agreed to move its district offices into the new Rohnert Park City Hall if costs aren't too high.

Schools Supt. James A. Davidson told the board that two possible locations for the district offices would be either in the planned Rohnert Park City Hall development or in the east wing of Cotati School.

The board agreed that the proposed city building would provide better quarters, but said costs should not be higher than $400 per month. A three-year agreement would be signed with the city.

The Cotati School District board also:

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of board member Lester H. Petersen, who has been appointed to the Cotati City Council, and approved a resolution commending him for 12 years of service.

BUDGET — Set the annual budget hearing for Aug. 3 at 7:30 p.m. and said the regular board meeting would be held then rather than on Aug. 10 as previously scheduled.

SWIMMING — Agreed to continue the swimming program for the 1971-72 school year.

PORTABLES — Heard Davidson report that a new contract will be worked out with Speedspace Corp. to provide a second exit door on portable classrooms for fire safety.

Greyhound, PG&E Win Rate Hikes

Marin and Southern Sonoma residents will find their gas bills and commute fares to San Francisco more expensive next month, as a result of rate increases approved yesterday by the California Public Utilities for Greynound Bus Lines and Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Gas payments by PG&E customers will go up an average of 37.5 cents by Aug. 21, according to a spokesman for the company.

The increases are expected to provide PG&E with $36.9 million more annually and are to compensate for higher prices the utility has to pay its suppliers.

On Aug. 21, Marin and Sonoma residents who commute to San Francisco will discover the price of their 20-ride commute book has risen 6.5 per cent. A Novato commuter, for example, will find the cost of his book increased from the current $15.85 to $16.90.

Other hikes in San Francisco commute fares will include: from San Rafael, up from $13.55 to $14.45; from Mill Valley, from $12.45 to $13.30, and from Petaluma, from $19.25 to $20.55.

The 6.5 per cent fare increases were granted to Greyhound to pay for wage increases and related expenses. The company had asked for 15 per cent.

Prosecutor In Newton Trial Says Defendant Lives In Luxury

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)— Glaring at Huey P. Newton, the prosecutor in his manslaughter trial said Tuesday the Black Panther leader has "defected from the community" to live a life of posh luxury.

Deputy District Attorney Donald P. Whyte brought up Newton's life style in a heated objection to defense efforts to put a newspaper article written by the defendant into evidence.

Newton, 29, was on the stand for the second day at the time testifying about the events of Oct. 28, 1967, when he is accused of shooting Oakland policeman John Frey to death. His conviction at a 1968 trial on voluntary manslaughter charges was reversed by an appellate court and a second trial ordered.

Defense attorney Charles R. Garry tried to introduce the article in the Black Panther paper of last April 17 concerning the defection of party leader Eldridge Cleaver to show the group has taken a less militant stance.

Whyte jumped to his feet and termed the article "self-serving hearsay of the worst kind ... what's all this gibberish about defecting?"

Glaring at the defendant, the prosecutor then said:

"This man lives in posh luxury, in a penthouse apartment, and he dressed to kill every day and this guy drives away in a Cadillac every day—if anybody has defected from the community, Newton has."

Newton started to rise from the witness chair to respond, but was told to sit down by Superior Court Judge Harold Hove, who rejected Garry's motion. The jury was absent during the argument and Whyte's angry tirade.

Newton testified earlier that he blacked out at the time he is accused of shooting Frey and remembers nothing. He said he was "crystal clear" about events prior to the shooting, but blacked out after being shot in the stomach.

Foreign Policy Charge Leveled By Fulbright

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Nixon administration has been accused of creating its own super foreign policy bureau in the White House that is responsible to neither Congress nor the people.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said Tuesday the bureau is headed by Dr. Henry A. Kissinger and is "vested with the most crucial decision making power on matters of war and peace."

"The result is that the people's representatives in Congress are denied direct access not only to the President himself but to the individual who is the President's chief foreign policy adviser, the principal architect of his war policy in Indochina and the emissary for his forthcoming trip to China," Fulbright said.

Growth In Unions

OTTAWA (UPI) —A considerable growth of the trade union movement in Canada is reported by the Canadian Department of Labor, based on a 1970 survey of labor organizations. The survey showed about 2.2 million Canadians belonged to labor unions, an increase of 4.7 per cent over 1969.

NEW SACRAMENTO VALLEY LANDMARKS

These twin cooling towers, 43 stories tall, are the newest landmarks in the Sacramento Valley. Located 23 miles southeast of Sacramento in the Mother Lode country, the towers are part of the 913-megawatt Rancho Seco nuclear power plant being developed for the Sacramento Municipal Utility District. Lockheed Foes Kill Bid To Stop Delaying Filibuster

Aerospace Firm Gets Nod On Another Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate refused today to stop a filibuster delaying action on a bill to authorize a $250 million government-guaranteed loan to Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

Continued debate threatens to prevent action on the bill until after Congress returns in September from a month-long recess. Lockheed says it faces bankruptcy in absence of the federally backed loan by Aug. 8.

While the move to stop the filibuster failed for the second time in three days, Lockheed and the Nixon Administration won a crucial victory two hours earlier in their effort to keep the firm solvent. The Senate voted 60 to 35 against a proposal which would have postponed the Lockheed loan until fall.

Cheered by the wide margin of the earlier vote, Lockheed's supporters in the Senate pressed for the two-thirds majority needed to impose cloture —a limit to debate — and force a vote on the bill to authorize up to $2 billion worth of government-guaranteed loans to firms whose collapse could hurt the economy.

But on the cloture roll call, the vote was 59 to 39 — seven short of the required two-thirds. On Monday, a cloture move fell five votes short of a majority.

The bill's opponents hope to keep talking—and prevent a final vote on passage—until Aug. 6 when Congress starts its recess.

The same bill comes up in the House Friday.

In the first vote, an amendment offered by Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., was defeated. It would have removed from the bill a provision to exempt Lockheed, and Lockheed alone, from the possibility of a congressional veto of a loan guarantee.

As drafted by the Senate Banking Committee, the bill carried the veto provision for approved applications for government-backed loans.

However, that provision would not go into effect until Oct. 1—after Lockheed's application had been acted upon by a three-member loan guaranteed board created by the legislation.

The bill states that after Oct. 1, all loan applications approved by the board must come under congressional scrutiny. The approved loan can be made only if within 20 days neither house of Congress vetoes it.

The oatcome of the vote on the Stevenson amendment kept alive the firm's hopes of receiving government aid by Aug. 8.

Lockheed says it faces almost certain bankruptcy if the $250 million loan it seeks is not obtained by then. Aug. 8 is the date Lockheed's agreement with the bankrupt Rolls-Royce of Britain expires. Rolls is to build the engines for Lockheed's l1011 Tristar jetliner.

The British government has said it will not give Rolls the subsidies it needs to build the engine if the U.S. government refuses to guarantee a loan for Lockheed.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., the Senate's prime opponent of the Lockheed legislation, said Tuesday that in his 14 years on Capitol Hill there had never before been "such a concerted attempt to intimidate me and boycott the products of my state."

He said aerospace workers in Georgia and California had written newspapers in Wisconsin saying they would boycott Wisconsin products unless Proxmire stopped fighting the Lockheed bill.

Apollo: Bugs Behind, Moon Ahead

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) —Their troubles behind, Apollo 15's astronauts closed in calmly and accurately on the moon today with everything clear for a Friday landing at the foot of some of the highest lunar mountains.

"The moon's getting bigger out the window," reported Afired M. Worden as the spacecraft was 75,500 miles from it.

This was the last easy day for Worden, David R. Scott and James B. Irwin before they begin a record six days of moon activity. Their schedule was light and ground controllers let them sleep an extra hour, awakening them at 10:40 a.m. EDT.

"We certainly did have a good night's sleep," Worden reported.

A short circuit that cast doubt on man's most ambitious lunar expedition had been overcome Tuesday and a preliminary check indicated that the landing ship Falcon was ready.

The landing site is at the base of the Apennine mountains ranging 10,000 feet and higher, and also near a gorge which dips 1,000 feet down.

Glynn S. Lunney, flight director on the ground, reported at a midmorning briefing: "The status of the mission is that we're on schedule, the trajectory is very close to normal, the performance of the systems is now very close to normal."

Scott and Irwin checked the Falcon late Tuesday and plan to inspect it again tonight.

They will try to clean up remaining bits of glass from an instrument cover they found shattered. They reported they had no idea how the glass was broken. Lunney said controllers wanted the astronauts to make certain no floating glass particles interfered with cabin equipment, particularly hatch seals.

"We're going to run the cabin fan for about 15 minutes and try to catch what we can in the filter," Lunney said.

The $445-million mission ot Apollo 15 is the most demanding ever assigned to an American space crew. Scott and Irwin will spend more time on the moon, stay out on the surface longer, cover more terrain and bring back more samples than their predecessors. Worden will orbit the moon longer than anyone and

Rail Union Rejects Any Arbitration

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United Transportation Union, declaring "the chips are down and the bets are made," has rejected a government request for binding arbitration of a dispute that has shut down 20 per cent of the nation's railroad system.

And the UTU, whose members have struck four major carriers, went ahead with plans to extend the strike to six more railroads Friday and five others Aug. 6.

The rejection of the arbitration offer from Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson Tuesday greatly increased the likelihood the Nixon administration would seek congressional action to end the walkout, whose economic side effects were mounting. Negotiations between the UTU and railroad management collapsed Monday as bargainers failed to resolve a long-standing dispute over work rules.

The railroads formally notified Hodgson today that "the carriers accept your proposal." A spokesman noted that in light of the union's rejection, the industry's response was moot.

UTU President Charles Luna, in rejecting the arbitration offer, accused the Nixon administration of being "a slave of management."

"It is very distressing to find the secretary of labor coming along at this point with the management line and telling us that strikes hurt," Luna said. "We all know that strikes hurt. They hurt us worst of all.

"But collective bargaining can never work as long as government remains a slave of management and interferes when collective bargaining is beginning to succeed."

Because the federal courts had approved selective strikes in the railroad industry, Luna said, "the chips are down and the bets are made."

A Trade Deficit Being Forecast

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans has said there is a "probability" the United States will record a trade deficit this year for the first time in the 20th Century.

Appearing before the House science subommittee tesday, Stans did not etimate how muh of a trade defcit he exects.

He noted, however, that the $5 billion to $7 billion annual U.S. trade surpluses of the early 1960s had dwindled tothe $1 bllionto $ billion evelssince 1967 nd were still declining.

The last time the United States had a trade deficit was 1893.

Nixon Is Said Considering 'Packing' Reserve Board

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon is considering a proposal to double the size of the Federal Reserve Board, it was learned today. The suggestion, if put before Congress, could touch off a controversy rivaling President Franklin D. Roosevelt's attempt to "pack" the Supreme Court.

Under the suggestion proposed to Nixon, the board would be increased from seven members to 14.

Administration officials also disclosed that Nixon rejected a request from Arthur F. Burns —chairman of the Reserve Board —for a $20,000 a year pay raise. Burns currently makes $42,500.

Burns, however, denied he had "lobbied for an increase in salary."

The developments left no doubt that the once warm personal relationship between Nixon and Burns has chilled. Burns, at one time Nixon's most trusted economic adviser, has been critical of administration policy for more than a year. He has called repeatedly for the President to take a tougher stand against inflationary wage and price increases.

"The President has received several requests from high level economic advisers that he expand membership of the federal reserve board," an administration spokesman told UPI. "There has been criticism that it is too much of a closed club and that only by doubling its size can it really function reliably."

The spokesman did not elaborate.

The federal reserve, legally independent of the administration, sets the nation's basic money and credit policy. Its members are appointed by the President but their overlapping 14-year terms are designed to insulate them from day-to-day politics.

If Nixon does ask Congress to double the size of the board — and automatically give him the authority to name seven new members —it could trigger a controversy not unlike the one that followed President Franklin D. Roosevelt's effort to increase the size of the Supreme Court. Roosevelt's plan was rejected after opponents accused him of trying to "pack the court" to water down its conservative majority.

As a counterpoint to discussion of increasing the size of the board, two administration officials said in separate interviews that Burns had asked for a boost in annual salary from $42,500 to cabinet-level $62,500. Both officials declined to be identified by name.

One of the officials remarked wryly that Burns, through frequent calls for wage and price restraints, had persuaded

Nixon Will Touch Down In Marin

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon Wednesday expanded a scheduled one-day visit to the midwest to a weekend trip starting Friday in Ohio and continuing to California for an appearance before the Bohemian Club of San Francisco at Bohemian Grove in Sonoma County. He will touch down in Marin briefly before the appearance.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon had been invited to address the gathering of business, professional and entertainment world leaders Saturday afternoon.

He will remain at the encampment, an all-male, private club, for about 45 minutes and then will go to San Clemente where he will spend the remainder of the weekend at his oceanside home.

The trip as originally announced called for Nixon to stop only in Ohio and Iowa on Saturday. This was first changed to a two-day trip to the two midwestern states and then the California stop was added today.

For his first stop, the president will fly to Canton, Ohio, at 6:30 p.m. Friday to speak at a Pro Football Hall of Fame enshrinement dinner.

After an overnight stay in the Canton-Akron area, Nixon will depart at 10 a.m. Saturday for Ottumwa, Iowa, where he will dedicate the new $717 million Rathbun dam.

He will then fiy on to Hamilton Air Force Base from where he will go on to Sonoma County.

San Anselmo Council Hears Ire Of Citizens On Police Pay Hike

By SANDRA YOUNG

An angry public joined disgruntled police and firemen last night in questioning the San Anselmo City Council's definition of "bargaining in good faith" in connection with the recent wage dispute. (Other San Anselmo City Council stories, page 24.)

The city's 16 policemen and 19 firemen are fighting the council's refusal last month to grant wage increases to city employees this year.

At the standing-room-only meeting at city hall, the Irate Taxpayers of Marin presented the council with a petition containing 551 signatures of San Anselmo residents supporting the public safety employees' request for a minimum 4.8 per cent cost-of-living increase. Another petition, previously submitted by the group, contained 24 signatures.

Partisans won a concession in that councilmen agreed to take a fresh look at the wage question next Tuesday after a special meeting previously set.

During the hour-long discussion in which a dozen residents spoke in support of a wage hike, Donald E. Nelson, San Anselmo police sergeant, asked councilmen why police and firemen were told in April they would receive no pay raises this year — weeks before the council began its budget deliberations.

"Getting a flat no before you even had any budget hearings doesn't sound like any kind of negotiations to me," Nelson said angrily. George Jewel, negotiator for the firemen's association, earlier had stated that City Adm. Alfred C. Kaeppel had informed him in April that no raises would be available this year.

Councilman James F. Reed attempted to define the word negotiate as "meeting and conferring in good faith," but was interrupted by Nelson who asked, "How could it possibly be considered good faith to turn your back and say no when you actually decided long before those eight budget sessions?" Reed had said the council met to consider the budget for some 32 hours in eight meetings.

Don R. Deane of 31 Cedar Street, called the council's action "a sham" and said he would not accept it.

"You're asking city employees to take a 4 to 6 per cent decrease in pay," Dean declared. He questioned council's rationale in saying it could not grant pay increases because of lack of funds.

"I looked over the budget and found a number of expenditures that were a lot higher than last year," he said. When asked for a specific example by one councilman, Dean mentioned proposed improvements at two city parks.

"Money that is available for park improvement is not available for general fund use for salaries," said Warren R. Perry, acting mayor.

"By state law," Reed added.

Perry argued that the money was not coming out of the same pocket and finally, rapping the gavel for order, cut off further discussion, saying, "We've discussed this many times already. You can't compare peas and carrots and gas tax funds can't be used to pay (policemens') salaries, but they can build bridges."

Police officer Bernard Del Santo, negotiator for San Anselmo Police Association, reiterated previous charges that the city violated state law and its own policy by refusing to make counter offers during bargaining sessions.

Jewell then asked if the council's decision had been unanimous.

There was brief discussion

By JEFF GREER

Magee's waiver of speedy trial still leaves him free to continue trying to move his case into federal court or get the murder, kidnap and conspiracy charge dismissed.

For the first time since visiting Judge Richard E. Arnason began presiding over the Davis and Magee pretriwl hearings, Magee's handcuffs were removed. He was still chained, however, to his chair at the defense table beside his attorney, Richard L. Graves.

Marin County Auditor Michael Mitchell today received from Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court a bill for $5,891.25 submitted by Graves for his services on Magee's behalf during June.

Hearings were continuing today on Magee's latest habeas corpus petition for freedom from San Quentin.

Yesterday, Miss Davis's attorneys obtained from Arnason an order that the prosecution give the defense team the names of all witnesses who may testify at Miss Davis's trial, set to begin Sept. 27. The discovery order also instructs the prosectuion to let defense attorneys inspect all evidence gathered during months of investigation since Judge Harold J. Haley and three other persons died in the shoot-out. Criminal records of any potential witnesses and the names and official connections of any persons who were armed in the civic center at the time of the shoot-out also were ordered revealed to the defense.

Howard Moore Jr., chief defense attorney, told a press conference yesterday that Miss Davis's team would give top priority to two projects: interviewing each of the predicted 400 to 500 state witnesses, and preparing for a hearing Monday on the defense challenge of the grand jury that cited Miss Davis and Magee.

At the hearing, Miss Davis's attorney will question Marin County Superior Court judges to try to prove they "improperly excluded" representatives of some classes of Marin County citizens from the list of nominees for the panel.

Theoretically, if the defense proves its point, the judge could dismiss the indictment, and the county or the state could either try to obtain a new grand jury indictment or seek to have Miss Davis bound over for trial via a preliminary hearing. At such a hearing, the prosecution might have to reveal much more of its evidence than was necessary in grand jury proceedings.

Regardless of the outcome of next week's hearing, Moore said yesterday, "We're going to conduct ourselves on the basis of the trial date being Sept. 27." He added he believed the time was very short to meet that deadline.

The defense must "locate every strand or shred of evidence

Hanoi's Le Duc Tho In Abrupt Paris Exit

Tho left Orly airfield for Hanoi via Moscow and Peking as Communist diplomatic sources indicated high-level consultations were under way between North Vietnam and Communist China on the implications of President Nixon's projected trip to Peking.

Tho left after a month-long stay in Paris during which Hanoi proposed a new seven-point peace package it claims can settle the Vietnam war.

The scheme, laid before the stalemated Paris conference July 1 by Viet Cong Foreign Minister Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, largely has been overshadowed by the surprise disclosure that presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger secretly had conferred with Chinese Premier Chou En-lai, and that President Nixon will talk with Chinese leaders in the coming months.

Though Tho and Madame Binh indicated their readiness to meet Ambassador David K. E. Bruce and Kissinger, who passed through Paris on his way back from his Asian mission, the U.S. delegation has ignored the Communist overtures.

Drive Into Cambodia By Saigon Told

SAIGON (UPI) —About 3,500 South Vietnamese troops, backed by tanks and artillery, speared into neighboring Cambodia just west of the Parrot's Beak area today in a new drive to close a Communist infiltration route into the Mekong Delta.

Another South Vietnamese task force reported having killed 35 Viet Cong in a two-hour battle, in its drive near Neak Luong, some 35 miles southeast of Phnom Penh.

A 5,000-man Cambodian force combing the marshy regions 45 miles northwest of the capital reported it had made no contact with the Communists after three days.

The Vietnamese drives in Cambodia are aimed to prevent Communist infiltration to sabotage the South Vietnamese parliamentary elections in September.

Reports from the field said there were only scattered contacts with the new sweep, aimed at an estimated 1,000 Viet Cong believed to be hiding near strategic Highway 1, which links Phnom Penh and Saigon.

Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Minh, commander of the South Vietnamese 3rd Military Region, said, "The Viet Cong don't expect us to attack during the rainy season, so they'll be very surprised. I think the VC will try to avoid contact for the time being. They prefer to wait for the election."

The region, which allied forces have not swept for about seven months, is about six miles west of Svay Rieng, near the South Vietnamese border and 70 miles southeast of the capital.

State Rescinds Permit For Redwood Harvesting

CHESTER (UPI)—The state Board of Forestry has rescinded its decision to allow an Arcata timber company to clear-cut 145,796 scenic acres of trees in California's redwood country.

Reversal of the controversial action was announced by the board Tuesday, which said the change was requested by Simpson Timber Co. which had been granted a cutting permit June 30.

The timber company said it made the request to avoid "embarrassing" Gov. Ronald Reagan's administration.

At a news conference in early July, Reagan announced that the company would ask the board to reverse its action. The announcement was made after conservationists and several legislators protested the board's approval of the permit which would have allowed the cutting of all harvestable trees in the area.

Henry K. Trobitz, California timberlands manager for the company, told the board Tuesday that Simpson decided to drop its cutting plan after Norman Livermore, Reagan's resources secretary, informed the firm that he and other top state officials were not familiar with the plan.

Trobitz said he had been told that "the lack of communication could prove embarrassing to the state administration"

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Denies Bribe

NEW YORK (UPI)—A State Supreme Court justice denied Tuesday that he had accepted $50,000 in bribes from a convicted stock manipulator but said it would be "inappropriate" for him to go before the Senate subcommittee that heard the bribery charges.

Justice Mitchell D. Schweitzer had been invited to appear voluntarily by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., after witness Michael Raymond, 41, described him in testimony before the investigatons subcommittee as "the best judge money could buy."

In a statement issued through an attorney, Charles A. Stillman, Schweitzer "categorically" denied Raymond's charges but added:

"Even if there were any point in taking the witness stand to deny these baseless charges, I believe and am advised by my counsel that to do so would be inappropriate at this time in view of the pending proceeding before the New York State Court on the Judiciary."

Condition Good

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI) —Adrian Herbert, who received a new heart and new lungs Sunday, was in good condition today, doctors said.

A bulletin from Groote Schuur Hospital said the 57-year-old dental technician was comfortable and continuing to progress.

Groote Schuur Hospital reported today Herbert had breakfast in bed and that his condition was "improving," the Function of his heart and lungs was "excellent," the medical bulletin said.

Dr. Christiaan Barnard, the transplant pioneer who led the surgical team in the six-hour operation, rebutted criticism by a French newspaper that he had taken risks in the transplant.

Oppose Market

LONDON (UPI)—The top leadership of Britain's opposition Labor Party and of the country's trade unions voted by overwhelming majorities today against joining the European Common Market.

The party's National Executive Committee, which sets Labor Party policy, voted 16-6 against entering the market.

The General Council of the Trades Union Congress (TUC), which represents more than nine million British workers, voted 15-11 to recommend Britain staying out of the boomig six-nation community.

The two bodies met and voted separately.

A Compromise In Pruning Of Trees

The odd pruning job on the 60-foot trees was a compromise between the couple. She wanted to cut them down because they kept sunlight out of the house, while he wanted them to remain standing.

Laird Assailed

The accusation came in an article by the New China News Agency (NCNA) commenting on remarks made by Laird at a Washington news briefing following his return from a visit to Japan and South Korea.

"His remarks are a frantic provocation against the Chinese people and the people of other asian countries," NCNA said. "They further show that U.S. imperialism is still obdurately sticking to its policies of aggression and war in Asia."

The news agency, directly under the control of Premier Chou En-lai's State Council, charged that the United States was "fostering the U.S. puppets to serve U.S. imperialism's continued aggression in Asia" and promising them nuclear protection.

'Not Guilty'

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI)—In a firm, clear voice, Juan V. Corona declared "not guilty, sir" 25 times Tuesday to a murder indictment accusing him of the slayings of itinerant farm workers.

As Sutter County Superior Court Judge John G. Hauck read each count of the 25-count indictment, the sallow complexioned defendant repeated his plea of innocence to the charges.

Corona, a taciturn, Mexican-born farm labor contractor, was indicted by a county grand jury early this month in the deaths of 25 transient farm laborers whose bodies were found buried along the Feather River.

Hauck set Corona's trial for Oct. 5 at the 40-minute arraignment, attended by the suspect's wife, mother and two brothers, after considerable discussion about his health. The 37-year-old Corona suffered a heart attack June 18 in his jail cell.

'Mrs.' Is Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —If Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., gets her way, Little Miss Muffet, Miss America and "Mr." and "Mrs." towels will be reduced to nostalgic memories.

Congresswoman Abzug has proposed that the designations Miss and Mrs. be eliminated from all government correspondence and records. Mrs. Abzug said women should be identified as individuals and not as wives or single people when men are not singled out by marital status.

Mrs. Abzug said the government could replace with title with a neutral Ms., pronounced "Miz." The New York Democrat also introduced a bill setting aside Aug. 26 as Women's Equality Day in honor of the anniversary of the day women won the right to vote in 1920.

Indochina War Top For Chou

HONG KONG (UPI) — Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai has placed U.S. withdrawal from Indochina first among the topics to be discussed with President Nixon during Nixon's visit to Peking, a group of American students reported today on their return from China.

The students released an unofficial transcript of a conversation with Chou in which he said discussion of Indochina took precedence over the subject of Taiwan (Formosa) or the normalization of relations with the United States. He also made it clear he opposed any two-China policy.

Chou also called for U.S. withdrawal from South Korea and a peace treaty to end the war to replace the armistice now in effect. He also warned against revived militarism in Japan with American help.

The 15 students talked with Chou and other top Chinese leaders on July 19 in Peking. In releasing the transcript they said Chou's remarks "are clearly not an official, formal statement of the position of the Chinese government."

In the transcript, Chou also was quoted that "Maybe I will say something wrong or the interpreter might interpret wrong." He said if the material were publicized it should be accompanied by a statement that "there are bound to be some wrong statements in this recording."

Discussing other issues that were of particular concern to Peking, so far as Sino-American relations are concerned, Chou said:

—"The first point, that is, if state relations are to be established with China, then it must be recognized that the government of the People's Republic of China is the sole legitimate government representing the Chinese people."

—"Second, Taiwan is a province of China and it is an inalienable part of China's territory. And after the second World War Taiwan had already been restored to China. And the liberation of Taiwan by the Chinese people is an internal affair for China which brooks no foreign interference."

—"Third, the so-called theory that the status of Taiwan is yet unsettled, which is the theory that is going about—some people in the world are spreading it—is absurd..."

—"Fourth point. We oppose any advocation of a two-China policy, a one-China, one-Taiwan policy, or any similar policy. And if such a situation continues in the United Nations we will not go there."

—"Fifth point. We are resolutely opposed to the so-called 'Taiwan Independence Movement'. Because the people in Taiwan are Chinese...besides, the 'Taiwan Independence Movement' is not a native movement in itself. It is a special movement which has behind it the special manipulation from foreign forces."

Sexual Freedom League Loses Test Of Sex Law

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A suit seeking to have laws against various sexual activities stricken from the penal code has been dismissed in U.S. District Court in San Francisco.

Marin County Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales and Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos were among nine Bay Area prosecutors and law enforcement officers named as defendants in the suit filed last October by the Sexual Freedom League and other organizations and individuals.

Among the complainants in the case were Charles N. Blair and his wife, Dorothy, who were identified as residents of Nicasio and members of the Sexual Freedom League of Berkeley.

The Blairs contended "They have a strong predilection from time to time in the privacy of their home to engage with one another in sexual acts proscribed by section 288A" of the penal code which forbids oral copulation.

Citing a long list of "governmental intrusions" on the privacy of homes, the Blairs alleged they feared police would "burst violently into plaintiff's marital chambers wyile such plaintiff's are privately and consentually engaged in acts denounced by section 288A".

The suit contended that laws against oral copulation and sodomy were unconstitutional and should be thrown out.

The advocates of sexual freedom contended that two consenting adults of either sex should be allowed freedom of action in the privacy of their bedrooms without having the law snooping and peering.

A three-judge panel in the district court dismissed the suit last Friday, ruling that the Sexual Freedom League and other plaintiffs in the case had not shown that they were in any way threatened by the two penal code sections.

The panel consisted of U.S. Circuit Court Judge Ben C. Duniway and U.S. District Court Judges Robert H. Schnacke and Albert C. Wollenberg.

The judges said that there was no indication in the suit that laws had been prosecuted against consenting adults engaged in private sexual activity since 1965, and that fear of the laws was not sufficient grounds for the court to revoke them.

LABOR

mittee today, Hodgson declined to discuss the UTU strike but warned that Congress will be asked increasingly to settle such disputes unless it reforms the nation's labor laws.

"I am here to encourage fundamental legislative change —not to resolve any instant dispute," he said. "We believe such disputes should be given every chance for voluntary settlement by the parties involved," said.

The subcommittee began Tuesday hearings on 17 bills providing at least six different proposals for settling emergency labor disputes in the transportation industry.

Congressional legislation already has been used twice during the past year to halt rail walkouts.

Hodgson said in telegrams to Luna and Chairman John P. Hiltz of the National Railway Labor Conference, the bargaining agency for the carriers, that it was "imperative that extraordinary steps be taken to resolve the dispute that has caused these severe dislocations."

The labor secretary said the administration supports free collective bargaining and the right of unions to strike but added the administration was concerned that the "rights be exercised with due regard for the public interest."

Carl E. Bagge, president of the National Coal Association, told President Nixon in a letter Tuesday there should be "immediate government action" to halt the strike "to protect the national health and welfare."

Ford Motor Co. said today it would be forced to shut down several plants and lay off thousands of workers if the railroad strike does not end soon.

General Motors and Chrysler spokesmen said the companies probably would begin to feel the effects of the strike next week, especially if it spreads to other lines.

The Labor Department was reported preparing legislation that would impose on the railroads and the union contract terms recommended last year by a White House commission.

Larkspur Panel Denies Apartment

The Larkspur Planning Commission last night denied plans for an 18-unit apartment development which two weeks ago it approved "in concept."

According to John W. Appleton, planning director, denial of J. H. Greaves's proposal for Larkspur Plaza Road was based on incomplete plans.

The commission told Greaves two weeks ago that it liked the idea of apartments on his site but urged him to provide plans with greater detail.

Meanwhile approval was granted for two other architectural design applications, submitted by Alvin Schultz for a 22-unit apartment house at 220 Lower Via Casitas and by Helen Busse for two commercial buildings at 1000 Magnolia Avenue.

In other action, the commission approved a 30-day use permit extension requested by Michael Walsh who operates a pottery school at 464 Magnolia. The commission refused to grant a longer extension until parking at the site is improved.

Trip To Mount Shasta Scheduled

Transportation will be by automobile and volunteers with cars are needed and will be reimbursed for gasoline costs. Each packer must supply his own gear and food.

An informational and planning meeting will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow at the youth center, 180 Harrison Avenue. Interested persons who cannot attend the meeting can obtain more information from the center.

among councilmen as to whether the vote, which was taken during a closed session, was public record.

City Atty. John G. Buresh said such a vote was a matter of public record and recalled that it had been unanimous.

Jerrold M. Ladar, attorney retained by the police and firemen's associations, asked the council to reconsider its decision.

"You have the power to up the tax rate and that will create the money these gentlemen are looking for," Ladar said. He made no mention of a statement two weeks ago that he would seek an injunction to stop the council from adopting its 1971-72 budget until the salary dispute is settled. Papers to that effect have not been filed to date in Marin Superior Court.

Perry assured residents and fire and policemen in the gathering that the council would discuss the question again, but he would give no guarantee that negotiations would be reopened.

The council adjourned after midnight to a special workshop session Tuesday at 8 p.m. and set a closed meeting for 10 p.m. to discuss the wage dispute.

The two-hour workshop will be the first of proposed bimonthly meetings between the council and the public to discuss whatever subjects may arise. There will be no agenda for the workshops and no action taken.

Marin Gets Slice Of Fund Returns

Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation has received $1,312 as its share of interest earnings in the Condemnation Deposits Fund investments for the first half of the year, the office of the state controller has announced.

A total of $784,584 has been distributed among the five state and 47 local agencies which have invested under supervision of the Pooled Money Investment board.

North Marin County Water District received $28.82 in the fund investment interest earnings.

the President that this is not the time to increase high-level government salaries.
ries.

A Federal Reserve spokesman, asked about the matter, said: "Dr. Burns tells me there is no truth whatever in the alleged report that he has lobbied for an increase in salary."

By describing the board as a closed club and by saying Burns was seeking a pay boost, the administration apparently intended to enrage Burns and his colleagues. It was far from clear what the administration could hope to gain from such a tactic.

The Federal Reserve Board in recent weeks has been tightening its money policy, with a resulting rise in interest rates, in an effort to control inflation. Nixon had been counting on a continued easy money policy to help spur the economy and reduce unemployment.

Burns is Nixon's only appointee on the board. Barring a resignation, Nixon's next regular chance to appoint a board member comes early next year. Burns earned the antipathy of the administration with a yearlong campaign to convince Nixon to establish a wage-price review board which could bring heavy pressure on business and labor to moderate their demands.

"I attach great weight to the moral force that strong government leadership could at the present time bring to bear on private decisions in key industries," Burns recently told a congressional committee. "If we are to restore price stability with high employment in our economy, I see no immediate alternative to a cogent incomes policy."

Nixon, at his first news conference as president, announced he had junked the wage-price guidelines of the Kennedy and Johnson administrations. He said they were unfair and ineffective.

The President has consistently rejected calls for overall wage-price restraints, although he did launch an effort to dampen the salary spiral in the construction industry.

With inflation continuing to plague the economy, Nixon is becoming increasingly sensitive to suggestions that he is not doing all he could to check rising prices.

An administration official said Burns asked the administration to send to Congress a bill that would boost the salary of the chairman. The pay of the other six board members would not have been affected.

The official said the request was seriously considered for a time. It was consolidated with a suggestion that the salary of George Shultz, director of the powerful Office of Management and Budget, also should be boosted from $42,500 to $62,500 a year.

But the administration finally decided to oppose the whole package, the official said. The bill has not been introduced in Congress.

Accident Injury

Langdon Alvord, 23, of 2065 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, was treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital for neck sprain suffered, according to hospital officials, in an auto accident in San Anselmo. Details of the accident were not available.

Man Held In Robbery, Kidnapping

A 23-year-old gunman said to have robbed two Tamalpais Valley residents of $410 last night and then kidnapped a young mother and her son was arrested moments later on Shoreline near Highway 101.

Christopher Bruce Staple, who gave his address as the Lost River Ranch, Whitethorn, Humboldt County, was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of armed robbery and kidnapping and held without bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Details of the incident were sketchy, but Mill Valley police gave this account:

Police received several calls at about 10 p.m. saying a man with long blond hair and a gun had just kidnapped a woman and a boy at 1 Marinview Avenue, Tamalpais Valley.

Police relayed the information to Marin County sheriff's deputies, who patrol Tamalpais Valley. Two minutes later a Mill Valley officer was dispatched to Dolan's Corners on a report the kidnapper had been seen there.

The officer saw a gold 1968 Plymouth, described as the getaway car, driving east on Shoreline Highway toward Highway 101.

When he stopped the car in front of the Fountain Motel, police said, Lucretia A. Griffin, 23, of Whitethorn, and her 2-year-old son, Adam Smith, ran from the auto to the patrol car.

The officer arrested Staple, who was armed with a .22-caliber pistol, and recovered $410 police said was taken from Alan Roy Miller and Joan Marie Jammes, both of 1 Marinview Avenue.

Also in the car was David R. Walker, 26, of San Francisco. His connection with the incident was not known.

Growing Season In Full Swing

CHICAGO (UPI) — The overseas growing season is in full swing and Willard Wakefield, inspector in charge of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's plant quarantine station at O'Hare International Airport, has the seized plants to prove it.

Motorcyclist Hurt In Crash

According to police, Chris Davis, 24, of Sao Augustine Way, received a scraped knee when his Honda and a car driven by Linda Rose Blabon Dukes, of 424 Montecillo Road, collided.

that will help or hurt our client."

The Sept. 27 date was increased pressure for prompt action on a request to move the trial out of Marin County, he said.

Moore was cuatious in commenting on the possibility of Judge Arnason becoming judge for the actual trial in whatever county the trial may land. He said that in the pretrial hearings so far, the Contra Costa County Superior Court judge maintained orderly procedure "with reserve and apparent tolerance for all" despite "some pretty heated exchanges" between defense and prosecution attorneys, as well as other persons in the courtroom.

The defense attorney said that at any rate his client and her team would have little voice in any State Judicial Council decision on where to conduct the trial.

Change of venue could benefit Marin taxpayers, County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney noted yesterday. He said Marin might not have to pay for another county's security precautions at the eventual trial. Any county that decided it needed extremely expensive security precautions "would be doing so at their own risk," Maloney said. "There's a better case to argue that the security costs are not transferrable," he said.

Defense and prosecution attorneys met for several hours in Judge Arnason's chambers yesterday to hammer out the final wording on the discovery order. They also drafted tentative orders permitting Miss Davis to hold small-scale press conferences in the Marin County Jail and to have an electric typewriter in her cell, as well as to have meals in the cell if she wishes. The proposed order also would allow her to have the company of other female jail inmates during exercise periods. The judge was expected to sign the orders today, unless new disagreements develop among the attorneys.

conduct the first truly working spacewalk.

The astronauts Tuesday ended their second day in space as it started —trouble shooting an electrical problem that triggered an alarm signal in the command module cabin.

They found a circuit breaker for part of the cabin lighting had opened because of an apparent circuit fault, but Flight Director Milton Windler reported the trouble was minor and could be worked around.

"Other than that, I guess we're ops (operations) normal, going to the moon and planning on going to Hadley (the landing site)," Windler reported at an early morning briefing today.

Its speed was dropping from 2,750 miles per hour at 12:34 a.m. when the astronauts were 100,666 miles from the moon, to 2,134 miles per hour at 7:34 p.m. when they will be $53,464 miles away.

Apollo 15 will slow to 1,887 miles per hour and then start to accelerate Thursday morning under the pull of the moon's gravity.

Yoko Files For Custody Of Child

OBITUARIES

Thomas Reardon, 68, Dies

Thomas G. Reardon, a retired shipping agent and Marin County resident for 33 years, was found dead yesterday at his home, 144 West Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, by Mill Valley police. He was 68.

Coroner's investigator Keith C. Craig said Reardon had been dead about two days, apparently of natural causes. Police went to his residence when his daughter, Bonnie J. Knapp, of Walnut Creek, became worried when he did not answer his telephone.

He was born in Brooklyn, N.Y., and came to California 38 years ago. He worked for Grace Lines and Dyson Shipping Co. of San Francisco before going to work for Pacific Far East Lines. He retire romtat firm in 1966 after working there 20 years.

Arts Festival In Sausalito Canceled

The Sausalito Arts Festival, which annually draws thousands of persons to the city, will not be held this year, the Sausalito City Council decided reluctantly last night.

At the council's July 20 meeting, Mayor Alexander R. Imlay had proposed the city take charge of the festival since the Sausalito Arts Center will be unable to handle arrangements this year.

But City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr, after studying the proposal, advised the council against it saying there was "not enough time to plan and implement a festival for this year." The event is normally held over Labor Day weekend.

The council concurred with the city manager.

The Sausalito City Council also:

ORDINANCE — Introduced an ordinance establishing requirements for exits and automatic fire alarm systems in new buildings in the city. Also affected will be structures which have been rebuilt or remodeled at a cost more than 50 per cent of their value.

CONTINUANCE — Granted the Golden Gate Bridge District a 120-day extension on its conditional use permit to operate a ferry service in Sausalito, which expires August 15. The district said it needs more time to prepare architectural plans for its proposed downtown terminal.

BUILDING HEIGHTS — Heard considerable discussion on an amendment to the city's ordinance regulating building heights, a change which would give the city additional controls, but took no action on the matter.

Retarded Boy, 9, Found Alive After 11-Day Hunt

CASPER, Wyo. (UPI) — Searchers today found alive 9-year-old Kevin Dye, a mentally retarded epileptic boy who had been missing for 11 days in the wilds of Wyoming, Natrona County Sheriff Bill Estes reported.

"He is alive and appears well and we've sent in a stretcher to bring him out," Ellis said.

Searchers, using tracking dogs over a 30-square-mile area of Casper Mountain, spotted the boy and ran to him, Ellis said.

Since the boy has been missing, he had been spotted several times but ran away from searchers, apparently from fright.

The search had been spurred on by new evidence found Tuesday that indicated the lad was still alive after being on the run like an animal since July 18, when he wandered away from his parents on a mountain outing.

Stinson Water Unit Will Hold Session

Directors of the Stinson Beach County Water District board and the Stinson Beach Fire Protection District board will meet in special session at 8 p.m. today at the community center.

The two boards will discuss proposals to improve water pressure and the hydrant system.

Heart Attack Fatal To Youth

LOWELL, Mass. (UPI)— Raymond Rivera, 13, Lowell, collapsed and died Tuesday after climbing out of a swimming pool at Lowell Institute of Technology.

Officials at St. Joseph's Hospital said Rivera died of a heart failure. He had a history of cardiac trouble.

A spokesman for the school said the youth had swum the width of the pool's shallow end to prove to an instructor that he could swim well enough to be allowed in the deep end.

Sausalito Delays Park Decision

The Sausalito City Council last night postponed until August 31 a decision on whether to place the controversial Park Plaza Plan on the ballot next April and let voters decide its merits.

The three-part, long-range plan, prepared by William E. Spangle, would transform the heart of downtown Sausalito into a series of parks, pedestrian malls and walkways.

Since the plan would eventually eliminate most of the city's Municipal Parking Lot No. 1, many merchants say it would have a disastrous effect on downtown businesses. And many residents, including the Sausalito Citizens Council, have complained it would cause them great inconvenience.

The council decided to take no action on the matter after City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr said the city's recreation commission has a proposal relating to the park plaza plan which may alter the plan. St. Cyr declined to give details of the proposal, but said it would be presented to the council at its Aug. 3 meeting.

Meanwhile, City Atty. Leland H. Jordan told the council he did not believe citizens could compel the city to place the plan on the ballot through the initiative process.

"The Park Plaza Plan is now a part of the city's general plan, and it will remain so until action is taken to repeal it," Jordan said. "That action, I believe, must be taken by the council."

However, if an initiative petition is circulated, Jordan said the city must either put the plan to the voters or test the validity of the initiative in the courts.

Three Weapons Taken From Trailer

A shotgun, rifle and pistol were stolen Monday from a trailer at Christian Brothers, 1010 Lakeville Highway, Petaluma, police reported. Value of the weapons was not known.

Police reported that burglars also pried open a rear window at Maddalena's Inc., 139 Hopper Street, Monday night and took $10 in change from a vending machine.

Historic Summit For Chile

By MATTHEW T. KENNY

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — They didn't play Ping-Pong. But they talked, dined, exchanged decorations and signed the "Declaration of Salta".

And with their two-day conference last Friday and Saturday in Northern Argentina, Marxist President Salvador Allende of Chile and military president Alejandro Lanusse of Argentina made South American political history.

It was, in fact, the same kind of dramatic history expected to emerge — for the world — from the projected meeting between President Nixon and Mao Tse-Tung in Peking.

CO-EXISTENCE POLICY

Its message was: We recognize that we are living under and following different political philosophies. But we are neighbors with common historical roots.

The impact of the meeting is certain to be deep in South America, a continent fractured more and more politically by new leftist regimes, on the one side, powerful militarist and anti-Communist regimes on the other, and not too many middle-of-the road nations in between.

The aftermath of the Allende-Lanusse parley may ultimately have some bearing on the future shape of relations between the hemisphere as a whole and Communist Cuba, currently recognized by only two Latin nations, Chile and Mexico.

IMAGE BUILDER

Strictly within the Argentine-Chilean orbit, the meeting enhanced the respective international and domestic political image f both leaders, observers agree.

For Marxist Allende, who presumably will be meeting with Cuba's Premier Fidel Castro within the next few months, it underscored his repeated desire to maintain a broad range of contacts and not confine himself to his "Socialist" sympathizers.

For Lanusse, a conservative lieutenant general and commander of the Argentine army, the meeting demonstrated his apparent desire to make Argentina's relationships more flexible with all its South American neighbors, rather than convey the image of a strictly pro-militarist, pro-conservative policy.

How this may affect Argentina's relations with Brazil is the most immediate question.

Observers noted that if Lanusse himself runs for the presidency of Argentina in the next elections—possibly within two years—his new "liberal" image will be also an advantage at home.

BRAZIL REACTION

In Santiago, UPI correspondent Martin P. Houseman said political observers were especially struck by Lanusse's statement that Argentina will carry out its future foreign policy "with an ample criterion of universality, which does not admit restrictions imposed by ideological prejudices."

Lanusse's announced plans to visit Peru, Paraguay, Chile, Brazil—and possibly Bolivia—gave further meaning to his remarks.

Meanwhile, Allende's international travel plans include visits to Colombia and possibly Ecuador.

Students Will Give Program

Children in the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Department's multimedia class will present a program, "Maybe So, Maybe Not" at 7:30 p.m. today at Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley.

The 10 children between 10 and 14 years of age have been exploring films, slides, lighting, sound, music, drama and dance for six weeks under the direction of Melissa Wuoltee.

Those attending tomorrow's program at the school theater must pass through a maze of different media constructed by the children. Admission is one-cent for each year of a person's age, or a maximum of 50 cents, with proceeds going toward the production.

46 Strep Cases Reported Last Week

Forty-six cases of streptococcus infection were reported in Marin last week, according to Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

In addition, 20 cases of gonorrhea, one case of salmonella, six cases of infectitious hepatitis and one case of serum hepatitus were reported.

Novato Dumps Unpopular 'Seal'

The Novato City Council last night prepared to get rid of the unused and controversial city seal, perhaps to replace it with another.

It introduced an ordinance to repeal adoption of the official city seal which was adopted in 1964 but never used. The second reading of the ordinance will come at its Aug. 10 meeting.

Betty Machado, representing the Novato Women's Club, presented a new seal which met with the council's general approval. Artist Barbara Murphy painted the simple design of the Novato City Hall surrounded by a blue and white circle and the words "City of Novato Incorporated 1960".

It is a simplification of a drawing made by artist Carl Rangell for a plaque presented to City Mgr. J. Julien Baget when he left the city. However, Mrs. Murphy omitted the jet planes overhead, the street, street signs and mailbox in front on the city hall.

Councilman George C. Quesada suggested a simple line drawing for the city hall. He said that he did not like the street or street sign in the other painting.

Councilman F. Wayne Sartain, a printer, did not like the old-fashioned type used in the lettering. He will suggest other type faces for the seal.

He said that anyone wishing to submit other proposals for a new city seal should do so.

The seal which was adopted and never used had an Indian motif on one side with plank wickiups and the Novato City Hall on the other side. A tomahawk and gavel and other features made it so unpopular that it was never used officially by the city.

The original copy of that seal is now located in the Marin County Historical Society Museum in San Rafael. When it is abandoned as the official city seal, Novato will be without a seal until a new one is adopted by the council.

Showdown Stalled On Pleasure Faire

Approximately 30 members of the Sunnyhills Guild appeared before the Novato City Council last night prepared to battle the Renaissance Pleasure Faire's bid to perform the first weekend in October, but the expected argument failed to materialize.

The Novato City Council quickly granted a carnival license for five weekends prior to the first in October.

The contested weekend — which Sunnyhills fears would cut into its annual fund raising grape festival — will be decided on Aug. 10.

The Pleasure Faire at that time will appeal Monday night's decision by the Novato Planning Commission to allow the five weekends prior to the first in October. The fair promoters want the five weekends to include the first in October.

Kay Crawford, president of the Associated Sunnyhills Guilds, had protested to the planning commission that the first weekend in October was the traditional time for its festival, and the planning commission adjusted the Pleasure Faire dates accordingly.

Councilman George C. Quesada headed off the verbal battle last night by telling the crowd that there was no sense in spending all the time arguing a case which could not be heard until Aug. 10.

The Novato City Council Also:

CIVIC CENTER — Approved in principle the City of Novato keeping the civic center in the area bounded by De Long, Machin and Reichert avenues and Cain Lane. It authorized City Mgr. Charles A. Brown to proceed with purchase of the Rodoni property for $33,500 to complete the city's holdings in the block that now houses the city buildings. It also authorized him to start negotiations for purchase of three parcels of property on DeLong Avenue which are for sale. No price was set, nor did the council indicate where it might get the money to buy the property.

BEDROOM TAX — Postponed until Aug. 10 consideration of a proposed tax on the number of bedrooms in new construction. The money would be used for public parks. Councilman J. Wayne Womack raised the question of the legality of such tax and suggested that the city merely increase its building permit fees. The staff was instructed to study both proposals and report back.

BAHIA — Introduced an ordinance changing the Bahia master plan. It will change the community recreation center location from adjacent to the school site to a portion of the commercial area and allow a second opening of the dike to the Petaluma River.

RED BARN — Upheld the planning commission's denial for a variance for an existing mezzanine at Johnson's Red Barn at 7388 Redwood Highway. The vote was 2-1 with Mayor Joseph Gargiulo and David Price Jones voting to uphold the planning commission and J. Wayne Womack against. Quesada and F. Wayne Sartain abstained because they were on the planning commission which denied the variance.

PREZONING — Introduced an ordinance prezoning 35 acres on San Marin Drive at the extension of Seventh Street to planned residential from agricultural for Anthony Sandbach. The property is being annexed to the city and this sets the zoning on it before the annexation becomes final.

CLAIM — Denied a $289 claim from the Novato Unified School District for a broken window at San Jose Junior High School. The school district claimed that the broken window was broken last Feb. 17 when the gymnasium was being used by the Novato Parks and Recreation Department.

APPOINTMENT — Appointed G. Thomas Telfer of 9 Thunderbird Drive to the plan review committee. Telfer is owner of Urban Dynamics of Greenbrae.

HEARINGS — Set Sept. 14 for hearings on annexations of one lot at Center Road and St. Francis Avenue for Womack and the same lime for annexation of the 35 acres for Sandbach.

PLAY AREA — Approved specifications for the play area in Pioneer Memorial Park and set Aug. 10 to receive bids on construction.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until 8 p.m. next Tuesday to hold a public hearing with county officials on joint use of Hamilton Air Force Base with civilian planes.

Novato Nod To Streets Overlay

The Novato City Council last night approved specifications for the overlay of certain city streets and called for bids to be opened at 4 p.m., Aug. 9.

The engineer's estimate on the overlay is $106,000 with the money coming half from gasoline tax money and half from the general fund.

Streets to be overlaid are: Olive Avenue from Westwood Avenue to the east city limits; South Novato Boulevard from Yukon Way to Highway 101 with the exception of a small portion at Stone Drive; Greenwood, Parkwood and Lynwood Drives; Clausing Avenue; a portion of Reichert Avenue; Manual, Louis and Fernando Drives; Leese and Nova Lanes; Carolyn and Lambert Ways; St. Francis Avenue; Gertrude Lane, Pico, Lobo, Queva Baca and Raposa Vistas.

Jewelry Stolen

Shell Oil Displays Device For Gauging Smoke In Air

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Development of a portable instrument to measure smoke, long sought by air pollution control inspectors, was claimed yesterday by Shell Oil Co.

This chart, the Ringelmann Opacity Scale, grades smoke density on the basis of the amount of sunlight that can pass through the smoke plume.

Shell's Opacity Meter is a hand-carried device about the size of a pistol. Its cost reportedly will be about $900.

The device, developed at Shell Development Company's Emeryville research center, can discriminate between the optical properties of a smoke plume and the confusing effects of background contrasts such as clouds and changes in light.

Shell, in a press statement, said that the new meter was accurate within one-quarter of one mark on the Ringelmann scale.

Shell noted this degree of accuracy was "markedly better" than the trained human eye, which usually was not accurate within a half-mark on the scale. The device thus apparently is twice as accurate as the human eye.

The device also would provide objective evidence for prosecution of air polluters.

Library Union Votes To Strike

BERKELEY (UPI) —A union representing the Berkeley City Library's 75 employes says they have voted overwhelmingly to strike Sunday.

City Mgr. William Hanley said, in reply Monday that negotiations are under way towards a new labor contract and he is "confident there will be no strike and an agreement will be reached."

Those who took the strike vote are members of Local 2077, the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Workers.

96-Unit Plan Is Endorsed

A 96-unit apartment development on 12.5 acres of land in Santa Venetia got a 3-to-1 endorsement of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

John F. McInnis, Michael Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. approved apartment zoning for David Rosenberg's property on North San Pedro Road, at Meadow Drive. Arnold M. Baptiste objected that the density is too high, particularly because much of the land has a 40 per cent slope.

Margaret Heare of 283 North San Pedro Road protested the apartment zoning, charging that 96 new homes would jam the already overcrowded streets.

Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

CORRECTIVE WORK — Authorized a $4,550 outlay to recoat the stagehouse of the Veterans Memorial Building and repair a few minor leaks. The cost will be charged to the general contractors, Wright and Oretsky of Santa Rosa.

NEW CONTRACTS — Approved new three-year contracts with 55 firemen and communication workers and a one year contract with 35 midmanagement employees. Firemen will have the work week reduced from 92 hours to 84 and get 5 per cent raise this year, 6 per cent next year and 5 per cent the third year. Communications workers will get raises of 7.5 per cent, 5 per cent and 5 per cent. Midmanagement personnel will get a 7.5 per cent raise this year.

SMALL LOT — Denied a request by G.C. Kott to legalize a 2,700-square-foot parcel at 363 Pine Hill Road, Tamalpais Valley, as a buildable lot.

GENERAL RELIEF — Laid down general guidelines on how to handle able-bodied persons who seek county general relief. Those who apply for general relief but are found to be employable must show up for work assignments as ordered by the county.

UNDERGROUNDING — Expanded the underground utility district at Kentfield Corners so that the new undergrounding district will stretch along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from Maple Avenue to Laurel Grove Avenue in Kentfield.

SOUND PROJECTOR — Bought a sound projector and auxiliary equipment for the Veterans Memorial Building for $12,090 from the Western Theatrical Equipment Co.

WELFARE-MEDICAL — Asked Marin legislators in Sacramento to oppose the Gov. Ronald Reagan's welfare and Medi-Cal legislation.

INSURANCE — Accepted a new insurance valuation of $24.5 million on all county buildings, which means an annual fire insurance premium of $40,875. Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella said this is a higher premium, but he does not know how much. Arnold M. Baptiste asked Campanella to determine the amount of increase by next week.

PLANNING COUNCIL — Appointed William B. Lynch as county representative to the City-County Planning Council to succeed Eugene R. Trombley. Lynch replaced Trombley on the Main County Planning Commission this month.

FAMILY ADVISORY — Appointed Carolyn Devaney and Janet Kitzmiller of San Rafael and Mary Savoy of Novato to the Family and Children's Services Advisory Committee.

FLOOD ZONE — Asked County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney to see if he can prepare legislation that would put a lid on the maximum tax that can be levied in Flood Control Zone 9A (unincorporated area of Ross Valley). Unless the zone can be assured of a limit on taxation, Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. said he wants the zone dissolved.

CHINA CAMP —Voted 3 to 1 to join a citizens lawsuit that claims public access to China Camp in east San Rafael because the beach has been used for recreation by the public for many years. John F. McInnis said he prefers to negotiate with owners because they have been extremely cooperative and generous in working out public recreation programs in the rest of east San Rafael.

RAISE — Denied a cost-of-living raise of 7.5 per cent for Junetta Younglove, Marin Superior Court secretary and deupty jury commissioner, because she got a special 10 per cent raise during budget sessions in June.

HAMILTON FIELD — Held up until Aug. 17 any decision on detailed agreements by which Golden Pacific Airlines will begin operating civilian flights out of Hamilton Air Force Base. Mayor Joseph Gargiulo of Novato asked for three-weeks delay so that Novato can study the joint use of Hamilton.

AIRFIELD INSURANCE — Continued until Aug. 10 a discussion of insurance coverage to be provided by fixed base operators at the county airport, Gnoss Field.

RESOLUTION — Voted a resolution of commendation to Alfred E. Fowler Jr., who retired in June after 21 years as assistant veterans service officer.

Cultural, Quasi-Public Groups Given A Break

Marin County Board of Supervisors decided yesterday it would let cultural and quasi-public groups like Marin Civic Ballet and Louise A. Boyd Museum of Natural Science build on Civic Center farigrounds, but such facilities must be open to public use.

On a motion by John F. McInnis, supervisors asked the county administrator to work with architect Aaron G. Green on a building layout plan for the 80-acre fairgrounds and policies on how such buildings would be used.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said it is perfectly legal for public lands to be used for quasi-public purposes like art and culture. "But it should be predominantly for public benefit," said Maloney. "The buildings and environs should be available to the public when not in use by the civic ballet."

Supervisors said they want the county administrator to report back on the types of organizations that will build on the fairgrounds, how such buildings would be used and how much building coverage the fairgrounds can accommodate.

Marin Civic Ballet has already applied for space to build a $350,000 building at the fairgrounds. Robert Roumiguierre, president of the Boyd museum, announced yesterday his group is also interested in building a museum at the fairgrounds and would be happy to share the building with the public.

McInnis said $75,000 in utilities that will be installed to serve the new civic ballet building will also serve other proposed buildings, and the entire cost should not be attributed to the ballet building alone.

Jewish Immigration From USSR Drops

MOSCOW (UPI) —The emigration of Jews from the Soviet Union dropped sharply during July, diplomatic sources said today.

The sources said about 500 Jews will have emigrated to Israel by July 31.

Seminary To Host Visitors

One hundred forty-seven students from Japan and South America will arrive Friday at the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary in Mill Valley, one stop in a five-week cross-country tour sponsored by Rotary Club International.

Students and chaperones, between the ages of 15 and 40, will be hosted at a dinner and reception at 7 p.m. Friday in the seminary cafeteria. The dinner will be sponsored by six Marin County Rotary presidents and secretaries.

The trip began July 21 in Minneapolis and includes stops in Los Angeles, Pierre, S.D., Sheridan, Wyo., Yellowstone National Park, Reno, El Paso, Texas, New Mexico, Baton Rouge, La., New Orleans, Washington, D.C., Niagara Falls, Chicago and New York City.

During the group's three-day stay in Marin, they will tour San Francisco.

New Plan For Consumer Leadership

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate Judiciary Committee yesterday approved legislation designating the secretary of state as the head of a new consumer protection agency.

The measure by Sen. Alan Short, D-Stockton, which is supported by Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., was sent on a split voice vote to the Finance Committee.

Short told the committee the current state Department of Consumer Affairs is not doing a satisfactory job in looking out for the welfare of consumers.

"Quite frankly," he said, "I don't think they are consumer-oriented."

Short said the secretary of state would have authority to write regulations prohibiting "unconscionable acts or practices as being unlawful and to the detriment of the consumer."

"These would concern those areas where unfair advantage was obtained because of the lack of knowledge, ability or experience on the part of the consumer," the lawmaker said.

He added that the secretary of state could then prosecute the firm, using the state attorney general as his lawyer, if any of the regulations were violated.

Olen Kull, lobbyist for Household Finance Corp., opposed the measure saying it will merely be "confusing and duplication of authority" to set up the new consumer protection agency.

Six Inmates Win College Degrees

Six San Quentin inmates have been awarded associate in arts degrees from the College of Marin.

The graduates are: Robert P. Halligan, liberal arts; Marion Milligan, behavioral science and social science; and Thruman E. Paul, William A. Priddy, Louis J. Surgent and John M. Warner, all in behavioral science and liberal arts.

38-Mile Bicycle Trip Set Saturday

The Sausalito Youth Center will sponsor a 38-mile bicycle trip to Samuel P. Taylor State Park Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m.

According to trip chairman Jon Livingston, the group will leave from the youth center, 180 Harrison Avenue. Further information can be obtained from the center.

CHICKEN 'N HAM Bake is inspired by a Colonial Williamsburg, Va., recipe popular in the 18th Century. Cubed meats are combined with a sage flavored cream sauce and topped with bread cubes before baking.

EASY TO FIX

Peaches Make Wonderful Salad

Peach salads are easy to fix. The peach flourishes best with the simplest treatment, and the peach flavor blends beautifully in salads with other fruits and with nuts and cheese.

Try the California freestones, in season all summer, in some new, simple salads that feature a touch of spice.

With a lemon, all-spice and cinnamon dressing, the ripest California peach will taste even more juicy. And when peach halves are stuffed with cottage cheese and nuts or with orangey cream cheese, you'll have an exotic yet nourishing treat.

Modern Nutritionists value the peach for its healthfulness, very rich in Vitamin A and with valuable amounts of vitamin C.

PEACH COMPOTE WITH ALLSPICE DRESSING

Ascorbic acid mixture
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
1 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 teaspoon ground allspice
Salad greens

Toss fruit with ascorbic acid mixture to prevent darkening. Chill. Fold whipped cream into mayonnaise with rest of ingredients. Serve fruit on salad greens and pass dressing separately.

Almond Nutrition

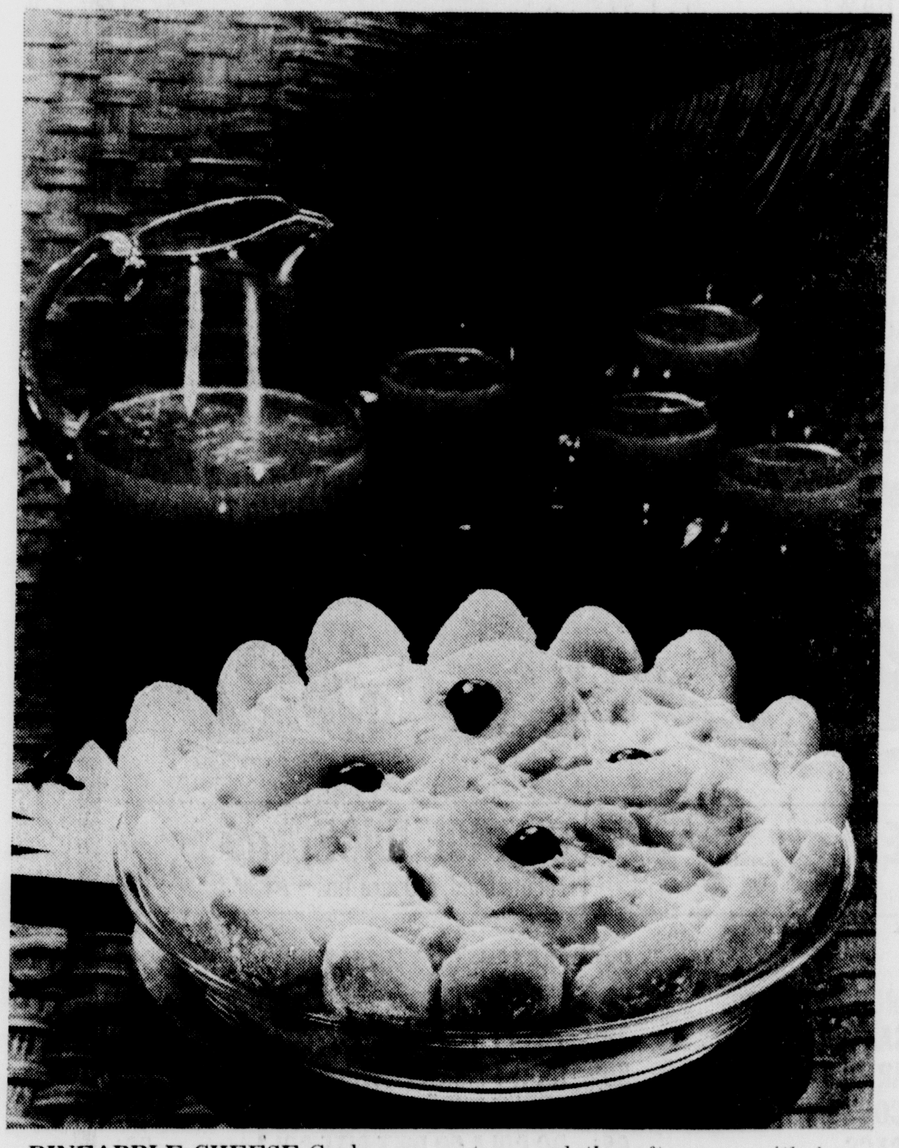
Almonds contain protein, phosphorus, calcium, potassium, iron and B vitamins. Add them to drop cookies, cooky bars, loaf cakes or tea breads whenever you want to add food values to snacktime sweets.

Fresh Vegetables

During August total supplies of fresh summer vegetables will be seasonally large. Sweet corn and tomatoes are among the leading vegetables that will be available in generally ample supply.

FRESH CALIFORNIA peaches make an excellent salad spiced up in a fruit compote and stuffed with cottage cheese. Since the peach flourishes best with simple treatment, recipes utilizing California freestones are easy to fix.

Colonial Recipe For Family Dinner



PINEAPPLE CHEESE Cooler, a delightful summer treat, can be prepared in advance, ideal for the summer hostess who wants to spend the afternoon with her guests in the warmth of the sun instead of the heat of the stove.

Three centuries ago in Williamsburg, Va., entertaining was done graciously, elegantly, imaginatively. The most important, and most elegant, meal of the day was dinner, served at 2 or 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

In true Colonial Williamsburg tradition, dinner was a splendid affair. It included several large cuts of meat, fowl and fish, plus game birds, seafood dishes and meat casseroles, boiled puddings, vegetables and a variety of desserts.

Chicken 'n' Ham Bake was one of the popular items on the dinner menu. It combines two of Virginians' favorite meats in one dish. In this Williamsburg-inspired recipe, the cubed chicken and ham are mixed with a sage-flavored cream sauce, then topped with bread cubes and baked.

This colonial recipe is ideal for a family dinner. Or, it can be served as one of several meat dishes when entertaining a larger crowd, as was done in the 18th Century.

CHICKEN 'N' HAM BAKE

8 tablespoons (1 stick) butter or margarine
2 cups cubed dry bread
½ cup chopped onion
⅓ cup unsifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups light cream
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon rubbed sage
3 cups cooked cubed chicken
2 cups (about ½-pound) cubed cooked ham

Melt 3 tablespoons butter or margarine; toss in dry bread cubes. Set aside.

In a large saucepan melt remaining 5 tablespoons butter or margarine. Add chopped onion and saute until tender. Remove pan from heat; blend in flour and salt. Gradually stir in light cream and milk. Add sage. Return saucepan to heat and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat; stir in chicken and ham. Pour mixture into a 12x7½x2-inch oblong baking dish. Top with bread cubes.

Bake at 350 degrees about 25 minutes, or until mixture is bubbling and bread crumbs are brown. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

PLANNING AHEAD

Pineapple Cheese Cooler Ideal For Warm Summer Afternoon

The secret for entertaining on a warm, summer afternoon is to pick a menu that can be prepared ahead, so you can spend the afternoon in the warmth of the sun instead of the heat of the stove.

PINEAPPLE CHEESE COOLER

8 lady fingers, split
1 3-ounce package cream cheese, softened
1½ cups cold milk
1 3¾ ounce package pineapple cream instant pudding
1 cup finely chopped fresh pineapple
Pineapple slices
Green cherries

Line bottom and sides of an 8-inch pie-plate with lady fingers. In a medium sized bowl, beat cream cheese until smooth; gradually beat in a small amount of the milk. Add pudding six and remaining milk; continue beating until mixture is well blended and smooth. Chill until pudding begins to thicken; fold in pineapple. Spoon into prepared pie-plate; chill at least 2 hours or until set. Garnish with sliced pineapple and green cherries. Makes 6 servings.

*An 8½ ounce can of crushed pineapple, well drained may be substituted for fresh.

Home Canning

In home canning there's many a slip between the garden and the jar. Make sure that all utensils, containers and cloths that come in contact with food be as clean as possible. Hot suds and water will do the trick. After washing and rinsing jars6 keep them covered with hot water until ready to use.

THE FRAULEIN is a lower calorie hero sandwich, tasty and nutritionally balanced.

DIETING

Sandwich With Less Calories

THE FRAULEIN
(1 sandwich)

6 slices thin sliced liver sausage slims
½ cup sauerkraut (drained)
4 slices Swiss cheese
mustard to taste
1 wholewheat roll - approximately six inches long

Spread bread lightly with mustard. Place a thin layer of liver sausage slices (approximately six, overlapping) on the bottom half of the roll. Top with layer of drained sauerkraut. Then add a layer of small slices of Swiss cheese, (approximately 4). Cover with top slice of roll. Garnish with red and green pickled peppers and ripe cherry tomatoes.

Melted Dip Of Ice Cream For Plums!

Few of us think about taking ice cream along on a summer picnic, but with advance preparation and good timing, you can enjoy everyone's favorite dessert at the beach three hours away or on your patio.

The idea is to let the ice cream soften or melt on the way to the picnic to use as dessert dips for the plums. Or let the picnickers slice their plums over individual shortcakes and spoon ice cream-sauce on top.

Pistachio ice cream is especially good with the delectable flavor of fresh plums. A few spices added to plain vanilla ice cream also makes a delightful summer dessert topping.

California has about 20 major plum varieties this summer so you'll be able to experiment with many different ice cream flavors as well as different plum flavors. Because each California plum variety has its own flavor, you can enjoy the diversity of plums all summer in desserts or right out of the refrigerator.

SPICED VANILLA ICE CREAM DIP

1 pint vanilla ice cream, softened
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons diced candied ginger

RICH INDIVIDUAL SHORTCAKES

1¾ cups all-purpose flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1¼ teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons butter or 4 tablespoons for richer dough
¾ cup rich milk or cream

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Sift flour with baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in butter with two knives or pastry blender until mixture looks mealy. Stir the milk in cautiously until there is no danger of spilling it, then stir in vigorously until the dough is fairly free from the sides of the bowl. The time for stirring should be a scant half minute. Roll out to one-inch thickness. Cut the dough into three-inch rounds, dot the tops with butter and place on greased cookie sheet for baking. Bake 12 minutes or until cake tester poked in center comes out dry. Makes 12 shortcakes.

Hot-Cold Salad

Fry diced bacon until crisp; stir in slivered almonds and saute lightly; add lemon juice to make a tart dressing and pour over shredded lettuce and cheddar cheese in a salad bowl. Toss the hot and cold ingredients thoroughly and serve promptly as a barbecue buffet salad.

Plum Crop Less

California's plum crop, forecast at 105,000 tons, is 15 per cent less than last year, but 57 per cent above 1969. Supplies will continue heavy in August as the California plum industry has estimated that August shipments will range from 1,500 to 2,000 carlots.

TENNESSEE ART SCHOOL

By BETTY FROST

She had hoped to increase her art skills, when she accepted the two-week-scholarship to Arrowmont School in Gatlinburg, Tenn. The factor that made her experience unforgettable was the atmosphere of cordiality and friendship she encountered from fellow students and instructors, Mrs. Joseph Reyes of San Anselmo explained.

"Gatlinburg should be the pride of the South" she enthused.

Being in Tennessee was a kind of homecoming for her since she was graduated from the University of Tennessee seven years ago. Arrowmont School, a facility sponsored by Pi Beta Phi sorority, is an extension of the University. Knoxville, where the university is located is 42 miles from Gatlinburg.

GOING BACK to Tennessee in this special way, as a recipient of the first scholarship offered by the Marin alumnae chapter of Pi Beta Phi, opened up both wider and narrower horizons for Mrs. Reyes.

Wider because there were 112 students in the session she attended from July 5 to July 16. They came from 34 states and several foreign countries, ranged in age from 14 to 80 years old and represented a wide range of abilities, from the neophytes to seasoned professionals. All worked together and all exhibited together. There were both men and women. Some were university students taking the course for credits, some professionals, some seeking to use art techniques in psychotherapy, and some were teachers, like Carol Reyes.

The narrow world of her roommate was a revelation to Carol.

"She was a mountain lady," Carol said.

She had come from her home in Jellico, Tenn., about 120 miles from Arrowmont to learn how to improve her work in enameling. With this craft Dora Lawson was hoping to add to the income of her family of 12 children. In her small and tightly knit town the undertaking of the trip to Gatlinburg was considered most daring.

Only after her husband had made the journey to see her during the two weeks course was he reconciled to this great venture. A strong woman with what Mrs. Reyes describes as "a beautiful character," she and Carol became good friends and Carol expects to correspond with her. Already the contact with Arrowmont has brought a favorable change for the Smoky Mountain woman. She is mailing her enamel work to a woman in New York who sees great beauty in her products and will sell them.

MRS. REYES came to California seven years ago when her husband, Joseph, accepted a post at the College of Marin, where he teaches chemistry. They have three children, Rex, 11, Joe, 15, and Risa, 18. Carol did graduate work at the University of California prior to beginning her Marin teaching career. For the past five years she has been teaching the fourth grade at Bel Aire School in the Reed Union School District.

The teacher hopes to share some of the things she learned at Arrowmont with her pupils this fall. Because of time limitations, she was unable to enroll in the classes for textiles for which Arrowmont is noted. She concentrated on pottery, enameling and making silver jewelry.

The Marin woman has great praise for the equipment available at the Pi Phi's school in Tennessee. The art school, completed two years ago, is a modern plant, with machines, lathes, kilns and every kind of art supply available. She described the saw with which she cut sheets of silver for a pendant and found cutting into silver an extraordinary experience.

THE SCHOOL in a park-like setting, encompasses a cluster of buildings. There are several dormitories, and the Staff House where meals are served in a spacious dining room.

Gatlinburg itself is a center for Appalachian crafts, and there are workers in wood and weavers who practice their expertise as "artists in action." At the Arrowmont School there is a visitor's gallery, where art in progress can be observed.

Her personal encounter with the mountain people convinced Carol that the Arrowmont operation was "uplifting the community. Through instruction and publications, such as "Crafts Horizons," it is also influencing artists and teachers all over the country, she found.

Many attending the summer sessions come back year after year.

"If a person goes once, he wants to go again," said Carol Reyes, wistfully.

SHARING HER EXPERIENCES as a student at the Arrowmont Art School in Gatlinburg, Tenn., Mrs. Joseph Reyes of San Anselmo explains that the dulcimer, which her son, Rex, 11, is holding was made in the Smoky Mountain region. The enamel and ceramic wares on the hearth are examples of the work she accomplished on the scholarship given this year for the first time by Pi Beta Phi alumnae of Marin.

PARIS SHOW

Cardin Rescues The Pants Suit In Winter Collection

By ALINE MOSBY

While Dior and Balmain virtually ignored the popular daytime trouser outfits for women in this week's Paris winter fashion shows, the Cardin mannequins came on the runway in colorful tweed pants and matching hip-length sleeveless jackets with little shoulders jutting out.

The rest of the well applauded show was equally as wearable to make the audience of international fashion writers forget the stifling heat in the non-airconditioned showroom of Cardin's new space age black-and-white theater.

CARDIN'S FIRST message: take a black or dark green heavy ribbed wool body stocking with a turtleneck, and over it apply a variety of gear. You had your choice of fringed felt panchos, little short colored jackets with wide shoulders, heavy wool sleeveless jackets for skiing, sleeveless gray suede kneelength tunics with fur hems, high-waisted maxi skirts or multi-colored harlequin plaids, colored linen miniskirts with black leather pockets, brightly colored checked overskirts with pointed hems diving from knee to floor, striped tunics like Moroccan bedspreads, white sleeveless pointed full tunics edged with black fox, etc. etc. Cardin, often called the most creative designer in Paris, sem to never run out of ideas.

Like the rest of Paris, Cardin blithely dumped last winter's maxi-midi lengths for daytime, keeping coats, suits and dresses around the knee except for his body stocking over-gear ranging from mini to maxi. A chiffon midi showed up in the evening collection with other evening gowns to the floor.

Cardin dresses were low-waisted and collarless such as a series in muddy blue and brown prints with keyhole necklines in black leather.

LATE DAY dresses were gun metal (a good color in Paris this winter) and black stitched or pleated crepes. Evening gowns in colored slinky crepes or satins looked like nightgowns and were almost as sheer. The crowd liked a black long jersey that had a red flower pinned on a black circle of cloth dangling from the neck.

Balmain makes no headlines for the younger set interested in far out look. But the fact that the designer went black this year stirs the circles of royalty and millionaires on three continents who make Balmain and Hubert de Givenchy the Paris designers with the largest private clientele.

The Balmain blacks include daytime black and white tweed suits and coats — hemlines hovering just below the knee, and that fur pants suit, the only trouser outfit he showed for daytime.

For late day, black or black and white wool dresses dominated the show. Late day cocktail suits with short jackets and most of the long evening gowns were black.

The house of Christian Dior in its winter fashion show Monday announced it was presenting "an intentionally elegant fashion renewing the value and importance of haute couture by combining up-todateness and refinement."

Only the furs were spectacular with striped minks and big fur hats like gladiator helmets appearing to stun the audience. The new Dior tweed suits, reversible wool coats with huge stand-up collars and beltless fitted "princess" wool dresses appeared to the critics to be indeed quiet elegance designed by Marc Bohan.

FOR THE first time in years, the Dior mannequins wore gloves, a conservative note seldom seen in Paris. Their makeup was subdued and coiffures quiet and short.

Bohan's rival, Yves Saint Laurent, partially swung back into the "traditional elegance" line with an array of romantic chiffon evening dresses with tucks and ruffles suitable for women of all ages. But he also stuck to his world war II floozy look of last season with turbans, platform sole shoes, mannish suits with broad shoulders and the short, coat or pea jacket.

The Dior hemlines hovered around the knee, the midi dead and forgotten. Evening clothes were either at the knee or to the floor. Even the popular pants suit of the last few years was downgraded with only two shown for daytime sports wear and a few in velvet for evening.

Dior also stressed daytime shoes and hardly a boot tramped through the salon.

Marin Women

THE HOUSE of Christian Dior presented this close fitting cardigan suit Monday when designer Marc Bohan's winter fashions were shown in Paris. The outfit features a belt over the long jacket and a close fitting bonnet, and the model, as most of the Dior mannequins, wears subdued makeup and carries gloves. The green tweed outfit over a green crepe blouse is typical of what Bohan critics are calling his quiet elegance collection.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Maybe The Letter Writer Has Missed Her 'Calling'

DEAR HELEN:

"Have you considered spinsterhood?" What a thing to say to a sweet, pure, moral girl who has stayed a virgin over four years of engagement!

Helen, I am very disappointed with your answer. If this Cindy has waited until now, another week isn't too much to expect of her fiance (even if he does insist there aren't many 25-year-old virgins left. How does he know: maybe he's been untrue to her!).

I'd be leary of a man so lacking in self-control that he couldn't stay a week with me in the same apartment, without sex. And if he doesn't want his prospective bride to find out whether or not he snores, maybe he has something to hide. Besides, sex is very much overrated I know! —MRS. T.

DEAR MRS. T.:

Maybe you've missed your calling too! —H.

DEAR HELEN:

We must tell you the answer you gave to the girl who wanted her fiance to sleep over without sex to see if he snored — well, it was a gem! We had it up on the editorial staff bulletin board before the ink was dry on the newsprint. —SOCIETY EDITOR

DEAR ED:

Thanks, friend. I'm glad someone has me pegged for what I am — a frustrated humorist. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

This quote from Samuel Miller might help "Helpless":

"First of all we must stop protecting ourselves! We lock not only the doors of our houses in fear, but our souls as well. We are not only suspicious of strangers, but we keep our friends at arm's length. We are afraid to let our souls play. We are on our guard lest we be surprised. We keep the checkreins taut upon our souls lest they carry us beyond ourselves. We are cautious lest we be taken for fools. We fear too much joy; our laughter is uncertain, our affection hesitates. We open our hand but not our heart. Our pride holds us back from life, strange in its newness, lest it be embarrassed. We are anxious about the future and therefore we cannot enjoy the present. Our reputation teaches us to see nothing but the outside of people, lest their souls see ours. We fear failure more than we love life, so we refuse great ventures. We are careful to do only what we have always done, and know how to do well, so we never break the dull repetition at the old routine for the new creation in God.

"Crawl out of these tombs and prisons — there is a world of light and freedom waiting! Have faith in God and let life be free. Stop riding the brakes on the heart. The soul will never grow, tied down in bed, with the shades drawn. The higher and more secure we build the barricades of care and caution to protect ourselves, the deeper grows the grave we call our life."

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Mill Valley Couple Observes 50th Anniversary Very Quietly

Her husband was born in Amesbury, Mass., but came to San Francisco at the age of 7 and was educated there.

From the time he was 19 years old he was a locomotive engineer with the North Shore Railroad, an affiliate of the Northwestern Railroad, until he retired in 1949. He worked on locomotives powered by everything from wood and coal to diesel and electricity and was the engineer on the last trip of an electrical train into Mill Valley in 1940.

The couple were married in Hollister on July 26, 1921, and came to Homestead Valley in 1922, moving to their present home in Mill Valley in 1930.

Mr. Spinney has been a member of the Odd Fellows for 56 years and served the Mount Tamalpais Lodge as noble grand in 1949. His wife has been a member of Mill Valley's Blythedale Rebekah Lodge 305 for 36 years and served as noble grand in 1945. She is also a charter member of San Rafael's Marinita Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, founded in 1912. She has been a member 59 years and was its first district deputy in 1915.

The Hamburger Taken On Apollo 15 Flight

The Apollo 15 astronauts have America's most popular sandwich — the hamburger, aboard the spacecraft. This is the first time hamburgers will be eaten in space, according to the National Aeronautical Space Agency.

They won't be served hot because there are no cooking facilities aboard the spacecraft. And they will have to be placed between two slices of bread instead of conventional hamburger buns, but Dave Scott, Al Worden and Jim Irwin, the Apollo 15 crew, wanted them.

Food technologists connected with the space program tried for many months to perfect the preparation and packaging of hamburgers for use in the Apollo program. Those that are aloft with the Apollo 15 crew were processed by the U.S. Army Laboratories, in Natick, Mass. They are individually wrapped and sealed in flexible aluminum foil packets designed to withstand the wide-ranging temperature and pressure changes of the spacecraft without changing the quality of the meat. Individual steaks were prepared in a similar manner.

ALL SANDWICHES will be on white, rye and a special cheese bread chosen by the astronauts for eating in space.

Crew members on each flight and their families are carefully consulted by dieticians at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston before menus are set. The astronauts are invited to try the proposed space food and to indicate their preferences.

Two of the chosen breads are off-the-shelf formulas like those sold in supermarkets throughout most of the country. The third is a special cheddar cheese bread especially developed to lend variety to the astronauts' meals.

Frozen ham and cheese on rye sandwiches, stowed in a pocket of the astronauts' spacesuits, were eaten a few hours after liftoff.

EIGHTEEN INDIVIDUALLY packaged bread slices — six of each kind — are stored in the pantry of the command module. The space explorers will make their own sandwiches from a choice of fillings.

Worden, pilot of the command module, is programmed to get the first hamburger on the fifth day out, after his colleagues in the lunar module have taken off for their moon landing. Other hamburgers will be eaten by the entire crew upon their reunion after exploration of the moon's surface is complete.

Engagement Of Couple Announced

The futuer bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Smith of San Rafael. His sister is Janet Smith of San Rafael. He is the grandson of Mrs. Josephine Smith of San Rafael and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Doose of San Anselmo.

Now in the Navy, stationed at Pearl Harbor, Timothy was graduated from Terra Linda High School and attended the College of Marin.

They show up with or without suspenders in quilted calico, corduroy, denim, knits plain or patterned and in cotton suedes. Some are paired with cotton rib turtleneck sweaters, others with blouses. Several manufacturers do the pants with bib tops.

NO-SET SUMMER HAIR DO

International hair styling authority Vidal Sassoon has created a carefree summer hair style. Wash it yourself and let it blow dry naturally, he says about the softly shaped, permanently waved style. The look lasts through three hair cuts before additional permanent waving is needed in the nape area. The hair is cut short in the back and all combed forward.

Safe Way To End Unwanted Pregnancy

(I-J Special Report)

Last year more than 200,000 women in the United States voluntarily underwent a safe, effective and relatively inexpensive surgical procedure which freed them permanently from fears of unwanted pregannecy, according to the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists.

Since doctors and hospitals are liberalizing rules governing voluntary sterilization, the number of women seeking such operations in the future is expected to rise sharply.

Voluntary sterilization is legal in 50 states, irregardless of a woman's marital status, and a number of hospitals and physicians who have refused to allow voluntary sterilization are being challenged with lawsuits filed by individual women and interested organizations.

The operation is simple and safe, according to a report by Evan McLeod Wylie, which appears in the August issue of Reader's Digest. The ovaries and uterus remain intact; no glands or organs are removed; no nerve trunks of major blood vessels are disturbed.

In most states private helath insurance plans pay all or part of the bill for the operation, and Medicaid programs in 30 states cover the cost of voluntary sterilization operation done for any reason, and in 16 other states benefits are paid when the surgery is done for medical necessity.

Although women in their 30s and 40s are usually considered ideal candidates for sterilization, an increasing number of physicians say the procedure is even more valuable for the younger woman who has completed her family and faces 20 or more years of fertility, according to Wylie.

Tips On How A Consumer Can Help To Control Oil Pollution

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — A new study of oil pollution reveals that public concern over widely publicized accidents involving tankers and offshore wells comes nowhere near focusing on the largest problems.

According to the Environmental Protection Agency, the Principal federal office dealing with pollution, tanker and ship accidents account for only 2 per cent of the estimated five million metric tons of oil and petroleum products spilled into the nation's waterways each year.

Non-ship accidents and normal offshore oil production account for 2 per cent each; oil refineries and petro-chemical plants make up 6 per cent; normal tanker operations — such as flushing out holds — account for 11 per cent, and other ship operations, including flushings, total 10 per cent.

Another two-thirds of the problem comes from used oil that is dumped into municipal sewer systems and public waterways directly by gasoline service stations and manufacturing companies. This kind of waste oil amounts to an estimated 450 million gallons a year.

So the bulk of the problem of oil pollution is not from tanker accidents, however serious they are, but from corner service stations and industrial plants in every community of the country.

The main cause is the steady decline of demand for rerefining, the business of reprocessing used oil so it can be sold again. Changes in tax laws, labeling requirements and improvements in the quality of new oil have reduced the capacity of the re-refining industry by 50 per cent in six years. The number of reprocessing plants has dropped from 150 to 50.

AS A RESULT, there is little market for used oil, and it is often dumped in the nearest convenient place. The sludge is beginning to pose a threat to water supply systems and water treatment plants that are not capable of handling the rising problem.

This unpublicized part of the story of oil pollution was described in detail in the June issue of Audubon magazine by Marvin Zeldin.

The article also tells of a study by the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution showing that the effects of large oil spills in the ocean have an effect far greater than generally supposed.

Oil not only kills fish and marine animals by coating and asphyxiating them, but it also gets into the system of fish which become food for other fish and for humans. No one knows yet whether this oil has a toxic effect on people who eat oil-contaminated fish.

THE 1970 Water Pollution Control Act authorizes the government to prepare and issue regulations to prevent oil spills from onshore as well as offshore facilities. But the EPA has not yet issued performance standards.

Meanwhile, there are a few things that consumers can do to help:

—They can inquire about what happens to oil drained from their own cars at the filling station and whether local regulations are enforced.

—Do-it-yourself motorists should check with local water and sewer authorities about the best way to dispose of crankcase oil and other waste oil.

—Evidence of any dumping of oil in public waterways should be reported to the nearest Coast Guard or EPA field office.

—Public support is needed for proposals in Congress to strengthen the 1970 law by giving the government the right to inspect possible sources of pollution and require companies to maintain records on waste disposal.

Contest Set On Clothes With Wool

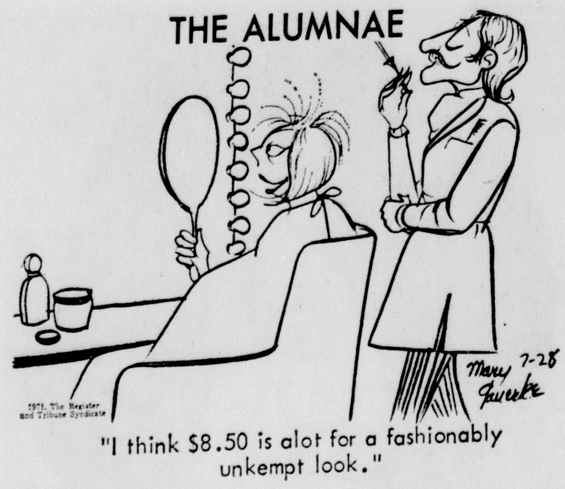
Girls 10 through 21 years old are eligible in the three age groups: sub-debs (10 to 13), who may make skirts, jumpers or pants; juniors (14 to 16, who may enter dresses, coats or suits; and seniors (17 to 21), also entering dresses, coats or suits. All clothes must be made with 100 per cent American made wool.

Garments entered in the contest will be judged for workmanship and then modeled by the maker at a luncheon and fashion show on Dec. 18. Prizes will be awarded in each age group, and winners will go to the state finals to be held in January.

Barrettes Are Back

Barrettes are back bigger than ever. One firm making them in outsize butterfly and bamboo patterns suggests they be worn not only to hold pony tails and the like in place on the head but also attach them to shoulder or neckline as "jewelry."



"I think $8.50 is alot for a fashionably unkempt look."

Pendants Are Big With Younger Set

Pendants with a meaning are growing in popularity with the younger set. Some are ecology-minded —"our hottest item," reports one firm.

One such pendant features the design of a dove (air), olive branch (land), and fish (water), and is a call for "peace with nature." Other pendants stress religious conviction, and peace or love. One of this group, called "signalling for peace", features a miniature semaphore with the letters N.D. (for nuclear disarmament).

Slight Gain In Manufactures

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Manufactures in California gained slightly in June to nearly $25 billion, but remained level with a year ago in current dollars terms, said a report issued Tuesday by the Bank of California.

The report cited the manufactures' gain at $24.98 billion and noted the effects of inflation would show the total declines 3.1per cent

In fact, said the report, manufactures have stayed virtually level at slightly below $25 billion during the first six months of the current year. Few wide fluctuations have occurred, it said.

Manufactures account for 21.4 per cent of California's production of goods and services with a payroll of $14.8 billion in June, the report said.

MUSIC REVIEW

Winifred Baker In 'Pops' Baton Role

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

SAN FRANCISCO — Marin's English-born Winifred Baker was an appropriate director to take over from Arthur Fiedler in a portion of the San Francisco Symphony "Pops" Orchestra's "Piccadilly Night at the Pops" last night in the Civic Auditorium.

Though she is a specialist in conducting serious music, Mrs. Baker snapped easily into the spirit of the selections from Gilbert and Sullivan's operettas, which formed the middle part of the program and highlight of the evening.

Performing in this portion were four top soloists from San Francisco's famed "The Lamplighters," resident Gilbert and Sullivan theater, and Mrs. Baker's chorus of selected singers from her Winifred Baker Chorale in Marin and San Francisco Civic Chorale.

The remainder of the all-English program played by the orchestra directed by Fiedler ranged in period from the Baroque Suite from Handel's "The Royal Fireowrks" to songs from the modern day musicale "My Fair Lady" and the Lennon-McCartney Beatle tunes "Fool on the Hill" and "Hey, Jude."

Though his conducting did not lack finer shadings, as in the lovely "Greensleeves," the maestro revealed no tell-tale signs of his 76 years as he conducted for the most part at the breakneck pace of the fire engines he loves to chase.

After allowing for the miserable acoustics of this huge barnlike structure, which was filled almost to capacity, one could say the sound of the orchestra was very good, especially that of the silken violins, but playing of some individual instruments was not up to the high standard of the symphony's regular season. No matter, fun and light entertainment were the objective of the evening.

Some flaw in the necessary amplification system caused the soloists and chorus to have a strange hollow sound at first, but this improved later.

Of the four singers, the contralto-comedienne June Wilkins, one of the top living Gilbert and Sullivan artists, was the smash hit with "A Man Who Would Woo a Fair Maid" from "Yeoman of the Guard." One of the wildest combinations I have ever heard was her luscious voice and perfectly enunciated singing accompanie by her own incredible and deliverately out of tune playing on the cello. It was hilarious! Especially since her bountiful proportions fit the lyrics referring to a lady of ample girth.

Tenor Orva Hoskinson was very good in "A Wandering Minstreal I" from "The Mikado" and baritone Gil Russak's rendition of the nightmare song from "Iolanthe" was a comic masterpiece of easily understood rapid patter singing.

Georgia Prugh's soprano had a little too much vibrato, and her enunciation did not permit full understanding of the words in "The Hours Creep on Apace" from "H.M.S. Pinafore," but her voice was pleasingly full and clear.

The chorus was ragged at first with some words and phrases not sung simultaneously by all members, but later it met the test of the crisp and fast staccato style in "Dance of the Cachucha" from "The Gondoliers," and it achieved a brilliantly rousing climax with the four soloists in "Oh Joy, Oh Rapture Unforeseen," the second act finale of "H.M.S. Pinafore."

Justice Sim's Is Honored

Justice Richard M. Sims Jr. of Belvedere has been honored for his community activities and work in scouting by Mill Valley Post 284 of the American Legion.

Sims, district appeals court justice in San Francisco, served as Marin's assistant prosecutor and district attorney and was a judge in municipal and superior courts before being appointed to the appeals court in 1964.

Union Official Sees Unemployment Rise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — AFLCIO research director Nathaniel Goldfinger believes the nation's unemployment rate could jump to 6.5 per cent in the coming months unless President Nixon adopts different policies to fight unemployment.

The jobless rate for June was 5.6 per cent. Goldfinger said Tuesday it would be necessary to create 2.5 million to 3 million jobs within the next year to make even a small dent in the unemployment rate.

Policing Elections

MANILA (UPI) —The Philippine Commission on Elections has deputized 100,000 ROTC cadets to help police the elections for city and provincial officials on Nov. 9.

Vote On Fairfax Country Club

Marin Town and Country Club in Fairfax, once the site of the last legal political duel in the state, may once again find itself involved in a duel — this time between the cities of San Anselmo and Fairfax.

San Anselmo City Council last night voted unanimously to recommend the club be used as a county-wide park, creating 27 acres of additional open space in the eastern corridor of Marin. (Another San Anselmo City Council story, page 1)

The council made its decision without realizing the land already has been sold to Kaiser-Aetna Corp., an Oakland land development firm that is interested in building between 350 and 450 apartment units on the property.

(Owner Max Friedman today told the Independent-Journal the land had been sold for an undisclosed price. Previous estimates of the pricetag were about $1 million.

(The sale could not be confirmed with the county assessor's office which continues to list Friedman as the owner. William J. Olsen, county appraiser, said it generally takes between 30 and 60 days for such a large sale to be recorded with the assessor's office.)

Councilmen last night shied away from the possibility of purchasing the property in a joint venture with the City of Fairfax despite such urgings from Adelaide P. Wilson, former Fairfax councilman. Two weeks ago, the Fairfax council voted 3-2 to steer clear of purchasing the property.

The Council's action was prompted by Councilman L3wis W. Stewart's report that Friedman was closing the resort, complete with three swimming pools, tennis courts, ballfields, a dance hall, picnic and barbeque areas, and that the Kaiser-Aetna was interested in buying the property to build several hundred apartment units.

Apparently the thought of such a large development on land bordering San Anselmo which brought expressions of disbelief to councilmen's faces stireed them to quick action to try and keep the land as open space.

Stewart said, however, that even if the land were purchased, possible development for apartments would face two major delays, such as the recent building ban in the Ross Valley by the Regional Water Quality Control Board and the existing commercial-recreation zoning of the land.

The purchase of the property possibly could be funded by a federal Department of Housing and Urban Development grant covering 75 per cent of the cost, Mrs. Wilson told the council.

The recreation club is built on the site of Lord Fairfax's estate and is listed as a California Historical Monument, Stewart said.

He also mentioned that the land was the site of the last legal political duel in the state at which time a state legislator was shot and killed.

Mrs. Wilson told the council, "It's not fair to say the people wouldn't support (buying) it without asking them." She said the Fairfax City Council had turned down an opportunity to buy the property in 1947 for $20,000 without asking the people to consider it.

July's Fiscal Heat Brings Move To Trim Christmas

According to Councilman James F. Reed, who jokingly referred to himself as Scrooge, the city spends $1,784 each year to install and remove Christmas decorations. The cost is computed in man-hours: 80 hours to put the decorations up and 43 to remove them.

"This is an expense taxpayers shouldn't have to pay," Reed said. He suggested the council eliminate its annual holiday decorating and encourage businesses to decorate more.

"Well I'm not ready to do away with Christmas yet," said acting Mayor Warren R. Perry. "Besides I couldn't go home if I did."

Councilmen Woodrow V. Capurro and Lewis W. Stewart agreed with Perry.

William A. Trewhella, representing the chamber of commerce, said, "We may as well put a match to those decorations if you won't put them up. We can't go to the merchants for any more money. Where else can it come from?"

The city's decorations include angels above the shopping center, overhead street garlands and, the most costly because of the difficulty in installation and removal, the pole wraps.

Trewhella asked councilmen to delay action on the item until he could contact some college-age youths who might be interested in doing the work at a lower cost. City public works crews now handle the decorating.

San Anselmo City Council Also:

MOBILE HOME — Denied a variance request to install a mobile home on the James D. Kilty property at 60 Essex Street because such a variance to the building code and zoning ordinance is not within the powers of the city council.

LIBRARY — Voted 3-1 to enter a reciprocal borrowing agreement with the county and 3-1 to join the North Bay Cooperative Library System. Dissenting on both items was Woodrow V. Capurro. Also, voted unanimously to raise Maryann Shaffer to a senior librarian Sept. 1 at $582 monthly.

PLANNING COMMISSION — Unanimously reappointed Raynvald Bernt Jr. and David Strassman to four-year terms on the Planning Commission.

ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY — Appointed Roberta Michels to the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council as the board's representative.

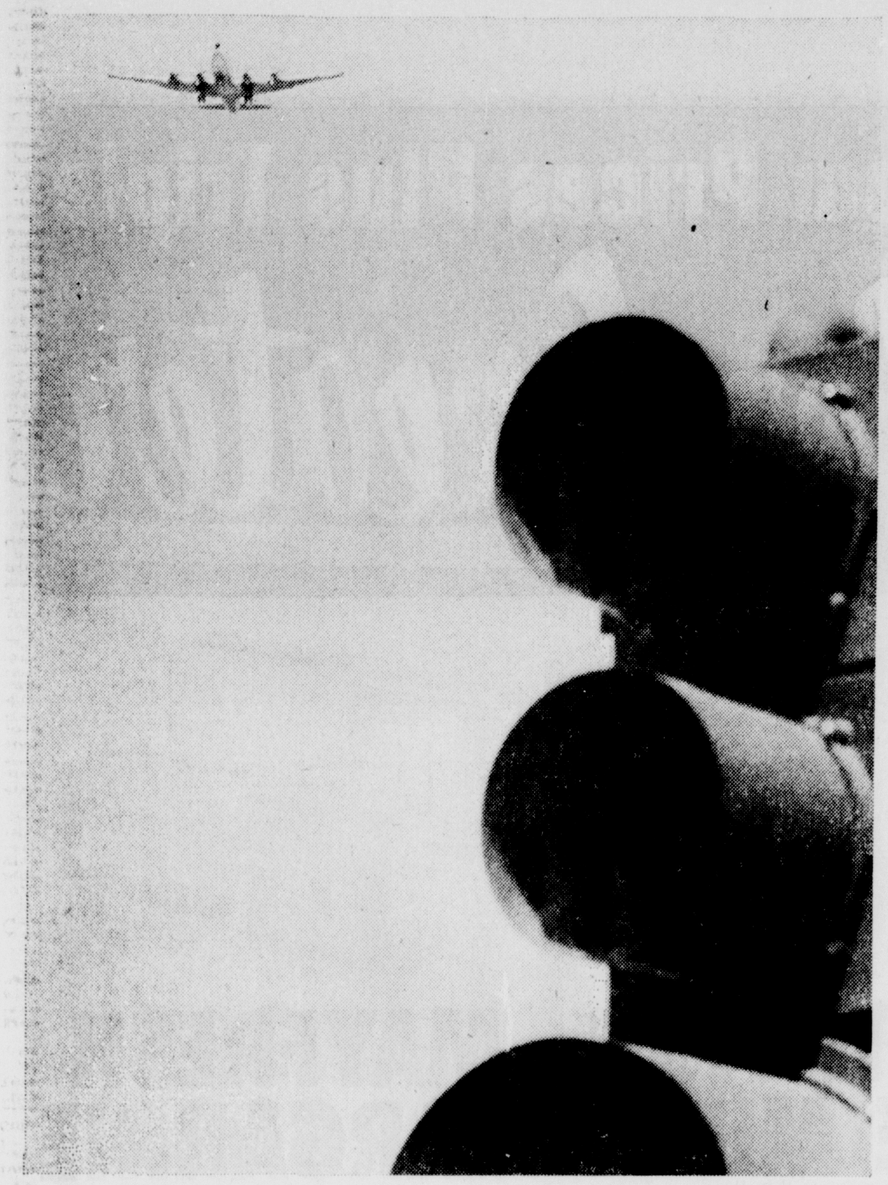
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION — SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 28, 1971 — 25



THE ONLY WAY TO GO — These traffic lights on Highway 101 at Novato cause many a motorist to look aloft with envy at the freely traveling plane. This signal and two others are credited with backing traffic some Sundays12 miles into the heart of Petaluma. The solution may be three years away, according to the state Division of Highways.

One Dead As Auto Rolls Over

A young woman, one of two hitchhikers picked up by a Tiburon man, was killed last night in a one-car crash on the Petaluma-Point Reyes Road near Nicasio. The man and another hitchhiker were injured.

The Marin County Coroner's Office said the woman, about 18, has not yet been identified.

The driver, Alan D. Boeve, 24, of 1655 Mar West Street, and the other hitchhiker, Kathryn L. McEndree , 22, of San Francisco, were reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with multiple injuries.

According to the California Highway Patrol, Boeve's car was northbound at about 70 miles per hour on the Petaluma-Point Reyes Road near Nicasio Road at 11 p.m. when it rolled over several times before coming to a rest.

The body of the victim was taken to Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael, where arrangements were pending today.

The death was the county's 21st traffic fatality this year, compared to 20 at this time last year.

Ross Valley Sanitary District directors have awarded the contract for construction of a new pumping station in Kentfield at a cost of $697,500, or 40 per cent more than in the engineer's estimate.

According to Ralph C. Noah, district manager, the contract was awarded Monday night to Clearwater Hydro-Mech of Burlingame, the lowest of five bidders. The top bid was $777,777. Staff engineers had estimated the project to cost about $425,000.

The pumping station, to be built on Stadium Way on College of Marin grounds, will be paid for from funds accrued over the last two years by a 27-cent levy in the tax rate, Noah reported.

He said district directors raised the tax rate in 1969 from 17 cents to 44 cents to pay for the pumping station. About $750,000 has been accumulated in the account, Noah said.

District direcors must set a new tax rate before Aug. 20, but Noah said he had no idea if the tax rate would be decreased now that sufficient funds to build the pumping station are available.

Directors will meet Aug. 2 to discuss whether to continue buying earthquake insurance for the district's treatment plant in Larkspur.

Novato Bonds Sold To Crocker

The Novato Sanitary District board last night sold $1.475 million in bonds to Crocker-Citizens National Bank, lowest of six bidders.

The interest rate was 5.8973 for the bonds, said Bill L. Bayles, assistnnt district engineer.

This is a portion of the $5 million in bonds approved by the voters to bring the Novato Sanitary District up to required standards of water quality. The money will be used on upgrading the treatment plants and constructing the outfall line into San Pablo Bay, Bayles said.

Mrs. Charles A. Joseph reported that the district had received approval of the State Lands Commission for the outfall line into the bay and the Novato Creek crossing.

The Novato Sanitary District board also:

BIDS — Recived eight bids for Wilson Avenue main construction with Everson Construction Co. of Petaluma, lowest with a bid of $18,974, and McGuire and Hester of Oakland, highest with a bid of $26,315. The bids were for a 24-inch sewer line on Wilson Avenue from Novato Boulevard to Monte Vista. The board postponed awarding the contract until its meeting next Monday.

ANNEXATIONS — Approved annexation of two acres on Wildhorse Valley Drive for O. B. Mauch, owner, and five acres on Vineyard Road at Wildhorse Valley Drive for Summit Builders. The board approved plans for the subdivision sewers on the latter plot.

PROCEEDINGS — Started annexation proceedings for one acre at the end of Mendocino Lane for Leonard Smith, nine acres on Center Road at Sun Lane for Michael Perryman and 59 acres on Novato Boulevard, west of Wilson for Boise Cascade Corp. These proposed annexations now go to the Marin Local Agency Formation Commission for its approval.

ADJOURNED— Adjourned to 6 p.m. Monday in the North Marin County Water District office, 999 Atherton Avenue.

TO BYPASS OR NOT

Weekend Traffic Delays In Novato Frustrates Thousands

By Theron A. Newell
(First of Two Articles)

A car pulling a boat leaves Lake County, San Francisco-bound after a weekend at some lake, and travels unhindered through Ukiah, Healdsburg, Santa Rosa — travels unhindered until it reaches Petaluma.

There, at Washington Street in the heart of town, Sunday traffic that has seemed steadily heavier and slower, comes to a halt.

Did the driver know what lies ahead, he would turn off Highway 101 and take the longer but less traveled Lakeville Road to Highway 37. This bypasses downtown Novato. But the driver, assuming a temporary delay on account of some traffic accident a bit further along doesn't dream of any need to get around Novato. He doesn't know that he has been halted in Petaluma by three traffic lights 12 miles ahead.

For the next 12 miles, he and fellow motorists will inch along, creep along, bumper-to-bumper until they reach the lights on 101 at Grant, De Long and Lamont avenues in Novato.

Once past the lights, traffic will resume normal speed and the San Francisco-bound motorist can reach home without delay.

It was that bad a week ago last Sunday and almost as bad last Sunday and countless other Sundays. And until the state Division of Highways completes its freeway bypass of Novato in 1974, it is sure to happen Sunday after Sunday again.

Allowing for population growth, it is almost certain that the jams will get worse before 1974, according to officials of the highways division.

Daily commute traffic into the city is not delayed much by the lights as it is spaced at different hours. When it returns all at once at night, the usual stopping point for the lights is about two miles south somewhere near the Ignacio overpass, according to Novato police who control the section of highway through the main portion of the city. Police report that on Friday from about 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. traffic may be backed as far south as St. Vincent's Hill.

But the worst headache in handling traffic comes from 3 to 9 p.m. on Sundays during the summer. Then the weekend holiday travelers are returning home.

Novato police operate the signals so that traffic can move for 3.5 minutes uninterrupted southbound. Then traffic is given 45 seconds for left turns and cross traffic at the three intersections.

The highways division does not keep an hour-by-hour count of traffic at the lights, but it has enough average figures to show a large increase in the past two years.

In 1968, the average peak hour traffic during the entire year at Grant Avenue was 3,250 cars per hour on Highway 101. By last year it had increased to 4,450 cars per hour. The average daily count in August 1968 was 33,500 cars and last year, 53,000 cars. This does not take into account the change in daily flow of traffic from weekdays to weekend traffic.

The situation will not change until the bypass has been completed, according to District Engineer Alan S. Hart of the highways division.

Three Hurt As Car Rams Pole

Three Santa Venetia residents suffered assorted cuts, scrapes and bruises at 6:50 p.m. Monday when their car rammed a utility pole broadside on North San Pedro Road.

The California Highway Patrol said the accident occurred east of Birch Way when a westbound car driven by Joseph R. Ibanez, 28, of 812 Descanso Way, ran off the road and struck a utility pole.

Also injured was Nicholas R. Ibanez, 15, of the same address, and a neighbor, James L. McNulty, 15, of 813 Descanso Way.

The trio was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Panel: Employees Should Get Back Former Jobs

The Marin County Personnel Commissioners yesterday recommended that four county employees, demoted July 1, be elevated to their previous classifications.

The recommendations will go to the Marin County Board of Supervisors for decision.

Three persons in the Marin County Planning Department and one in the county personnel office had been downgraded in a reclassification made by the county personnel office as of July 1.

The personnel commissioners recommended:

Rowland Darnell, who was getting $1,351 as principal planner, should return to that position and get the 7.5 per cent raise to $1,454 per month from July. The personnel office had reclassified him to senior planner, at $1,351.

June Erdman, secretary in the county planning department, and Alice Wevang, secretary in the personnel office, should retain their secretary titles and get $771 per month instead of $717 in the lower classification of secretary-stenographer.

Toni Woolston should remain as transcriber typist in the planning department instead of dropping to intermediate typist. As transcriber typist, she would draw $619 instead of $590.

The personnel commissioners upheld title changes made by the personnel office for two technicians in the public works department. William Dance and Bruce Manor were changed from assistant civil engineer 1 to engineering technician 3. As a result, they got a 2.5 per cent raise this month instead of 7.5 per cent.

The personnel commissioners, headed by I. Wayland Bonbright, backed Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos in promoting Gerald Miklos from deputy sheriff 1 to deputy sheriff 2. Personnel Director Maren Rinne had protested that the promotion came from an old list of eligibles. Personnel commissioners asked the sheriff to use the current list hereafter.

Suspect Booked For Burglary

A 24-yaar-old San Rafael man was arrested at 2 a.m. today on suspicion of burglarizing a home on Knight Drive.

George Edward Myers, 24, of 1476 Lincoln Avenue, was booked into Marin County Jail and scheduled to appear this afternoon in municipal court.

Police said they arrested Myers in front of the home of William Savage, 4 Knight Drive, where Myers entered through an unlocked sliding door. Police said it was unknown if anything was taken.

Fairfax Nod To City Hall Site Plan

The Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission last night approved the site plan for the city hall addition which has been estimated to cost about $35,000.

According to Ernestine Healy, commission secretary, the addition will extend the side wall of the existing city hall north 32 feet across the creek. The addition will be 25 feet wide.

Funds for construction are included in this year's budget, Mrs. Healy reported.

The plans by Sausalito architect Donald K. Olsen, were approved by the Design Review Board earlier this month.

In other business, the commission appointed Joseph E. Martinez as its representative on the city's housing committee and Chairman Joann Walla as its representative at the Fairfax School District board.

The resignation of commission members Leonard J. Wilgenbush because of business pressures was accepted.

The commission will meet again Aug. 31.

CTA Names 18 To Board Of Directors

Stewart M. Herriott of Eureka represents District 1, including Marin and Sonoma counties, on the new 18-member board of directors of the California Teachers Association, which was announced yesterday.

Herriott was an incumbent director before reorganization of the board. The new board was elected by CTA's 436-member State Council of Education "as part of a massive reorganization plan designed to strengthern the professional and political muscle of the already powerful teachers' organization," according to an announcement from CTA headquarters in Burlingame.

Project's Low Bid Gets Nod

The San Rafael Board of Education last night awarded a contract to Pearson and Johnson Contractors of San Francisco who bid $90,700 for construction of a music building at Davidson School.

The bid was almost $10,000 under the anticipated cost. The board rejected an added $1,900 for heavy sheet glass doors to act as a sound barrier.

The board delayed action until Aug. 3 on items which would increase the 1971-72 budget by $45,000 and add 3 cents to the tax rate: $10,000 to hire two athletic equipment managers; $30,000 to expand the work-study program from serving 60 students to 100 and $5,000 for transportation of 50 high school students and two teachers in an on-location teaching program.

The board also said it would consider reviewing old master plans for schools and look at the possibilities of developing new plans to serve as guidelines for campus improvements.

One such improvement, recommended last night by Robert Levaro, was to replace a chain link fence in front of Terra Linda High School with a six inch high brick retaining wall.

Levaro called the chain link fence — to control access to the parking lot — unnecessary and ugly and said students would help replace it with a retaining wall and plant shrubs and grass in a 160 by 120 foot area adjacent to the present fence.

Board member Herman L. Childress suggested Levaro bring up the subject in October because that would be in planting season and some estimates of student volunteers could be made.

The board also heard its student representative from San Rafael High School, David Plotkin, say a bicycle security fence is unacceptable to students because the fence is only opened before and after school thereby useless for students arriving late or leaving early.

Dr. Peter Palches, principal, said he would work on a solution to the bike security problem but the bike fence would be tried for those who need it.

The San Rafael Board of Education also:

REPORT — Heard a report on its program for slower learning students from Charles Billings who concluded as a whole the program was functioning very well, but parts of the program were apparently not working. Billings said the number of students in the program was not sufficient to obtain definitive data as to what are the reasons for problem areas.

BOUNDARY — Approved a change of attendance boundaries so about 45 students in the area of the crowded Coleman School can attend the less crowded Laurel Dell School.

ANTICIPATION — Authorized the superintendent to borrow from the county treasurer in anticipation of tax income expected in December.

REPRESENTATIVE — Named Marilyn Bollinger board representative to the California School Boards Association Delegate Assembly.

PAY — Agreed to pay Richard Delgado, summer school teacher at Terra Linda High, $864, $96 less than his proposed salary because he was ill for three days. The board said it would check with the county counsel to define clearly board policy for paying sick pay in the summer.

BILLS — Approved the payment of bills for both districts.

PROPERTY — Approved the acquisition of state surplus property.

IMPROVEMENTS — Approved improvements for Laurel Dell School amounting to $650.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to Aug. 3.

Mob Attacks In Northern Ireland

BELFAST (UPI) —A crowd of about 50 persons attacked British soldiers with stones and nail bombs and set fire to a garage and two cars today in Londonderry's Roman Catholic quarter of Bogside, a British Army spokesman said.

He said the troops dispersed the crowd by firing rubber pellets and teargas.

Tuesday night, a sniper fired about 15 shots at British soldiers about a mile and a half from the Bogside troublespot.

No injuries were reported in the two incidents.

Reprieve Seen In Sausalito

It appears the Sausalito Art Center will continue to occupy the old Bayside School property as it has for the past two years.

Although the Sausalito School District board on July 12 ordered the center evicted within 30 days, the board showed a change of heart this week.

On Monday trustees directed their attorney to meet with an attorney representing the art center to work out a lease arrangement between the center and the district.

The move came a week after representatives of both groups met for four hours to negotiate an agreement on the Bayside property, which is owned by the federal government.

Robert A. Ellis, art center director, told the Independent-Journal yesterday he is confident the situation will be resolved to the satisfaction of both parties. He also said the district has agreed to negotiate with the federal government for a rental price accecptable to the center which now pays $80 a month for the property.

And Trustee Robert A. Thompson, a member of the district's committee, also expressed "cautious optimism" that the two groups can reach agreement.

Earlier Thompson said any new lease must meet the federal government's guidelines for the use of the property and would probably be issued on a year-to-year basis.

In voiding the center's lease on the former school earlier this month, the board said the federal government had never approved the original lease, granted in April 1969. Once the board approves a new contract, it will be forwarded to the government for final approval.

The Sausalito School District board also:

MEETING — Set a special meeting for a final budget hearing and adoption of a district budget for 1971-72 for 7:30 p.m. Monday in Bayside School. At the meeting trustees will also choose board committees and consider adoption of an updated policy manual.

ASSOCIATION — Voted to join the California School Board Association at a cost of $377 a year.

TRANSFERS — Approved interdistrict transfers for the following students; Kenneth and Karen Jackson, Ashlee Temple and Vivian and Kenneth Cordes.

ADULT EDUCATION — Directed the superintendent to work with College of Marin officials in establishing adult education programs at Central and Manzanita schools which the district does not intend to use for regular classes next fall.

YOUTH CENTER — Tabled a request from the City of Sausalito that the Sausalito Youth Center be allowed to use Central School facilities and asked for legal counsel in the matter.

CLOSED SESSION — Met in closed session for 55 minutes to instruct its negotiator on salary negotiations with employee associations.

Court Order For Return Of $100,000 Sought

A Mill Valley contracting firm has sought a Marin Superior Court order directing the City of Mill Valley to return $100,00 the firm says has been illegally collected as building inspection fees.

The contractor, Kendall Corp. of 36 Tiburon Boulevard, said in papers filed Monday with the court that the rates and fees charged by the city for building inspection are "far in excess of the costs" of building inspection.

The excess revenues are used to defray general expenses of city government, the firm said.

Saying it was acting on behalf of all others who have paid building inspection fees in the last three years, the contracting firm asked the court to order the city to return $100,000, which it said were excess fees, to the persons who paid them.

Hub City Finds It Hard To Hold Line

When the organization most devoted to keeping down tax rates petitions for a raise in pay for public employees, it's bound to lift a few eyebrows and call forth a few inquiries.

That's what has happened in San Anselmo, where the Irate Taxpayers of Marin submitted a petition with 24 signatures asking the city council to raise the pay of police and firemen.

SAN ANSELMO city councilmen, trying to cut the tax rate to compensate for the windfall from a higher assessment ratio, wound up giving no salary hike to any city employee.

Presumably, none of the employees were pleased with this. But no outcry has been raised except on behalf of police and firemen — especially police.

The Independent-Journal has received letters and phone calls all with the same refrain: San Anselmo policemen's pay is the lowest in the area, yet they are getting no raise. This, claim the letters and calls, will mean the Hub City simply cannot recruit and keep a good police force.

IT ISN'T TRUE that the Hub City is at the bottom of the pay ladder for officers of the law, though it is nearly true with the raises granted in other cities.

For the fiscal year just ended, San Anselmo's starting pay for police patrolman was sixth among the 11 cities of Marin. At the top of the patrolman's pay scale, it was seventh.

San Rafael has the highest starting pay at $812 per month, followed by Novato, Belvedere, Sausalito, Marin County (which contracts police service for Tiburon), then San Anselmo at $767. Ross was at the bottom with $660.

Top patrolman's salary with highest in Corte Madera at $998 per month, followed by San Rafael, Novato, Belvedere, Sausalito, Marin County, and then San Anselmo at $935. Corte Madera's starting pay was $4 per month below San Anselmo's, but the spread between top and bottom of the scale was much wider.

However, all the other cities and the county are granting pay raises for the new fiscal year. The raises are still unsettled in San Rafael, where City Mgr. James H. McCown has proposed a 4 per cent hike; in Mill Valley, where a 6.5 per cent raise offer has sent all employees except police and firemen out on strike, and in Ross, which has offered 2.5 per cent.

Novato and the county have granted a 7.5 per cent raise to police; Corte Madera, 7 per cent; Belvedere, Fairfax, Larkspur and Sausalito, 5 per cent; San Anselmo nothing.

THIS MEANS that as of July San Anselmo's police starting pay is third from the bottom, its $767 per month exceeding only $763 in Larkspur and $678 in Ross with the new year's raises in the latter two.

San Anselmo police initially asked a 15 per cent pay hike, but quickly dropped that to 7.5 per cent, according to City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel. Firemen asked parity with police.

The request also included many increases in fringe benefits, in which the Hub City is now about in the middle, with such benefits highest in San Rafael and probably lowest in Novato.

We assume the Irate Taxpayers of Marin took all these things into consideration before reversing its usual anti-spending position to advocate a pay raise for the Hub's police and firemen.

But the point is that it is a very difficult thing for a city council or other public governing body to hold the line on salaries — particularly when other cities and the county do not.

"If the President had any plans to dump you, I'd have been one of the first to know."

Officials' Arrogance Angering Voters

Your sharp editorial rebuke of July 23 addressed to Michael Wornum, county supervisor and bridge district director, was indeed timely.

The prevailing arrogant and "public be damned" attitude of many office holders and politicians is a large factor in the rising temper of the voters who may well return many of these public servants to the ranks of the unemployed come the next elections.

Thanks to your excellent reporting, we are informed and not kept in the dark by those sworn to uphold the law.

Higher San Anselmo Police Pay Urged

I, along with many, many friends and neighbors, am appalled that our San Anselmo Police Department has not been granted deserved pay increases.

We have one of the finest departments in this county and it would be criminal if we lost members of the force to other localities, due to inadequate salaries.

They are a credit to our community and everything should be done to see that they will want to stay and remain an important part of it.

Drydock Removal For Summer Project

As a summer vacation youth project, I advocate for Richardson Bay Sight Pollution, the removal of the walls of the four dry-docks by hand.

I am sure that a volunteer crew of yachtsman would gladly and daily transport young demolishing crews.

Then, the Sausalito city fathers could fill up the ramaining hulls with donated waste fill from contractors, thus creating a man-made island aesthetic to the eyes of all.

Fluoridation Benefits Denied To Marinites

If memory serves me correctly, twice since 1960 when we came to California from Michigan, proposals to fluoridate the water supply have been defeated with cries of "fluoridation — then what — contraceptives?" etc. Enclosed is a recent article from the Grand Rapid Press confirming the benefits of fluoride — and strangely enough nothing else has been added to water. What a terrible price we and our children are paying for the hypocrisy of some people.

PHIL BAKER

(The enclosure was an Associated Press story from Lansing, Mich. It reported 30 per cent reduction in tooth cavities among children in Flint, Mich., after four years of fluoridation; 52 to 67 per cent reduction in Battle Creek, Jackson and Kalamazoo after 18 years of fluoridation.)

Power Grab By Riles In 'Streamlining' Bill

By RUS WALTON

SACRAMENTO — Like Carl Sandburg's fog, changes in power sometimes come on little cat feet — silent, subtle, without notice.

But, if you look closely, here's one time you may see it coming: a sophisticated siphoning of power and independence away from the State Board of Education, a subtle building of power for the superintendent of public instruction.

Take a look at AB 2800. Assemblyman Walter Karabian, D-Monterey Park, is listed as the author. Actually, the bill was drafted by Supt. Wilson C. Riles and his staff.

AB 2800 was passed by the Assembly recently and now goes before the State Senate's education committee. Proponents have touted it as a plan to streamline the State Department of Education. They say it will save $85,000 a year by terminating, or consolidating, various committees and commissions.

GOODNESS KNOWS bureaucracy needs streamlining. And, as the saying goes. $85,000 saved is $85,000 earned. So, it looks all to the good and rather appealing.

But a deeper review of AB 2800 seems to reveal some of those little cat feet — some subtle shifts in power. All in one direction. Not to the Board of Education. Not to the legislature. To the superintendent of public instruction. Fully implemented, AB 2800 could make the superintendent something of a czar of public education.

While the bill would do away with "numerous educational commissions and advisory committees" it would at the same time create four "super" commissions. These commissions would serve as advisory bodies to the board of education.

NOW, SINCE THOSE super commissions are supposed to be advisory to the state board, you'd think AB 2800 would put those commissions within or under the board. Right? Wrong! AB 2800 reads: "There is in the Department of Education . . . (name of commission, etc.)"

If something is "in" the department of education, it figures that it must come under the head of that department. And, who is the head of the department of education? The superintendent of public instruction, that's who. Subtle, those little old cat feet.

Most commissions appoint their own executive secretaries. But, under AB 2800 the superintendent or his representatives "shall" serve as executive secretary to each of the super commissions.

Commissions usually have independent staffs to do research and analysis involved with the body's duties. AB 2800 directs the super commissions to utilize staff provided by the superintendent.

Anyone familiar with the working of government knows the importance of staff work to a commission. Most commission members are citizens serving on a part-time basis. They depend on staff for background information and preliminary findings. The staff can adroitly predetermine final decisions; too often the commission ends up as a rubber stamp for staff designs.

Obviously the individual who selects and guides the staff (in this case the superintendent) can have an inordinate amount of influence on the activities and findings of a commission.

California needs no czar — in education or any other area.

Faculty Self-Discipline Urged For Universities

(Reprinted from San Francisco Chronicle)

President William J. McGill of Columbia University, in a significant speech at a Berkeley institute the other day, proposed that university faculties must write and adopt codes of professional responsibility to match their codes of tenure and academic freedom.

We think this suggestion a healthy one from within the academic community — Dr. McGill is the former chancellor of the University of California at San Diego. It should get interested attention from influential men in universities here and everywhere, both public and private. For nearly all universities are drifting into deep trouble, and part of their problem, as Dr. McGill pointed out in his address to the College and University Self-Study Institute at UC, is the role which faculties play in university governance.

THE FACULTIES, quite clearly, have failed and fallen down in this responsibility. They turn their backs on the obvious need to discipline their own; there is, said Dr. McGill, "the acknowledged unwillingness of faculties to deal with their militant extremists." He produced a testimonial:

"A professor marched in the midst of a group of militant students who forcibly barred me from access to my office, and then denied on the witness stand in court that he was involved. My friends on the faculty observed this sadly and commented to me privately that it was very troublesome to see the state to which our profession had sunk, but they would not speak out publicly against it."

It is easy, perhaps, to understand the reluctance of tolerant gentlemen who hate conflict to engage in the ugliness of grappling in the dirt with intolerance. But can any rational faculty man deny that it has become more than ever necessary and important to do so?

NOT MANY, but some, professors engage in activities that violate not only any reasonable standard of professional conduct, but even the law. Thus Dr. McGill proposes the importance of faculties developing explicit codes of responsibility and professional conduct to parallel the codes of privilege and tenure. Other professions have codes to uphold their integrity, and he warns that university faculties must do the same.

"The alternative is that the tenure system and the academic life will eventually be destroyed by an unwilling alliance of militant extremists among the faculty and powerful antagonists in political life who find that attacks on universities provide a sure road to popularity with the voters."

Not merely would Dr. McGill tighten self goverance in universities, he would also reform the tenure system by imposing a second level of tenure review between ages 50 and 55. This is an interesting possibility of weeding out the "emotionally incapacitated or intellectually dead." A third, refreshing proposal in this wise and candid analysis of our troubled universities is to measure teaching effectiveness by using student evaluations to "point tenure committees to the best teachers."

What's Behind Invitation For Nixon To Visit Peking?

WASHINGTON — It is now possible to answer some of the crucial questions that left unexplained in the aftermath of the Kissinger-Chou En-lai meeting.

Did the President press for an invitation to Peking? Did he dangle the prospects of such a visit in an effort to interest the Chinese in improved Sino-American relations?

That is not the way it was worked out. A Nixon trip to China was not mentioned in any of the exchanges to third parties between Washington and Peking. This was one of numerous possibilities which was foreseen. It emerged concretely only after Dr. Kissinger and Chou En-lai were well into their discussion.

HOW WAS THE Kissinger mission brought about?

Ten days after he took office in 1969, President Nixon dictated a memorandum to Kissinger and to Sec. of State William Rogers outlining his goal of normalizing relations with the People's Republic of China and directing them to explore steps to bring it about.

A whole sequence of friendly gestures and actions was developed, and one after another they began to emerge — resumption of the Warsaw talks, proposals for cultural exchanges, removal of some restrictions on importing Chinese goods. Finally, when the president of Communist Romania was here, Nixon carefully referred to China for the first time by its official title, the People's Republic, not Red China or mainland China.

Peking was responsive, and it culminated in the Chinese proposing that a U.S. mission be sent to Peking to talk this over.

Nixon chose Kissinger.

WHAT IS THE OVERRIDING U.S. objective?

Nixon's primary purpose is to establish a direct, continuing, official dialogue at the highest level between Peking and Washington to help resolve differences and identify common goals. He is convinced that while peace in Asia will not be guaranteed by improved U.S.-China relations, it can't be obtained without it.

What is China's overriding objective?

There can be no certain answer at this point, but if you look at the world from Peking, this startling and unexpected development does not appear quite so startling nor quite so unexpected.

In whatever direction they look, Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai see three great powers with vital interest in Asia and the western Pacific — the Soviet Union, Japan and the United States. And Peking does not have satisfactory relations with any of them. On the premise that China wishes to become an active participant in the world community, it had to decide which among these three great powers would improved relations do her the most good. With the Vietnamese war ending, Peking was free to choose.

It chose the United States.

American interest and Chinese interest coincided.

WILL THE UNITED STATES alienate the Soviet Union because of this step?

Some commentators think so. I believe the opposite is more likely.

Do good relations with Communist China require bad relations with Communist Russia? Throughout Mao's reign, Moscow has had a formal treaty of friendship with Peking and at one time was helping it acquire nuclear weapons. But this did not alienate the United States.

More cordial relations between the United States and China could give Moscow an added incentive to control the nuclear arms race and ease differences with Europe on its western front.

What will come from the Nixon-Chou En-lai summit?

There will probably be no quick and easy achievement. But Columbus would never have discovered America if he hadn't set sail. Nixon and Chou En-lai are setting sail.

McCarthy Varies Pattern Of Presidential Hopefuls

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — Two weeks from now, the increasingly competitive quest for next year's Democratic presidential nomination will be reaching the early elbowing stage. The candidates, announced and unannounced, will be exploring their strengths and covering their weaknesses, doing what comes most naturally to their campaign temperaments with the fateful Miami Beach convention less than a year away.

George McGovern, Birch Bayh and Henry Jackson, who are, way down in the polls and therefore attach heavy hopes to their primary election performances, will be shaking hands at the Hillsborough County Democratic family outing, outside Nashua in New Hampshire, the first primary state of all.

Bayh will wing from there to the annual German-American Day picnic at Moose Lake, 25 miles from Milwaukee in the first Midwestern primary state. Next day he will be in Dallas for the Texas AFL-CIO convention.

EDMUND MUSKIE, who is front-runner and taking most of August off for campaign planning and policy contemplation at his retreat in Maine, can afford to be fairly confident about the votes of his neighbors in New Hampshire. But he, too, will break his August schedule to pay respects to the Texas labor leaders.

And Eugene McCarthy, true to his style, will be lecturing at the William Butler Yeats Poetry Festival at Sligo, 110 miles northwest of Dublin in the Irish Free State.

Nothing is more typical of McCarthy than to hold a six-hour meeting of campaign contributors and operatives and tell them he is seriously considering running again, as he did in New York the other day, and then to head for the airport for two weeks in Europe.

He likes it in Europe, and they like him there. It was to Nice, on the French Riviera, that he retired for awhile after he lost the presidential nomination in 1968. There he explained his reluctance to endorse either of the men nominated by the major parties for the office he had sought so whimsically. "Nixon," he said, "doesn't have any woof, and Humphrey has lots of woof, but no warp."

McCARTHY HAS NOT said so far whether it is lack of woof in Muskie or not enough warp in McGovern that inspired him up to the edge of another presidential campaign. But there he is poised, and while making up his mind for an announcement scheduled before this October, he is off again to Europe.

His longtime assistant and kindred spirit, Jerry Eller, stayed behind, and is quick to deny that the former senator is feeding his ego or playing cute with the political forecasters or writing poetry in seclusion on the Riviera. "He's making a living," Eller protests.

First McCarthy headed for Rome, to take part in panel discussions with European sociologists on the role of youth in today's world. He also planned an economics speech there. Next, in London, he intended to talk about poetry and politics with some old friends who are poets and politicians. Then to Sligo where Yeats spent much of his boyhood, to talk to other aficionados of the man whose devotion to Irish nationalism made him the ultimate poet-politician.

AFTER HE COMES back, he still intends to honor his contract to teach a weekly poetry course at the University of Maryland beginning this fall, no matter what his decision on running may be. As Eller explains it, "in politics, there's nothing to do on Tuesdays anyway."

That contract extends till next June, when the primary season will be over. If he runs but interrupts his campaigning every Tuesday to fly back to talk about poetry to freshmen and sophomores, it will do no violence to the pattern McCarthy displayed during — and especially after — his 1968 political effort.

He might consider the poetry course a recruiting ground for campaign help, as a matter of fact. Students were his principal infantrymen last time out. But while they are likely still to respond to his eccentric campaign style, it will be harder next year to find substance to rap in his elegant offhand rhetoric.

Last time it was the war. By next year, if there is any war left at all, it will only be a tiny holding action on our part. And nobody among the people he is challenging will be for it. He can't call it McGovern's war or Bayh's or Muskie's or even Nixon's or Jackson's, with any justice.

The students volunteered last time to serve with him because they did not want to be drafted to serve in Vietnam. That threat is gone now. In making up his mind whether to run, and it seems likely he will, he is going to have to consider whether he can enlist the same kind of enthusiasm with couplets and restrained dithyrambs about unemployment, welfare, air pollution, gun control and China trade — or perhaps some graceful lectures on the poet in politics.

Water District's Reasons For Asking Bond Approval

Marin Municipal Water District directors may have to consider shutting off that giant spigot in the sky for a day or two to convince voters to spend almost $44 million to insure a future water supply for Marin.

With property taxes soaring to new heights this year and the government taking a bigger and bigger bite from paychecks, a skeptical populace may hesitate to approve the funds as long as all the water they need is at their fingertips.

Just think for a minute about turning on the faucet, waiting expectantly to hear the familiar gurgle of water. Instead, a little red flag pops out, reading, "Out of Water." What would you do?

How many times a day do you turn on the faucet? In the bathroom? In the kitchen? To water your lawn or wash your clothes? It's a fact of life that nearly everyone takes for granted.

IN MARIN COUNTY, the average annual per capita usage is 160 gallons of water per day. On an average summer day, usage increases to about 225 gallons per day per person, and on peak summer days, it jumps to 280 gallons daily. That's a lot of water.

Marin Municipal Water District has been involved in planning for the county's future water needs for many years, culminating in the Russian River water project which will import some 14.5 billion gallons of water annually to Marin — more than twice the amount now used.

Since the first cost estimates were released two years ago, the cost has increased more than 12 per cent and continues to rise.

The district's share of the $137.4 million project is $43.65 million. In 1969, the cost was estimated between $30 million and $40 million.

Funding for part of the project, the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct which will bring water from Warm Springs Dam to Petaluma, will go before the voters in November. The water district will ask approval of a $16.8 million bond issue for its share of the aqueduct construction cost.

If voters reject the funding, Marin Municipal Water District may be forced to drop out of the entire Russian River project.

WHERE DOES THAT leave Marinites?

Perhaps water will have to be rationed or recycled at some point in the future.

The current squabbling between conservationists who predict that along with the water will come increased development in Marin has not gone in one ear of the water district board and out the other.

But, according to law, the water district must prepare for the present and future needs of residents. And, population projection studies indicate a whole lot more water will be needed in the next 20 years in Marin. True, more water may enhance development.

But, what if all those people do indeed show up?

The little water that is here will have to be further divided among the newcomers for, by law, the district must provide water. It can't turn down a customer because there's not enough to go around.

Teacher Tenure Little Changed By New Act

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

California has been given new teacher tenure legislation by the governor's signing of AB 293 by Assemblyman John Stull, R-Encinitas. But if anyone expects this to result in immediate purge of incompetents from public school faculties, he is in for disillusionment.

Assemblyman Stull may be in the position of the father who fails to recognize his own child. AB 293 as finally passed by both houses and signed into law by Governor Reagan differs considerably from AB 293 as Stull introduced it last Jan. 28.

A KEY FEATURE of the original AB 293 was elimination of "instant tenure." It provided that a school board "may dismiss or may elect not to reemploy a probationary teacher during the first school year of employment . . . at the pleasure of the board."

This is no longer in the bill. The "instant tenure" added to the California Education Code a decade ago remains.

Another key feature of the original AB 293 was an option to the school board other than firing or keeping permanently a borderline teacher. It would have permitted the board, after a hearing, to place a tenured teacher on one or two years' probation to give him an opportunity to improve his work.

ALONG WITH IT, the school board's voice in teacher dismissals vanished entirely.

The code until now required a hearing by a hearing officer, if the teacher demanded it, but left decision with the school board, subject to court review. As AB 293 wound up on the governor's desk, the decision of a professional competency panel, made up of two educators and a representative of the State Office of Administrative Procedure, is final. The school board no longer has any say in the matter.

During discussion of the bill, much was made of the elimination of automatic court review of the firing of a tenured teacher. Stull's original bill removed all mention of court review.

However, there may be almost as many court hearings as ever. Somewhere along AB 293's route through the two houses, this was added: "The decision of the commission on professional competence may, on petition of either the governing board or the employee, be reviewed by a court of competent jurisdiction . . . The court, on review, shall exercise its independent judgment on the evidence."

One other feature of Stull's original bill remained virtually unchanged. This mandates continuing evaluation of the teacher, with a written evaluation report to be filed each year.

It leaves "instant tenure" for so-called probationary teachers intact.

It makes no change in the causes for dismissal of teachers.

It eliminates the automatic superior court hearing for discharged tenured teachers, but permits an appeal which will result in such a hearing.

And it takes away from the elected school board any decision on dismissal of a teacher, leaving that in the hands of a professional competency panel made up of an educator chosen by the board, one chosen by the teacher, and a representative of the State Office of Administrative Procedure.

SOON AFTER Stull introduced the bill, the California Teachers Association called on its members to pressure their legislators against the measure. It kept up this call through April. But in May, it switched from all-out opposition to all-out support. This was after the bill had been amended four times in the Assembly Education Committee.

An original supporter was the California School Boards Association, but it switched to opposition as result of the amendments.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Hint Of Welfare Accord In Capitol

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan and legislators neared final agreement today on a compromise welfare reform plan that one Democratic leader said "should make the taxpayers of California very happy."

Reagan and leaders of both parties bargained across the governor's private conference table for the second straight day Tuesday, then scheduled more negotiations for this afternoon.

"The most significant progress on welfare reform this year," is how Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, described Tuesday's marathon six-hour bargaining session which stretched well past the dinner hour.

"We have not got a final commitment from either side, but just a very few incidental issues are left to be decided upon conceptually, we have agreed on the direction we want to go."

Reagan said, "We're making progress. The meetings have been good. There still are unresolved issues."

BILLS ADVANCE

In separate votes, the Senate approved a bill to permit men 18 to 20 years old to marry without parental consent and decided to maintain the Commission on the Status of Women.

The marriage permission bill by Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena, was passed on a 21-5 vote after brief debate.

He termed it "ridiculous' that an 18-year-old can now vote without parental consent but cannot "take a wife."

Legislation to maintain the Commission of the Status of Women was approved despite a complaint the panel is a waste of taxpayer money.

The proposal appropriates $45,500 for the commission, which has been in existence several years, to study "women's educational and employment problems, needs and opportunities."

SCHOOLS BILL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly legislation aimed at starting the decentralization of the mammoth Los Angeles City School District, the nation's second largest, reached the state Senate today.

The two-bill package by Assemblyman Charles Warren, D-Los Angeles, would allow voters to choose district trustees from 11 special electoral districts and strip away certain bureaucratic administrative restraints.

REAGAN PROTEST

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan has described a congressional proposal to limit federal welfare spending to 110 per cent of last year's costs as a "back door" approach to reducing welfare spending.

The governor said adoption of such legislation would cost state and local government in California $100 million.

He said it was unfair for the federal government to mandate additional welfare programs on the states and then set a 110 per cent limit on funds for the reimbursement of costs for administration, services and staff training. Any costs beyond that limit would fall to the states and counties to finance, he said.

WELFARE SUIT

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A suit was filed Tuesday with the state Supreme Court seeking to overturn Gov. Ronald Reagan's veto of a budget provision removing limits on state welfare spending.

Ten California counties, supported by the County Supervisors Association, filed the suit in which they contend that if the veto is sustained, state funds for welfare will run short $108 million and the cost will be shifted to local property taxpayers.

The suit was filed by the counties of Alameda, Contra Costa, Los Angeles, Marin, Sacramento, San Francisco, San Joaquin, Santa Barbara, Santa Clara and Sonoma.

In a prepared statement of support, the association said that for years the "property taxpayer has been the guy at the end of the line who must pick up the tab when the state fails to meet its fiscal responsibilities ... This suit will indicate to him whether he stands vulnerable and exposed as the result of the welfare veto."

INMATE BILL

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Tuesday approved a bill creating an office of ombudsman in the state Corrections Department to handle the complaints and problems of prisoners.

PIGEON-HOLED

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A controversial bill easing the way for annexation of unincorporated areas by cities has been relegated to a between-sessions study on the suggestion of its sponsor.

The Senate Local Government Committee recommended the study Tuesday after Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, told the committee he realized there was insufficient support for the proposal.

Annexation could have been blocked, under the proposal, if more than 50 per cent of the voters in inhabited territory signed written protests.

Sudan Executes Leader Of Last Week's Coup

KHARTOUM (UPI)—The Sudan hanged Communist Party leader Abdel Khalek Mahjoub today after conviction of masterminding the leftwing coup against President Jaafar Numeiry, Omdurman Radio said. It brought to 14 th number executed since the ergime was restored to power Thursday.

Mahjoub, 45, was sentenced to death by a supreme military court Tuesday. The government-run radio in Khartoum's sister city, Omdurman, had earlier said "President Numeiry approved the sentence which will be carried out after midnight."

(The execution of Communists in the Sudan brought outraged protests from the Soviet Union and other East European countries. In Moscow, the Soviet trade union newspaper Trud said the Russians felt wrath and indignation at the reprisals. In Warsaw, President Jozef Crankiewicz was r reported to have demanded a halt to the "persecution of progressive and democratic organizations" in the Sudan.

(In Beirut, the Communist newspaper Al Nida used black banner headlines to report "Butchers assassinate Abdel Khalek Mahjoub.")

Joseph Garang, an avowed Communist and former minister for southern affairs who was fired from the cabinet by Numeiry after loyalist military forces staged a countercoup Thursday, was hanged Tuesday. Sudanese officials said Garang was seen conferring with rebel leaders during their three days of power.

The capital of Khartoum, five miles across the confluence of the White Nile and the Blue Nile from the ancient capital of Omdurman, remained calm under a dusk to dawn curfew. Businesses were open but scores of riflemen patrolled the city's streets under a blistering sun.

Military tribunals have sent 11 army officers to firing squads and three civilians to the gallows since Numeiry, who seized power in a coup May 25, 1969, began his purge of Communist "traitors" from the nation of 15 million, Africa's largest country in land area.

The Sudanese Communists opposed Numeiry's proposal to join Egypt, Libya and Syria in their projected federation beginning Sept. 1 and had been under attack by Numeiry since February. Both factors triggered the coup. The Soviet Union has condemned the executions which have followed the countercoup.

With temperatures simmering at the 100 degree mark Tuesday, Mahjoub, secretary general of the 50,000-member Sudanese Communist party, was brought into the courtroom and charged with "activating opposition aimed at removing the regime; organizing and managing an illegal organization; and plotting to overthrow the legal regime by armed force."

Mahjoub immediately objected to the composition of the military tribunal, charging its chairman, Col. Ahmad Mohammed Al-Hassan, favored Arab nationalist views which therefore would affect his thinking toward a Communist. He said the two other members of the tribunal would be influenced by Al-Hassan.

The chairman replied that there were no political trends in the armed forces although the 11 officers who have been shot by firing squad had joined the Communist party.

Government forces captured Mahjoub in a manhunt Monday, tried him Tuesday with two hours to prepare his defense and then moved him to Kobar Prison to await execution. About 50 foreign newsmen attended the first session of the Mahjoub court martial, but the government closed the proceedings when a key prosecution witness failed to implicate Mahjoub in the coup which ousted Numeiry for 72 hours.

10 Months Given For Violation Of Probation

Henry K. Ackerman, 19, of Petaluma, was sentenced yesterday to 10 months in jail for violation of probation and bound over to Superior Court on a burglary charge.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon in Southern Municipal Court ordered Ackerman to appear in Superior Court on Aug. 6, at 9 a.m. on the burglary charge. In setting the 10 month jail term, McMahon noted that Ackerman had violated conditions of his probation three times in the past year.

Ackerman was arrested July 17 when sheriff's deputies said they found him at 1:30 a.m. inside Wickes Lumber Co., 5400 Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma.

Egypt Reported Preparing For War; Israel Calls Action Naive

By United Press International

Egypt reported new preparations for war today including mock air raids, but the Israeli press dismissed them as a naive attempt t enable U.S. assistant Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco to wrest new Middle East peace concessions from Israel.

Sisco arrived by plane fron. Washington and was greeted at Lod International Airport by Mordechai Gazit, deputy director general of the Foreign Ministry and U.S. Ambassador H. Walworth Barbour. He refused to talk with newsmen and did not issue an arrival statement.

No incidents have been reported along the Suez Canal since Arab political sources reported Egypt appeared to be preparing for a return to a war of attrition along that front, but Israeli and Syrian troops exchanged mortar fire in the southern Golan Heights Tuesday for the first time in a year.

A military spokesman in Tel Aviv said the Golan Heights incident started when three Arab guerrillas crossed from Jordan into Israeli-held territory and an Israeli patrol went to pick them up. A Syrian outpost and Jordanian troops began firing at the patrol and the Israelis returned the fire.

The spokesman said no Israeli casualties were reported but that two of the guerrillas were killed and the third disappeared.

The latest Egyptian war preparations were reported today by the semiofficial Cairo newspaper Al Ahram which said mock air raids will be staged throughout Egypt Thursday "to test the civil defense system across the country" for the first time in several months.

Both Israeli officials and newspapers said Sisco was coming with no new proposals but rather with the argument that Israel should soften its policies in the light of a moderate stance taken by Sadat toward an interim settlement.

The newspaper Davar described the Egyptian alert along the waterway as intended "to serve as a psychological backdrop to the discussions (opening Friday) in Jerusalem."

"There is something naive in this transparent tactic," Davar said. "Cairo is attempting to gain its ends through the pressure of military threats...The naivety lies simply in the assumption that such methods can have any influence on Israeli policy."

Maariv, Israel's largest newspaper, said Egypt needed the alert more for political reasons connected with the Sisco visit than with any preparations against Israeli attack.

Federal Aid To Be Asked For A Guidance Center

Application for a federal grant to establish a guidance center at Old Mill School in Mill Valley has been approved by the district board.

Supt. James A. Collins said the grant, if approved, will be for $20,400 over a three-year period. The guidance center had been requested by teachers at Old Mill School.

In other business Monday, trustees set adoption of a $3,744,102 budget for 8 p.m. Aug. 2 at Park School. Due for a decision at that time is whether a ½ cent override tax to finance middle school construction shall be levied.

The board also accepted a recommendation by Collins that school-by-school test scores not be released to the public. Parents will be allowed to discuss the scores with Collins by appointment, the board decided, but the schools will be numbered and not identified by name.

The Mill Valley School District Board Also:

EXTENSION — Approved a 60-day extension of the completion date of the middle school. The new deadline is mid-February.

CARPETS — Approved a $49,000 bid for carpeting of the middle school.

GRANT — Approved application for a federal grant to provide a special program in language, arts and mathematics. The grant supplies $350 per child in the program.

Innocent Plea To Armed Robbery

Lee Alan Bramson, 22, of Sleepy Hollow, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a felony charge of armed robbery.

Preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday.

Retired Marine Wins 'Dream'

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A retired Marine Corps sergeant who won 32 decorations during service in World War II, Korea and Vietnam, has won $10,000 in a contest by naming the thing he wanted most out of life.

"Four acres of America. Through 30 years in the Marine Corps I've had one dream, an acre of my beloved country for each son," Henry O'Connell, of Santa Ana said in his entry.

O'Connell, who has seven children, including three sons, said he would buy four acres of forest land in Modoc County in northeast California with his winnings. The fourth acre is to be shared by the rest of the family.

Dredging Of Petaluma Is Assured

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors heard yesterday that federal funds have been approved for dredging the Petaluma River and construction of Warm Springs Dam.

Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, sent word to the board that the House Public Works Appropriation Committee approved $350,000 for maintenance dredging of the Petaluma River.

Dredging is expected to be completed next spring for the opening of the boating season.

Clausen said the Warms Springs Dam allocation was increased by $1,850,000 to bring federal funds for 1971-72 to $7,150,000. The added funds will be used for road construction and purchase of additional right-of-way lands on the dam project, north of Healdsburg.

In other action, supervisors Monday gave tentative approval to the formation of a Northern Sonoma County Air Pollution Control District. Santa Rosa and the southern portion of the county joined the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District on July 1.

The board said final action on the new district will be taken on Aug. 16. Five other North Coast counties will be invited to join the new district, including Mendocino, Humboldt, Del Norte, Lake and Trinity.

$43,500 Asked For Park Work

The Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission will ask the city council for $43,500 for capital improvements during the coming year, chairman Richard J. Young reported.

He said the commission agreed Monday it will request that the following items be placed in Mill Valley's 1971-72: $30,000 for restoration of Warner Creek in Boyle Park; $7,000 for servicing of Boyle Park tennis courts, and $3,200 for playground equipment for the park.

Also requested will be $800 for establishment of a neighborhood park in the Enchanted Knolls area and $2,500 for restroom improvements at Old Mill Park.

Shark In Pool: 'Rotten' Trick

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—A shark in the backyard swimming pool—dead or alive—is an unpleasant surprise.

When Mr. and Jrs. James Boyer found the body of a six-foot, 60-pound blue shark in their pool, firemen had to pump 17,000 gallons of water out to retrieve the smelly, day-old fish.

Mrs. Boyer said Tuesday she had no idea who perpetrated the trick, "but it sure was rotten."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

If the lens of the eye was as powerful as that of a microscope we would see how polluted the air becomes when pollen is released during the spring and summer. These strange cells are the male fertilizing elements of flowering trees, plants and grasses. They are blown hither and yon in a hit or miss fashion. Pollen consists of fine, powdery, yellowish grains, microscopic in size. The membranes of the nose and eyes of an allergic individual are extremely sensitive to these particles. Sneezing, itching and congestion develop when pollen concentration reaches a certain level.

RAGWEED IS the No. 1 cause of hay fever. A mountain of pollen is disseminated into the air during the latter half of August and the first part of September, when the ragweed plants reach maturity. Luckily we can't see the yellowish grains, especially when they settle on everything we eat or use and are inhaled with each breath.

During the hay fever season, pollen counts are made to determine the concentration in the air. A sticky glass slide is placed on a special container and exposed to the air for 24 hours.

THE SLIDE is placed under a microscope and the pollen grains in a square centimeter of the slide are counted. This figure is multiplied by 3.6 to approximate the number of grains in a cubic yard of air. In the majority of sufferers, symptoms of hay fever do not arise until the count reaches 25.

A newer apparatus makes it possible to determine the hourly pollen count. The air is sucked into this machine and pollen is deposited on a disk that makes one revolution every 24 hours. This gadget is most useful in studying the diurnal variations and the effects of wind, rainfall and humidity on pollen counts.

CORTISONE AND BALDNESS

Mr. F. V. writes: Is it true that bald men can regain hair by taking about $150 worth of cortisone a year? I wouldn't mind spending this much money to get back my hair.

REPLY

Save your money or buy a wig. Cortisone may cause hair to regrow but baldness returns as soon as the drug is stopped. Furthermore, the side effects of the drug make its use undesirable. For example, cortisone in large doses rounds out the face and your new look might be described as "growing hair on the moon." If you want to spend your money may I suggest consulting a dermatologist who does hair transplants.

TB OF THE BONE

C. R. E. writes: How does a person get tuberculosis of the bones?

REPLY

From tuberculosis elsewhere in the body, usually the lungs or the gastrointestinal tract. Tuberculosis of the bone is less common since the pasteurization of milk and we know now that the original infection stemmed from tuberculous cattle.

SLIVER PRONE

R. N. writes: How can I get small wood slivers out of my fingers?

REPLY

Clean the skin with alcohol or soap and water and gently flip out the sliver with a sterilized needle or tweezer. This is what the physician does. Where do you get the slivers?

EXERCISE ADVICE

Mr. I. O. writes: After recovering from a heart attack, what is a good exercise for a 68-year-old retired man?

REPLY

Walking — but not against the wind or on days when the weather is too hot or too cold.

Today's Health Hint — Jealousy in young children is normal and usually passes.

Chemical Series May Prevent Heart Attacks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A University of the Pacific professor reports a new series of chemical compounds which may prevent heart attacks and other cardiac irregularities.

Dr. Aldo N. Corbascio said Tuesday he had isolated derivatives of pteridine that can protect hearts from ventricular fibrillation, an often fatal heart seizure.

One pteridine compound, triamino-tolyl-pterdine, has reversed the irregular action of digitalis, a drug used for cardiac ailments which has a tendency to generate cardiac irregularities, he added.

The discoveries were made, he declared, while experimenting for the Army for a more effective anti-malarial drug. He noticed the drugs would protect the heart of test animals from fibrillation which was induced by low frequency, high voltage electrical shocks.

Minister's Libel Suit Against Life Dismissed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A federal court judge has dismissed an $8 million libel suit brought by the Rev. Kirby Hensley of the Universal Life Church against Life Magazine.

Judge William T. Sweigert in U.S. District Court said Monday that the minister had failed to show that an article in the magazine was printed with "reckless disregard of whether it was false or not."

The judge noted that the minister objected to the article's title and did not deny items in the story. The title was "The Instant Minister Racket."

The Rev. Mr. Hensley, 59, originally operated his church in Modesto but since has moved to Phoenix, Ariz. He says he has ordained 450,000 ministers by mail.

Insurance Coverage To Be Extended

Residents of San Rafael and Larkspur will be eligible for additional coverage under the federal flood insurance program after Friday, according to the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The additional coverage is available because a recent rate study defines the areas as a special flood hazard, George K. Bernstein, federal insurance administrator, announced.

Flood insurance is available to family dwellings and small businesses through the business-government partnership of the National Flood Insurers Association and the Federal Insurance Administration.

Policies can be purchased from any local property and casualty insurance agent or broker. Annual rates range from 40 to 50 cents per $100 of coverage.

Story Of Grave Desecration To Break A Curse

BUDAPEST (UPI) — A court has convicted a man and wife of desecrating the grave of a neighbor the couple said put a curse on their children that resulted in their being born blind. They were sentenced to 10 months in jail.

Budapest District Court said the couple, identified only as Mr. and Mrs. L. J. of the town of Cegled, had a quarrel with a neighbor, identified as Mrs. S. G. several years ago.

The fight in the middle of their village street ended with the neighbor woman's curse: "May all your children be born blind."

Later Mrs. L. J. gave birth to two children, both born blind. The children died within days after birth. Later Mrs. S. G. died and last week, Mr. and Mrs. L.J., the prosecution said, went to her grave, dug up the coffin and smashed a cross over the grave.

General Will Retire On Friday

General DuBois's 30-year military career began in June of 1941 and during World War II he served with an antiaircraft gun battalion in the Pacific. He assumed command of the sixth Region, ARADCOM, which is responsible for air defense of the West Coast, in March 1970 after spending more than two years in the office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington, D.C.

During DuBois's tenure as commander, sixth Region's combat elements received special awards. Last year the command's 49th Artillery Group in Seattle was selected as the outstanding defense unit in the nationwide ARADCOM system, for the second consecutive year.

In the same year, a sixth Region National Guard Nike Hercules Firing Unit was selected as the best Army National Guard battery in ARADCOM and defense units in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle were chosen first, second and third in nation in competition with other Army Air Defense commands.

DuBois is married to the former Ethel McDonald of Fort Riley, Kan., and is the father of four sons and a daughter. He and Mrs. DuBois plan to make their home in Terra Linda after his retirement.

Temporary Halt Ruled In Busing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A temporary stay in assigning Chinese pupils to schools outside Chinatown in the city's integration plan this fall was granted yesterday by the United States Court of Appeals.

Effect of the temporary stay is to halt school district planning for integration in the fall term and a spokesman said the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People would probably appeal the order to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The appeals court granted the temporary stay to give attorney Quentin Kopp an opportunity to appear before Judge Stanley Weigel and seek a stay in Weigel's U.S. District Court order for the integration to take place in the fall.

No Smallpox Reported In '70

BOSTON (UPI)—Not a single case of smallpox was reported anywhere in the world during 1970, the head of the National Academy of Sciences has said.

Dr. Philip Handler of Washington, calling the apparent eradication of smallpox "one of man's truly great triumphs over his ever-hostile environment," coupled the report with a plea for public understanding of the need for support for research in other fields.

He told the opening session of the 23rd International Congress of Pure and Applied Chemistry, that similar battles can be won over cancer, heart disease and strokes —if support for research is forthcoming. "Halfway medical technology," he said, is not the solution.

Winter Stay On Shasta Is Out

ETNA, Calif. (UPI) — The 35-year-old minister who said he would stay on top of Mt. Shasta for an entire year in an antiwar protest now has changed his mind.

"He has not decided just yet when he will come down," said Merwyn Rickey, chairman of the church group behind Smith's protest effort. "It may be four weeks, six weeks, or even more, but he will not remain up there through the winter."

WHY SOUTHERN PACIFIC IS TAKING A SENSELESS STRIKE

The United Transportation Union's strike against the Southern Pacific is unnecessary and is an irresponsible strike action toward the public.

It brought to a halt 750 daily freight trains in eight states, Amtrak passenger trains on three long-distance routes, and 44 commute trains on the San Francisco Peninsula. It stalled lumber shipments in Oregon, automobile assembly in California, chemicals in Texas, ores in Arizona, perishable foods, raw materials and manufactured goods throughout the West and Southwest — virtually isolating this great area from the nation's commerce.

Yet, we must take this strike. Why? Simply because one union — the UTU — has refused to accept work rule changes which another union — the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers — has agreed to.

The UTU is willing to accept a 42% wage increase over 42 months, but it still insists upon maintaining turn-of-the-century work rules which have no place in a modern transportation system.

A Presidential Emergency Board recommended the wage increase, but only with work rule changes which the railroad industry must have if it is to modernize. Management accepted these recommendations. Three other unions have accepted them. Only the UTU refuses to permit the railroads to make any progress whatever in increasing productivity and efficiency in return for the largest wage increase in railroad history, while providing protection for people adversely affected.

By this senseless refusal to accept what others have seen as right and necessary, the UTU is willing to inflict a crippling blow to the entire country's economy through whipsaw strike tactics aimed at bringing the whole railroad industry to its knees.

Why senseless?

The UTU still insists on a full day's pay for as little as two hours' work. It insists we must continue to use five crews on a trip between Oakland and Los Angeles, for example, where two crews could cover the distance within a normal working day for each.

The UTU still insists on strict division of work between over-the-road and yard crews. This means that road crews cannot perform certain work in connection with their own trains and engines when they are within yard or terminal limits. This is like being able to drive your own automobile home but having to keep a paid attendant to park it in your garage.

The UTU still insists on make-work practices which prohibit efficient use of locomotives and crews within yard limits. For example, one crew can place cars on tracks for interchange with a connecting railroad but cannot bring any cars back on the same trip.

The UTU still insists that if some crew members use radio communication, like a simple walkie-talkie, those workers must receive extra pay and so must most other crew members.

The UTU still insists on the use of unnecessary extra crews in industrial switching operations within four miles of present yard boundaries.

No one can afford this senseless strike

If railroads are not to be permitted to make use of these work rule changes, the very heavy wage increases which have already been granted to most employes — and which have been offered to the UTU — could very quickly place the industry in desperate financial crisis, jeopardizing service to thousands of vital industries and ultimately to the public.

Our employes are loyal and dedicated railroaders, yet they are prevented from realizing their full productivity by these and other antiquated work rules.

We hope that our customers and the public will appreciate that this dispute is not just between the UTU and Southern Pacific. It involves all of the nation's major railroads. Southern Pacific — now or never — must stand with the industry. Many railroads are in serious financial trouble, and for them time is running out. We ourselves badly need to be able to make better use of the transportation technology available to us. Southern Pacific must accept the burden of this ridiculous strike, and must ask the understanding and support of the general public as well as of our customers.

We want to be sensible and fair

It is time for the UTU to be sensible and fair. You, the public, are being hurt by the railroad strikes in progress right now, but you will suffer far more in the future if the railroads do not — this time — take a firm stand to gain improvement in the work rules. We urge you to support us in our stand and to make your feelings known to your government representatives.

FIGHT PLANS

Quarry Next Foe For Ali

HOUSTON (UPI)—It took Muhammad Ali four months and a win over Jimmy Ellis to realize what Joe Frazier took away from him in March.

Ali is a winner again, but he isn't the champ.

"I'm ready for Frazier next week," Ali said Tuesday. "Frazier won't be recognized until he really beats me. You've got to whip a man twice, then some people still don't recognize you 'til you defend your title four or five times."

Ali said he wasn't thinking the first time he fought Frazier. The bout for the undisputed world heavyweight title saw Ali knocked down once and decisioned in 15 rounds.

"I didn't know his style. I know it now. It will be no contest."

The 29-year-old Ali said he thought he would get together with Frazier for a return bout next March in the Astrodome.

"I want to fight him in the Astrodome where everybody can see it," Ali said. "I want the weather to be cool. I can train better when it's cool. I don't drink all them liquids. Down here its been so hot I was drinking four or five ginger ales a day. That wasn't no good because of the calories. Next time I'll drink water."

Ali said he would fight again in two months —again in the domed stadium —against Jerry Quarry. Ali knocked out Quarry in three rounds last October in Atlanta. It was his first fight in 42 months during his dispute with the government over his refusal to be inducted into the armed services.

Ali was philosophical Tuesday. He had heard the 32,000 fans yelling for him against Ellis Monday night. He listened to everyone calling him 'champ' after it was over.

"I'm not like I was," he said. "Anything that sits gets old. The earth gets old. The moon gets old. You can't be like you was.

"The past is like a dream. You can't get back what you had, but you got to take what you have today and make the best of it."

Ali had kind words for Ellis, whose face was puffy from the beating which resulted in a TKO victory for Ali in the 12th round Monday night. Ali looked like he did after all his fights except the bout against Frazier —unmarked.

"If he (Ellis) had fought Frazier cautious like he fought me he would've whipped Frazier," Ali said. "Ellis is not washed up. He will whip everybody else he fights."

Ali said one of the biggest obstacles he had to overcome after the loss to Frazier and in getting ready for Ellis was a mental block.

Ali said the strangest thing about his fight with Ellis was hearing Angelo Dundee, his former manager, yelling for Ellis in the other corner. Tuesday Ali asked Dundee to come back. Angelo accepted.

IMMOVABLE OBJECT

Pittsburgh Pirates' catcher Manny Sanguillen blocked the plate and tagged out Dodger runner Duke Sims last night in a game at Los Angeles. Sims, who was trying to score on a ground ball hit by Bill Buckner, was out by 10 feet. The Dodgers won, however, 8-5. Story on page 42.

Atlanta Suddenly In Pennant Chase

Braves Gaining On Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)--All of a sudden, the Atlanta Braves have become a threat in the National League West pennant chase.

The red-hot Braves pulled to within nine games of leader San Francisco Tuesday night by edging the Giants 4-3 in the opener of a three-game series.

Los Angeles also won to slice the Giants lead over the runnerup Dodgers to 7 1-2 games. Atlanta has won seven of its last eight games and 10 of the last 13.

But what worries Giants manager Charley Fox more is the fading effectiveness of his righthanded ace Juan Marichal.

Marichal, who has not won a game since June 23, suffered his seventh setback against 10 victories. He was rapped for nine hits and all four Atlanta runs in the six innings he pitched.

"We just have to hope Marichal starts pitching like he can," said Fox. "The Braves really didn't hit him solid but they found the holes."

Only runs for the Giants were a solo homer by Dick Dietz in the fifth inning off starter and winner Pat Jarvis, now 4-9, and a two-run smash in the ninth by Willie McCovey off reliever Cecil Upshaw.

"He's the most dangerous hitter in baseball ... even more so than Willie Stargell (of the Pirates)," said Upshaw of McCovey. He's also the strongest hitter. I threw him a pitch outside and he still hit it over the leftfield fence for a home run.

"If McCovey can play every day, the Giants can win it."

Atlanta scored its runs off Marichal in the second, third, fourth and seventh innings on a double by Manny Perez, sacrifice flies by Darrell Evans and Earl Williams and a single by Felix Millan.

Jarvis gave up only four hits and Dietz' homer in the 7 1-3 innings he pitched.

ORIOLES SWEEP

Brooks Beats Athletics Again

BALTIMORE (UPI) —Brooks Robinson took care of the Cincinnati Reds nearly by himself in the 1970 World Series and now he's working on the Oakland Athletics.

The veteran third baseman drilled a two-run homer with two out in the ninth off reliever Rollie Fingers Tuesday night to give Baltimore a 6-4 victory and a sweep of the doubleheader.

Righthander Pat Dobson (no relation to the A's Chuck Dobson) of the Orioles allowed the A's only four singles to win the opener 1-0. That was Pat Dobson's 11th victory in a row and gave him a 14-4 record.

Dobson's 14 victories matched his wins during the entire 1970 season when he lost 15.

Robinson hit a grand slam homer against the A's in Oakland last week to help the Orioles take that two-game series. So Baltimore now has whipped the A's four straight times.

Despite the twin loss, Oakland dropped only half a game of its 10 1-2-game margin over runnerup Kansas City which lost to Detroit.

Baltimore and Oakland meet again tonight and tomorrow night. John Odom (5-7) throws against the Orioles tonight.

Singles by Curt Blefary, Sal Bando, Dick Green and pinchhitter Tommy Davis were the only hits off Dobson in the opener. Jim Hunter (12-10) was the starter and loser. He allowed only four hits and one run over seven innings.

Grand Slam, No-Hitter Highlight Opening Games

Ross Ohrenschall's grand slam home run powered Kentfield-Greenbrae to a 5-4 victory over Mill Valley's National League last night, and Aaron Greenhalth fired a no-hitter as the Novato American League defeated Gallinas Valley, 8-1 in the first round of the 1971 Marin County Little League all-star playoffs.

All-star teams from 16 leagues in Marin competed as action got underway in the tournament that can lead eventually to the Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pa.

In other games yesterday, Fairfax downed Mill Valley, 3-1, San Rafael American defeated Strawberry, 6-2, San Rafael National shut out Tiburon, 2-0, Twin Cities edged Sausalito, 8-7, Novato National walloped San Geronimo, 13-1 and Hamilton-Loma Verde edged Marinwood, 2-1.

Ohrenschall belted his basesloaded homer in the second inning, when Kentfield-Greenbrae completed its scoring. He also had a double and single. Greenhalth struck out 13 batters and walked only two enroute to his no-hitter, which was marred by an error-produced run.

Action continues tonight in this single elimination tournament, which decides not only the Marin County all-star champion but the team that will represent the county in the Section Two tournament next week in Concord. In the feature game tonight, Novato's American and National Leagues tangle at Novato Rancho. That contest will be broadcast live over KTIM-AM, with Bob Dinsmore and Rich Turner providing the play-by-play.

MARIN TENNIS

Tiburon Girl On A Streak

Sue Beatty, 14-year-old Tiburon girl who took two first places in the Marin Junior Tennis Tourney last week, continued her hot streak yesterday, as she advanced to the quarterfinals in both Girls 14 and 16 singles in the 13th Annual Marin Junior Hardcourt Championships at the Mill Valley Tennis Club.

Miss Beatty took two doubles titles in the local tourney last week, but this week has dominated action by all local net stars in singles play.

She took a three-set decision over Ann Walker 6-4, 2-6, 6-3 to gain the Girls 16 quarterfinals, and then romped over Leslie Green 6-2, 6-3 in 14's.

Thirteen other local players advanced into the quarterfinals, including second-seeded 16-year-old Leslie Airola, who won 6-2, 6-4, fourth-seeded Charles Bolcom who won 6-4, 6-2 in Boys 12, third-seeded Henry Jacobsen who breezed 6-0, 6-1 in Boys 14, third-seeded 16-year-old Dan Tierney who fought out a 6-3, 6-4 win, and top seeded Diane De Martini in Girls 14, who won 6-3, 6-3.

Miss Airola is also seeded third in Girls 18, in which there were no matches yesterday.

The only local seeded player to lose came in Boys 14, when Cary Stansbury of Tiburon defaulted his No. 6 position due to a pulled muscle.

Senior Li'l League Stars Triumph, 4-3

SANTA ROSA — Mike Farris pitched a four-hitter and batted in a pair of first inning runs last night to lead the San Rafael Senior Little League all-stars to a 4-3 victory over Konocti, district 35 champion team from Lake County, in the opening round of the Northern California Section Two baseball tournament.

The victory in this one-game playoff earned San Rafael a confrontation against Rio Linda Friday night in the Division Two tournament at Sacramento. The winner of that will come back to San Rafael Aug. 5, 6, and 7 for the Northern California playoffs.

Farris struck out eight batters and allowed only five hits. San Rafael got only four hits, but one was a solo home run by Kevin Loughlin in the bottom of the fourth.

San Rafael gained the sectional playoffs by winning the District Three tournament last week. That event included teams from throughout the North Bay Area.

Central Marin Babe Ruth Team Suffers First Loss

SACRAMENTO — Central Marin's all-star Babe Ruth League team fell down but not out of the Northern California playoffs last night as it suffered its first loss after six wins in tournament play, 4-3 to Concord.

Tom Candiotti, who pitched the final two innings in relief of starter Dave Morales, earned himself the victory when he singled home the two winning runs in the top of the sixth. The loss dropped Central Marin into the losers' bracket for today's game in this double elimination tournament, after it defeated Fruitridge and Country Club of Sacramento in games Monday.

Phil Bacigalupi kept Central Marin in the game with a pair or run-producing singles. In the fifth he drove home Steve Curry, who had singled and stolen second, and in the seventh, he batted in Jeff Vogel, after a single by Vogel and a double by Curry.

Quarterback Insurance For Raiders

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UPI)— Figuring Daryle Lamonica is serious about his holdout, the Oakland Raiders have picked up a bit of quarterback insurance.

He is 23-year-old Bob Cutburth, untested as a pro. Cutburth was obtained from the Chicago Bears Tuesday for an undisclosed future draft choice. He was the Bears sixth-round draft choice in 1970 but never played for them because of military service.

"Cutburth was a fine college player at Oklahoma State," said Raiders coach John Madden. "With Lamonica absent, we need a lot of quarterbacks and running backs to handle backfield drills and passing patterns."

At Oklahoma State, Cutburth set school passing records as a senior in total passing yards (1,593), completions (281), touchdowns (16) and longest TD pass (85 yards).

Cutburth is the fourth quarterback in camp. George Blanda is spending most of his time getting his kicking leg in shape. That leaves Ken Stabler, rookie Don Milan and Cutburth as the "working" quarterbacks.

Stabler directed the varsity in drills Tuesday afternoon.

Madden has been pleased with the work of former Oregon State and Buffalo Bills running back Bill Enyart who has been converted to linebacker.

"He's doing very well at the new position," said Madden. "By nature I think he's more of a defensive personality. I think he's going to be a fine middle linebacker."

GETTING THE FEEL OF IT

49ers In Scrimmage Against Cowboys

GOLETA, Calif. (UPI)—The San Francisco 49ers traveled to Thousand Oaks today to meet the Dallas Cowboys for the first time since they clashed last year for the National Football Conference championship.

But the control scrimmage won't mean much at this stage of the early training. Neither team has perfected its offense or defense and several key players will be missing.

Among them is running back Duane Thomas who helped devastate San Francisco in the Cowboys' 17-10 playoffs win in January.

Missing from the 49er lineup will be linebacker Jim Sniadecki, guard Elmer Collett, running back Vic Washington, tackle Cas Banaszek and rookie tackle John Watson. With the exception of Sniadecki, all are bothered by minor hurts.

Sniadecki underwent surgery Monday to repair an injured finger and is expected to be out about six weeks.

Wide receiver Dick Witcher of the 49ers has not yet reported to camp from military duty. But he is expected any day now. Veteran defensive tackle Charlie Krueger is recovering from minor knee surgery.

They moved Stan Hindman from defensive end to defensive tackle just in case Krueger, 34, is slow in getting back into shape.

That leaves Tommy Hart, Bill Belk and Cedrick Hardman at defensive end. Hardman, a 255-pounder entering his third pro season, is being persuaded to refine his stance and charge.

Nolan and Wiggin said the former North Texas State lineman usually tips his hand when he sets himself at a certain angle to rush the quarterback. They persuaded him to face an opposing blocker head on and make his move at the snap.

Buckner's Slam Paces Dodgers

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Ellis looked well on his way to his 14th consecutive victory as he held a 5-1 lead going into the seventh inning. But Los Angeles erupted for six runs, highlighted by Buckner's first career grand slam homer, and went on to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-5 Tuesday night.

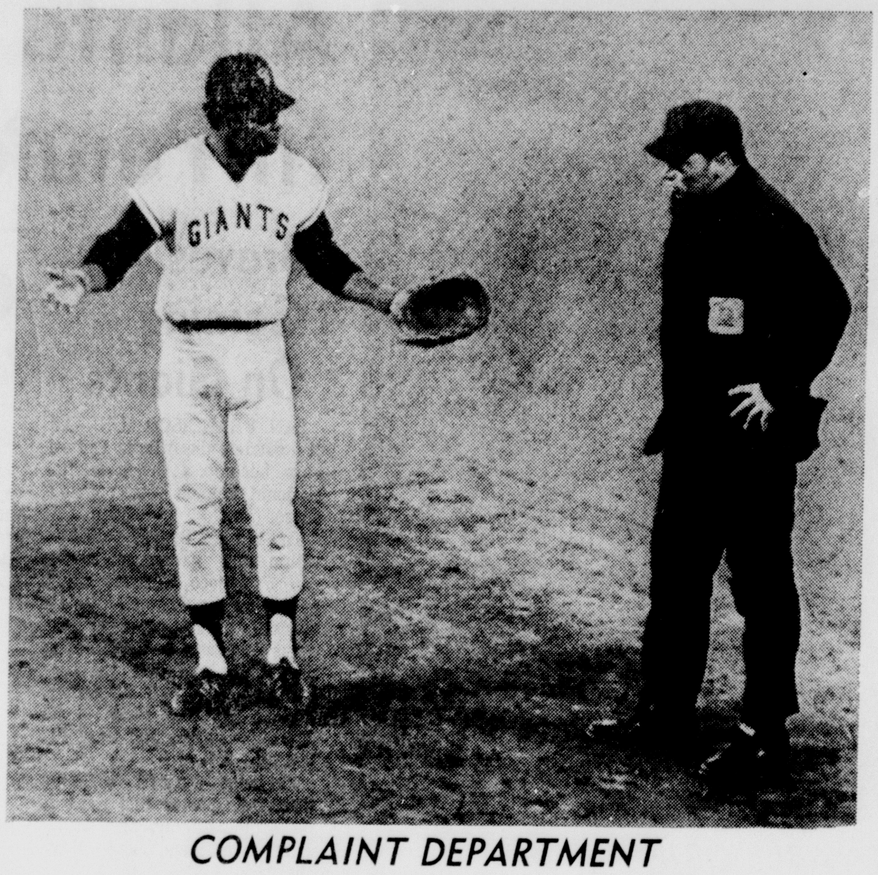
Ellis, looking for his 16th victory, gave up two singles and a walk to fill the bases in the seventh before singles by Tom Haller and Maury Wills accounted for a pair of runs. Jim "Mudcat" Grant relieved Ellis and Buckner greeted him with his grand slam. Willie Crawford added a solo homer in the eighth.

Elsewhere in the National League, Atlanta edged San Francisco 4-3, Cincinnati bombed San Diego 11-3, New York shaded St. Louis 3-2, Philadelphia downed Houston 8-3 before losing 5-1 and Montreal defeated Chicago 6-1.

Hal McRae had three doubles, a home run and a single and Lee May added two homers to pace Cincinnati past the Padres. McRae's five hits highlighted a 17-hit Reds' attack that helped Jim McGlothlin pick up his sixth victory in 13 decisions. Bobby Pfeil, pressed into service as a catcher when both Philadelphia receivers were reported injured, slammed the first two homers of his career to boost the Phils to victory in the opener. Cesar Cedeno and Doug Rader homered to back Wade Blasingame's four-hit pitching as the Astros' took the second game.

Duffy Dyer's pop fly single to right capped a two-run ninth inning rally that lifted New York past the Cardinals. St. Louis led 2-1 entering the ninth when singles by Tommie Agee, Cleon Jones and Ed Kranepool produced one run and Dyer won the game with his blooper.

Ron Fairly hit a two-run homer in the fifth inning and Ernie McAnally pitched a four-hitter as the Expos beat Chicago. McAnally also drove in a run with a sacrifice fly.



COMPLAINT DEPARTMENT

San Francisco Giants' second baseman Tito Fuentes gave an appealing gesture to umpire Harry Wendelstedt after the latter had called Atlanta's Mike Lum safe in a play at first base last night at Candlestick Park. Fuentes had covered the bag on Lum's grounder to Willie McCovey. The Giants lost to the Braves, 4-3.

Fast Ball, Not Luck For Orioles' Dobson

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Pat Dobson, emerging as the most consistent pitcher in Baltimore's starting rotation, relied a little more on his fastball and a little less on luck in extending his winning streak to 11 games.

Dobson has said continually that luck has been responsible for his fine showing this season but the tall right-hander "made his own luck" Tuesday night in pitching the Orioles to a 1-0 victory over the Oakland Athletics in the opener of a doubleheader. Brooks Robinson lofted a two-run homer with two out in the ninth inning of the nightcap to give Baltimore a 6-4 victory and a doubleheader sweep.

Dobson allowed only four hits in extending his winning streak to 11 games, a streak which began June 17, as he struck out 13 batters and raised his season's record to 14-4.

Dobson, generally regarded as the "fourth man" on the Orioles' brilliant pitching staff behind Dave McNally, Jim Palmer and Mike Cuellar, now leads the Orioles' mound corps in five departments: victories (14), complete games (13), innings pitched (188), strikeouts (125) and ERA (2.78).

Dobson, a winter acquisition from San Diego in a deal that sent Tom Phoebus to the National League club, matched the 14 victories he registered all last season with the Padres.

In other American League action Boston edged Milwaukee in the opener of a twinbill 4-3 with the Brewers taking the nightcap, 5-1, Minnesota downed Washington 4-2, Chicago defeated New York 9-6 in 12 innings, Detroit nipped Kansas City 5-4 i 1 innings and Cleveland edged California 4-3.

Aurelio Rodriguez walked on a 3-1 pitch by Jim York with the bases loaded and one out in the 11th inning to help Mickey Lolich gain his 16th victory. Jim Price led off the 11th with a single and pinch-runner Tony Taylor was bunted to second. Dalton Jones and Dick McAuliffe were walked intentionally before Rodriguez walked.

Tony Oliva's two-run homer in the ninth inning broke a 2-2 tie and powered the Twins past the Senators. Harmon Killebrew led off with a single in the ninth and Oliva followed with a 378-foot blast, his 19th.

An error by California second baseman Sandy Alomar opened the door for three runs in the sixth inning to help Cleveland down the Angels. Sam McDowell gave up six hits to gain his 10th victory against 10 defeats.

Rookie Bill Parsons scattered five hits and drove home what proved to be the winning run in the second game after Boston rallied for four runs in the eighth inning to take the opener. Parsons struck out nine and walked three in picking up his ninth victory and drove in a run with a single in the second inning.

Skip Lockwood had a no-hitter until the seventh inning of the first game but was chased in the eighth on consecutive singles by Duane Josephson, Mike Fiore and John Kennedy.

Post, who led the American Football League in rushing in 1969, was traded to the Denver Broncos for a second-round draft choice Tuesday in the Chargers' campaign to rid themselves of disgruntled players.

The 5-foot-9, 190-pound Post had been dissatisfied with his contract and was playing out his option. He had undergone three knee operations, one of which limited him to 74 carries for 225 yards last season.

Post was the second dissatisfied Charger player to be traded away this week. On Monday, defensive tackle Ron Billingsley, who had failed to report to camp, was traded to the Houston Oilers.

The Cleveland Browns said they hoped to patch up differences with offensive tackle Joe Taffoni, who walked out of training camp Tuesday in a dispute over being relegated to the second team for a scrimmage.

Taffoni, a four-year veteran and regular starter with the Browns last season, was being fined $100 for each practice missed, but a team spokesman said he was expected to talk with Coach Nick Skorich to resolve their differences.

The Atlanta Falcons came to terms with linebacker Tommy Nobis, their original No. 1 draft choice, for an estimated $75,000 per year for the next five years.

In other developments, the Philadelphia Eagles added first-year tight end Dick Hill of Texas-Arlington to their roster after he was placed on waivers by the New England Patriots; rookie wide receiver Ron Jessie of Kansas was traded by the Dallas Cowboys to the Detroit Lions for an undisclosed draft choice; veteran linebacker Larry Grantham worked out with the New York Jets for the first time since returning to camp; and the Pittsburgh Steelers traded seventh round draft choice and tackle Worthy McClure of Mississippi to Houston and placed nine players, including veterans Clarence Oliver, John Sodaski and Doug Fisher, on waivers.

Jim Simons Is Favored In Western

BENTON HARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—If past history is anything, you'll not soon be forgetting the name of this year's winner of the Western Amateur. And if past performance means a wit, that name is likely to be Jim Simons.

The rigorous five-day tournament, which requires 144 holes of golf for the two who reach the finals, begins today at Point O'Woods Golf and Country Club, a par-71 layout.

The defending champion is Lanny Wadkins of Richmond, Va., who won't be back since he just turned pro, finishing nowhere in the recent Westchester Classic. Steve Melnyk, the 1969 winner, also just terminated a profitable amateur career to play for pay.

You may have heard of the 1961 winner, a fellow by the name of Jack Nicklaus. Other winners now having varying degrees of success on the pro trail are Tommy Aaron (1960), Tom Weiskopf (1963), Steve Oppermann (1964), Bob E. Smith (1965 and 1967), Jim Weichers (1966) and Rik Massengale (1968).

Today and Thursday demand 18 holes of golf at medal play for the 160 starters before the field is chopped to the low 50 and ties for 36 holes on Friday. The low 16 qualify for the switch to match play Saturday and Sunday, with two rounds being played each day.

Simon, a collegiate teammate of Wadkins' at Wake Forest, led the U.S. Open after a 65 in the third round this year but admittedly was swallowed up by the pressure and had a final round 76 to wind up in a three-way tie for fourth.

Alex Johnson Is Placed On Restricted List

Kuhn, in an announcement Tuesay, told the Angels that Johnson, former American League batting champion, had been transferred to the "restricted" list and therefore does not count among the 25 active players on the Angels roster.

Johnson, who ran into difficulties with the Angels management this year, was suspended from the team June 26. He was to receive no pay but was still carried on the roster. That meant the Angels only had 24 men to call on in case they needed them.

Kuhn's decision fixed that problem. Putting Johnson on the restricted list allowed the Angels to reactivate catcher Jeff Torborg from the disabled list. He suffered a broken finger in practice three weeks ago.

Johnson, who still receives no pay from the Angels, is at his home in Detroit awaiting a hearing before a neutral mediator to be appointed by Kuhn.

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two weeks ago, Lee Trevino was throwing his cap in the air, laughing all the time and knocking them dead.

He was the most talked-bout figure in the country, maybe even in three countries, following his British Open victory, which came right after equally impressive wins in the United States and Canadian Opens.

The world was Trevino's oyster.

People who didn't know a bogey from a golf cart were talking about this incredible Mexican Superman, Lee Trevino. His picture was every place you looked. In every newspaper, on every TV station and on both Time and Newsweek covers simultaneously.

Lee Trevino said he wanted to become the biggest money winner of all time in a single season, and he thought he could because of a tip Jack Nicklaus had given him six months ago. Nicklaus had told him not to fret about anything because his game was good enough to beat any course and any player.

"That word of encouragement changed my life," Trevino announced to one and all only a couple of weeks back. "It stopped me from being the nervous character I was before."

Not quite.

Here it is only two weeks later and Trevino is nervous again. Maybe more so than before.

He was far from his old happy-go-lucky carefree self at last week's Westchester Classic. He didn't pull any toy snakes on anybody and he didn't laugh much. He didn't make the cut and was glad he didn't just so he could get away from people.

They were bugging him crazy.

Lee Trevino, who did a great job of accepting the bows, suddenly discovered there can also be some painful bruises. Most important of all perhaps he discovered there's one precious thing money can't always buy.

If he cares to know a little more about the subject all he has to do is ask people like Frank Sinatra, Arnold Palmer, Joe DiMaggio, Elizabeth Taylor or Willie Mays about it sometime.

"I don't have any time to myself," Trevino said before checking out of the Westchester. "I haven't seen my kids in 13 weeks. I'm just doing too many things."

What things?

"I guess I'm just a nice guy," said Trevino, who is right about that because he is. "When somebody comes around and says 'we'd like to do this, we'd like to do that' I'm always the kind of guy who says how much time do you need? They say 4 or 5 minutes, 10 minutes, and it drags on to 30 minutes and I go ahead and do the thing. I do one right after the other and I want to because the press, the people that write, have always been nice to me. So have the people of television and radio, and without them I wouldn't be where I am today. But I just hope they understand I'm not gonna do as many things in the future simply because it takes too much time away from me and I'd like to have a little privacy of my own."

Trevino talked about some of the phone calls he had gotten.

"You get calls from people who don't even know you," he said. "They say you don't know us and we don't know you but we think you're the greatest. They call at midnight and at 1 in the morning. You get the phone cut off and then they come up and keep knocking at your door. When I was at the Western Open some kids knocked at my door all day long. I would've gone off someplace but there was no place to move, no place to go."

Lee Trevino has gone someplace now. He has gone fishing. It doesn't matter to him whether he catches many or not, at least nobody keeps telling him he's the greatest all the time. He's tired of hearing it.

Joe DiMaggio happened to be at the Westchester Classic as public relations consultant for the Hughes Sports Network which televised the event.

The man designated baseball's greatest living player was besieged for his autograph more often than Trevino at Westchester, but of course he's more used to it and that's why he copes with it better.

Somebody asked DiMaggio whether he knew how it felt to be in the same spot Trevino is in now, meaning way down after having been way up such a short time before.

"You bet I do," Joe D said. "I think it was in 1938. I had held out for some time. I was hitting about .500 the first few weeks of the season and when I got back to New York I was booed. I guess people thought it wasn't right for me to hold out. They didn't know the man I had to deal with, Ed Barrow. Lemme tell you, he was tough. The year after I hit in those 56 consecutive games you know what he offered me? A $5,000 cut."

Joe DiMaggio shook his head at the recollection.

"I'll say one thing about this game though," he said looking at the TV screen where Arnold Palmer was making an approach shot. "Nobody ever gets booed in golf."

JACK HANLEY

Fox The Big Reason For Giant Harmony

In extra-inning games this season the Giants are 11-3, a most commendable overtime record. There have been a dozen other games that the Giants have won with ninth inning rallies, two of them quite dramatically.

What could be more dramatic in baseball than a grand slam homer, such as Willie McCovey hit in the ninth inning July 21 at Pittsburgh to break a 4-4 tie for an 8-4 victory over the Pirates?

WHAT COULD be more depressing than a wasted ninth inning grand slam, such as Bob Barton hit against his former Giant teammates June 18 in Candlestick Park for a 9-5 Padre lead that was erased by a five-run Giant rally in the bottom of the ninth?

To be sure, the Giants have lost some tough ones in the ninth, too. There was a shocking 3-2 loss to the Reds in Cincinnati on the last road trip. When Juan Marichal takes a 2-0 lead into the last inning it isn't often that the dandy from the Dominican Republic is beaten. But on July 17 in Riverfront Stadium the Reds did beat Marichal with a three-run ninth inning rally.

"I guess we weren't meant to win that one," said Fox somewhat philosophically.

Someone said to the manager: "This team is going to make an old man out of you."

"THAT'S ALL right, just so long as we win," said Fox. "I asked for the job."

There isn't a member of the Giants who isn't glad that Fox got the job. From the first day he took over the job May 24 last year, Fox never once has tried to take the spotlight away from his players.

It was no secret that there were a number of unhappy ball players on the club and the friction between the team's captain, Willie Mays, and Fox's predecessor, Clyde King, was known to everyone.

THERE ISN'T one malcontent on the Giants now. The Giants now are a team. Gone are the factions. There's a feeling on the club that if one player succeeds — the team — all succeed. This healthy atmosphere didn't happen without a reason. And Fox is the reason.

It isn't merely a case of Fox being a good manager, knowing all the strategy and tactics of managing. That's a prerequisite of any managing job. It's the way Fox acts after a bitter defeat or soul-satisfying victory. He doesn't panic in defeat and he doesn't gloat in victory.

AND, MORE importantly, in defeat he carefully controls his comments. One dressing room reporter tried to goad Fox into an intemperate remark with a series of prodding questions when the team's National League West lead narrowed to 3½ games July 6 after it had been 10½ on Memorial Day.

"You're trying to get me to say something I'll be sorry for — you're wasting your time," said Fox.

By DON CARTER

Palmer, Nicklaus Favored

LIGONIER, Pa. (UPI)— Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, feuding openly a month ago in the U. S. Open, will put personalities aside Thursday to begin defense of their title in the PGA National Team Championship.

Last year, golf's two top all-time moneywinners joked their way around the course to win by three strokes when the event was known as the Four-Ball Championship. They will again be favored.

But their mood was anything but joking just last month in the Open at Ardmore, Pa., when Palmer criticized Nicklaus for playing too slowly and Nicklaus returned the next day with a prepared defense.

This year, Nicklaus and Palmer each have won three tournaments and rank second and third on the moneywinning list behind U. S. and British Open champion Lee Trevino.

Trevino, who says he is beginning to feel the effect of his heavy competitive schedule, picked Howie Johnson, a comparative unknown, as his partner this week. Last year Trevino teamed with former Green Bay Packers football player Jess Whittenton and they tied for 14th place.

Palmer, winner of the $250,000 Westchester Classic last Sunday, practiced Tuesday at Latrobe Country Club, the course 10 miles from here where he learned the game and where his father is the pro. Palmer is negotiating to buy the club.

Nicklaus was due here today for the pro-am following an exhibition appearance Tuesday in Toledo, Ohio.

Most of the top players are entered, although Gary Player and Tony Jacklin are at home on vacation and slumping Billy Casper also will sit out the event.

The three teams who tied for second place last year are back intact —George Archer-Bobby Nichols, Bruce Crampton-Orville Moody and Gardner Dickinson-Sam Snead.

MINOR LEAGUE REPORTS

Hot Week For Novatans

Last week was definitely one to write home about for a quarter of former Novato High School baseball stars now playing in the minor league.

Thomas, still in his first month of professional ball with Pittsburgh's Niagara Falls farm team of the New York-Pennsylvania League, ripped 11 hits in 24 at-bats and raised his average to .459. His output included three home runs and nine runs batted in, giving him four homers and 13 rbi's since beginning his career four weeks ago.

Corder, playing his first full pro season with the Los Angeles Dodgers' class A team at Bakersfield, was super impressive also as he stroked nine hits in 17 at bats, including a pair of doubles. His season average climbed to a robust .309.

Dolinsek, whose class AAA status makes him the highest ranking Marinite in the minors, improved his season average with Oklahoma City to .285 as he banged out four singles, three doubles and a home run in 25 at-bats. The big outfielder now has 13 homers and 52 rbi's for the Houston Astros' American Association club.

Dillon picked up another win last week for the Greenwood, S.C., farm team of the Atlanta Braves, and in the process lowered his earned-run-average to a classy 2.28. He is now 6-4 for the season, with 79 strikeouts in 79 innings pitched.

A couple of Marin players fared badly last week. Dewey Forry of Terra Linda, playing class A ball for the Daytona Beach, Fla., class A team of the Dodgers, went only two for 15, and his season average fell to .213. One of the hits was his second homer of the season, however.

Ken Johnson of Larkspur also had a poor week, going only four for 20, with no extra base hits. His average with the Yankees' Manchester, Coon., class AA team fell to .234.

Ali Suit Settled Out Of Court

HOUSTON (UPI)—Muhammad Ali's suit against the Internal Revenue Service to prevent the seizure of a share of his gate receipts from the Jimmy Ellis fight was settled out of court Tuesday.

Terms of the agreement presented to U.S. District Judge John V. Singleton, Jr., were not disclosed.

Ali charged the jeopardy assessment of a share of his guaranteed $450,000 purse from the Monday night fight penalized him. The IRS previously took a share of Ali's gate receipts for tax payments, but the former heavyweight champion said the practice prevented him from using the funds for investments.

Ali said he had no history of delinquent tax payments.

MILKING A RAT THE SAFE WAY

Kalman T. Szabo, toxicologist for Smith Kline and French Laboratories of Philadelphia, adjusts a milk collection vessel on a newly developed milking machine he helped to invent for rodents. The device holds the small animals so that milk can be mechanically collected and analyzed. Until the invention of the machine, collecting rodents' milk required killing either the mother or offspring, thus preventing further study of the animal. (UPI Telephoto)

ITT Reports Record Sales In Second Quarter, First Half

NEW YORK (BW) — International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. (ITT) has reported record sales and earnings for the second quarter and first half this year, and expressed confidence in achievement of another peak year for the company.

Harold S. Geneen, chairman and president, in his report to shareholders said the record performance represented the 48th consecutive quarter in which sales, net income and earnings per share have increased over the like period of the preceding year.

Consolidated net income for the second quarter of 1971 climbed to a record high of $104.3 million, an increase of 12 per cent over the $93 million for the like period last year. For the first half of 1971, net income set a new high of $181.2 million, a gain of 12 per cent from the $161.8 million in the like period a year ago.

Earnings per common share for the second quarter, after recognition of all common stock equivalents, were equal to 90 cents, or 10 per cent above the 82 cents for the like 1970 period. For the first half of 1971, earnings were equivalent to $1.57, an increase of 11 per cent over the $1.42 per share for the like period last year.

Total sales and revenues for ITT and its worldwide subsidiaries rose to a record $1.73 billion for the second quarter of this year, a rise of 8 per cent over the sales of $1.60 billion for the like 1970 period. For the first six months of this year, sales and revenues reached a new high of $3.30 billion, or 10 per cent over sales of $3.01 billion for the first half of last year.

ITT's manufacturing order backlog reached a new peak of $2.33 billion at June 30, compared with $2.06 billion a year earlier.

The financial results for the second quarter and the first half of 1970 have been restated to include the operations of companies acquired in pooling-of-interests transactions since June 30, 1970.

Geneen attributed the further improvement in sales and earnings to continued strong demand for the products and services of ITT's European acitivites, and also in its business and financial service activities, including Hartford Fire Insurance, as well as certain domestic operations in the homebuilding and food products areas.

He reiterated ITT's confidence for another record year of sales as well as further improvement in the U.S. economy.

Geneen informed stockholders the company is continuing its discussion with the government of Chile with respect to the purchase of ITT's 70 per cent interest in its telephone operating subsidiary in that country.

The government of Chile, according to Geneen, has indicated a sincere interest in reaching an equitable resolution of the amount to be paid and the terms of payment to ITT.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We are in our early sixties and have $7000 to invest in some income stocks for retirement. Could you suggest something for us? — V.W.

A. A portfolio of three consumer issues offering a combination of income and growth would be more advantageous at this juncture. Perhaps after retirement some adjustments in your portfolio may be in order to meet increased income requirements. Equal dollar amounts invested in American Brands, Safeway Stores and Squibb Corp. should provide an excellent cushion toward retirement four years hence.

American Brands has reduced its dependence on tobacco so that this product is now believed to account for only 60 per cent of sales. Lower tobacco advertising expenses as well as a broader product base were reflected in strong first quarter results. Sales, earnings and dividends have increased annually since 1963. Shares, now selling at a reasonable 9.5x estimated 1971 results, yield a generous 4.8 per cent.

Safeway Stores, the country's second largest retail food chain, reported record-breaking operating results for the 24 weeks ended June 19, 1971. Sales jumped 13.5 per cent and earnings gained 11.3 per cent year-to-year. Net was equal to $1.28 per share, up from $1.15 in the comparable 1970 period. An improved profit margin, a more aggressive merchandising program and growing emphasis on discount operations could push earnings to $3 a share this year.

The Squibb Corp. corporate title covers a broad and growing range of products. Food products, baby foods, quality drugs — both ethical and proprietary — have been joined recently — via mergers — by Lanvin-Charles-of-the-Ritz' cosmetics and perfumes, and Edward Weck's surgical and diagnostic instruments. A 12 per cent gain in earnings is projected for the first half of the current year. While Squibb is trading at a high, 28x, multiple of expected 1971 net, this is not excessive for a fast growing drug issue.

Prices Drop For Second Day In Row

Aside from the recent concern over inflation and high unemployment, traders were provided with new bearish ammunition. Included was a government report of a drop in its index of leading economic indicators last month, the threat of a steel strike this weekend and concern about the effect of a nationwide rail strike on an economic recovery just now getting underway.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was down 0.62 at 97.16, while declines topped advances 1,019 to 312, among the 1,637 issues crossing the tape.

Most oils and steels pointed lower. Chemicals, rails and airlines traded in mixed fashion, although point-sized movers in these groups generally were in retreat.

Actually South Should Have Only Picked Up 10 Tricks

Science is strangely silent on the reason for the clam's secretiveness. Perhaps back in the dawn of time one of the ancestors of the modern clam had an unfortunate experience, like South in today's hand. South himself isn't talking about it very much.

Opening lead — ♡ J

LOW HEART

West opened the jack of hearts, and South played a low heart from dummy without the slightest trepidation. That came later.

East won with the king of hearts and switched to the queen of diamonds. A few tricks later, South was down one, and North stated quietly that it was a new North American sitting-down record. "This was a hand that might easily produce the first 11 tricks," North pointed out, "and you were down one without even touching a single black card."

Perhaps North should have said nothing but rules for clamming up have never applied to bridge partners. Actually, South should have won only the first 10 tricks.

SHOULD WIN

South should win the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts. He does not expect the king of hearts to fall; his reason for playing the ace is merely that he cannot afford to let East win the trick and switch to diamonds.

South next leads dummy's ace of clubs. When the nine drops, declarer leads a low club from dummy. East plays low, trying to look innocent, but South should try a deep finesse with the eight—once again to make sure of keeping East out of the lead.

DEEP FINESSE

The deep club finesse works, and south has five clubs, two hearts and three spades. Declarer discards a diamond on the third spade, then puts West in with a third round of hearts. West may have to give up a diamond trick if he has kept two diamonds, and South may wind up with an eleventh trick after all.

ANSWER: Bid four hearts. This promises excellent trump support (at least four cards, usually more), with a singleton or void in a side suit and not more than nine points in high cards.

Innocent Plea To Pot Counts

Brian Phillip Tourigny, 24, of Homestead Valley, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a felony charge of cultivating marijuana as well as to a misdemeanor charge of possessing marijuana paraphernalia.

Preliminary hearing was set for Aug. 12.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, July 28, the 209th day of 1971.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Leo.

Former first lady Mrs. John Kennedy, now Mrs. Aristotle Onassis, was born July 1929.

On this day in history:

In 1914 Austria declared war on Serbia, marking the start of World War I.

In 1932 more than 15,000 unemployed World War I veterans camping in Washington were driven from the city by federal troops. The vets were demanding immediate payment of a "War Bonus."

Also in 1945 an army B-25 bomber lost in the fog crashed into the side of the Empire State Building in New York City, killing 13 persons.

Lease For Community Market On Agenda

Pepperland Reopening Is Discussed

San Rafael's controversial Pepperland concert hall, dark since last April when its three operators disappeared, may reopen in September with the added feature of a retail shop.

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night granted Irving (Whitey) Litchfield, owner of the building at 721 Francisco Boulevard, permission to open retail shops in smaller rooms of the hall.

Litchfield told the commission that he has complied with numerous conditions which accompanied a use permit, granted to him in January, except one which would require him to install an automatice fire extinguishing system. He asked that this condition be dropped and the expiration date for his permit be extended until one year from last night's meeting.

The commission postponed action on the latter two requests, until its next meeting, when Litchfield must appear again to get architectural and landscaping approval of the renovated facility.

Litchfield and Pepperland were the center of controversy last winter when City Councilman Harry A. Barbier in November began a campaign to close the hall.

Major complaints against Pepperland then included the color of the building, repainted from loud purple to yellow; size of crowds attending concerts, which some complainants said numbered over 1,000 more than the building's capacity; open use of narcotics and illegal parking on neighboring lots.

In December the city council told Litchfield he needed a permit and he obtained one in January amid heavy discussion and debate.

In April the three men who had operated the hall vacated it, leaving behind about $50,000 in unpaid bills, according to Litchfield, who said that regulations heaped on the operators were impossible for them to fulfill with the money available.

In granting Litchfield the permit, the commission set 17 conditions regarding the building's use and safety. These included curbs, a gutter and sidewalk installation on Francisco Boulevard; a limit of 3,000 persons in the building at one time; a larger aircirculating system and an overhead sprinkler system; and guards on the parking lot.

Other requirements, laid down to correct complaints by Councilman Barbier in stormy council sessions, included the hiring of guards to patrol the parking area and prevent misuse of neighboring lots; and limiting smoking to a single room to cut out marijuana use during concerts.

Litchfield told the commissioners, last night, that he had fulfilled all the requirements except the sprinkler.

Commissioner Alan Kay queried Litchfield about landscaping at the building and asked him to present to the body a model showing the completed facility with landscaping.

Litchfield argued that stringent fire safety regulations requiring emergency doors and uncluttered walkways in proportion to the building's capacity had eliminated any possibility of more landscaping. "I hate the way the building looks, too," Litchfield said, "but where are you going to put trees when you've got ten doors in the front."

City Planner Herbert G. Hotchner said that the commission will inspect the site Saturday morning and make landscaping suggestions, then carry the matter over to the architectural approval session at its next meeting.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

QUESTIONNAIRES — Announced that 400 questionnaires are being mailed to San Rafael merchants to get their reaction to the Foutsman report, which would change traffic patterns on some downtown streets.

UNDERGROUNDING — Instructed the city planning director to prepare a tentative underground utilities ordinance for the commission's consideration.

COMPLEX — Continued until Aug. 10 an appeal by Kerner-Bellam Realty Co. for a permit to construct a 696 dwelling unit which would require rezoning of the property from multiple residential and planned community districts.

SALES — Denied request from Nave Brothers, owners of property at 395 Francisco Boulevard, to permit firewood sales from September to March and Christmas tree sales from Nov. 20 to Dec. 25.

SIGNS — Approved a request by owners of Las Gallinas Golf Course for two freestanding single-faced signs, with condition that both signs not exceed 50 square feet and that design be approved by the commission.

MEETING — Adjourned to next regular meeting, Aug. 10.

Petaluma Growth Pattern Plan Eyed; Questions, No Criticism

A preliminary environmental design plan for Petaluma brought questions, but little criticism last night from the city council and planning commission.

Planning Consultant Sidney Williams explained the five-year strategy plan to control both the quality and quantity of growth. Basing his plans on city council policy to restrict development to 500 homes per year, Williams displayed proposed zoning maps and fielded questions.

Planning commissioners and Planning Director William C. McGivern called for more commercial zoning so that Petaluma Plaza could be expanded in the future. McGivern said that while the site would never develop into a regional shopping center, some flexibility should be provided for additional stores.

McGivern said he agreed with the plan to place small neighborhood shopping centers throughout the city, but asked that future drafts specifically locate the sites and limits on acreage.

The commission also asked the consultants to pay more attention to problems of crowded schools on the eastside and said the two elementary school districts should work together to relocate boundaries and adjust attendance areas.

Williams recommended that industrially zoned land on the westside of Highway 101 be reclassified as open space since the area is in a flood plain zone and development would be costly. He said the remaining industrial acreage on the eastside should be more than sufficient for the next 10 to 15 years.

Williams also urged that taxes be lowered on current agricultural land since the plan would insist that development not occur in the near future.

The consultant said that location of high density housing on the eastside could be shifted later to reduce the traffic flow on East Washington Street.

Also presented was a legislative policy memorandum which did not specifically include proposed ordinance, but did call for tightening of current ordinances and the adoption of new ones.

Also suggested was a rehabilitation district that could assist residents in improving deteriorating neighborhoods.

FACE-LIFTING AT GNOSS FIELD

Scrapers, steam rollers, trucks and other equipment level and overlay the runway at Gnoss Field north of Novato. The $28,871 job is being done by Peichert Construction Co. of Santa Rosa, according to George Davidson of the Marin County Public Works Department. The contract was approved on June 15 by the board of supervisors but work was delayed to meet federal aviation agency regulations that demand other airports and pilots flying out of them are notified that the field would be closed. The work started Monday and should be completed tomorrow with planes landing on the field on Friday, Davidson said. The cost is paid equally by the FAA and Marin County.

Cotati Board Eyes New Office Location

The Cotati School District board last night agreed to move its district offices into the new Rohnert Park City Hall if costs aren't too high.

Schools Supt. James A. Davidson told the board that two possible locations for the district offices would be either in the planned Rohnert Park City Hall development or in the east wing of Cotati School.

The board agreed that the proposed city building would provide better quarters, but said costs should not be higher than $400 per month. A three-year agreement would be signed with the city.

The Cotati School District board also:

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of board member Lester H. Petersen, who has been appointed to the Cotati City Council, and approved a resolution commending him for 12 years of service.

BUDGET — Set the annual budget hearing for Aug. 3 at 7:30 p.m. and said the regular board meeting would be held then rather than on Aug. 10 as previously scheduled.

SWIMMING — Agreed to continue the swimming program for the 1971-72 school year.

PORTABLES — Heard Davidson report that a new contract will be worked out with Speedspace Corp. to provide a second exit door on portable classrooms for fire safety.

Development Of Fairgrounds On 'Sounding Board'

Development of Civic Center Fairgrounds and schedule for Veterans Memorial auditorium will be discussed at 9 a.m. tomorrow on the KTIM "Marin Sounding Board."

On the panel will be Asst. County Administrator Thomas Campanella; Aaron G. Green of the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation, and Donald L. Rolph, planner with the Marin County Parks and Recreation Department.

Questions may be phoned in during tomorrow's broadcast. The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be rebroadcast by tape-recording, Sunday at 10:05 a.m.

$2.51 Million Slice Of Health Care Fund

Marin County will receive $2.51 million from the state this year as its slice of the $153 million mental health care appropriation.

Incomplete figures supplied yesterday by the Marin County Health Care Services Department put the county's share at $1.56 million, which did not include $945,575 allocated for Marin patients in state hospitals.

Growth In Unions

OTTAWA (UPI) —A considerable growth of the trade union movement in Canada is reported by the Canadian Department of Labor, based on a 1970 survey of labor organizations. The survey showed about 2.2 million Canadians belonged to labor unions, an increase of 4.7 per cent over 1969.

Greyhound, PG&E Win Rate Hikes

Marin and Southern Sonoma residents will find their gas bills and commute fares to San Francisco more expensive next month, as a result of rate increases approved yesterday by the California Public Utilities for Greynound Bus Lines and Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Gas payments by PG&E customers will go up an average of 37.5 cents by Aug. 21, according to a spokesman for the company.

The increases are expected to provide PG&E with $36.9 million more annually and are to compensate for higher prices the utility has to pay its suppliers.

On Aug. 21, Marin and Sonoma residents who commute to San Francisco will discover the price of their 20-ride commute book has risen 6.5 per cent. A Novato commuter, for example, will find the cost of his book increased from the current $15.85 to $16.90.

Other hikes in San Francisco commute fares will include: from San Rafael, up from $13.55 to $14.45; from Mill Valley, from $12.45 to $13.30, and from Petaluma, from $19.25 to $20.55.

The 6.5 per cent fare increases were granted to Greyhound to pay for wage increases and related expenses. The company had asked for 15 per cent.

Prosecutor In Newton Trial Says Defendant Lives In Luxury

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)— Glaring at Huey P. Newton, the prosecutor in his manslaughter trial said Tuesday the Black Panther leader has "defected from the community" to live a life of posh luxury.

Deputy District Attorney Donald P. Whyte brought up Newton's life style in a heated objection to defense efforts to put a newspaper article written by the defendant into evidence.

Newton, 29, was on the stand for the second day at the time testifying about the events of Oct. 28, 1967, when he is accused of shooting Oakland policeman John Frey to death. His conviction at a 1968 trial on voluntary manslaughter charges was reversed by an appellate court and a second trial ordered.

Defense attorney Charles R. Garry tried to introduce the article in the Black Panther paper of last April 17 concerning the defection of party leader Eldridge Cleaver to show the group has taken a less militant stance.

Whyte jumped to his feet and termed the article "self-serving hearsay of the worst kind ... what's all this gibberish about defecting?"

Glaring at the defendant, the prosecutor then said:

"This man lives in posh luxury, in a penthouse apartment, and he dressed to kill every day and this guy drives away in a Cadillac every day— if anybody has defected from the community, Newton has."

Newton started to rise from the witness chair to respond, but was told to sit down by Superior Court Judge Harold Hove, who rejected Garry's motion. The jury was absent during the argument and Whyte's angry tirade.

Newton testified earlier that he blacked out at the time he is accused of shooting Frey and remembers nothing. He said he was "crystal clear" about events prior to the shooting, but blacked out after being shot in the stomach.

Foreign Policy Charge Leveled By Fulbright

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Nixon administration has been accused of creating its own super foreign policy bureau in the White House that is responsible to neither Congress nor the people.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said Tuesday the bureau is headed by Dr. Henry A. Kissinger and is "vested with the most crucial decision making power on matters of war and peace."

"The result is that the people's representatives in Congress are denied direct access not only to the President himself but to the individual who is the President's chief foreign policy adviser, the principal architect of his war policy in Indochina and the emissary for his forthcoming trip to China," Fulbright said.
